The South Koreans' objective apparently was the coastal industrial city of Wonsan.

Air and naval support ranged over or stood by to join the big push against the staggering Red army.

Field dispatches said South Korean troops were approaching Tongchon, about 2 miles southeast of Wonsan. There was virtually no Red resistance.

Abandoned Equipment

Equipment was abandoned along the route. Red prisoners said the North Koreans had withdrawn northward in great haste for a stand in the Wonsan area. Wonsan is 90 air miles east of Pyonyang, the Communist capital.

Tongchon is more than 220 miles north of Pohang. Closer aerial support for South Korean

Troops Acting In Gas Strike

LONDON, Oct. 6 (Reuters) — Troops went into strike-bound London gasworks today to carry out urgent repairs and keep equipment in running order until the 1,400 strikers return to work Monday.

Gas pressure improved in homes and factories today after being cut throughout the 22-day wildcat strike of maintenance men.

The men, whose union condemned the strike, decided to return to work Monday after a mass meeting held Thursday. Their decision came after 10 strikers had been sentenced to a month's imprisonment for striking illegally.

The convicted men were charged under a wartime act which makes it illegal to strike without submitting to arbitration and giving at least 21 days notice of a stoppage.

The cabinet is expected to consider possible alterations in the law to deal with wildcat strikes when it meets next week.

Red Chinese Premier Admits Things Not Going Smoothly

HONG KONG, Oct. 6—(AP)—Chou En-lai, Chinese Communist premier, has admitted publicly that all is not well in Red China. The full import of his "policy statement" in Peiping Oct. 1 was temporarly abscured by his attack on the United States and his warning against "aggression" on any of Red China's neighbors.

But further portions of his anniversary statement have just been released here by the official Communist New China news agency. They show that guerrillas, sabotage and resistance to land measures are giving the Communist regime plenty of headaches.

Chou said flatly that the most important task for the regime in the next two years is consolidating control over "newly-liberated areas" where he estimated 200,000 anti-Communist guerrillas are active.

This was far different from his speech a year ago, when he declared the country's No. 1 problem would be "economic improvement."

"China's second-fiercest class struggle," Chou said, "is putting across land reforms."

The premier and foreign minister declared this land-reform struggle was surpassed only by the "war of liberation"—China's civil war. Chou said some landlords have been sabotaging the program by giving away their land, killing livestock and destroying farm implements, houses, crops and trees.

He directly conceded that farmer and landlord opposition is strong enough to force a slowing up of land redistribution in "newly-liberated areas."

Chou reported 4,000 "secret agents" have been arrested, 170 secret radio stations seized and 11 cases of "international espionage" unearthed in the last year. He did not elaborate on the "international espionage."

Britain's Labor Party Votes Steer Clear Schuman Plan

MARGATE, England, Oct. 6—(AP) — Britain's Labor party voted almost unanimously today to steer clear of the Schuman Plan to pool Europe's coal and steel.

The party, at its annual conference, turned down the idea of Britain's entry into such a plan because it would require them to give up some sovereignty in controlling the country's industries to a supra-natural European federative body.

"We do not intend to let the control of the British coal and steel industries go out of British hands," said Hugh Dalton, a member of the party's executive and of the cabinet.

But Dalton said Britain is ready to take practical steps to achieve co-operation with other countries in these industries. Britain's coal industry is state-owned, and the steel industry will pass under government control early next year.

Dalton said that if other western European countries create the authority to control their coal and steel industries, "we shall do our best to co-operate with it where our best interests are concerned."

"To refuse federation is not to withhold co-operation," he added.

Party leaders readily accepted a resolution approving the government's stand on the Schuman Plan. The resolution declared the plan "will inevitably lead to a restrictive monopoly, the destruction of full employment and of the workers' standard of living."

Only one "no" was heard when the resolution was put to a vote.

Truck Gashes Hole In Side Of Street Car

TORONTO, Oct. 6 — (CP) — Four persons were injured today, one severely, when a steel-laden truck gashed a 14-foot hole in the side of a street car.

Police said another truck pulled out from a curb into the path of the steel truck, which swerved into the street car.

Leonard Shaw, 34, was jammed between two tram seats and suffered compound fractures of both legs. J. Propipryburo, 40, driver of the steel truck, and street car passengers Elner Miller, 40, and Charles Fester, 56, suffered minor injuries.

Will Tackle Problem Of Formosa

Expect UN Approve Order Permitting U.S. Cross Red Border

NEW YORK, Oct. 6—(AP)—The full United Nations Assembly meets today to approve a resolution containing implied but clear permission for Gen. MacArthur to cross the 38th Parallel.

The resolution, which passed the all-important political committee Wednesday by a vote of 47 to 5, also contains a blueprint for Korea's future as a ward of the U.N. Wednesday's vote assured a victory for the west today.

Only the five-country Soviet bloc opposed the plan in committee. Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Soviet foreign minister, is expected to rise today to continue the fight formally sponsored by Britain and against the resolution, which is seven other countries.

Any Vishinsky tirade is expected to increase the fervor with which the countries who have backed UN action against aggression in Korea will support the eight-power proposal as the logical consequence of that action.

The eight powers officially sponsoring the resolution are Britain, Australia, Cuba, Brazil, the Philippines, the Netherlands, Norway and Pakistan.

Proposals

The eight-power proposal calls for:

1. Establishment of a unified, independent and democratic Korea, including elections under UN auspices.

2. UN forces to take all appropriate steps to ensure conditions of stability through Korea, but should not remain longer than to achieve united government. This is taken to mean that those forces can pursue North Korean aggressors anywhere in the country, north or south of the 38th Parallel.

3. Economic rehabilitation of Korea. Supporting delegates hope Korea will be a "pilot project" to show what the UN can do in this line.

4. A new UN commission of seven members to see that the plan's provisions are carried out.

Six members—Australia, Chile, the Netherlands, Pakistan, the Philippines and Turkey — are named in the resolution. The seventh place has been left open for India, but there is strong doubt that this most influential of Asian countries will accept the appointment.

The UN's powerful 14-member steering committee agreed yesterday to have the world organization take over the problem of Formosa.

The United States, where Formosa is a hot domestic political issue, proposed the item. It was opposed by the unusual combination of Russia and Nationalist China. Both countries, usually bitter enemies within the UN, agreed that Formosa is a domestic Chinese issue and not subject to international jurisdiction.

Not Their Fault

BERLIN, Oct. 6—(AP)— Russian-zone export industries were officially denounced today for sending abroad 20,000 watches which would not run and 300 cameras which could not take pictures. Fritz Lange, chairman of the State Trade Control Commission, disclosed these production failures in an article in the Soviet official newspaper, Taegliche Rundschau. He blamed most of the trouble on alleged American-sponsored saboteurs.

Aid Handicapped

LONDON — (CP) — Britain has built 120 special schools for handicapped children since the end of the second world war. Many boarding homes have been opened and arrangements made for home tuition. More than 11,000 children have been added to those receiving specialized education.

Pound Making Paris Comeback

PARIS, Oct. 6— (Reuters)—The pound sterling is making a fighting comeback on the Paris black market.

It was traded today at 965 francs, only 15 cents less than the official exchange rate.

Financial sources predicted the black market might pass the official figure of 980 by next week

They said the recent Canadian decision to put the dollar on the free market had influenced the pound's comeback. Some held the opinion Britain would shortly follow suit despite all official denials.

Since May, 1945, the British pound has always sold on the Paris black market at less than the official rate. Its lowest quotation was 845 francs last March.

Britain Supplies Most Jet Planes

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6—(AP)—A United States survey showed today that Britain has supplied jet military planes to most of the world's air forces.

A study made public by the Aircraft Industries Association lists British jet fighters as standand first-line equipment for 15 other countries. In addition, British engine designs are in use in both the United States and Russia.

Countries which are using British jet fighters are France, Italy, Sweden, South Africa, India, Norway, Venezuela, Switzerland and Argentina, all using the Vampire, a small single-engine plane; the Netherlands, Belgium, Denmark, Egypt and Argentina, using the two-engine Meteor; and Canada, using both the Vampire and Meteor.

The only country committed to an American jet fighter is Canada, which is building a large number—something more than 100-North America F-86 Sabres.

Former Dictator Gets Lead In Brazil Vote

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 6 (AP)—A trickle of early returns gave Brazil's former dictator Getulio Vargas a strong lead today over his two principal opponents in Tuesday's presidential election.

The 67-year-old candidate, who ruled Brazil for 15 years until deposed by the army in 1945, was leading even in states considered anti-Vargas territory. However, only a little more than one-tenth of the estimated 7,700,000 votes had been counted.

By Thursday night Vargas had 499,634 compared with 224,604 for Lt. Gen. Eduardo Gomes, Brazil's top air force officer nominated by the National Democratic Union. Christiano Machado, supported by the administration of outgoing president Eurica Gaspar Dutra, was trailing with 100,805.

forces on the east coast was indicated by an announcement that the Ponhang airstrip would be back in use Saturday.

Gen. MacArthur's headquarters officially estimated Communist Army casualties at nearly 200,000 since the Communists began their "invasion of South Korea June 25.

The over-all picture admittedly contained some duplications. That means a man might be wounded, removed and returned to battle, wounded again, and counted as two or more single casualties.

But among the estimated casualities were more than 40,000 prisoners taken by the Allies. These included 14,028 captured or surrendered in three days this week.

The Communists rushed to bolster fortifications north of the 38th parallel, still ignoring MacArthur's repeated surrender demands and apparently indifferent to the rising toll of men and equipment.

United States air force planes spotted two convoys speeding toward the Reds' imperilled defence points Thursday night. Flares lighted the hilly countryside in sharp relief. Pilots reported 84 vehicles and 101 boxcars destroyed or damaged.

Heavy Bombing

The Communist defence line stretched from Haeju, on the west coast, to Hwachon on the Pukhan River in the mountainous eastern interior. This was within the short-range bomb line being kept explosively alive by Allied fighters and bombers.

The line already has been pierced and flanked on the east coast by South Korean forces, but the footsore Republican troops today were encountering their first dogged resistance since pushing across Parallel 38 Sunday.

Spearheads of the South Korean 3rd Division captured Changjon, about 60 miles north of 38. Communists in battalion strength fought sharply but in vain at Changjon. The South Koreans then moved on toward Wonsan, industrial city 50 miles farther north.

AP correspondent William Jorden, with the 3rd Division, reported it within 32 miles of Wonsan late this afternoon, and meeting virtually no enemy resistance.

Wheel Inland

Another Republican spearhead, the Capital Division, wheeled inland 12 miles and overcame brief, bitter Red resistance at Yongdae, about 14 miles north of the Red border.

MacArthur's Friday summary said they continued another 15 miles on to the vicinity of Yachon, some 35 miles inland.

Other elements of the capital Division occupied the town of Inje, eight miles southeast of Yachon, 25 miles east and south of the Red defence outpost of Hwachon.

The Republican 6th Division already has captured Chunchon, 15 miles south of Hwachon.

To the west of the South Korean advances, non-Korean troops—the bulk of United Nations forces estimated at 175,000—were regrouping south of the boundary.

Britons and Australians, airlifted to the area from mopping-up jobs in South Korea, were deployed north of Seoul, liberated Korean capital. Ranged alongside these forces were American marines, and infantrymen.

Question Of "When"

There was no longer any speculation as to whether they would smash across the 38th Parallel—artificial boundary between South and North Korea. The only questions were—Where? When?

Field dispatches said Red prisoners reported Russian advisers were helping North Koreans prepare a defence for Wonsan, on the east coast. Other prisoners reported hasty efforts to fortify positions in the west.

At least one objective of the U.S. marines was expected to be Dharwon, 35 miles north of Uijongbu, which was captured by the marines earlier this week in their first push since the liberation of Seoul. Uijongbu is 11 miles northeast of Seoul.

Low-flying Allied fighters and bombers attacking Red convoys reported intense anti-aircraft fire. Two planes were shot down. One pilot was rescued by a helicopter. The other was seen parachuting.

After night-long operations the pilots reported destroying 29 trucks, 28 other vehicles and 13 box cars. They damaged at least seven other trucks, 20 other vehicles and 88 box cars.

Will Increase U.S. Forces Though War Ends

WASHINGTON, Oct 6—(AP)—An early end of the Korean war may make a difference in how the United States deploys its military force, but it will leave unchanged the program for building that force up to a 3,000,000-man strength.

All evidence points to continuation of the rearmament program, including more manpower, even if the shooting in the Far East stops soon. Plans are reported under serious consideration to boost the air force up to 95 to 110 groups.

President Truman said last week there must be no let-up in the defence program. High military officials since then have told Congress the program was planned before hostilities started in Korea and that the war triggered it.

Don't Expect Change

Moreover, defence spokesmen say that as far as they know the calling up of reserve and draftees will go ahead without change, whatever happens in Korea.

But cessation of the Korean war would help solve an especially-thorny problem for the army. Under the Western European defence project, the United States is committed to augmenting its forces there. The army has been faced with the dilemma of finding troops for this purpose, while at the same time meeting the heavy demands of the Korean war. It now has only 10 divisions, of which six are in Korea and one in Germany.

While there is no precise decision yet on how the 3,000,000-man military force which the rearmament program contemplates will be allocated among the services, present talk indicates this:

The size of the army may range between 1,000,000 and 1,500,000. It was 591,000 a week after the Korean war started.

May Be Doubled

The air force, which Sept. 23 had a strength of 486,000, may go to 800,000. This figure seems to be predicated on a substantial increase in the number of plane groups operated.

The navy, which started out the Korean war with about 375,-500 men, may be expanded to a total strength of about 700,000.

The marine corps, at a 123,600-man strength now, may be boosted to 326,000.

Golds firmed on penny advances to leading junior producers.

Western oils were the only losers. Recovery moves reduced early declines, but the majority of issues remained in minus territory.

Endangering Planes

LONDON, Oct. 6—(Reuters)—Schoolboys are worrying Britain's airport authorities by flying their kites too close to landing fields where four-engined passenger planes are landing and taking off every few minutes. It is an offence in Britain to fly a kite close to an airport, but thus far no one has been brought before a juvenile court for doing so. Usually a fatherly lecture by a policeman is sufficient.

Turn Down Request

WINDSOR, Oct. 6 (CP)—The Windsor Utilities Commission has turned down a union request for an 11-per-cent wage boost to electricians employed by the commission. J. Clark Keith, general manager, said Thursday the present contract with Local 911, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (AFL), provided for no wage negotiations until next year.

Dollar Change Influences Price Of Meat

By The Canadian Press.

Meat prices droppel slightly this week in many cities across Canada.

A Canadian Press survey today showed the greatest decline in the price of beef—as much as 6 cents a pound in some centres. Several cities reported lamb and pork prices down as much as 2 or 3 cents.

Many wholesalers regarded the price change as a seasonal one, making the coming of fall. Others however, saw it as a reflection of a plentiful supply of meat, a weakening of the United States market for beef and the freeing of the Canadian dollar.

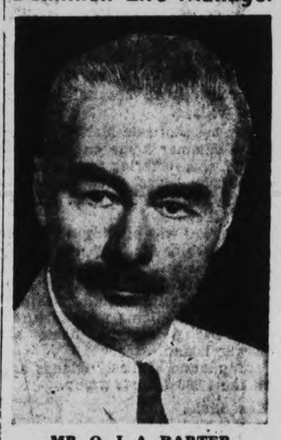
Higher Drop

If consumer buying resistance crops up, some dealers predict a continued drop, amounting to perhaps 18 to 20 cents in the next month.

One Toronto retailer predicted a five-cent drop for beef this weekend. A packinghouse official said the drop in beef started about 10 days ago and was accelerated by the exchange ruling. Wholesale lamb prices are down about $3 a hundredweight; pork is unchanged.

Wholesale decreases of three to four cents were passed along to Montreal housewives. Steaks and roasts now are 85 cents. Lamb legs run 75 to 79 cents; roast pork 55.

One chain-store official said consumer resistance would force prices down even more. Prices certainly would not increase.



Father's Truck Kills Two-Year-Old Boy

BEAMSVILLE, Oct. 6—(CP)—Run over by his father's truck, two-year-old Peter Culp was killed Thursday on the farm of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Culp of Campden.

Dr. H. D. Latham, coroner, said that Culp was driving the day's milk to the pick up stand at the side of the road when he ran over the child without knowing it. Mrs. Culp found the tot in the lane, and screamed an alarm to her husband.

It was the second similar accident in the area in 10 days. On Sept. 24, Gordon Clark, aged 15 months, died after he had run into the wheel of a tractor being driven by his father, Gordon Clark, on the outskirts of Beamsville.

Marmora Hostelry of 1860's To Be Replaced By Theatre

MARMORA, Oct. 6 — (ENS)— One of the oldest buildings in Marmora village was demolished this week. It stood on the property on the west side of Forsyth St., which was recently purchased by A. J. Maynes of Tweed for the erection of a movie theatre.

The building was purchased by Ira Vesterfelt and torn down for some of its material to be used in connection with the erection of two houses on Marmora's newest street, Pearce St.

Mrs. Margaret Brady, a widow, was operating a boarding house in the building in 1860. Her name was published in the directory of the county of Hastings by the pioneer journalist and one time premier of Canada, Sir Mackenzie Bowell.

Old Timer Recalls

About 20 years ago, a man visited Anderson's Island near Stirling, bearing that name. He had reached his 102nd birthday. He mentioned that when about 20 years of age—namely about the year 1850—he was employed at the Marmora iron works and was a boarder at Mrs. Brady's boarding house.

Mrs. Brady was remembered as an outstanding woman, able to hold her own with any boarder who might chance to become unruly. She was of a kin-hearted nature.

When she came to the small village, too small at that time for incorporation to be thought of, she found that the public cemetery, part of which had been an Indian cemetery, had no fence. "It is no better than a potter's field," she declared. Then she took action. She was instrumental in organizing a bee whereby the cemetery was cleaned up and a fence constructed around it by the late William Leonard, who lived on the upper slope of McGill St.

Public Pays Cost

The cost was met by public subscription, which bore the names of practically every resident. Mrs. Brady had one son who died somewhat early in life, and her sister was Mrs. Minerva Pringle, also a widow in 1864, whose son kept the Pringle House, when it was one of Marmora's three hostelries of the last century.

Among those who have occupied the Brady house in the last century for a substantial period of years have been Dr. W. G. Mackechnie, Orin Riley Jones and William A. Sanderson.

Ship Travels 10,000 Miles In Expedition Through Arctic

OTTAWA, Oct. 67 — The Transport Department vessel C. D. Howe has returned from a 10,000-mile expedition in the Eastern Arctic Patrol. In charge was Alexander Stevenson of Verdun, Que., assisted by G. Johnston of Ottawa.

Passengers picked up or dropped along the way included Rt. Rev. D. B. Marsh, Bishop of the Arctic, Oblate missionaries, Hudson's Bay Co. officials, and a number of Eskimos. At River Clyde, 15 members of the Arctic Institute expedition were taken aboard.

During this year's patrol the interpreter, S. G. Ford of St. John's, Newfoundland, lost his life in a helicopter crash. On calls at ports, Dr. J. E. Osborne of Edmonton examined Eskimos and Dr. R. S. Robertson, Cobourg dentist, checked, extracted, and filed teeth for Eskimos and whites.

Patrol members found an improvement in health this year, especially among children. This was believed due to nutritious foods given in payment of family allowances.

Why Didn't The Conservatives Do It?

For some time the Conservative press has been suggesting that the Prime Minister should appoint Conservatives to the Senate. There are plausible arguments in favour of such a course. There are now 12 Conservative Senators, 77 Liberal Senators and 13 vacant seats. It is suggested that this leaves the Conservative party in such a weakened condition, both in the Commons (where it has 43 members) and in the Senate, that the Opposition is ineffective. The Ottawa Journal, the London Free Press and now the Brantford Expositor have all discussed this matter within the last few weeks, and all are agreed that Mr. St. Laurent should subdue his sense of party advantage to his knowledge of what is best for Canada, and—in the Expositor's words—"appoint distinguished Canadians of independent political views from the Conservative party." Just how a man can be an adherent of the Conservative Party sufficiently strong to merit a senatorship, and at the same time be described as "of independent political views", is not made clear.

* * *

We wonder how much of this agitation we should hear from the newspapers concerned if the boot were on the other leg? When Sir Wilfrid Laurier came to power in 1896 there were 10 Liberals in that House, but it was never suggested by the Conservative press that Liberals should be appointed by the Conservative Government in order to correct that disparity. Nor do we believe that, if Laurier had been defeated, a single Liberal would have been appointed in the succeeding political regime. There was an opportunity then for the Conservative Party to display the magnanimity which it now recommends to the Liberals. But no magnanimity was shown.

* * *

The Expositor says that if Mr. St. Laurent were to appoint some Conservatives to the Senate "he would set a precedent that would have to be followed by political parties in the future". A Conservative government had an opportunity to set such a precedent in 1895, and unaccountably overlooked it. What Mr. St. Laurent will do we have no idea, but we are certain that he will look in vain for an example of the magnanimity which is urged upon him in the past history of the Conservative Party.

Why Subsidize Milk?

We are glad that the provincial Minister of Agriculture has set his face against a subsidy for milk; like Mr. Kennedy, we think that subsidies are unfair. Subsidies are hidden taxes, and very obten they are discriminatory taxes. One of the women's organizations which urged a milk subsidy upon the Minister suggested that liquor and corporation taxes might supply the amount of the milk subsidy. There is a dangerous idea abroad—particularly among amateur economists of the type who want subsidies—that the liquor trade and corporations can be made to pay for anything.

It must be pointed out that there is a moral side to taxation, and that the morality of taxation is too often neglected. The dominion and provincial governments now impose taxes on liquor which, in the aggregate, sometimes amount to as much as 400 per cent. The money gained in that way is spent on education, roads, public health and a variety of services from which everyone benefits in one way or another. But if liquor taxes are to be increased whenever it seems desirable to supply something to the province at less than its cost, liquor taxation will go even farther into the realm of tax immorality than it is already, for it will become a means of making part of the province bear charges which should weigh equally upon all.

The same may be said of corporation taxes. It is entirely just that a corporation should pay a special tax. But it is indefensible that the corporation tax should be increased in order to pay the milk bills of people who do not want to pay their own way. The tax, in short, should be related to the benefits which the corporations receive from the province, and not to expenses which are entirely unrelated.

To some readers, talk of the morality of taxation may seem high-flown. Admittedly that morality can be made to accommodate some very curious expenses. But no country has entirely neglected it without coming to ruin.

Now with regard to the proposed subsidy on milk, it is nothing more than a scheme to get one group of people to pay a part of the milk bill of another. The producer of milk, the farmer, would not benefit at all. And it is a part of the campaign, which has been going on for twenty years or more, to surround milk with an aura of sacredness and to put it in the class with water and electricity as a necessity. If it is as necessary as all that, let us nationalize, or provincialize the milk business. If that were to happen, we predict that the price would go higher than it has ever been before, and it would stay high, for governments do not run businesses economically. But if the milk business is to stay in private hands, its price must rise and fall as circumstances direct. Furthermore, we think that people who want milk, and need milk, should pay for it themselves; nothing will bring the price down quicker than public demand. But if milk is subsidized, its price will stay high, for it is always a difficult thing to remove a subsidy.

The whole theory of subsidies is a bad one, for it cheats people into thinking that they are getting certain commodities cheaper than is really the case. What is in fact happening is that they are having part of their expenses paid by other people. A subsidy is a hidden tax, and our tax system needs to be clarified and put on a more honest basis than it rests upon at present.

Big Peterborough Potatoes

Last week a man came into our office with a potato which weighed one pound, 10 ounces. We mentioned the fact in our news columns. That started the parade of spuds. Then came a whopper of two pounds. Another of two pounds, two ounces. To top them all came a Sebago of two pounds, ten ounces, and three other lesser monsters from the same plot. Probably by the time this is in print bigger ones will have arrived from other plots.

We love them all, although to date no one has ventured to put his teeth around the 2 lb. 10 ounces. But we fear for the morality and enterprise of the staff.

One historian has claimed that it was the potato which impoverished Ireland and made shiftless Irishmen. Ireland took the native American potato to its maw (and soil) with alacrity in the eighteenth century. It was the most wonderful crop of all. It produced the most food with the least work, and a merry by-product was poteen. The potato reduced the Irish work-week and gave much time (too much?) for fun and games.

Our fear is that our whole staff, from the editor to the newest cub reporter will be unduly influenced by these huge fruits of the earth pouring into the office, and will say: 'Why work, when God and Peterborough gardens produce a meal in one potato?' If the editorial columns are blank tomorrow, our readers will understand that we have succumbed to the easy virtue of the big potato.

Repentance Comes Too Late

A young man from the Canadian Army Special Force was sentenced to nine months imprisonment in Toronto on Wednesday, on a charge involving seven counts of theft. He pleaded with a good deal of eloquence for a suspended sentence, as a conviction would mean dishonourable discharge from the army. "I have tried hard to keep out of trouble and this is the only time anything like this has happened to me", he said.

What he meant was that this was the only time he had been caught. A man who has committed seven acts of theft has not been making a very successful struggle against crime. He had stolen C.N.R. freight parcels to the value of $2,000. The jury made a request for leniency, and the judge said that he hoped that the young man could be taken back into the special force after he was released from jail.

What interests us about this case is the young man's belief that he was not in trouble until he was caught and put on trial. He was in trouble from the moment that it first occurred to him to steal a parcel from the C.N.R. van. There is always a tendency to think that we are honest until our dishonesty is exposed. But a more realistic attitude toward conduct suggests that a man's trouble begins when he is tempted to do a dishonest thing, and that that is the time for him to make a stand against it. Repentance is court is repentance too late.

NOTE AND COMMENT

"Montreal's Vice Probe Resumed", says a headline. But let us not jump to the conclusion that Montreal has more vice than other places. It just probes it more.

The latest dodge for the farrier is plastic glue, to use instead of nails for fastening shoes to horses' feet. And if Dobbin casts a shoe, the farmer reaches into his hip pocket for a roll of Scotch tape.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

A PRESBYTERIAN gentleman has asked what the big initials C.W. stand for on a small pewter disc that has come into his possession.

I was more interested in the disc than in C.W. It is a communicant's token, dated 1847. In these days Christians of the Presbyterian and allied persuasions use printed cards. But until the turn of the century in many churches the discs were still circulated. "Elders" would delivery them to church members' homes during the week before Communion Sunday (which comes about four times a year). The intending communicant either brought the token to Preparatory Service with him Friday night (the Preparatory Service as an institution is now dying out due to counter-attractions of the evening), or to the Sunday Communion service. I understand that the usual practice was to bring them to Communion service and drop them on the plate then. People who did not have a communion token were not supposed to take communion.

The value of the disc from the church officials' and minister's point of view was that it gave them an exact tally of the number of the faithful who did, and did not, turn up for the feast. If there were too few tokens in the plate, next Sunday the minister could give the congregation hell; that is, preach on the slothfulness of supposed Christians in good standing who did not turn out for The Table. The tokens, used over and over again, were not personal; names were not inscribed on them. The modern method of printed cards, with the names of the adherents written on them, gives the minister a more direct and exact scrutiny over his people's faithfulness in attendance.

This old varnished pewter token (I have not seen it; the Presbyterian gentleman has described it) has on one side the legend

Peterborough
C.W.
1847

On the other are the words "Presbyterian Church".

Oh! I almost forgot the C.W.

It means "Canada West".

The Constitutional Act of 1791 created the British colony of Canada into two halves, Upper Canada (Ontario) and Lower Canada (Quebec) By the Act of Union, which came into force in 1841, the two parts were administratively joined into Canada West and Canada East. But the fifty years of being Upper and Lower Canada left their imprint deeply, and Canada West never really caught on. Citizens taught at their grandmother's knee still called our present Ontario "Upper Canada". Even today, people from the Maritimes habitually describe a visit to Quebec or Ontario as a visit to "Canada". And if they want to be explicit, they might say "Lower Canada" or "Upper Canada", not "Canada East" or "Canada West".

SIR: Can a man be legally hanged in Canada for only the one crime, murder?

ANSWER: According to the Criminal Code, a person guilty of the following offences is liable to suffer capital punishment: murder, treason, piracy (if others are wounded, murdered or their lives endangered thereby), rape, and for levying war against His Majesty (a species of treason). It seems that the death penalty is no longer imposed for rape. Incidentally, a man found guilty of rape may also be whipped before he is hanged.

Treason has many definitions, and under Section 74 of the Code this is found: "violating, whether with her consent or not, a Queen consort, or the wife of the eldest son and heir apparent, for the time being, of the King and Queen regnant".

The death penalty may, of course, be inflicted against men in the armed services who are guilty of rape, desertion in the face of the enemy, etc. Soldiers are subject to both civil law and military law.

DEAR ALFALFA: Here is a suggestion for more pageantry in this rather drab modern world. Could not Peterborough be wedded to the Kawarthas in the same way as Venice is wedded to the sea? Every year at the opening of the fishing season, the civic dignitaries could foregather at one of the lakes, and after appropriate speeches and ceremony, fling a key or a heart or a hub or something into the translucent waters. This might be followed by offerings from various representative industries, such as an electric toaster from the CGE, a tin of meat from Canada Packers, a carton of Aunt Jemima cake mix from Quaker Oats, and so on—I leave it to your imagination to continue this list. The formalities having been completed there would be dancing and frolics for the assembled populace.

Yours, etc.,
ELMER K. SIZZLEHEIMER.

DEAR E. SIZZLEHEIMER: Your imagination is sufficient, without mine to stagger the list. Port Hope might be included in the Kawartha category. If so, a specimen of its chief manufactured product, a flush-toilet bowl, could appropriately be dumped into translucent Little Lake.

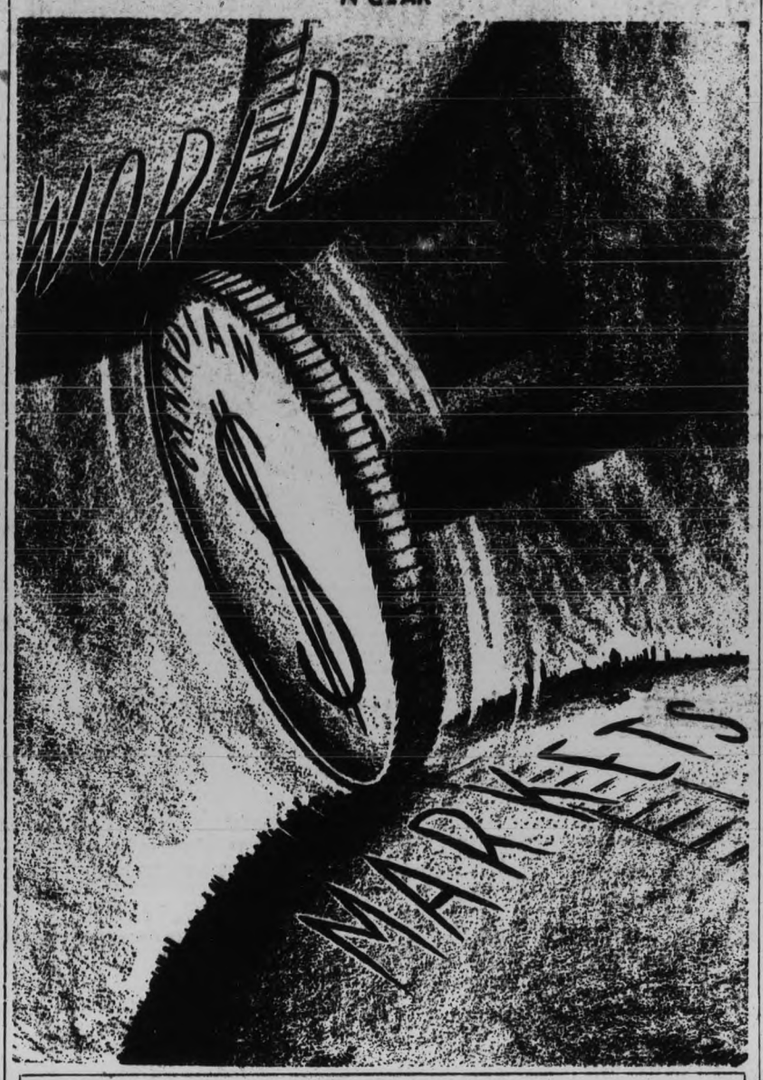
FOR THE RECORD: Since last Monday, the first week-day of October, marriage in Ontario has been a civil as well as, or instead of, a religious ceremony. You may now be married without benefit of clergy, provided you are qualified to marry. In Peterborough the authorized marriage-makers are Judge Smoke and Magistrate Philp, but you may be married by any other authorized Justice in the Province. For instance, you can sneak off to Whitby or Moosonee.



Magistrate Philp and Judge Smoke will do the job for you in their chambers, but refuse to work after Saturday noon. They each charge $10. This fee (required by the new law) is forwarded to the Provincial authorities in Toronto; it does not go into the officiating person's pocket.

Marriage licences ($5) are still required, and there is the usual three-day period of waiting between the issuing of the licence and the performing of the ceremony. The new civil marriage is, by the way, a formal court ceremony. So far, none has been performed in Peterborough. I await the first with some curiosity. What couple in Peterborough will be the first to brave the tradition of a religious ceremony?

It is quite permissable to have both a civil and a religious ceremony.

I note that the fee for the civil ceremony is sufficiently high not to undercut the clergymen. The latter rarely have set fees. I have heard of some couples so mean as to give the officiating clergyman only a dollar bill, instead of the usual five or ten. If I were a clergyman I would ask for the fee in advance, to see if it were large enough; or have a fixed minimum.

Occupation Army Goes To Seed

(By W. A. S. DOUGLAS IN THE WASHINGTON POST)

HAVING just returned from a three-months sojourn in Britain and Europe—visiting every country this side of the Iron Curtain—I have found Western Europe consumed by two emotions—fear and hatred; fear of Russia, hatred of the United States. In England there exists another emotion as regards us—an understandable jealously because we have not only taken her place in world affairs but have hitched her wagon to our train.

From time immemorial it has been the custom of the conqueror to swagger over the conquered; we have in Europe refined the process to include a swaggering over the liberated nations. There is an outward subservience on the part of these peoples which undoubtedly encourages our predisposition to swagger.

The examples are found everywhere you go; the practitioners of the cult are our government bureaucrats, scattered as lavishly over the nations as corn over a chicken run; by our tourist fellow countrymen and women and, last but far from least, our Army of Occupation in Germany.

All armies of occupation degenerate—from the Twentieth Roman Legion (in Britain) down. Never, in my opinion, has an army gone to seed as fast as has ours at present stationed in Germany. I am not qualified to include the army in Japan—but reports disquiet me.

I HAVE looked on these soft-cheeked boys and their more or less recently graduated bobby-sox mates, on their dug-in seniors and their wire-pulling wives. I have drunk their cocktails and been waited upon by their servants—three in one home to one sergeant, his wife and three children. I have listened to endless liquored discussions and arguments and have watched fisticuffs over a subject grouping which never varies; in order of importance these are sex, booze, scrounging and promotion.

Sex tops all. Every now and again you have a sex murder which cannot be kept out of the newspapers; the sex-murder attempts are efficiently bottled up by the P.R.O.'s. It is not merely an old man's nostalgia which makes me compare these good-time-Charlies with my buddies of the First World War or the gallants with whom I jeeped through France in '44.

MAYBE all they need is a war to stiffen them into good American fighting men; the fault is not entirely theirs. But how much time, a German Nazi, once a colonel, asked me, are they going to get? Whatever else this man might have been, he was a soldier, as tough as they came.

"They'll go through you like a knife through soft butter"—he sat beside me in the Reichsbahn Hotel in Stuttgart, having gorged food like the starved man he was—"France will run, Holland will run, Belgium will run. Italy? Well, look at the record. Your boys will fight but what kind of a battle can a fighter put up who has trained on Martinis, roast goose and bedroom offensives? England will fight—but England has already whipped herself."

The calloused fists of a Junker officer turned day-labourer came down on the table. He spread out horribly gnarled and twisted fingers. "Broken," he observed bitterly. "Broken like Germany. Put a gun in those hands and there isn't a finger could circle a trigger. Just like Germany."

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And the apostles said unto the Lord, Increase our faith. And the Lord said, If ye had faith as a grain of mustard seed, ye might say unto this sycamine tree, Be thou plucked up by the root, and be thou planted in the sea; and it should obey you And when he was demanded of the Pharisees, when the kingdom of God should come, he answered them and said, The kingdom of God cometh not with observation: neither shall they say, Lo here! or, lo there! for, behold, the kingdom of God is within you (Luke 17: 5, 6, 20, 21.)

And I say a new heaven and a new earth: for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away; and there was no more sea. And I John saw the holy city, new Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband. And I heard a great voice out of heaven saying, Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them, and they shall be his people, and God himself shall be with them, and be their God.

And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain: for the former things are passed away.

And he that sat upon the throne said, Behold, I make all things new. And he said unto me, Write: for these words are true and faithful. And he said unto me, It is done. I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end. I will give unto him that is athirst of the fountain of the water of life freely. (Rev. 21: 1-6.)

Unconsidered Trifles

An old sailor sat on his bunk, stripped to the waist. On his chest were tattooed three women. On his back were tattooed three more women. On each arm were tattooed even more women.

There entered a young fellow only just joined up. He glanced at the old tar, and to the latter's disgust, inquired: "Hallo, old man! Been in the Navy long?"

With him I called up friends and foes.
He took me for a street car ride,
Bought six bananas ere he died.

Fuel Prospects Poor On W. Coast

By The Canadian Press

A scarcity of coal, wood and sawdust on the Pacific Coast is the main drawback to bright Canadian fuel prospects for this winter.

A Canadian Press survey shows that families with oil-heating should have no trouble keeping warm this winter. Natural gas will be plentiful in the areas where it is commonly used as fuel and coal suppliers expect to meet their commitments everywhere except in the far west and in Saskatchewan where hard coal is scarce. Prices are general unchanged.

In Vancouver, fuel inspector Cal Munro said a heavy run of orders could clean out the city's coal supply in a week. Sawdust, widely used as fuel on the west coast, also is becoming scarce and fir slabs are virtually non-existent.

Re-opening of some war industries will create a scarcity of top-grade bituminous coal in Ontario but coal companies expect to satisfy industrial users with lower grades. Anthracite supplies are adequate and oil companies anticipate no dificulty in supplying their customers.

Some small Quebec towns will feel a shortage of firewood but coal and oil supplies are plentiful. Coal prices have advanced three to six per cent.

Fewer Rural Than City Vets Use Army Benevolent Fund

If applications received by the Army Benevolent Fund can be taken as an indication, either veterans of World War II living in rural areas are more prosperous than their fellows in the cities or they do not have as much knowledge of assistance which is available to them through the fund.

Lt. General J. C. Murchie, chairman of the Army Benevolent Fund board, thinks perhaps the fact that applications from rural areas are not numerous may be a result of both factors but in a statement today made it quite clear that assistance from the fund is just as available to those in rural areas as to those located in the large centres of population.

"The fund, which was built up largely through canteen profits, must be available to all army veterans from World War II," General Murchie stated. "and we are most anxious that army veterans in the rural areas take full advantage of the assistance which can be provided should they find themselves in circumstances where the fund can help."

Nine Million Dollars

"When the fund was instituted by parliament in 1947 and the amount of roughly $9,000,000 was set aside from World War II profits and other sources it was stated it was to be spent for the benefit of World War II Army veterans and their dependents. This, of course, means those veterans living in the rural areas as well as those living in the city."

General Murchie made it clear, however, that the board has a responsibility to administer the fund in accordance with the Act of Parliament and only those cases can be helped which arise as the result of some unexpected contingency or unforeseen calamity. The usual cases of such difficulties are sickness, accident, death, fire, flood, windstorm, epidemic and temporary dislocation of finances. The fund cannot be used merely to provide a stopgap and there must be evidence that a grant will assist in providing a permanent solution. There must also be evidence that the applicant is deserving of assistance and that his financial difficulties are not a result of circumstance over which he had control."

Lewis Has Answer To Truman Quip

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6—(AP)—John L. Lewis growled Tuesday that if he were dog catcher he would throw a net over the "pusillanimous pups" in the State Department.

That was his reply to President Truman, who was quoted Wednesday as saying "I wouldn't appoint John L. Lewis dog-catcher."

The coal mine leader wrote off the whole idea as impractical.

"The president," he said, "could ill afford to have more brains in the dog department than in the Department of State . . ."

Lewis's acid comments were occasioned by a letter written by Truman more than a year ago to an old friend, Colorado State Senator Neal Bishop.

Bishop had written Truman with a joking suggestion that Lewis be appointed ambassador to Russia.

Nickel Workers Vote To Keep Mine Union

PORT COLBORNE, Oct. 6 (CP)—International Nickel Company workers here voted to retain the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.) as their bargaining agent, it was announced Thursday night.

In an Ontario government-conducted vote, the IUMMSW won by 150 votes over the rival United Steel Workers of America (CIO), which has been trying to oust the Mine-Mill Union for two years.

About 90 per cent of some 1,389 workers eligible to vote cast ballots.

Nothing To It

TORONTO, Oct. 6 — (CP)— Mrs. Laurice Lewy was cooking dinner Thursday when a pan of fat caught fire and spread to the walls and ceiling. She called the fire department. Meanwhile a young man, attracted by the screams of her children, coolly walked into the kitchen, doused the pan under a tap, put out the rest of the fire and walked out without saying a word.

Labor Council Expels 12 Men

TORONTO, Oct. 6 — (CP) — Proposed purge of Communists in the Toronto District Labor Council (AFL-TLC) started Thursday night with the expulsion of 12 delegates. Their names were not released.

The meeting was in an uproar when R. S. Hunt, local president of the Chefs', Cooks' and Pastry Cooks' Union, criticized the executive action and grappled with guards instructed to eject them.

Council president William Jenoves told him after a second outbreak: "Take your seat; you are only a visitor now."

Mr. Jenoves indicated that a second blacklist is being prepared, with the possibility of 10 more delegates being expelled at the next meeting.

Tourist Car Entries Set Record For August

TORONTO, Oct. 6 (CP)—August established another record for tourist car entries into Ontario, Travel Minister Louis P. Cecile reported Thursday.

With 275,647 U.S. vehicles coming into the province on travellers vehicle permits, an increase of 10,549 cars was chalked up over the previous record August of 1949. The amount of the increase in the two major tourist months, July and August, was approximately the same at 3.9 and 3.8 per cent respectively.

For the first eight months of the current year Ontario has shown an increase of 23,094 U.S. tourist automobiles over the same period in the record year of 1949, the minister added.

More than 916,000 American cars have entered this province as compared with the total for all Canada of 1,501,000 representing 63.8 per cent of the national total.

K. Edward Wins By 2-1 Score; K. George Victors

King Edward intermediate soccer eleven gained two valuable league points at Prince of Wales' expense by a 2-1 count, on Prince of Wales grounds, Thursday afternoon.

The southenders gathered momentum on the attack for Dunston to rattle in two quick goals before their opponents got settled in the first period. On resuming, the westenders hemmed the King Edward boys into their own territory to find Falkner reducing the tally on a smart effort, while King Edward went on the defensive to hold the losers in check.

King George Wins

Queen Mary intermediates lost to King George on Thursday afternoon, when the latter registered a 3-0 win on the Bonner-Worth grounds to lead the league with three straight wins.

Queen Mary opened with individual efforts that wilted against the King George combination which was effective on the wings as Dorrington broke through to score. A penalty kick made it 2-0 just before the interval. On resuming, near the mid-way mark King George made it 3-0.

QUITS HOCKEY — Floyd (Butch) Martin, a swashbuckling hockey defenceman, has retired from the game because of his "religious convictions." A Mennonite, the 23-year-old rearguard played with Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen of Ontario Hockey Association A loop until he quit Oct. 4. He was under contract by the professional New York Rangers. Martin said although he loved the game, hockey could offer only tangible rewards, and that, as a Christian, he must have higher goals.

Mercantile Bowling

Public servants proved masters in the Mercantile Bowling League this week, City Hall rolling high pinnage of 2,818 and Utilities taking top single of 1,026. George Gimblett led the males in high threesomes with 767 and Marg Behan was best for the lasses with 646. Frank Worsencroft had the leading single for men with a neat 305 effort, and Irene Penrose hit 290 to show the way for the girls.

Apart from the 3-1 win for City Hall over A and P, all the results were whitewash victories for Loblaw's over Bond Clothiers, Utilities over Lift Lock, Braund's No. 1 against Braund's No. 2, and for Austin Jewellers over Prudential. Some keen bowling was seen during the evening for so early in the season.

Can't Use Fisher

TORONTO, Oct. 6—(CP)—The Blue of Varsity turned a dismal black Thursday when coach Bob Masterson announced that veteran linesman Ed Fisher is suffering from a charley-horse and will not be in he lineup for Saturday's intercollegiate football opener against Queen's in Kingston Saturday. Fisher, converted to end after playing at snap and inside last year, will be out of action at least one week, Masterson said.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League are on display in Civic Arena here tonight. The whole works, playing in two squads, the Whites and the Blues. An exhibition game for a packed house, but a stiff practice and tryout session for the Leafian regulars and prospects. Joe Primeau will be watching with interest the performance of a number of the pros in this game, including young Danny Lewicki. Even Turk Broda in goal will be hustling to show he still is tops and his age plus added weight hasn't slowed him down yet. Rotary Club is staging the big puck show to aid crippled children, and it'll be a sellout.

Speaking of hockey, the Petes' senior "B" puckists have a good executive this season, and an okay sponsor in Ben Swarts. Reg Perks is president, Dave Wilson vice-prexy, Bat Phelan the secretary, and Gene Sheedy (he used to play for St. Mike's) the treasurer. Others on the executive are Ed Riley, Bob Gamble, Ed Foley, Johnny Russelle, Spiros Zakos, Ed Alberico, Don Gravelle, Fred Scates, Jim Guiry, Sam Micell, Drake Jopling and Dr. Howes. With Red Creighton and Ed Foley managing the club. No coach named yet. The club is arranging for some new players and predicts a really strong squad this coming semester.

OBA Playoffs On Tap

Baseball fans can see several OBA semi-final playoffs here on the morrow, weather being right. Local PMBA clubs have done exceptionally well this cool season in going along so far—after a rather indifferent summer campaign. They're in Ontario semi-finals now, all but the midgets. Our juves are slated to play in Ottawa tomorrow and here Monday at three p.m. in Riverside Park. Our bantams tackle Ottawa at three Saturday in Riverside and must win it to force a third game. A third, if needed, will be in Perth on the holiday. Our peewees have a twin bill, starting at 1.30 tomorrow aft in the Bowl against Ottawa, third if necessary being in Perth on Monday. The boys rate a crowd.

* * * * * *

Let's look at the grid picture for the holiday week-end. Tonight at 8.30 under the Morrow Park arcs, Western Tech of Toronto tackles PCVS seniors in an exhibition, following a 6.30 junior "A" fray between Lindsay and the PCI-ers. Tomorrow aft at 2.30 in Morrow Park, PCVS junior Bees play St. Peter's a loop match. Monday at 2.30 there, DeLaSalle of Toronto meets St. Peter's senior "B" squad in a Catholic Conference scheduled strap. Some of these struggles should prove right interesting to football followers. Just take your choice, or take 'em all in. The ORFU senior "B" Orfuns have a game Monday in Oshawa.

Softball Season Ends

Softball here is definitely over for the year 1950. A protest lodged with the OASA by Mutuals has been withdrawn on the advice of Secretary Feaver of the Ontario body. Feaver informed the local club that he had checked with Umpire Carson of Toronto and the latter said no Toronto batters were stepping out of the box in hitting. The TASA prexy told Feaver that Carson held a TASA umpire's card and that the Toronto association had neglected sending it in to the OASA—and that's definitely an infringement of the Ontario softball rules. In any case, the OASA secretary said Mutuals' protest wouldn't stand a chance, so Jack Legris, Lou Lebarr, Johnny Russelle and the players have called it a season. Toronto Motors continue in the playdowns.

Next Wednesday, Wally Bent takes over his new duties as program director of the Belleville YMCA. But he will stay with his Trojan Boys Choir right up until then, having them at Norwood on Monday and at a St. John's Home and School concert on Tuesday here. Wally was in charge at Boys Town in the Oval for some time, later taking over as director of the Trojan Athletic Club. He served as an officer with the Peterborough Minor Hockey Association, as well as coaching, and took a keen interest in boys' sports since coming here several years ago. Hobbycraft and music work has occupied his time, too. Yes, Wally did an okay job with the youngsters in his local sojourn, and we wish him luck in his Belleville post.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

When the ladies of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club concluded their open trebles tournament yesterday afternoon, the lawn bowling season, as far as our club is concerned, was officially over. This tournament was the one that was postponed from Sept. 15.

The honor of winning the tournament went to a Peterborough rink skipped by Mrs. J. Arnold, and the other 3-game winner, Mrs. H. Staunton, was also from our club.

Mrs. Dawe and Mrs. Ackford tied for the high two wins, while Mrs. Rutter, from Port Hope, won the prize for one win.

Play began around 10 o'clock, with one game before the lunch hour and two immediately after. While it was quite cool, it was sunny and that helped a lot.

The ladies have had a lot of bowling and a good season—it is fitting that all activities should end with this open tournament.

Don't forget the big banquet and the annual meeting, Tuesday, Sept. 16, 6.30 p.m., at the Club Aragon.

Winners

Peterborough (1st, 3 wins)—Mrs. R. Penrose, Mrs. W. Hepburn, Mrs. J. Arnold, skip.

Peterborough (2nd, 3 wins)—Mrs. J. Knights, Mrs. R. Burns, Mrs. F. Staunton, skip.

Peterborough (tied for 2 wins)—Mrs. V. Hill, Mrs. H. Wilson, Mrs. F. Dawe, skip.

New Hockey Entries Need 75% Approval

STRATFORD, Oct. 6—(CP)—New entries to the 10-team Ontario Hockey Association junior A series will be made only on the approval of 75 per cent of members, the league council ruled Thursday night.

Council also ruled that releases of players on professional negotiation lists to the pro club's junior farm must be made by Sept. 1, 1951. Such players must be signed by their new clubs by Sept. 15.

A junior B franchise for the St. Catharines area was approved on condition the club did not operate out of St. Catharines.

DiMaggios' Homer Crushes Phils Yankees Leading Series By 2-0

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Oct. 6—(AP)—Only a miracle comeback can save the hitless Phillies as the world series moves into Yankee Stadium with New York holding a 2-0 edge. One home run blast by "the same old Joe DiMaggio" put the Phils on this desperate spot.

Not since the 1921 :New York Giants has a club won after losing the first two series games. And that was back in the days of the best-of-nine series.

Talk of "four-straight" buzzes in Yankee ears with the odds 1 to 15 on the American Leaguers to cop their 13th world title. Some seventy thousands fans will be on hand for the Phils' first visit to Yankee Stadium.

Yankee Ed Lopat (18-8) is a 5-to-12 choice over either Ken Heintzleman (3-9) or Bob Miller (11-6) for today's third game at 1:00 p.m. EST. Manager Eddie Sawyer will pick his starter in the clubhouse before batting practice.

Best Pitchers Gone

No miracle—but only a timely base hit—was needed to rescue the Phils inn the first two games when they lost 1-0 and 2-1. Now they are fresh out of pitchers like Robin Roberts and Jim Konstanty who can be counted on to chill sluggers like the Yanks.

Sawyer has no complaints about the excellent jobs of his first two pitchers. They contained such Yankee power hitters as Yogi Berra and Johnny Mize. They put the shackles on DiMaggio until he rocketed Roberts' pitch into the upper left field seats Thursday afternoon. But this is the end of the line. Now the batters figure to cut loose.

Lopat, a chunky lefthander with a knuckler, screwball, slider and a little bit of everything except a fast ball, may not match Vic Raschi and Allie Reynolds in effectiveness. Still, in the vast confines of the Stadium, Lopat can be expected to pitch his usual steady, capable game. To succeed he must continue to check the power of Del Ennis and Andy Seminick, strangely silent in the early games.

Ennis and Dick Sisler, home-run hero of the pennant clincher, went hitless in the first two games. Seminick, Willie Jones and Mike Goliat each have only one hit. The team is batting but .145. Only Granhamner at .333 is in the .300 class.

No Bursting Power

There has been no bursting power from the Yankee line-up. Gene Woodling and Bobby Brown lead the club with .375. DiMaggio, Mize, Berra, Phil Rizzuto and Jerry Coleman each have only one hit.

Miller, a handsome rookie who made the big hop from Terre Haute, Ind., to the majors in one season, won his first eight starts. His best pitch is a sinking fast ball. Since mid-September, the 24-year-old rookie has been troubled by a sore shoulder.

Heintzleman, a grey-thatched southpaw of 35 years, might have the "nothing stuff" to fool the free-swinging Yanks. He didn't win a game from May 8 to Sept. 15 but hung up 17 victories in 1949. If Heintzleman pitches, Casey Stengel probably will shuffle his New York line-up to play Billy Johnson at third base instead of Brown.

Can't We Worse

"We can't be any worse in the Yankee Stadium," said Sawyer Thursday night. "Maybe our kids will snap out of it. We'll play our usual game and score some runs—I hope."

Sawyer summed up the Phils' troubles neatly when he said: "It looks like we need four bases on balls to score."

It took a bad-hop single over Coleman's head to drive in lone Phil run of the series in the fifth inning Thursday. Time after time they left the big run on base. In the eight and ninth, they hit into rally-ending double plays.

Fail To Come Through

After DiMaggio's homer they still had a chance to bounce back against Reynolds. They moved pinch-hitter Jack Mayo to second base with one out in the last of the 10th. But he died on second as Richie Ashburn and Sisler failed.

The Phils drew cheers from the 32,660 fans with four extra-base hits in their total of seven. Hamner doubled and tripled and Ashburn and Eddie Watkins doubled. Each time Reynolds bore down with his smoking fast ball to get out of trouble.

The Yanks had Roberts rocking in the first and broke through to score in the second. Coleman walked, scooted to third on Reynold's single and came home on Woodling's infield single to shortstop Hamner.

Topsy-Turvy Football In Last Half

By The Canadian Press

They start in Saturday on the last leg of a topsy-turvy Big Four football season, and it's still anybody's fight.

A trail of shattered crystal balls attests to the startling form reversals of the first half of the schedule. Toronto's amazing Argonauts, almost unanimously consigned to the cellar by preseason dopesters, now are favored to take it all.

Argos take on Hamilton Tiger-Cats in Toronto, holding a two-point edge over Hamilton and Ottawa Rough Riders. The Grey Cup champion Montreal Alouettes, trailing with only two victories, face Ottawa in the capital. The two teams return to Montreal for a Sunday game, while Toronto journeys to Hamilton Monday, Thanksgiving Day.

The United States draft is expected to play a big part in the future of both Toronto and Hamilton.

Get Replacement

Argos lost outside Bob Heck, called up for service with the U.S. marines. But big Bill McCormick a lineman cut adrift earlier this year by Argos, has been signed as replacement.

Hamilton's ace plunging half, Bill Gregus, has also been ordered to report to the U.S. armed services Oct. 16. However, Gregus may obtain deferment because of his status as a student.

Argos will also be without the defensive strength of Elroy (Buckets) Hirsch, smashing centre secondary man, and veteran halfback Byron Karrys. Both are out with injuries.

Andy Gordon, Ottawa quarterback, is practicing after suffering a slight concussion. Pete Karpuk is also back in shape after a shaking up.

Gerry Lefebvre, out of action for several games, returns to the line-up and lineman John Wagoner and Benny Steck reported recovered from injuries will be dressed.

In the west, the first-place Edmonton Eskimos tangle with Saskatchewan Roughriders in Regina, while Calgary Stampeders face the Blue Bombers in Winnipeg.

Wallop Merchants

TRENTON, Oct. 6—Behind the four-hit pitching of Ernie Curtis, Trenton Chevies moved within one game of the Trent Valley Softball League title by walloping the Frankford Merchants, 23-5. The third game of the best-of-five series will be played in Frankford tonight.

Team Match To Feature Next Tuesday's Mat Card

One of those explosive action-packed four-man tag team wrestling matches will headline next Tuesday night's mat card at the Brock Arena. The high-flying team of Toar Morgan and Pat Flanagan will take on the rugged team of Leering Lee Henning and Wee Willie Davis in the feature event.

Morgan and Flanagan, two of the fastest, cleverest and most talented athletes in the sport, are working out daily together to perfect smooth, effective teamwork to upset their rough and ready rivals.

Henning, the rampaging Iowa Cornhusker, and Davis, the Hollywood villain of film and mat, are as hardy and unscrupulous a pair of grapplers as ever joined forces.

Consequently, the resulting repercussions in the ring from this mighty collision promise to be of an exceptional nature.

Jim (Goon) Henry, the towering Oklahoman, will meet 'Tiger' Jack Moore in the semi-final.

The opening match will bring together Don "Baby-Face" Lewin of Rochester, and Abe Zvonkin, former Hamilton grid star.

Marmora Triumphs

MARMORA, Oct. 6—(ENS)—Marmora High School football team won their second Centre Hastings scheduled game with Madoc on the latter's grounds on Thursday evening by 18 to 11.

In the first quarter Peter Nicholson had a touchdown for Marmora which Killian converted, this being the only score in that quarter. A second touchdown was secured by Nicholson in the next quarter which was unconverted. Pidgen for the homesters scored a touchdown from a forward pass by Hatch. This was unconverted.

Early in the third, Hatch got a touchdown for Tufts to convert. Killian, Marmora's left flying wing was injured in this quarter and was unable to continue play. Nicholson did the hat trick in the final quarter as he bucked over for the visitor's third touchdown. Borland converted and also later kicked a point on an attempted placement in the last play which failed.

For the losers, Hatch played a strenuous game and Shadbolt was put out of the game for roughing.

The Marmora boys showed improvement since their game a week ago with Tweed. They play Stirling next on October 13 on the Stirling grounds.

Csumrik and W. Harle won the Glover Cup, a man's two-ball event. The mixed two-ball competition for the Riley Cup waas taken by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Condon. The men's senior McRae Cup went to T. Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Maxie Ordman, deaf-and-dumb wrestler from South Africa, won the light-heavyweight title at the All-Jewish World Olympics in Tel Aviv Thursday night, pinning Max Ander of Canada, Toronto grappler, in 34 seconds.

In the heavyweight class, Henry Wittenberg, New York detective who won the 191-pound title at the 1948 Olympic games, won the title by default when the only other competitor in that class, Freddie Oberlander of Canada, withdrew because of illness.

Oberlander, a Montrealer, is manager and captain of the whole Canadian team. Cause of his illness was not known.

Israel, which clinched the team title several days ago, piled up more points by winning the soccer championship with a 2-1 victory over South Africa.

The United States basketball team kept its undefeated record intact by routing Israel 65-27 Thursday night. The Americans will meet Canada, also undefeated, for the championship Saturday night.

Managing director Frank Selke of Montreal Canadiens has announced acquisition of Roly McLenahan from Hershey Bears of the American Hockey League in exchange for defenceman Ray Garipy, who was obtained from the A.H.L. Buffalo Bisons three days ago.

McLenahan, 28-year-old 170-pound defenceman, has played with three A.H.L. clubs in his pro career and played nine games with Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League in the 1945-46 season.

McLenahan is rated a high-scoring defenceman. Last season he led his team with 25 goals and 35 assists for 60 points. He first played pro hockey with Indianapolis of the A.H.L. in 1945-46 and was later called up by the Red Wings. From Indianapolis, after his Detroit stay, he went to Cleveland of the A.H.L. and has played the last three seasons with Hershey.

McLenahan is from Fredericton, N.B., and last played amateur hockey with Sudbury Frood Mines.

Bill Mawhinney, Canadian amateur champion, mowed down another opponent in his bid to win the California state amateur tournament, defeating Dick Yost of Portland, Ore., 1-up in a third-round match.

It was the second straight last-hole victory for the Vancouver shotmaker.

Maurice Richard, all-star right-winger of Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League, drilled home two goals in less than two minutes Thursday night as the Montreal Canadiens downed the American Hockey League's Rhode Island Reds 4-1 in an exhibition game at Providence. A crowd of 1,498 attended.

Cal Burnett scored the winning goal as Springfield Indians defeated the Buffalo Bisons 4-3 in an American Hockey League exhibition game at Fort Erie Thursday night.

Goals by Gordon Davidson, Ken Hayden and Ralph Hosking gave Springfield a 3-0 lead before Les Hickey hit for Buffalo late in the second period. Paul Meger scored twice within 35 seconds to tie it up early in the final period. Burnett rescued Springfield at 9:05.

The University of Montreal holds a commanding lead in the Intercollegiate tennis championship today with an imposing array of 17 victories against only two defeats.

The University of Toronto holds down second place with a 10-11 mark, while McGill is in third place with a 7-14 mark. The University of Ottawa is last with six victories, against 15 defeats.

The tournament ends today.

Wm. Hooten of Ida Wins Cup For Best Match Plowing

Back in 1936, tractors were allotted only two classes in a card of twelve at the Peterborough country plowing match. Thursday, in this year of 1950, the proportion of tractors to horses was almost exactly reversed, only two classes in nine being listed for horses. Fifteen years ago, William Hooten of Ida won the first class for horse-drawn jointer plows in sod, competing with Alvin Mark of Cameron, Harold Collins of Otonabee and Harold Devitt of Bobcaygeon.

He was also awarded the Eckhardt silver tea service for the best plowed land in the match. Harold Collins as runner-up received the Burnham Cup for the highest scoring land by a Peterborough plowman.

Won Many Prizes

Mr. Hooten plowed his way to many prizes before and since that forgotten fall day. Mechanization of plowing left him the solitary entry in the same open class in sod (with horses) Thursday at the farm of Stewart Lang, Otonbee township, on No. 7 Highway west of the Indian River. For all his additional years he also took down the Burnham Cup for the best plowed land in the 1950 match.

Thirty-six plowmen drew for lots in 1936 as compared with nineteen yesterday. Those are merely numerical statistics, and it may be that in the gradual transition from horses to tractors, the directors of plowing matches are failing to fashion appeal to contestants, and general publicity, to the new circumstances.

Morris Telford of Smith, winner of the class for two-furrow plows with tractors, also picked up the Esso $10 special for the best land in tractor sod classes.

Emphasis On Speed

Present day emphasis on speed in plowing with tractors inspired the general purpose class that brought out six, the largest group of the day. The set time allowance was: 1 hr. and 15 mins. for half an acre with two-furrow plows, or three-quarters of an acre with three-furrow plows.

The winner was Gordon Bradfield of Douro township who also drew first money in the class for tricycle tractors, plowing row crop style.

The attendance Thursday was several hundred men and women, which was satisfactory to the directors remembering the silo filling and other work that is winding up the season.

The results were:

Jointer plows in sod, open: 1 Wm. Hooten, Ida.

Utility class, any type of plow equipped with jointer: 1 Edward Ballantyne, London St., Peterborough; 2 Stanley Smith, Otonabee; 3 Ernest Kelk, North Monaghan.

The other classes were for tractors

Single furrow, open: 1 J. Steele, Keene.

Two-furrow plows, open: 1 Morris Telford, Smith; 2 Reg Ferguson, Smith; 3 John Hooten, Ida.

Three-furrow plows: 1 Ian Henry Campbellcroft; 2 H. C. Manley, Otonabee.

Two or three-furrow plows; furrows not less than 12 inches: 1 George Hall, Peterborough; 2 Walter Orde, Otonabee; 3 Lyle McMillan, Norwood.

Tractors, any kind of plow, open to boys and girls under 20: 1 Allan Thompson, Millbrook; 2 Alex Carlow, Indian River; 3 Glen Jones, South Monaghan; 4 Murray Jones, South Monaghan.

General purpose class; speed in time allowance 1 Gordon Bradfield; 2 Morris Telford; 3 Robert Jackson; 4 William Godfrey, Indian River; 5 Reg Ferguson.

Wins Burnham Cup

The J. H. Burnham Cup was awarded to the Cavan veteran of the furrows. William Hooten for the highest scoring land in the match.

The Royal Bank Cup to the boy under 21 for the highest scoring land in any class went to Stanley Smith, who placed second to Ernie Kelk in the utility class with horses. He was using a team of Shaw Brothers, which was awarded the special prize for the best team and equipment.

The best team was driven by Wm Hooten.

Stanley Smith received the Salada Tea Co. special of $10 in cash for the work in sod by juniors.

The Esso tractor special for the best land in tractor sod classes by a resident of Peterborough, $10, was won by Morris Telford.

The Stuart Hall special of $10 for the best work in the open class for single furrow tractors was won by J Steele.

Kendal took an early lead and added to it, with Bethany driving late to make it close. There were plenty of errors and arguments throughout the tussle, miscues costing Bethany the fray. Mel Junkin Looms Most Valuable Pla

LINDSAY, Oct. 6—Mel Junkin, the 41-year-old star pitcher for the Fenelon Falls team in the Tri-County Baseball League, is well to the fore in the award for the most valuable player in the league, which comprises teams from Victoria and Ontario counties.

The good-mannered, cool-blooded hurler has performed a herculean task in the playoff series. Since Aug. 8 he has played in 13 games, winning eight, tieing three, and has had two defeats. In 11 games he had 16 strikeouts and only gave out seven walks. During the stretch against Cambray and Little Britain, he pitched 43 consecutive innings without one base on balls.

His fielding has been exceptional, not one error in 14 games. Topping this he has a batting average of .337. He is now hitting in the clean-up position.

Colorful Figure In Legion Jack Moore Dies

WINNIPEG, Oct. 6 — (CP). — Jack Moore, a Canadian Legion institution for a quarter century, is dead.

The railwayman who presided over every National Legion convention from 1925 on died Wednesday night at Deer Lodge Military Hospital at the age of 69, a few weeks after his last convention.

Never more than a sergeant in military rank, he handled the big, often noisy gatherings of veterans with the poise of a general and the trenchant discipline of a sergeant-major.

Kindly, colorful, but firm, his "In my opinion, the ayes have it" became almost a hallmark of these biennial meetings of men from all over Canada.

The veterans loved him. His word was law, his humor legend.

Born Arthur Ernest Moore of Lewisham, England, he served in the Royal Navy from 1895 to 1904, saw service in the Boxer Rebellion in China, and picked up the nickname Jack, which stuck until his death. He came to Canada in 1910, joined the CNR and fought with the 44th Battalion in the First World War, suffering wounds at Vimy Ridge and at Rocklincourt.

Father of a son and six daughters, all of Winnipeg, he was an influential figure in the Legion from its beginning to its present lusty state.

Middle-Class Must Find New Way of Life In Hong Kong

By WARREN LEE
NEA Staff Correspondent

HONGKONG —(NEA)— In the British colony of Hongkong, swollen by refugees from China's Red mainland, the rich live on their wealth and the very pour find haven in the refugee camps. But those in the middle must find a new way to live.

Edward Tung, otherwise known as Tung Young-pao, is one of those in the middle who not only found a new living but is making a healthy success of it, too.

Tung, who learned to fly in the United States, was a bomber pilot for the Chinese Nationalist Air Force against Japan. Later he became a pilot for the China Air Transport Corp.

Reds Took Over

When CATAC, stranded in Hongkong as the Reds overran China, was turned over to the Communist government, Tung stopped being a pilot because he wasn't interested in politics. Instead he became a farmer, and now the only thing with wings in his livelihood are chickens.

He bought five acres, spent about $15,000 making it into a chicken farm, and in six months has 10,000 meat birds, which is about the number of chicken Hongkong consumes in a single day.

It was four months before he found his first egg, but this month he figures he'll be able to find 1,000 of them, and soon have a flock of 50,000 birds to help solve Hongkong's shortage of domestic chickens.

His wife, his two-year-old daughter, his father and two other partners help Tung run the farm. If he can keep his chickens on the ground, he figures he'll never have to go flying again.

Register Pupils From Many Lands

OTTAWA — (CP). — Ottawa secondary schools boast of pupils from various parts of the world and other parts of Canada, but none can compare with Lisgar Collegiate this semester.

At Lisgar, there is what might be termed a "Little United Nations."

Principal J. J. Dunlop reports that students from all over the world — Europe, Asia, England, Scotland, the United States, and all parts of Canada—are registered at the Institute.

Many of these pupils from foreign countries can speak little English, and Mr. Dunlop has the task of grading them. Usually they are put into their own age groups where they will best learn English by chumming with the youngsters their own age.

Mr. Dunlop said there is one thing common with all the new Canadians. They are hard workers and striving to get ahead.

Many of the students came to Canada with their parents under the Canadian immigration channels. Others, whose fathers worked in Canada during the war years, have decided to make Canada their new home.

Diplomat's Daughter

Another, Marina Paumann of Austria, is new to Ottawa this fall but is not exactly new to Canada, for she attended school in Montreal last year. Her father, Kurt F. J. Paumann, is a member of the Austrian Consulate in Ottawa.

One student who has no language worries is Rosemary May Martin of Bristol, England. A Grade 11 student, Rosemary said Canadian schools are quite difference from English schools, but said she knew she was going to like it here. Her father, Dr. Hubert Martin, is a scientist.

St. Patrick's College and the University of Ottawa both have students from South and Central American countries. Many of these students are back in Ottawa for their second, third and even fourth year.

W. D. T. Atkinson, principal of Glebe Collegiate, reports that his school has one student from Germany, one from the United States and students from almost every province in Canada.

However, St. Patrick's College and Nepean High School are leading in one department. They are the only two schools to report from Canada's 10th province — Newfoundland.

UN Commission Shocked At Atrocities

PUSAN, Korea, Oct. 6 (AP)— The United Nations Commission on Korea heard first-hand reports Wednesday on North Korean atrocity murders.

Then it snapped out of a shocked silence and cabled its preliminary findings to Secretary-General Trygve Lie at Lake Success.

Graham Lucas, the commission's action deputy principal secretary, presented the field observers' reports.

The message to Lake Success said:

"The commission has been informed through its field observers of the perpetration of atrocities by North Korean authorities against thousands of civilians as well as against prisoners of war throughout the liberated area.

"First-hand information has been obtained by the commission's field observers of the murder of civilians and prisoners of war despite assurances of the North Korean authorities that the latter would be treated in accordance with the principles of the Geneva conventions. Additional evidence is currently being gathered to indicate that the atrocities have been committed on a large scale in areas formerly occupied by the North Korean authorities. These atrocities involve in some cases the brutal beating and mutilating of persons prior to being murdered.

Viewed 800 Bodies

"In the city of Taejon alone, the commission's field observers, accompanied by members of the secretariat, viewed over 800 bodies, many of which had been badly mutilated, and additional bodies were being exhumed at the time the scenes of atrocities were inspected.

"The commission intends to pursue its inquiries to the fullest extent possible. However, preparation of detailed reports will take some time.

"The commission condemns the complete disregard by the North Korean authorities of civilized standards of behavior as well as the principle of the Geneva Conventions despite assurances to the contrary."

Canadian observers with the U.N. Commission are Lt.-Col. Frank E. White of Winnipeg and Wing Cmdr. Harry Malkin of Ottawa.

Poland Refuses Accept Attache

OTTAWA, Oct. 6 —(CP)—The man Canada named to be military attache in Poland still is in London awaiting the outcome of negotiations between Ottawa and Warsaw, officals said Thursday.

Poland has refused to allow the attache, Lt.-Col. H. A. Phillips, of Kingston, to enter, and Canada's External Affairs Department has been seeking a reversal of that decision.

Meanwhile the Army says it has no comment. Col. Phillips remains in London awaiting further orders.

2 Runaway Boys Carry $9,167 Cash

VANCOUVER, Oct. 6 —(CP)— Two runaway Saskatoon boys who carried $9,167 in cash were held in the juvenile detention home Thursday.

Police said the boys, 11 and 12, admitted the money came from a strongbox owned by an uncle, and claimed proudly: "There's lots more where this came from."

The youngsters were picked up Wednesday night by railway police and turned over to city detectives, who spent a large part of the night counting folding money. They disappeared from their Saskatoon homes Tuesday.

By HARRY THEOBALD

Norwood Fair, Thanksgiving Day, Offers Big Program . . . Durham Gets High Rating Among Canadian Counties . . . Roseneath Fair, Friday, Oct. 13, Last of Season . . . Central Ontario Holstein Show, Oct. 18, at Morrow Park.

If the weather returns to Indian Summer for the Thanksgiving Day holiday, Norwood Fair should attract most of the thousands G. A. Brethen dreams about, not only as an ambition but in conviction of the place to which the East Peterborough show is entitled.

The program is too replete with details for listing. It begins with a noon parade, followed by the singing of a massed choir of school children; judging of finalists in Public School singing and public speaking.

The formal opening will be at 1 p.m. by W. S. McMullen of the federal Department of Agriculture. A special program has been arranged for the south stand, old time fiddlers, mouth organ contest, nail driving, and so on.

The afternoon race card includes; 2.24, 2.28 and free for all for harness horses; chariot races; an open running race and pony race. The handbill says, about the pony race, "See 7-year-old Sammy Mitchell ride a winner." The standard breds are not going to have the track all to themselves.

The Greene Amusement Co., Toronto, is setting up sides, merry-go-round and ferris wheel for the youngsters. There is tractor rodeo for boys and girls; the regional Hereford cattle show will be a feature of the livestock display.

Then, there is the Beaver Oats Derby which was instituted this year by the Fair Board. It may bring out 50 or more bags of grain.

The horse drawing contests is in two classes, one for teams over 3,000 lbs. and the other for teams under that weight.

Fair night concert features the Peterborough Trojan Club Boys in a variety program beginning at 8 p.m., and at 10 p.m. in the town hall Graydon Sheldon and his orchestra take over for the wind up of the day's events.

DURHAM'S HIGH RATING

The standard of living is higher in Durham county than in most other counties of Canada, and it also has a stronger consumers market, as reported by Sales Management of New York from their 1949 survey of cities and counties in every section of the United States and Canada.

It continues in some detail: "Good incomes enabled local families to do more buying in the county's business establishments where a sales volume of $13,824,000 was recorded last year. This is a marked increase over the previous year's retail trade of $11,351,000. It represented a gain of 21%, exceeding the significant trade advance of 18.1% by the whole of Canada and the 10% rise accounted by Ontario.

The income making this possible totalled $23,110,000, an improvement over the $17,571,000 earnings of 1948. Divided arithmetically among the 8,500 families in Durham county, this amounts to an average income of $2,719 per family for the year, as compared with $2,169 for 1948. On a per capita basis the average income in Durham county was $776.

FIRST WINTER FAIR

Ottawa Winter Fair is Oct. 23 to 27, forerunner of the Royal and approach of November. Beef on the hoof brought 33 cents a pound at the Little Current, Manitoulin sale. Average, including some cows, was 28.04 cents as compared with 17.90 cents a pound a year ago. That sale has become a big event in the beef industry of the province. The bacon subsidy has been raised to 4¾c a pound, from 3½c, in a government move to fill the British contract. The recent report indicated that shippers would get 33¾c a pound for Wiltshire sides. Fall markettings will have to reach 42,700,000 pounds to reach the required 60,000,000 for this year.

DISTRICT HOLSTEIN SHOW

The big dairy event of the year in Peterborough should be the Central Ontario Holstein Show at Morrow Park Wed. Oct. 18. County Black and White Days across the province have brought out more breeders than ever in most instances this fall, and the number of animals in competition indicated a high tide of interest.

The western counties of this district, such as Ontario, York, Simcoe, and others appear to be as strongly fortified with good Holsteins as in recent years. This congress of Black and White cattle is likely to attract many of the best breeders from a wide area of the central section of the province.

Judge At Napanee

N. W. McConkey was judge at the Lennox-Addington B. & W. Day where 63 head were shown by 15 exhibitors. In Frontenac there were 76 head shown by 14 breeders: Lambton county 12 exhibitors and 67 head; Prestcott 74 head shown by 10 exhibitors; Elgin 100 head from 16 herds.

STUDY PASTURE COSTS

The cost per acre of producing permanent pasture herbage is low compared with the cost of producing nutrients in other crops, according to information obtained by co-operative tests in the Divisions of Animal Husbandry, Chemistry, Field Husbandry and Forage Crops of the Canada Department of Agriculture.

"With no cost for tillage and harvesting operations, experiments have shown that permanent pasture herbage can be produced for $6.30 a ton dry matter; timothy hay at $7.60; alfalfa hay at $6.85; alfalfa silage at $8.50 and corn silage at $15.60 a ton."

It was also learned that while certain crops may be more economical to produce than others, their economy in the final analysis must be measured by the returns they bring for the produce sold when fed to farm animals. Corn silage, for example, when fed for milk production was found to give a lower ratio of return to cost than did pasture herbage.

Intensive Grass Study

Since grass is consumed directly by the grazing animal, with no attempt to cure it or process it in any fay, its nutritive value and economy of utilization take on added significance. In Canada the grazing season is extremely short, usually less than 150 days, and officials of the Department have been studying various methods to make the best possible use of pastures in different parts of the country."

"In some soil and climatic conditions of this country some grasses will not stand up under competition, and will be crowded out of the mixture. In this way some highly nutritive grasses may be lost for pasture or hay purposes, and some early spring grasses may also be lost for early grazing.

To get sufficient herbage throughout the grazing season, tests are now under way at Ottawa and at various experimental stations to see whether the strip planting of different grass varieties across a field may help in solving this problem."

BUY RAYMONDALE FARM

Senator Donat Raymond of Vaudreuil, Que., has sold his farm and herd of Holsteins to Clarence Goodhue, manager of Raymondale Farm since 1921, and W. A. Hodge, president of the Holstein-Friesian Association. Forced by the expansion of Montreal, Mr. Hodge sold his farm property and dispersed his Montview herd.

65 HOLSTEINS TO U.S. BUYERS

Of the 85 purebred and grade Holsteins at the consignment sale near St. Thomas last week, American buyers took 65 head, or 85 per cent of the animals offered at this auction.

Phillip Miller, Swartz Creek, Mich., bought eleven first calf heifers for a total of $4,625. Total receipts were $33,259.30 for an average of $391. Forty-nine fresh and springer first calf purebreds brought $20,720, at an average of $423. Three registered young bulls sold for $865, an average of $280. Grade heifers sold up to $365 each.

Highest price was $675 paid by Duncan Fletcher of Ilderton for a 26-month heifer Centre View Sovereign Rose. He also paid $600 each for two other two-year-old heifers, and $640 for a four-year-old cow. American buyers were from Michigan, New York, Ohio and Alabama.

OTHER B-W EVENTS

Twenty-five breeders of Holsteins led 121 animals into the ring at Carleton and Russell counties B and W Day at Metcalfe Fair. At Renfrew there were 74 head owned by 16 exhibitors. W. A. Hodge of St. Laurent, Que., was judge. Grenville county reported 93 head shown by 10 breeders at Merrickville fair Ten breeders showed 71 head at Picton fair, where the Prince Edward Black and White Day was held. Oscar Parks and Sons of Bloomfield, and John J. May, Picton, each had four firsts.

Temiskaming district's first Black and White Day assembled 30 prebred Holsteins at New Liskeard Fair.

For the third consecutive year, rain drove Huron county Holstein breeders under cover at Blythe fair. Twenty-three breeders showed 101 head in the Black and White event.

GUESTS OF ALBERT SEILING

"We do not intend ever to use a herdsire from a dam of less than 25,000 lbs. of milk and 1,000 lbs. butterfat," said Albert Seiling, Elmira, guest to 250 Holstein enthusiasts at his farm Sunday Sept. 17.

Parade of his Holsteins and Angus cattle was of chief interest to breeders, and the feature of the luncheon he provided was roasted pigs tails served in Waterloo county style.

George Clemons, secretary of the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada, reviewed the breeding program at Seiling Farms as the animals were paraded first in families, in sire families and then in cow families.

Mr. Seiling is remembered here for his address to the Peterborough district poultrymen at their meeting here last winter. One of his recollections was his humble beginning as farmer and breeder with a brood of chickens he kept upstairs in a bedroom. since then he has acquired a wide knowledge of genetics.

He said: "Our previous experience in breeding poultry taught us an individual is no greater than the family she comes from; an individual can be very deceiving unless you know her genetic make-up, and this you can see best by the family that surrounds her. Our breeding and selection has all been done on a family basis.

If a family does not measure up to our standard in both type and production, we cull out the entire family, not just the bottom half. While our cattle have been prominent in the major shows and All-Canadian selections, and we are striving to breed good type, it is the excellent production that we prize them for mainly."

Mr. Clemons said every animal of the Seiling herd with one exception is a descendant of Johanna Rag Apple Pabst, the famous cow of Mount Victoria, and that the latest herdsire, Seiling Double Wing, carries 18 crosses to Johanna R. A. Pabst, and presents a solid R. A. pedigree.

It is said of Mr. Seiling that when he is convinced he is right he is not afraid to in-breed, as indicated by his high hopes for Seiling Wing Double, an inbred son of Seiling Royal Wing, the only cow in the world with two official world records on three times a day milking, of 1,200 lbs. fat.

72.2 BUS. TOP WHEAT YIELD

Of the 269 competing entries in the Fifty Bushel Wheat Clubs in the province, the highest yield was 72.2 bus. an acre harvested by Harry G. Strang, Hensall RR-1, Huron.

In second place was Duncan Wallace of Beaverton, Ontario county, with a yield of 71.8 bus. Others obtaining more than 70 bus. were Charles Osborne, Bowmanville, and Ernest Larmer, Nestleton, both of Durham county, with yields of 71.4 bus.; and H. J. Wilcox of Beeton and Loe O'Leary of Loretto in South Simcoe with yields of 70.6 bus. to the acre. They all grew Cornell 595.

Forty-four others had between 60 and 70 bushels.

Ken Fallis, fieldman for the crops branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, commented that these high figures compare with an average of 32.1 bus. an acre in this season's harvest.

The three high men in each of the 16 counties in which clubs were organized are eligible to enter a two-bushel sample in the inter-county competition at the Royal Winter Fair.

The top three of the Peterborough clubs were Fred Fife Indian River; L. R. McMillen, Norwood; and Russell Bonner, Millbrook. The highest score in yield per acre was credited to Lyle McMillan with 63.6 bus. Mr. Fife was second in that column with 62.4 bus.

Louada Bertie is booked for an appearance at the Chicago Livestock Show this fall. He is one of the juniors of Louada Manor Farm Shorthorns owned by Louis Cadesky of Harvey township and Toronto. With him is Kenneth D. Hunt, farm manager, who recently returned from an airplane trip to Scotland where he visited 25 breeders of Shorthorn cattle. "Louada Bertie" (he blinked when the camera clicked) is a December calf and at the C.N.E. he was in with older and bigger September fellows. He is a son of Louada Marshall, and was born after his dam arrived from Scotland. The mother, Waterloo Nymph, is from the herd of W. J. Russell, Unionville.

Saw 25 Shorthorn Herds On Visit To Great Britain

Kenneth D. Hunt, manager of Louada Manor Farm, Harvey township, owned by Louis Cadesky, Toronto, recently visited 25 breeders of Shorthorn cattle in Scotland on a trip that may lead to further importation of purebreds for the Louada herd.

"You telephone from your hotel for an appointment with the breeder you wish to call on," Mr. Hunt told the Examiner yesterday. "He calls with his car at the time arranged, and drives to his place. Tea in the office at his home is a pleasant way of introduction that presently broadens out into the busines of your call.

That type of farmer has a map of his property that marks out the fields and other details of the estate. To my surprise he could tell where we would find such and such a cow. Use of the fields are also indicated, with rotation, production last year and plans for next. That breeder knows the pedigree of every animal in his herd without reference to written records. He can discuss them thoroughly before you go to see them.

The hospitality and courtesy you receive is a memorable experience. You are not long among them until you sense the tradition of family and industry, continuity of ownership, and also the important position of these in their counties."

Mr. Hunt was especially interested in Bertie Marshall, of Stranraer, in the south of Scotland from whom the Louada Manor junior herd sire, "Louada Marshall," was imported in dam. This young Shorthorn bull was sired by Cruggleton Braemar, out of Waterloo Nymph by Cruggleton Wellington. The herd in Harvey was increased this year by birth of seventeen Marshall calves.

Another bull at Louada Manor Farm is Cruggleton Affleck, also a Marshall import.

"Mr. Marshall was delighted to hear that we showed the champion beef steer at the CNE this year." Mr. Hunt said. "We are also entering it in the Royal."

The Cadesky herd now totals approximately 100 registered Shorthorns.

"One of my impressions from the trip was that their land is still good," Mr. Hunt said. "Their pastures were excellent. I never saw anything like that growth, and the farmers appeared to have big crops, with far heavier yield to the acre than we are accustomed to. Most of their grain was sprouting in the stock from too much moisture. I had heard a lot about the mechanics of farming in Britain, and the great increase in the use of machinery, but I didn't see many signs of it at the farms I visited.

"They employ far more farm helpers than we do. Of course, they have bigger farms. At one place I visited there were 24 employees. You'd see eight or ten men stooking in the field; also men in raincoats turning the stooks. It appeared to me that the usual organization was a farm manager, and under him the foreman or greive. Cattlemen worked almost entirely in the stables. I also noticed thatched stacks, and a common practice of hauling the harvest in one-horse carts. Farm labor is organized, but I guess that is generally known."

"What I was mainly interested in was the herds, and I don't need to say that they have the cattle. And their cattle appeared to have more substance and bone than we see in this country. On that point there is an argument as to whether the source of that apparent difference is in heredity or the soil. At any rate I came home with great respect for the land over there. They have been cropping in for centuries, and it is still doing a great job.

Feed is all rationed, especially such items as oil cake and fitting rations, and there is no sign of waste. They are still rationing meat and eggs. You are allowed two eggs a week, and two ounces of bacon. The government controls the wheat crop, evidently for the milling of flour. The farmer is not permitted to kill his hogs, for example. He sells them under control, and buys his requirements by coupon. That's the way I saw it."

Mr. Hunt remarked that if some details of farming in Scotland were less mechanized than in Canada, the farmers still had excellent land and livestock.

"My impression was they are business men with well established business methods, and they are grand people to visit."

Any purchases for Louada Manor Farm this season will be through agents, probably at the fall shows, and with special reference to the animals Mr. Hunt has recommended to Mr. Cadesky. He made the trip by plane going and returning.

Keene's Old Mill Stream

The old mill stream at Keene was afloat this week with foliage of autumn drifting and fluttering down from the screen of trees on the steep high bank nature erected for its long west wall. They seemed to be an endless flotilla of brightly canvassed caravels, miniature ships of fanciful shapes moving gaily along on the placid, slow paced stream.

You might have imagined them festively waving farewell to their fellows outstaying them on the boughs overhead.

Above the weir of the dam at the tall stone mill they were crowding together helplessly, their crispness and lustre lost in the soaking they had absorbed in passage. By that time they were only a lot of leaves clogging the sluices on the way to oblivion.

That winding corridor under the almost unbroken archway of trees is an unmatchable reach of beauty in this district. The footpath along the narrow east wall of the canal, which men threw up many years ago, is a little journey out of this part of the world. Old countrymen have walked that way with nostalgic memories of such streams they knew in the homeland. In spring it is overcast with the misty atmosphere of the tender green of budding leaves, up the high bank on one hand, and spreading off through the soft woods of the swampy border of the Indian River on the other.

A week ago it was alight with the sunshine filtering through the golds and reds, the silver and browns of the autumn leaves. On such a day that path is a way of wonderment. Almost startling was the canary yellow of a basswood with the wine red of a Virginia creeper overlaid irregularly like a vein of life.

Club leaders from the ranks of Peterborough Junior Farmers have been a great help to Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, and his assistant, Robert E. Bell, in this season's work among the boys and girls of club membership.

Mr. Bell is deeply grateful to his lieutenants who divided their efforts among 140 boys and girls in the five clubs. Junior Farmers Association sponsored the clubs. Mr. Bell says there were no better club leaders in the whole province this year than his own aides. Not only their knowledge but their enthusiasm and the faithful way they stayed with the job were great assets. The fall wheat club is the sixth of the year. It was recently formed with about 25 members.

Ask Government Guarantee Religious Rights

OTTAWA, Oct. 6 —(CP)—The Ottawa Baptist Association Thursday called on the Federal government to bring down legislation which would guarantee religious liberty for all Canadians.

A resolution passed by the 150 delegates noted that "certain incidents which seem to deny or jeopardize these rights have occurred in parts of Canada."

The Federal government was urged to "take steps through the department of justice to pass some type of legislation that will forever guard the cherished rights of religious liberty enjoyed by Canadians."

The convention also urged that Federal and provincial governments curtail the use of alcoholic beverages by restricting the hours of sale, by exercising care in the location of liquor and by banning all forms of liquor advertising.

The convention urged the people of Baptist churches to practise voluntary abstinence, refuse to have liquor in their homes and seek ways and means of promoting temperance in society. Another resolution urged that the convention reaffirm its stand against the use of gambling practices for any purpose, including raising money for the church, and that the Federal government be urged to repeal that sub-section of the criminal code which permits gambling and lotteries for charitable purposes.

Oppose Gambling

The association went on record as opposed to any extension of gambling facilities by amendments to the criminal code and called on Baptists to withstand the inroads of this vice and to shun the so-called "trivial" forms of gambling.

Earlier the Rev. Albert Eikenaar, minister of Cornwall's First Baptist Church, was elected moderator of the association. He succeeds Mr. Carkner.

Others elected for the 1950-51 term when the report of the nominating committee was unanimously adopted incldued: Thomas Anderson, vice-moderator; the Rev. Donald Hermer, second vice-moderator; and Alvin Whetter, secretary-treasurer. All are residents of Ottawa.

Canadian Papers Ahead Of U.S.

MONTREAL, Oct. 6 (CP)—The proportion of total advertising dollars earned by Canadian daily newspapers is approximately 16 per cent higher than that earned by United States dailies, Russell C. Ronalds, president of Ronalds Advertising Agency, Ltd., said here Thursday.

Addressing the opening sessions of the annual meeting of the Newspaper Advertising Managers Association of Eastern Canada, he said that in the United States, from 1929 to 1949, total advertising had gone up 2½ times and while the newspaper share of the 1929 advertising total had been 50.2 per cent it had dropped to 33.9 per cent by 1949.

In Canada, however, he said daily newspapers received 43.3 per cent of the total advertising dollar in 1946 and in the first six months of this year they had risen to 50.4 per cent, or more than radio and magazines combined.

Mr. Ronalds felt Canadian newspapermen should critically examine their product.

Where To Halt

"How far should a daily paper go in emulating a monthly magazine, a weekly or a Sunday paper?" he asked. "Our papers today are almost daily magazines, much more so that a decade or two ago, and we certainly have less and less time.

"Are we giving the reader too much in these tremendously full and busy days? Too many comics, too many stories, too many features and syndicated articles?"

Earlier, Martin Livingstone, advertising manager, the Halifax Chronicle-Herald Ltd., and president of NAMA, read the president's report in which he said, "great forward strides have been made by newspaper advertising during the last 10 or 11 years. The current figures received from the Canadian Daily Newspaper Association show that since 1939, all three branches of daily newspaper advertising, local, national and classified, have practically doubled."

Work Hard For Loot

WINDSOR, Ont., Oct. 6 (CP)—Burglars worked hard to get more than $200 worth of loot Wednesday night from the home of Albert Long, a Windsor alderman. Police said a window had been forced, glass in an outside door was broken to release the lock, and a kitchen door shattered with a spade and axe.

Ask 20% Boost

TORONTO, Oct. 6 (CP)—Demands for a 20-per-cent wage increase were made Thursday by the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America (CIO) at a meeting with representatives of most Canadian manufacturers.

PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1950 VOL. CI. No. 81

—Examiner Staff Photos

Ducks, Grouse vs. Big Shots

"A good day for ducks" will be changed to a bad one for them if district shooters have anything to do about it, come dawn on Saturday when the big barrage opens the duck shooting season. It is also legal to bring down geese, according to game regs., but there will be no geese for a while; they are still marshalling for migration in the James Bay country together with the great majority of late fall ducks. For those shooters who would prefer the golden woods to damp marshes, Saturday starts off the partridge shooting season, as well.

Sportsmen are fortunate in this part of Ontario. Between time fishing tackle has been put away until shotguns are unlimbered, only five days have elapsed. Closing of the 'lunge season on the first day of the month dropped the curtain on fishing; only diehards will continue to wet their lines for bass and pickerel and bass until Oct. 15.

Season Of Plenty

Opening day for shooting which falls appropriately on Thanksgiving, should point up to all types of sportsmen that the season of '50 was one of plenty—excellent fishing, partridge at their top cycle, better than normal hatches of marsh birds and an abundance of geese and late ducks to follow. A sportsmen's Thanksgiving, if there ever is one.

The duck picture, according to expert observers, will shape up well. Blacks and mallards are reported in marshes of Rice Lake in fair numbers, fairly quiet in their breeding potholes today, but wary as all get-out after Saturday sunrise barrage.

Reds, whistlers and canvasbacks will be the first of the northern ducks to let down in the Kawarthas on their southern migration for succulent wild celery and sharp sand for their gizzards. Butterballs, widgeons and green wing teal will make up the second duck wave, about the time geese make their appearance.

Although law breakers are getting fortunately fewer, because of intense Lands and Forests patrolling, a few have already beat the gun. Evidence, two black ducks floating belly-up on Wednesday in the backwater of the Trent Canal south of Nassau.

Warm For Partridge

Partridge hunters will say the weather is too warm yet for good shooting and that autumn foliage makes too heavy a screen for hitting the birds. Hunters wise enough to use bird dogs will fill their game bags more quickly than the casual pot-shooters.

Bag limits are as follows: ducks, 7 per day (of which not more than one may be a wood duck) and 14 in possession at any time. Geese, 5 per day, 10 in possession at any time and 25 per season. The season closes on Nov. 30. Partridge limits are 5 birds per day in the aggregate, possession limit of 15; their season closes Oct. 28.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

SPUD DERBY CONTENDER

Another giant potato has been brought into the Examiner office. It was grown on the Douro farm of Robert A. Tate who lives at 231 King St. Mr. Tate's contender in the unofficial spud derby is two pounds, 12 ounces—three quarters of a pound less than the whopper brought in by Russell Davis of Selwyn.

CENTENNIAL FLOWER BED

Peterborough's flower beds in Confederation Park celebrating the city's 100th anniversary have been dismantled by park's department gardeners. The beds spelling out 'Centennial 1850-1950" in small various colored foliage plants were raised at an angle so that they could be read from George St. by passersby. The last few plants were pulled out this morning.

W. R. PARKER FUNERAL

Funeral for the late William Robert Parker of 522 Charlotte St., was held today from the Belleghem Funeral Home to Trinity United Church. The Rev. Dr. Bruce Gordon officiated and pallbearers were Frank Ross, Bert Lockington, Edward Payne, John Stark, Henry Thistlewaite and Ernest Reid. A Masonic service was held at the funeral home on Thursday evening and graveside services under the auspices of the Orange Order were held today at the Norwood Cemetery where burial took place.

MORON'S DELIGHT

In the picture of hell as conceived by an average Peterborough firemen a special place is reserved for morons who "just for fun" pull fire alarm boxes. Apparently they get a real kick out of seeing the clanging firetrucks go by on a false alarm. It happened again Thursday night. Shortly before 9 p.m. one of these dimwits pulled the alarm box at Charlotte and George Sts. and then scampered off to safety (furtively peeking out from behind a nearby bush, no doubt). When the firemen arrived they found, of course, nothing. Not even a trace of the moron.

GIVE HOUSEWIFE BREAK

When you finally get that pile of leaves, dried grass, and other odds and ends of rubbish raked up, stop and think before putting a match to it. Before you light a bonfire in the city you must get permission from the Fire Department. Phone 5713 (the business number) and permission will be granted providing it isn't Monday. Fire Chief George Smith is on the side of the housewives who don't want their day's washing smoked up.

AT KINGSTON UNVEILING

Viscount Alexander is unveiling today at Kingston a memorial to the men of the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery who were killed in the war. The name of James Vincent Bianco, killed in Italy in 1944, is believed to be the only Peterborough one on the memorial. His father, Nicholas Bianco, and two brothers, Albert and Joseph, are attending the ceremonies. Another brother, Tony Bianco, was lost on HMCS Athabaska in 1944.

Court Leniency Nearly Cost Man $1,000 Fine

A reduced charge almost cost Barry O'Shaughnessy, 457 Gilmour St., a whopping $1,000 fine in police court today.

O'Shaughnessy was originally charged with having liquor not acquired on his permit. It carries a minimum fine of $100.

O'Shaughnessy said he had a bottle of liquor on him when he was arrested, but it was a bottle given him by a friend whom he had helped move from Lindsay to Peterborough.

"He didn't know I was on the interdicted list," he added.

Gift Bottle

He said his friend had dropped and broken his own bottle of liquor and he was taking the gift bottle back to his friend when arrested. He said he had been successfully trying to keep away from liquor for the past two years.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw said he thought O'Shaughnessy was telling a true story and suggested that a reduced charge of having the liquor illegally be laid against him.

However, he said when arrested, O'Shaughnessy had been very abusive and insulting to the officers who arrested him even though he had not been drinking. For that reason the crown was asking that the maximum fine under the section be imposed.

The maximum fine, said the magistrate, was $1,000. The Crown Attorney thought that $50 would be sufficient.

Bill Moorhead Heads Y's Men's Boys' Camp

Y's Men's Club commenced weekly dinner meetings at the YMCA Thursday evening. Members were showing renewed vigor and interest in the activities as various committees were formed and plans for the season formulated.

A new chairman was appointed for the Y's Men's Boy's Camp committee, owing to the resignation of Jack Stuart who has handled this project for the past eight years and is largely responsible for the camp having recently been rated as the third finest in Canada. This work is now turned over to Bill Moorhead.

Officers of the Club are: president Jack Richardson of the Peterborough Canoe Company; first vice president, Joe Barnard, principal of Grove School; second vice president, Gordon Morrison, department head at CGE; secretary, Cecil Osborne of Outboard Marine Company; treasurer, Wally Davidson, manager of H. B Taylor Coal Company.

Dinner guests were the new Y staff members, Charles Forsythe, Fraser Wade and William McFarlane, who will soon become Y's Men.

ANOTHER WHOPPING SPUD

Large potatoes are getting larger each day as district growers vie for window show space in the Examiner. Latest and best specimen comes from Russell Davis, Selwyn settlement farmer of Smith Township, with a red-coloured 3½-pounder; it's species has no name, said Davis.

Young Vandals

Before the cement was dry on the splash basin of the prospective fountain in Victoria Park, young vandals had cut their initials deeply into it.

A two-foot board protection was built round it Thursday to protect the facing but it was no safeguard against D.K. and J.I. who were determined to leave their marks for posterity.

2 Driving Charges Laid Against Archie Patterson

Charges of reckless and careless driving have been laid against Archie Patterson, 75, North Monaghan, who was driving the car which hit and killed William Simmons, 72, Orpington Rd., at Lansdowne and Park Sts. a week ago Thursday.

Patterson was a friend of Simmons. They had been neighbours on Orpington Rd. about 25 years ago and been friends ever since.

Simmons died almost immediately after being thrown about 50 feet across the intersection from about eight feet north of the south-west curb to the north-east curb.

Patterson, who had been driving east on Lansdowne St. through the intersection with the green traffic light, said he did not have time to put his brakes on before hitting Simmons with the front of his car.

Kept Walking

He first saw the man almost directly in front of his car and swerved to the left (north) thinking he would miss Simmons, but the pedestrian kept walking and turned at the moment he apparently heard the horn of Patterson's car.

Simmons was on his way to the bank east of the intersection on Lansdowne St. to cash a veteran's pension cheque. He had parked his car on the south side of Lansdowne St. west of Park St. He apparently intended to turn south on Park St. toward his home after returning from the bank.

Dog Neglected

His dog was in the car and saw his master killed. For some time the dog sat in the car neglected because no one realized at first that it was Simmons' car parked off the street.

Mr. Patterson will appear in police court probably next week in answer to the two charges.

FENCE COMPLETED

The new angle iron fence at the back of Confederation Park has been completed. A barbarie hedge has also been planted the entire length of the fence.

25,000 Notices Of Assessment Go Out For '51

The city's assessment department has completed the delivery of 25,000 assessment notices, forerunners of the 1951 tax bills that will be issued next spring.

"We mailed 500 notices to people living out of the city who are taxable owners of property," J. E. Davis, assessment commissioner, told the Examiner today. "The others were delivered to homes and offices. This distribution was begun on Sept. 22 and was completed in six days by our own staff. The only mailing was out of town."

14 Days Before Appeal

Taxpayers have fourteen days to consider the notices and decide whether they wish to appeal to the Court of Revision. It is the prescribed procedure.

The assessment roll becomes the basis of the next year's tax roll. It is probably generally understood that the incoming council will determine the amount of money required for the city's business and interest obligations. From the total appropriations and the revised assessment the tax rate of 1951 will be computed.

Remeasuring Buildings

The assessment department is now working on the remeasuring of all buildings in the centre ward, the last section for this work which was begun in 1945. Details of alterations, both enlargement and reduction of buildings are kept on the file in the assessor's office for exact information respecting the city's properties. The last stage should be finished next week.

Plow Won In '36 Too

Fourteen years ago, William Hooten of Ida took first prize for horse-drawn jointer plows in sod at the Peterborough county plowing match. He won a silver tea service for the best plowed land in that 1936 match.

On Thursday, William Hooten, still plowing with horses, was the only entry in the class he won 14 years ago. But as before, his furrows were judged best in the match. He was awarded the Burnham Cup.

City UE Adopts Toronto Demands

Local 524, United Electrical Workers, bargaining agent for 3,500 CGE production workers, has joined with the Toronto CGE locals in a demand for wage increases.

Bill Repka, secretary of the Toronto Joint Board, and Joe De Mois, chief steward of the Davenport plant, in a plant-gate address Wednesday, urged the Peterborough workers to follow the Toronto lead. And at a membership meeting Thursday night, this policy was endorsed "unanimously," officials announced today.

Demands are for a 15-cents-an-hour general increase and an additional five-cents-an-hour for skilled and day-rate workers.

C. S. Jackson, Canadian UE president, said there aws every justification for an increase: the cost of living was still going up and CGE had "unprecedented profits."

Meeting To Form History Society

The historical society may be re-established in Peterborough, William Graff, librarian, was authorized to call a public meeting to discuss the re-organization of the local historical society by the Public Library Board at their meeting Thursday night. This meeting will be held October 12.

"The re-establishment of the historical society will help to build up a local history collection in the city," commented Mr. Graff. "There is a tremendous amount of material available, but it will require a great many people to collect it," he stated.

Mr. Graff told the board that many people have complained of the lack of such a society and that the centennial display caused even greater interest.

If the historical society is re-established, it could have its headquarters in the Public Library and would be affiliated with the Ontario Historical Society. The first Peterborough Historical Society was active from 1895 to 1915.

Still No Decision On Mental Condition

Harvey David Silvester, 32, charged with wilfully setting fire to the S. S. Kresge store building Aug. 17, 1948, was remanded a further six days to Thursday in police court today to give time for a doctor to make his report after a mental examination.

Silvester surrendered himself to provincial police in Cobourg Oct. 1 and police said he confessed to starting the $200,000 Kresge fire more than two years previously.

Silvester was a caretaker of the building at the time of the fire. He was charged a week ago with being mentally ill and was remanded for examination by a psychiatrist and a doctor.

Two Cars In Accident On No. 7; No Injuries

A truck-car accident Thursday night on Highway 7, near the western outskirts of the city, resulted in $200 damage. Nobody was injured.

The new-model light truck was owned and driven by Charles W. Baker, Curtis Drive. Both vehicles were coming toward Peterborough when the truck slowed to make a left turn. At the same time George F. Rodger, Munroe St., attempted to pass in his car and he collided with the left side of Baker's truck.

Damage was $150 to the truck and $50 to the car.

Provincial Corporal Joseph Hanson and Constable F. M. Rawlings investigated.

Cavan Celebrates Centennial Former Reeve Tells History

MILLBROOK, Oct. 6 (ENS)—The people of Cavan celebrated the 100th anniversary of the incorporation of the township, Thursday evening when a centennial program included entertainment and a history of the development of the township, told by George Hooton, a former reeve. Mr. Hooton told how the first settler in Cavan was John Deyell, who came from County Monaghan, Ireland, in 1816 after serving under the Duke of Wellington at the Battle of Waterloo. He settled on the farm lot 23, third concession, which lies less than a mile south of Centreville.

The early settlers were for the most part from the north of Ireland. Some of their names were Stewart, McCamus, Swain, Dawson and Graham.

At first the part of the county in which Cavan lies was known as the district of Newcastle, but by an act of parliament 100 years ago, the reunited counties of Northumberland and Durham were formed and they were subdivided into townships, one of which was Cavan.

Mr. Hooton stated that the townships of Emily, Manvers, Hope and North and South Monaghan formed the spokes of a wheel of which Cavan is the hub.

Cavan Blazers Famed

Among other things, Cavan was renowned for a group of men known as the Cavan Blazers. Much has been told of the escapades of these men, but while they were rough in their fun sometimes their good deeds outweighed their pranks.

Records of Cavan township from 1850-1865 have disappeared. At that time, the council met in a hall which stood just behind the present one. In 1865 that hall was destroyed by fire and it is believed the records were burned at that time. However, it is known that the township was divided into five sections, each one electing a representative. These five men at their first meeting elected their own reeve, John Thorn, grandfather of the present collector.

By an Act of Parliament in 1865, there was to be a reeve, a deputy reeve and two councillors. The first reeve under the new system was John Swain, with the former reeve, John Thorn, as deputy.

Two Deputy Reeves

In 1872 the population had grown to such an extent that Cavan was entitled to two deputy reeves. This continued until 1879.

In 1880, Millbrook became a corporated village reducing the numbers of voters in the township so that they were entitled to only one deputy reeve.

In 1873, the township council accepted a tender for the erection of the present town hall for the sum of $5.212.50, the hall to be completed in 1874. It still belongs to the township although by agreement, the village has the use of the hall.

By Act of Parliament in 1899, the counties were divided into districts for county administration and this district, all of Cavan and the four north concessions of Hope, had two commissioners, Mr. Donaldson and Mr. Leeth for two years, then Mr. Donaldson and Mr. Ferguson. It was hoped that this system would save expense but it proved unsatisfactory and at the end of six years, it was rescinded, and the reeve and deputy reeves again formed the county council.

Clerks Since 1865

The township clerks from 1865 were: J. W. Sootheran, George Sootheran, his son, in 1884; Mr. Fair, in 1903, who had to resign on account of ill-health in 1913; his term was completed by Mr. Given; Mr. McGill, in 1914, who enlisted in 1916, and his term was also filled in by Mr. Given; Mr. McGill returned in 1920 and held the office until his death in 1943, when Mr. Thorn took over the office; in 1944 the present clerk, P. I. Bentley, was appointed.

Cavan has had eight wardens at the County Council since 1865.

Delbert Olan, deputy - reeve, read the names of the former members of Council who are still living: Reeves, George S. Thorn, Stewart Fallis, George H. Hooton, T. G. Shield, John Smith, W. W. Brown, H. Cathcart; deputy-reeves, Harry Bland, R. J. McKnight and J. O. Ball; councillors, W. J. Finnie, A. V. Thorn, James Thorn, R. Earle, James McRoberts; treasurer, T. A. Campbell; road superintendent, L. H. Gibson; assessor, Lavergne Fallis; medical officers of health, Drs. H. A. Turner and M. E. Hobbs.

A photograph of the first reeve of Cavan, John Thorn, was presented by his grandson, Lt.-Col. A. V. Thorn, to the present reeve.

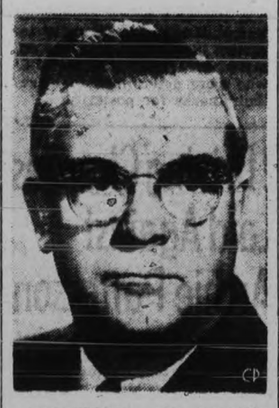
At the door of Millbrook town hall to receive the public were: Reeve Robert Armstrong, Deputy-Reeve Delbert Olan and Councillors Lloyd Hooton, J. H. McKnight and Harold Bradburn. The platform had been decorated with baskets of asters, dahlias and fall flowers.

Reeve Robert Armstrong, who was in the chair, paid tribute to those who had gone before and had blazed the trails in Cavan Township.

Mrs. G. A. Spicer then sang a group of songs, accompanied at the piano by Homer Ouellette. Others who gave congratulatory addresses were: John James, M.P., Major John Foote, M.L.A, who said he brought not only his own congratulations but also those of Mr. Dunbar, minister of municipal affairs, and Warden Bruce Jandrew.

Ex-Reeve T. G. Shield introduced Col. Dewart of Peterborough, the guest speaker of the evening.

Honest And Kind



Col. Dewart said he brought the good wishes of the mayor, Council and citizens of Peterborough. He remarked on the changes he had seen in the 30 years he had been doing business in Cavan Township, on the improvement of roads and installation of hydro. One thing that had not changed was the honesty and kindness of the people.

A letter was read by the reeve from the hon. Harold Scott, minister of lands and forests, tendering congratulations and expressing regret that he could not be present.

J. H. McKnight moved a vote of thanks to all who had helped in making the centennial celebration a success.

Other numbers on the program were: Readings, by Mrs. Argue; a male quartet, comprising M. McDowell, H. Ouellette, D. McKnight and G. Might, accompanied by Miss E. Hetherington; and vocal solos by Mrs. Lawrence Winslow, accompanied by Mrs. Spicer.

Refreshments were served and the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing.

Blackouts In Cities Not Necessary In Future

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6—(AP) —Total blackouts of cities may not be ordered in any future wars because radar can locate many targets in the dark, W. Stuart Symington said Thursday. A special type of "lighting pattern" may be used.

Pennies Surplus

LONDON — (CP) — Britain's banks report a surplus of pennies. The 2,200,000,000 now in circulation are gradually drifting into the banking houses, while the 14,000,000 struck at the Mint in 1949 have never been issued.

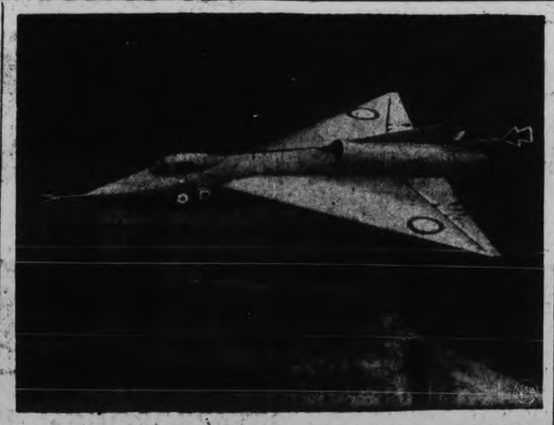
New CNR Diesels For Both Services

MONTREAL, Oct. 6 — With the ordering of 18 more diesel-electric locomotives of 1,000 horsepower each by, the Canadian National Railways, which was announced here today by E. A. Bromley, vice-president, purchases and stores, two additional services of the railway will be dieselized for both passenger and freight service. The new locomotives, costing approximately $2,385,000 will go into service from Montreal to Granby, Que., and between Matapedia and Gaspe, when received in the spring of 1951 from the Canadian Locomotive Company. Their purchase brings to $49,000,000 the cost of new CNR equipment ordered this year.



Three of them will operate on the Montreal-Granby service, replacing the present steam and electric equipment, and following their installation the electric lines of the company between Marieville and Granby, which are part of the Montreal and Southern Counties Railway, will be removed and the present electric service will run out of Montreal only as far as Marieville, and from there to Ste. Angele. Passenger train schedules to Granby will be cut 30 minutes.

Steam Generation

Unlike the remaining fifteen, these will work in single units only and will be equipped with a 2,750 pound steam generator and carry 615 gallons of water for passenger train heating purposes.

Of the road-switcher type, the new motive power will have 5 cylinder, 10 piston engines that will produce a maximum speed of 60 m.p.h., and a continuous tractive effort of 34,000 pounds. One respect in which they differ from the usual design is that they have two cranks shafts, the usual one below and a second on top, which are joined by a vertical shaft and they have no cylinder heads and valves. They will operate on 6 wheel trucks and fully loaded, will weigh 236,800 pounds.

On the Matapedia-Gaspe run the engines will be designed to work in multiple as well as single units. They will have no boilers and train heating will be taken care of from special train-heating cars behind the engines, in which steam generators will be installed.

Lutherans Join Church Council

DES MOINES, Oct. 6—(AP)—In a move which marked a historic departure for North America's largest body of Lutherans, the United Lutheran Church in America voted overwhelmingly at its convention Thursday to become a member of the New National Council of Churches of Christ in America.

The decision to become a voting member of the council, taken after ULCA leaders had recommended the step, marks the 2,000,000-member church's first venture into full membership in such a cooperative American Protestant agency.

The New National Council is to be organized formally at a meeting which opens in Cleveland late next month. It will absorb the Federal Council of Churches and seven other inter-denominational agencies.

Dr. Franklin Clark Fry, ULCA president who urged affiliation with the council, stressed that the move would not reverse or broaden ULCA policies and does not repeal Lutheran opposition to common worship with other Christians.

French Actress Back After 12 Years

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 6 (AP)—After a 12-year absence, Danielle Darrieux is back in Hollywood with a surprising viewpoint—she dislikes the nudity of French fashions.

"I think it is terrible," she remarked. "Why, they have decollete down here." She indicated her waist.

Miss Darrieux, who was wearing a smartly tailored and unrevealing dress, also deplored the French bathing suits. "They wear two strips of cloth like that," she said, holding her fingers an inch apart. "You go on the beaches and see nothing but nudity. I wear a two-piece suit myself, but not like the Bikini.

"I think nudity is wrong in fashions. A woman is much more attractive for what she conceals, not reveals."

Too Expensive

"Paris fashions are lovely," she added, "but far too expensive. The prices are outrageous. Why, you can pay a half-million francs for one evening gown. The only ones who can afford the exclusive gowns are the fat old women who are laden with jewelry.

"The rest of the French women go to the shops where they can get copies of dresses from the style showings."

The French actress is here to act in "Welcome to Paris" for MGM. Her only other American film was "The Rage of Paris," which she made in 1938 with Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. Universal lavished a big publicity splurge on her, advising that her last name should be pronounced "dare-you."

Sketchy Reason

But she went home after the picture and did not return. She is sketchy about the reason. "They never called me back," she said. "Then the war came and I stayed at home with my family."

Star Jean Simmons Bans Bathing Suit on U.S. Visit

NEW YORK —(AP)— Jean Simmons, the stunning English movie star, upset the traditional arrangements when she reached New York. It's almost an unwritten law for overseas movie stars en route to Hollywood to pose in bathing suits—and say anything that might make the newspapers.

Miss Simmons didn't even bring a bathing suit. And it's not because she hasn't the figure for it. She's played everything from Ophelia in "Hamlet" to a 19th century juvenile delinquent in "Great Expectations."

She'd fill a bathing suit very nicely. But, she says, "we don't go in much for cheesecake over there. We're more subtle about sex appeal. I think it's more effective that way. We don't throw it at them.

"It isn't that our men aren't interested," she hastens to add. "They're human. But sex appeal doesn't always consist of showing as much as possible."

May Affect Roles

It's not that Jean isn't constructed along cheesecake lines. She's afraid that if she starts climbing into skimpy swim suits and starts posing sitting on cakes of ice, she'll be doing it at the expense of more serious roles.

"And I don't want to get typed. I've worked in movies since I was 14 and I've never played the same type of part twice," she says.

"Besides, the people in England would be quite surprised to see me in a bathing suit or a filmy negligee. Because I started in films at such an early age, they still think of me as a baby. There was quite a furore when I played my first romantic scene. It was something like what happened to Shirley Temple over here."

No Drama Training

Although the lovely and versatile Miss Simmons played Ophelia at the age of 18—"it's every actresses' dream"—and has portrayed an amazing variety of roles, she has never had any real dramatic training.

"My sister and I were in dancing school in London when the studio asked the school to send over some girls to try out for a small part," she explains. "I got the job and I've been in movies ever since. I've done one play, but all I know about acting is what I've learned from actual experience and watching others."

Under personal contract to J. Arthur Rank, Jean would like to make a movie in Hollywood if it can be arranged. "Any part will do if it's good," she says.

Later she intends to marry and raise a family, despite the fact that her cooking talents as of today consist of the ability to make "a pretty good cup of tea. I can fry an egg. Scrambling is a little harder."

The hazel-eyed beauty came to New York for the premiere Oct. 9 of her newest film, "Trio," a collection of three Somerset Maugham stories.

Wool Prices Threaten Boost Clothes

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Canadian cloth makers are paying twice as much for raw wool as they did a year ago—about $3.37 a pound compared with $1.60—and that is not good news in connection with the price of clothes.

However, manufacturers are trying to see what they can do by the use of other fibres, such as rayon and nylon.

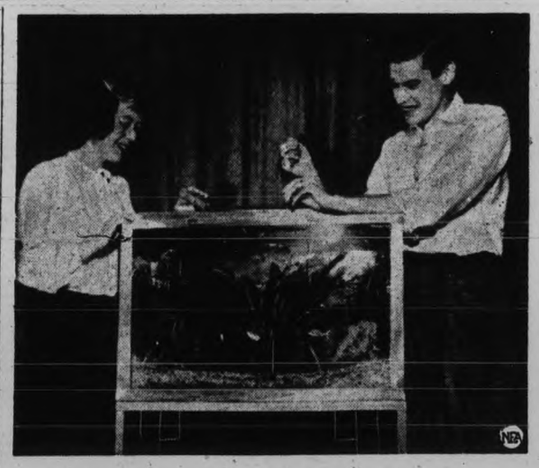
A group of Toronto clothing men and writers were shown through the huge plant of Dominion Woollens and Worsteds, Ltd., as Hespeler, Ont., Wednesday, partially to see cloth being made from the raw material to the finished product, and partially to see the experiments being carried on.

Seeing cloth made is something in itself. It's the loom and spinning wheel on a gigantic scale and adapted to almost - human machines. It seems almost miraculous to see the flimsy, fluffy wool, rayon or other fibres processed until they end up as durable and fashionable materials.

One new fibre which intrigued us is Vicara—made from corn—and you can do two things with it:

You can make yourself some cloth; or you can add beefsteak flavoring and make a "steak." In other words, you can wear it or eat it.

However, it's a relatively-new development and not much is being done with it yet, despite the versatility.



Can't Be Replaced

To come back to wool: cloth people say nothing can ever replace it, because it's a living fibre, off a living animal; its fibres are barbed and cling to one another, whereas the newer fibres break off more easily.

says the change in value of the world is using more of it than is being produced. One reason given for the scarcity is that the low prices of the '30s discounted sheep raising, and in many producing countries the flocks are still below normal.

However, there has been considerable success in mixing other fibres with it. At Hespeler we saw cloths blended half from wool and half from rayon which apparently the experts couldn't tell from all-wool. We were told that about the only remaining trouble with these blends is that wrinkles don't shake out of them as easily as from wool.

Incidentally, a manufacturer says the cange in value of the Canadian dollar will have virtually no effect on the price of clothes in Canada. The amount of saving on imported wool would be only about 50 cents on a suit, and, in the meantime, prices of other materials, such as linings, have risen.

MARY AND LESLIE WILKINSON feed the tropical fish which afford them both pleasure and profit. Fish are, they say, much like humans, except for one thing—living in glass houses, they don't throw stones.

Smart Young Couple Fish Extra Income From Fish

By ANNE LARSEN
NEA Staff Writer

It was because of a lamp, received as a wedding present, that Mary and Leslie Wilkinson became interested in tropical fish and began raising them for pleasure and profit.

The lamp has a hollow crystal base, in which swam a couple of goldfish.

This sent the Wilkinsons scurrying to an aquarium supply store where they were introduced to the more exotic fish that later became both a hobby and an extra source of income.

Their first purchase, after a succession of goldfish had died from lack of space, was a pair of guppies. Twenty-four hours later, they owned 27 guppies. Born with the guppies was an idea—that fish-breeding was a snap.

Time has modified that opinion a bit, but the Wilkinsons still heartily endorse their hobby as an interesting means of filling spare hours and a profitable way of plugging chinks in the bank account.

Initial Expense

Initial expense for equipment, they advise would-be fish breeders, is relatively small. The necessary three tanks should range from about $9 to $15, depending upon size. Other expenses include gravel and plants, a light for the tank, which may be a kitchen or office lamp or even a simple bulb, and breeding stock.

The Wilkinsons acquired their stock gradually, buying inexpensive breeds at 50 cents a pair. Their first splurge, to the extent of $1.25, was for a brilliantly-hued, beautifully-finned male Betta. His mate cost 75 cents.

Bettas produce 200 fry each month. Each is worth 20 cents at one month of age. At six months, when sex differentiation is possible, males are worth $1 each and females 50 cents. Values of baby fish vary according to breed.

The Wilkinsons have used most of their profit thus far to buy more equipment and stock. They now possess in addition to black mollys, guppies, platys, zebras and unmated angel fish, a breeding pair of angels worth $25. Offspring from the latter are comparably valuable.

Plants Too

Another source of income for the Wilkinsons is aquarium plants. Such plants as Amazon swords may be bought when small and resold when new growth raises their value. Or common water lilies, eel grass and willow moss may be plucked from streams and sold when they become acclimated to the still water in tanks.

The secret of successful tropical fish breeding is balanced tanks. When the proper relationship between the fish and their environment is obtained, the job is an easy one.

Such chores as tank-changing are largely eliminated. A light attached to the top of the tank makes the plants grow. Growing plants inhale carbon dioxide given off by the fish, and exhale oxygen which the fish need. Aerating devices are usually necessary only if the tank is crowded with fish.

The wastes from the fish provide food for the plants, hence gravel may be used for a bedding agent, rather than soil, which tends to sour.

Care must be used not to overfeed the fish. Uneaten food disintegrates and clouds the water. For clean-up detail on possible extra food, the Wilkinsons advise keeping miniature cat-fish and tiny snails.

No special water is needed for the tanks, according to Leslie, who uses in his tanks tap water, aged 24 hours in a bucket to release the chlorine. Small amounts added for evaporation replacement need be aged only a couple of hours, he says.

YWCA Holds Country Fair All Groups Contributing

The YWCA's "Country Fair" of Thursday evening was a new venture by the program department, replacing the "open house" of former years. It was psonsored by the Members' Council with Mrs. S. Wright as over-all convener.

Attractions were almost as numerous as at a regular country fair, but varied in the aspects. They brought in a crowd of not more than 175, and most of the non - performers were their mothers and friends.

Main idea of the event was to acquaint young people of the city with the facilities and opportunities of the YWCA. Small fees of admission to various shows and games were charged to raise money for the World Reconstruction Fund to which the local organization contributes annually.

It is desired to form an active Senior Drama Group in the Y and an organization meeting is announced for Tuesday evening, October 10, at eight o'clock. Present members of the group presented a one-act comedy entitled "The matrimonial tea party" which seemed the most thoroughly entertaining item of the evening. The play was directed by Mrs. J. G. Campbell and the cast, in the amusing dress of the 1900 period, was Lindy McIntosh, John Campbell, Gwen Reed, Irene Tucker, Ruthann Brown, Doris Bolton, Ella Down and Peter McCombe.

The vaudeville show was highlighted by two performers, Miss Shirley Milburn and Mr. Tony Burns. Miss Milburn is probably the only girl in Peterborough who has mastered so completely the movements of a Hawaiian ballet dance. She has been coached by Miss C. Littlefield. Mr. Burns, in black face, sang three numbers from the Al Jolson album, imitating the originator's style of presentation splendidly.

Comedy was introduced by the "Fearsome Foursome." Mesdames Dorothy Clements, Gladys Scott, Dorothy Foster and Freida Ainslie, who opened with "Dearie" and rated an encore on the "Cocoanut Song."

Three ballet numbers were included in the show and Miss Dorothy Graham gave a monologue accompanying herself on the guitar. The program was announced by Frank Booth.

Fall fashions, mostly for jnniors and featuring blouses, skirts, sweaters and suits and some lounging outfits, were modelled by Misses Wilma Watson, Edith Miller, Margaret Rodgers, Fern Carveth, Kay Calladine and Pat Nixon of the Kapps Gamma Club. Commentary on the style points was by Mrs. Maurice Holt.

Miss Audrey Hustwitt, swimming director, arranged a swim show which included ornamental work in costume, diving and relay races.

Booths operated were: homebaking by the Old Country Club, curiosity shop by the '38 Club, fortune-telling by Mrs. Betty Killingbeck of the Overseas Club, and portrait sketching by Doug Landry of the 20 Plus Club.

A colorful midway in the gymnasium was arranged under convenership of Mrs. Marlow Banks, and Mrs. S. Sakos convened a fish pond.

Club information and an art display, introducing the new art classes, was in charge of Mrs. C. K. Hurst, Mrs. F. Hambly and Miss Helen Edmison.

A refreshment bar where popcorn and soft drinks were available was convened by Miss Beatrice Kay. The Married Couples Club served coffee.

Tickets were taken by Misses Ruby Leach and Annie Williams, and checking was by residence girls, Miss Vi Junkin in charge.

A jitney dance in the recreation room cocluded the evening's program, Mr. Harold Roach was "Caller" for square dancing and music was by Mr. and Mrs. J. Lillierop, fiddler and pianist.

Accompanist for the fashion and vaudeville show was Mrs. M. McBride, Mrs. L. Rawson assisting in other numbers.

First fall meeting of the Otonabee Chapter, IODE, was on Wednesday afternoon in the YWCA Green Room, regent Mrs. A. McWilliams in charge.

Letters were received from persons overseas who have been getting food boxes from the Chapter. It was decided to carry on with sending these boxes each month.

Purchase of a wreath for Remembrance Day was authorized and a donation made to the Mary McCullough fund. A rummage sale was planned, the date to be set later. Some arrangements for the tea on Saturday, November 18, at the YWCA were made.

Mrs. B. W. Harvey interested her fellow members with a descriptive account of her holiday trip to Jamaica.

JEANETTE SCOTT CHAPTER

Mrs. H. Northrop, regent, presided in her own home Wednesday evening for the meeting of Jeanette Scott Chapter, IODE.

Due to the fact that satisfactory arrangements were not able to be completed with the ballet group, it was decided to cancel plans for bringing the Winnipeg ballet to Peterborough this fall.

Arrangements are being made for a theatre night and a children's clothing exchange for chapter members and friends will take place at the YWCA on October 24, commencing at eight-thirty. Jeanette Scott memo calendars will again be sold. Members will continue to send food boxes overseas, also sewn and knitted articles. A wreath will be placed on the cenotaph for Remembrance Day.

PETER ROBINSON CHAPTER

There was keen interest in the program for the meeting of Peter Robinson Chapter, IODE, held Wednesday evening at the YWCA. Miss Constance Watt from Australia, a graduate nurse of wide experience who is now on the staff of Civic Hospital here, was the speaker.

Miss Watt compared her native country with Canada, saying they are alike in two respects—friendliness of the people and vastness of the territory, but quite different in most others. She has been particularly impressed by the natural lakes and rivers and the Rocky mountains, but likes Australia for the quantities of fruit that are available at all seasons of the year.

Prices for clothing seem to be about the same she finds, though wages are about twice as high in Canada. This is balanced, however, by the price of food in Australia where meals are just half the price here.

The speaker was introduced by Miss Mary Greer and Mrs. H. Keefer expressed appreciation to her.

Regent Mrs. H. Baker conducted business. Final plans were made for the annual Christmas tea in December. Twelve food boxes were reported sent to Britain during the past three months.

Mrs. F. H. Jobbitt and her committe were hostesses for tea.

1000 Layettes Needed

DOROTHY DIX

Spinster Much Better Off Than Human Doormat

DEAR MISS DIX: In friendship or love between two people should one be influenced by what the other does or fails to do? Should one resent lack of consideration on the part of the other or should one just grin and bear it as if nothing had happened? I know a girl who stood insults, humiliation, selfishness for the grossest and infidelity for ten years from the man with whom she was in love, but she got him in the end. I know another girl who refused to put up with such conduct from her fiance and she is still wandering around unmarried. Which girl had the most character? K.J.R.

Dorothy Dix

ANSWER: I'd say the second girl did. She showed not only strength of character but self-respect, and good, hard, horse sense, while the first girl proved herself to be nothing but a human doormat.

True, she hooked her man, but it needs no prophet to foretell that he will trample over her and kick her around, as is the fate of every doormat, as long as she lives. How any woman can promise herself any happiness in marrying a man who has shown her even before marriage the contempt in which he holds her, is past comprehension.

Writes Own Price-tag

Every wife writes her own price-tag for her husband and he treats her exactly as she demands to be treated. If she demands to be treated with respect and courtesy and generosity, she gets it. But if she submits to being treated like a slave and ordered about like one, if she meekly bows her head before insults and abuse, that's the way she is treated.

The wives who let their husbands swear at them; the wives who let their husbands dole out nickels to them instead of giving them an allowance; the wives who let their husbands enslave them have only themselves to blame. Their husbands wouldn't treat them that way if they didn't stand for it. The worm would only have to turn to make their husbands as polite and considerate to them as they are to other women.

A proper self-respect demands that our friends should treat us with respect, and they do not value us unless we make them do so.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Three years ago I left a good home and position to marry an only son. My husband's mother lives with us. She is 75 and crippled. She is sweet and easy to get along with but she makes me very unhappy because she never lets us have a minute alone together. In the morning she comes down to breakfast just to be with him and then goes back to bed. When friends drop in in the evenings mother holds the floor for half an hour at a time, telling the same old stories over and over again. My friends have made remarks about this and when I told my husband about it he said: "Oh, let her stay up. She enjoys it and she only has a few more years to live." I am so unhappy that I think I will take my baby and leave.

SAD MOTHER AND WIFE.

ANSWER: Well, if that is all you have to be sad about, you should be down on your knees thanking God for your happiness instead of cluttering up this column with your wails.

If your mother-in-law was mean and bossy and hateful to get along with, and if she was trying to separate you from your husband, you would have just reason for complaint. But she is none of these things. She is a sweet, gentle, crippled old lady who only wants a little of the society of the son she adores and a little of the companionship of you and your husband and your friends.

And you are so rich. You have the son whose love for you is so much greater than his affection for his mother. You have your child. You have your home. You have youth and friends and a million interests that keep your mind and your heart and your hands busy, and a long and rosy future stretches before you. Can you not out of your wealth spare a little understanding, a litle patience to this forlorn old creature?

My advice to you is to brace up and snap out of the maudlin state of mind you have got into. Quit being sorry for yourself. Dry your eyes and smile and cherish your poor old mother-in-law as if she were your own mother. There is nothing that cheers us up like doing the right thing.

DEAR MISS DIX: My mother will not let me use cosmetics, but there are only three other girls in my class who do not use them and they don't care what they look like and are not liked by either boys or girls. Don't you think my mother should let me use rouge and lipstick?

THIRTEEN-YEAR-OLD.

ANSWER: Your mother is right in thinking it exceedingly bad taste for a 13-year-old girl to daub herself up with paint and powder. That is what we old ones use when we are trying to look young, and it is a pity that those who will have fresh young skins can't realize how blest they are and not spoil them imitating age

If you're the average kind of housekeeper, you've probably been caught short of cake when visitors drop in unexpectedly. Modern processors no doubt had such situations in mind when they developed cake mixes. These come in a variety of preparations for both light and dark cakes. Some you simply mix with water or milk; some require the addition of eggs as well. At any rate, from the wide variety on the shelves of your Dominion Master Market, there's no need to feel panicky. Keep a variety of these mixes on hand. They're so easy to use and—presto—you have a cake in the oven in a matter of minutes. And cake mixes aren't the only ones . . . there are biscuit and pancake mixes that are equally easy to prepare.

Give your potatoes glamour with this method. First roast them whole in the usual way. When soft, cut in two and scoop out centres into bowl, saving the jackets. Mash thoroughly, add milk, butter, pepper and salt to taste and whip light and fluffy. Replace whipped potato in jackets, sprinkle with paprika and place under broiler to brown. They're delicious! Be sure, however, you get good quality potatoes—they wash fine, smooth, and fluff up beautifully. Your Dominion Master Market will be glad to serve you with No. 1 quality potatoes and all manner of fruit and vegetables for your family.

Wondering what meat to have for the week - end? Then here's a suggestion from your Dominion Master Market . . . right now the meat department is featuring juicy, tender porterhouse sirloin and boneless round steaks and roasts. These have been selected by Dominion buyers for quality and flavour so that you can serve them to those special guests of your family with assurance. With roast potatoes, cauliflower, a tossed salad, you have all the essentials for a successful meal. Stop in at your Dominion Master Market today and see the special display of meats.

Your Dominion Master Market is located at George and Sherbrooke Streets in Peterborough.

Household Hints

DON'T OVER-WATER

Avoid over-watering your geraniums. They need a drink only when the soil feels dry to your touch.

Keep left-over egg yolks from drying up by placing them in a custard cup or other small dish, covering them with cold water, and placing them in the refrigerator.

✧ ✧ ✧

MAKE OVER CHEST

To make an old, unattractive chest presentable again, sandpaper the wood and glue on attractive designs cut off from left-over wallpaper. Shellac the entire job to protect the bright, new finish.

COOKBOOK OF THE WEEK

Apricot Rice Mold Found Delicious Quick Dessert

Every homemaker gets tired of the same old recipes and the same old desserts. For real refreshing suggestions you should see "250 Delectable Dessert Recipes" the twelfth in the series of twenty-four cookbooks being made available to readers of this newspaper.

The Dessert Book, like the earlier cookbooks in the series, is crammed full of novel ideas for preparing foods, attractive ways of serving, and easy to follow recipes of tried and true dishes. Here is an especially tasty dessert, taken from the Dessert Book, that can be made of any leftover canned fruit such as peaches or pears as well as apricots. Leftover rice could also be used:

Apricot Rice Mold

1 No. 2½ can apricot halves.
1¼ teaspoons unflavored getatin.
2 cups cold cooked rice.
Few rains salt.
½ cup heavy cream whipped.

Drain apricotts and place a half in each custard cup. Press remaining salves through a sieve. Soften gelatin in 3 tablespoons apricot juice and dissolve over hot water. Combine dissolved gelatin, poured apricots, rice and salt and mix well. Fold in whipped cream and pour into custard cups. Chill. When firm unmold and garnish with whipped cream. Serves 6.

You will want to see the many other unusual dessert ideas in the Dessert Book. All you need do to obtain your copy is clip a coupon from page 2 of any issue of this newspaper and present it with 25c at the Examiner Office or from your Examiner carrier or at Braund's Home Food Markets Or if you wish to order your copy by mail, send the coupon with 30c (5c additional for postage and handling) to Cookbook Department, Examiner, Peterborough.

Use Variety in Preparing Dish of Scalloped Potatoes

By MARY MOORE

Some concessions to flavor have to be made if we Canadian women are going to establish a firm reputation.

For instance, dietetically speaking, I could not recommend the presoaking of potatoes before preparing them as scalloped potatoes (or mashed or French fried) for minerals and vitamins are lost in this soaking water. But, to get the best results—that is flavor results—they should be soaked. (Do this for sure when the women's group at your church ask you for a dish of scalloped potatoes for the next church supper.)

I will give you some highly recommended methods for making scalloped potatoes. I am hoping that some of you experienced cooks will return the favor, sending me your treasured recipes, unless they are household secrets.

Scalloped Potatoes No. 1

Scrub, pare and cut into ⅛ inch slices about 6 medium-large potatoes. Drop immediately into cold water to soak out some of the starch and to keep them white Drain when you are finished peling, and arrange in generously buttered large shallow baking dish in layers, sprinkling between the layers 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teasnoon white pepper, 2 tablespoons butter. Over all pour enough whole milk (or whole milk mixed with some top milk) to just show through top layer. Sprinkle top with extra salt and dots of butter and bake at 375 deg. Fahr. for about 1¼ to 1½ hours.

Scalloped Potatoes No. 2

Pare and slice potatoes wafer thin. Have hot milk in buttered casserole—about 2 cups. Drop half of the potatoes directly into this. Slice over them one medium sized mild onion and cover with remaining potatoes. Sprinkle generously with salt and pepper. Be sure potatoes are covered with the hot milk. Bake at low temperature—325 deg. Fahr.—for 1¾ hours.

Scalloped Potatoes No. 3

Make 2½ cups thin cheese sauce by malting 4 tablespoons butter adding 2 tablespoons flour, stirring until blended and then stirring in 2½ cups hot whole milk until thick. Add from ½ to 1 cup grated or sliced processed cheese, and let stand over boiling water until cheese is soft or melted. Have ready 4 large or 6 medium raw or undercooked potatoes. Slice or cube them. Add them to the cheese sauce and pour into buttered casserole. Cover with ¼ cup grated cheese mixed with ¼ cup fine dry bread crumbs. Sprinkle with salt and paprika .Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. for about 45 minutes if potatoes are partially cooked. If raw, this dish requires one hour at 400 deg. Fahr. Do not use leftover cold cooked potatoes for this.

I am including the next recipe because it is an excellent and delicious way of using up those pesky outer stalks of celery that seem to collect in every vegetable crisper.

Scalloped Potatoes And Celery

Wash, pare, cut in quarters 4 or 6 medium potatoes. Parboil to make them nearly tender. Cut up celery until you have 1 cup well-packed. Cook in 1 cup water with ½ teaspoon salt for 5 minutes Mix together 2 tablespoons butter and 2 tablespoons flour and stir into the celery and water with ½ cup exaporated milk until thick Pour over the potatoes in buttered casserole. Add salt and pepper to taste. Sprinkle top with buttered crumbs (and cheese if designed) and bake at 375 deg. Fahr. until bubbly and brown.

Find Apple Gives Zestful Flavor

By KAY REX

OTTAWA, Oct. 6 —(CP)— For the modern housewife, the apple evidently is becoming one of the most "versatile" of foods.

She still can bake it in a pie; or turn it into sauce for pork. But there are other uses too—she will try it in a stew; and an apple with some ham is about the finest dish what am.

Seriously though, home economists of the consumer section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, recommend apples baked with ham as an ideal meat course.

Ingredients: One slice of uncooked ham (about 1½ inches thick); one teaspoon dry mustard; two teaspoons vinegar; two apples; one-half cup brown sugar; one teaspoon butter.

An Added Touch

Trim rind from ham. Mix mustard and vinegar together and spread on ham. Slice apples thinly and spread in layers on ham. Sprinkle with brown sugar and dot with butter. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees Fahrenheit) until ham is tender—about 45 minutes.

These food experts recommend adding a half cup of grated raw apple to beef stew or chicken soup. They say it adds a new and interesting flavor.

Apples also have gained favor in salads and pickles and, of course, it's hardly necessary to mention that they're still popular in pies and desserts.

Another Agriculture Department recipe is steamed apple pudding — an ideal cold weather dish.

Ingredients

Ingredients: 1½ cups grated apples; one cup carrots (grated); one cup chopped raisins; 1¼ cups sugar; 1¼ cups chopped beef suet; two cups flour; one teaspoon soda; one teaspoon cinnamon; one-half teaspoon ground cloves; one-quarter teaspoon salt.

Mix all ingredients together, sifting soda and spices with flour. Pour into large buttered mold and steam three hours; individual molds require 1½ hours steaming. Serve with hot pudding sauce.

Recent suggestions that cheese and apple pie be served tourists as Canada's favorite dish finds the Agriculture Department with a recipe for apple-pie with cheese crust.

Line pie plate with pastry and cover with layer of thinly sliced apples. Allowing about two tablespoons of sugar to each apple, sprinkle sugar, mixed with a little cinnamon or nutmeg over the apples. Dot with butter. Repeat until pie plate is well filled.

Roll one-half cup grated cheese into pastry for upper crust. Cover apples with the cheese crust. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees Fahrenheit) for 15 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 degrees Fahrenheit and bake for 20 to 30 minutes longer or until apples are tender.

Ontario Mine Tourist Lure

PORT ARTHUR —(CP)— A big hole in Northwestern Ontario may become a tourist attraction.

It is the steep rock iron mine at Atikokan, midway between the lakehead and Fort Frances.

Right now tourists would have to come by train to see it, because Atikokan has no highway connections with the outside. The Atikokan mine is 500 feet deep, two miles wide and three miles long. Steep Rock Iron Mines, Ltd., produces about 1,000,000 tons of ore a year and began operations in 1937, draining off parts of Steep Rock Lake and diverting the Seine River which flows into the lake. Shipments of ore began in 1944.

From the crater rim visitors can see the tiny figures of 900 men at work on the crater floor. High trucks are loaded by mechanical shovels, biting into the hill sides of iron. Then over the road network on the mine floor the trucks speed the ore-bearing rock in a constant stream to the huge crusher.

In Minnesota, the "big hole" of the Hibbing mine draws thousands of visitors every year and tourists watch the mine operations from a special lookout platform. Atikokan is hoping that some day it will have a similar arrangement to bring in tourist dollars.

Would Rather Work Than Be Locked Up

"Could you do a little better than that?" George Kelly, 184 Edinburgh St., asked Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., in police court today whe nhe was fined $50 and costs on a second offence charge under the Liquor Control Act.

"That's the minimum I believe, Mr. Kelly," the magistrate said, While he was checking, Kelly said: "I don't make much money. I'd rather be working than locked up."

"That's the minimum," Magistrate Philp stated. The alternative to the fine is one month in the county gaol.

Dewey Continues To Fight Truman In State Voting

By HARRY O'DONNELL

ALBANY, N.Y. — (AP) — Thomas E. Dewey seems to be running against President Truman in his "street-corner" fight for a third term as governor of New York State.

From one end of the State to the other, Dewey is slugging at what he calls Washington "mismanagement" and "bungling."

Many observers believe that victory in the one-year elections Nov. 7 would revive Dewey's presidential aspirations. Democrats are saying that the twice-defeated Republican presidential nominee is already shooting for the Republican presidential nomination in 1962, although Dewey last winter renounced further White House ambition.

The New York State election offers a test between the Truman "fair deal" and the Dewey brand of "Republican liberalism," which, he contends, provides social progress without socialism.

Opponent Unknown

Dewey's Democratic opponent for governor is the relatively unknown Walter A. Lynch of New York City. Lynch, a "new dealer and fair dealer," has represented a Bronx district in the House of Representatives for 10 years.

The Democrats are saying that Wall Street bankers dictated Dewey's decision to run again, after he had announced last June 17 that he would not seek re-election.

The basic Dewey-Truman or Dewey-Lynch test also is underscored by a fight for the US Senate seat now held by Democrat Herbert H. Lehman, New York's former, four-term governor.

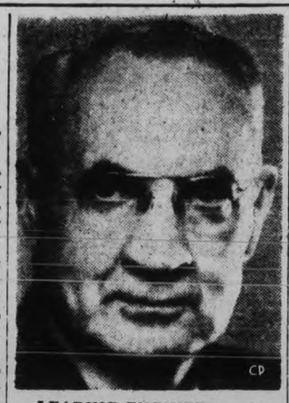
Lehman, winner in a by-election last year over Republican John Foster Dulles, is opposed for a full six-year term by Dewey's Lieutenant - Governor, Joe R. Hanley. Lehman is 72, Hanley is 74.

Supports Truman

Lehman — a former governor whom Franklin D. Roosevelt once called his "good right arm"— supports the Truman "fair deal" generally.

Hanley, a hell-for-leather campaigner, subscribed to the Dewey political philosophy. Some observers, however, consider Hanley "to the right" of Dewey.

Both the State CIO and the State Federation of Labor (AFL) have endorsed the Democratic state ticket, although some AFL leaders have been friendly with Dewey in recent years.



The Democratic candidates also have been nominated by the Liberal party. This non-Communist left-wing bloc, which has most of its strength in New York City, gave President Truman 220,000 votes in New York State in 1948.

Dewey, whose kid-glove, unity campaign against Truman fizzled in 1948, said when renominated for governor Sept. 7 that he would fight the Democrats in "every street corner in the State" this time.

Dewey has trained his heaviest fire on Truman and especially on what the governor denounces as Washington's "mismanagement of our national safety."

Dewey blames the Truman administration for what the governor calls the nation's unpreparedness for the Korean war. He accuses the administration of "giving" free China to the Communists.

The Democrats are praising Truman's domestic program and his policy against Communism.

Big Uranium Find Brings Attention To N. Australia

By L. L. LECK

SYDNEY —(CP)— Deposits of high grade uranium, a basic need for nuclear research, have been reported in Australia's Northern Territory.

In an area not far from the romantically-named Rum Jungle prospectors have found good deposits of the metal according to reports reaching Canberra.

The strike was made in the Ferguson River area south of Darwin by Alfred Hawker and Albert Johnston, fitters employed by the Bovril Company at Katherine.

First scientist to inspect the find was Prof. J. Macdonald Holmes of Sydney University.

He said the strike was "very active, very extensive and unlikely to peter out."

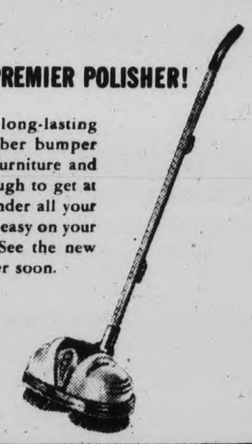
His Story

"I was up in the territory at the time with three of my honor students, engaged in ordinary geographical research work.

"I was called in to have a look over the discovery by Sydney Tennyson, the resident engineer of the works at Katherine.

"By the time I arrived they had dug a hole four feet deep and 10 feet long. It showed a band of rock about two feet wide, going into the surface at a very high angle.

"We tested the area with a Geiger Counter, and got very strong reactions in a line running north and south. The country is very rugged, and the particular geological structure in which uranium ore was found is quite common there.



"There are plenty more of these granite and metamorphic schists. It is quite likely that more ore will be found in similar sheared granites or quartzites in relation to large granite masses which are plentiful in the territory."

UN Prepared Push Through Western Plan

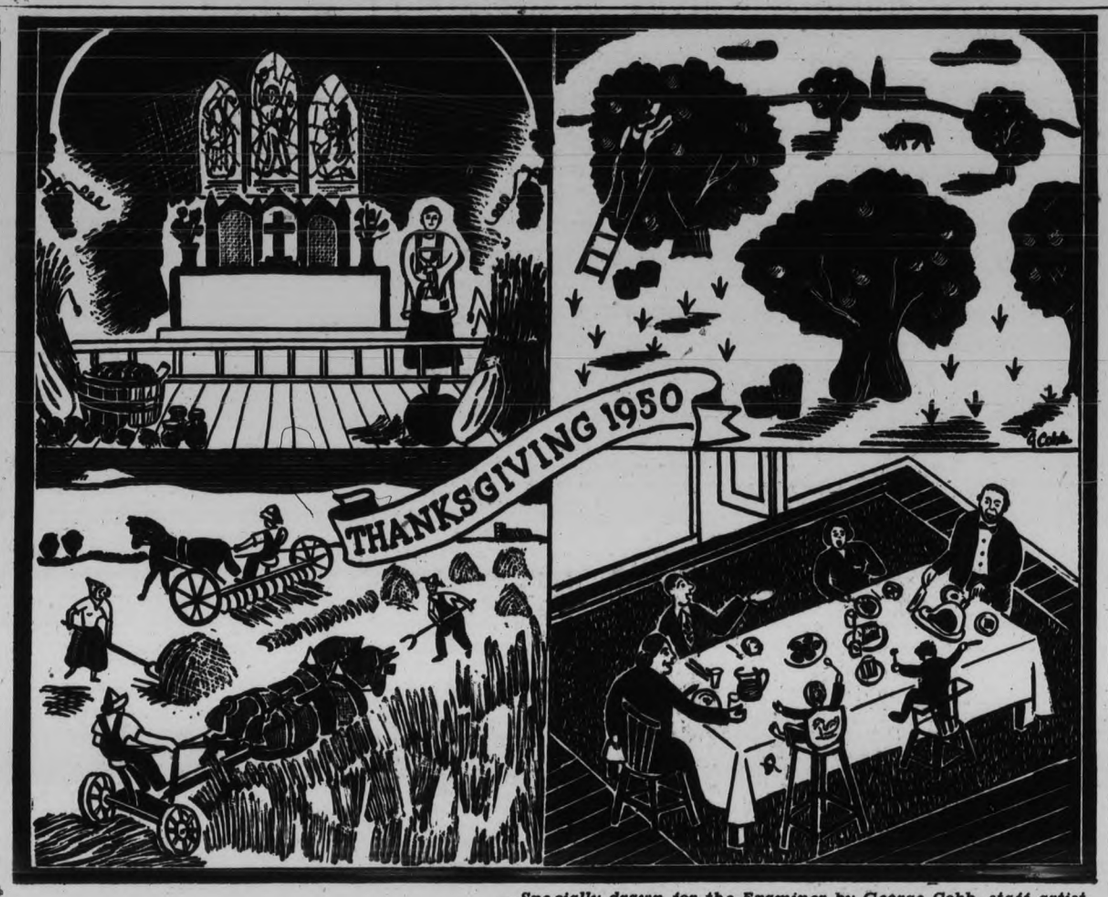
Russians Attempt Filibustering To Delay Action

NEW YORK, Oct. 7—(AP)—The United Nations general assembly expects to give final approval today to the Korean peace plan which allows U.N. troops poised at the 38th parallel to move into North Korea to unify the country.

Long speeches by Slav-group delegates—Russia's Andrei Vishinsky spoke for an hour and 12 minutes — kept the Assembly plenary session from reaching a vote Friday night.

The Ukraine, Greece and India remained on today's speaker list —one speech for the Russia-Slav bloc plan, one for the eight-power "western plan," and one for the middle course of abstention that India took in the Assembly's political committee because it didn't like either plan.

There was no doubt before the meeting began, however, that the whole assembly would give the eight-country peace program offered by Britain and seven other countries the same thumping majority it got in the political committee.



Seven Abstentions

The 60-member committee adopted the "western" plan 47 to 5, with seven abstentions. It calls for naming a strong commission of seven U.N. votes to supervise elections for all of Korea, and to carry out a rehabilitation program in the war-torn country. The resolution also declares that U.N. troops will be withdrawn as soon as all conditions for setting the country on its feet are attained.

The majority scoffed at Russian attempts to get the Assembly to deal with the North Koreans—branded as aggressors—on the same footing as the South Koreans, or to get agreement between the 20,000,000 South Koreans and the 10,000,000 North Koreans without strong U.N. supervision.

The Assembly also had on its schedule another try at naming the third elective member of the security council.

It took 12 ballots in an earlier session without Turkey or Lebanon getting the two-thirds majority necessary to elect either to the two-year term for the Middle East seat now held by Egypt. Turkey led on the ballots. The Netherlands and Brazil were elected to the other two seats, for the term beginning next Jan. 1.

St. Laurent Says Troops Go To Europe

Canada Has Duty As Pact Member; Needing Arms More

MONTREAL, Oct. 7—(CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent Friday night gave the first official indication that Canada definitely will send armed forces to peacetime Europe.

He said "the armed forces of Canada must be appropriately represented in the integrated force which is to be established by the North Atlantic Alliance" for the defense of Western Europe.

His statement, in a speech to the Canadian Industrial Preparedness Association, was interpreted as a strong sign that the government wants the army's 10,000-strong special force to Europe, in whole or in part, either as an alternative to Korea or after Korea is over.

Third Possibility

A third possibility is that part of the force will go to Korea as a token of political occupation force while the bulk of it goes to Europe.

Mr. St. Laurent did not tie his statement down to the army, and he may have had air fighter squadrons in mind. But he did stress that Canada's manpower contribution to Europe must be relatively small and that Europe's greatest immediate need is not manpower but arms. Canada's largest peacetime help, he said, must inevitably be in arms production.

The Prime Minister said Canada can't complete defence production planning until she knows her part in joint allied production, but signified a belief that this should be cleared up in the next few months. At this time, it was impossible to guess what or how much Canada will produce hecaus the government did not know either what Europe or the United States wanted from Canada.

To that he added the statement that before long Canada and the U.S. expect to announce decisions reached for co-ordination of their defence production, a step that is expected to emerge their economies for war production purposes.

Canada Gratified

Canada was "gratified and encouraged" by the proposal of the North Atlantic pact council to establish an integrated force in Europe and noted that pact defence ministers—including Canada's Defence Minister Claxton—are to meet this month to "work out detailed plans for that force."

(The Americans are reported preparing to send 10 divisions to Europe to buttress the force.)

Lots Of Courage

LUCKNOW, Oct. 7—(CP)—Sandy Rider, 33, walked a mile to his car then drove another three miles to a doctor after being impaled on the sharp point of a tree-stump when he fell in the bush. Dr. Mel Corrin of this village 18 miles northeast of Goderich said the gaping stomach wound required 35 stitches to close.

Anscomb Resigns As PC Leader, Surprise Move

VANCOUVER, Oct. 7 (CP) — In a surprise move, Hon. Herbert Anscomb, finance minister in British Columbia's coalition government, resigned Friday night as leader of the B.C. Progressive Conservative party.

But he immediately annnouced that he would be nominated to contest a formal election today for the leadership.

Mr. Anscomb indicated he was resigning and standing for re-election in order to remove any doubt about the party's confidence in its leader.

His sudden announcement came at a special night session of the party's annual convention: It brought a roar from the more than 500 startled delegates.

Wanted Formal Vote

It culminated a two-hour battle between old-line party members, backing Mr. Anscomb as party leader, and young Conservatives attempting to force through a motion which would call for a leadership vote. The anti-Anscomb element is supporting W. A. C. Bennett for the job, and wanted to be sure there was a formal vote on the question.

Cause of the split in party ranks is Mr. Anscomb's business connections. The rebel group has insisted that he either resign as leader of the party or resign his directorship in companies doing business with the government. Mr. Anscomb holds a liquor company directorship.

Mr. Bennett, supported by many younger members of the party, is the coalition member of parliament for Okanagan South.

S. Koreans 20 Miles From Wonsan

Superforts Active In North Korea, Blast Rail Lines

TOKYO, Oct. 7—(AP)—An Air Force spokesman today said United States forces have captured Kaesong, only two miles south of parallel 38 on the road to the Communist capital of Pyongyang.

The U.S. 1st Cavalry Division, which has wheeled nearly 200 miles since mid-September, seized the key border city.

On the east coast, South Korean troops were reported within 20 miles of Wonsan, deep in Red territory.

The rapid advance of the 1st Cavalry troopers from their last reported position, in the Suwon area 20 miles south of liberated Seoul, indicated they may spearhead the expected big push of United Nations forces on the Communist capital.

From Kaesong, the Reds made their heaviest invasion thrust against the U.N.-sponsored republic June 25. The city is astride the main highway and rail route to the Communist capital, 92 air miles to the northwest.

Light Resistance

There were no details of Kaesong's capture, reported to AP correspondent Hal Boyle by a U.S. air force spokesman. Gen. MacArthur's summary earlier said the troops met only scattered resistance in hurdling the wide banks of the Imjin, 30 miles northwest of Seoul.

MacArthur's spokesman reported that Korean Red prisoners said they were instructed to try to escape to the Soviet port of Dairen on the southern tip of Manchuria.

But the spokesman cautioned against placing too much credence in this. Other reports from Red prisoners said that about 80 per cent of North Korea's 10,000,000 people would be friendly toward U.N. forces crossing the parallel.

B-29 Superfortresses meanwhile sowed an isolating chain of delayed-action bombs on railways in a big northeast section of Communist Korea to block defence efforts.

The bombers ripped a 285-mile stretch of rail line, over which Communist reinforcements might move, to a point within 65 air

Progress Slow On Japanese Peace Treaty

NEW YORK, Oct. 7 — (AP).—Negotiations for a Japanese peace treaty are still in an explanatory stage after nearly a month of behind-the-scenes activity by diplomats at the United Nations.

John Foster Dulles has taken the lead here to implement President Truman's September 14 order to the State Department to get such talks under way.

Between sessions of the General Assembly he has been meeting with representativs of such Pacific powers as Australia, New Zealand and the Philippines. Dulles said, however, that these talks are merely an exchange of views and actual negotiations will be carried on at a governmental level.

The problem which is slowing progress is the necessity of reconciling American desires for an "easy" treaty, which would permit Japan to rearm and impose few commercial restrictions, with the views of those countries which fear a revival of Japanese military aggression and commercial competition.

Too Early

Dulles has said it is too early to say when the discussions will progress to the point where a formal peace conference could be convened.

Carlos P. Romulo, Philippines Foreign Secretary, has had discussions about the proposed treaty both with Dulles and State Secretary Dean Acheson.

Sterling Area Restrictions May Soon Be Over—Howe

VANCOUVER, Oct. 7—(CP)—Trade Minister Howe said Friday the worst of sterling area restrictions on Canadian trade may soon be over. In a speech that stressed the need to steer a cautious economic course through current international complications, Mr. Howe touched briefly on international trade and emphasized the greater ability of the United Kingdom and other sterling countries to earn dollars. He spoke before the Vancouver Board of Trade.

Mr. Howe noted there was an increased demand for such raw materials as wool, rubber and tin.

Some of the restrictions announced by the United Kingdom last year included a cut of 25 per cent on purchases from dollar countries, including Canada.

(In Ottawa, officials indicated that the United Kingdom recently has been urged by Canada and the United States that these restrictions should be eased or eliminated in view of the improved position of the UK reserves of gold and dollars.)

Moving Carefully

Referring to the economic impacts of the cold war, turned warm by the Korean battle, Mr. Howe said the government is trying to keep the whole over-all picture in view before initiating action that would effect military preparedness or the welfare of the nation as a whole.

"There are some people who, in all sincerity and with the best interests of Canada at heart, feel that the present situation calls for measures that would be used in a state of all-out war—emergency production boards, conscription, controls and rationing, to mention but a few of the measures they advocate."

Though each Canadian had a right to his own belief as to how government policy should be directed, the policies of the government were such that they did not propose an over-all program of economic controls, nor any "panic measures."

The government believed Canada could increase its preparedness program and still leave substantial resources free for civilian use.

Aussie Troops Taste Action

TAEJON, Korea, Oct. 7 (AP)—Australian troops fought off ambushing Communist attackers in pre-dawn darkness today in their first engagement of the Korean War.

They had been moving north behind British convoys headed for the Seoul area. The attack was made six miles north of Yongdong, 22 air miles south-east of Taejon.

No casualties have been reported.

From time to time there had been scattered small-arms fire across the road. The hills still are full of North Korean troops trying desperately to escape to North Korea.

About 1 a.m. unseen Red attackers threw grenades at Australian bren gun carrier packed with ammunition. One missile struck a carrier and halted it temporarily.

Within 15 seconds after the explosion the Australians were firing back with machine-guns and small arms. That disheartened the attackers.

The convoy rolled on to Taejon without further incident.

Farmer Gives Cow Credit For Saving Life

NORTH HAMPTON, N.H., Oct. 7—(AP) — Farmer Berwin E. Fuller credited his favorite cow—Daisy—with saving his life.

He told the story as he made plans for rebuilding a barn destroyed by fire a few days ago with loss of 65 head of cattle and two horses.

Only Daisy survived.

When the fire broke out, Fuller ran into the barn trying to free the animals. He started to lose consciousness in the smoke.

"I felt a nudge in my back as I started to fall," he recalled later. "I didn't know what it was, but I threw my arms around it and held on. It knocked down a loose door and dragged me along. The next thing I knew I was outside."

Sure enough, it was Daisy. Twelve hours later, she was found in a nearby pasture, just as contented as ever.

Guards Capture Four Prisoners

SUDBURY, Oct. 7 — (CP) — Guards from Burwash Industrial Farm today captured four prisoners who escaped Tuesday night. The four were caught at Rutter, near Delamere, 25 miles south of here.

They are Abraham Schuiler, 32-year-old Indian from London, Ont.; Fred Morton, 28, of Toronto; Daniel J. Christopher, 24, of Ottawa, and Ray Haelwood, 21, of Orillia.

The four had been spectators at a football game at the prison farm Tuesday night. As the prisoners were forming up for the march back to the dormitories, the four dashed into the nearby bush.

A report was received Friday night by prison farm officials that a forcible entry had been made at a house near Delamere and a quantity of food stolen. Guards were concentrated in that area and the escaped men were overtaken at Rutter.

NEW DELHI, India, Oct. 7 — (AP)—Reports that Chinese Communist troops have invaded Tibet were denied here today by the Chinese embassy. An Indian government spokesman and a Tibetan delegation currently in New Delhi also said they had no word of it.

Meanwhile, a report from Kalimpong, a frontier town in Northern Bengal, published in New Delhi papers today, said the Eastern Tibetan province of Kham has been lost to Indian-Tibetan trade since its occupation by Chinese Communists.

Tibetan Finance Minister Tsepon Shakabpa, who heads the Tibetan mission here, said he knew nothing about any Red seizure of the province.

Ban Untouchability

KARACHI, Pakistan, Oct. 7 — (Reuters)—Pakistan Friday took first steps to ban "untouchability." The Constituent Assembly approved unanimously a report of its committee on human rights, with a clause banning untouchability included. Untouchability, the defiling quality of a low-caste Hindu from the point of view of a strict high-caste Hindu, has caused oppressive restrictions in the past.

Bandits Kidnap Pair, Payroll

TORONTO, Oct. 7—(CP)—Two armed gunmen escaped with a $1,200 payroll Friday after kidnapping a construction company president and an office clerk.

F. S. Bridges, president of the Bridges Construction Company, and Gordon Hurst, a clerk, told police they were held up as they emerged from the company office in north-central Toronto.

They said the bandits, waving guns, forced them into an automobile and bound and gagged them with adhesive tape. The bandits drove through the nearby Rosedale area, then jumped out and fled on foot.

Hurst said he managed to wind down the window with his knee and call for help. A passing police car noticed them.

Bank President Invites Robber To Be His Guest

HAMPTON, SC, Oct. 7 (AP).—A bank president and his guest—a bank robber—are hunting, fishing and swapping yarns this week end at the banker's Savannah River camp.

James ((Big Jim) Morton of Cleveland, O., who has spent some 30 years in prisons for robbing banks, arrived Thursday to accept the hospitality of Ralph O. Bowden, president of the Loan and Exchange Bank of Hampton. The banker became interested in the robber after reading his story in a national magazine (Saturday Evening Post) recently.

In inviting Morton to visit him, Bowden, a banker for 50 years, wrote: "'I once had a bank blown open with nitro-glycerine and also have had a bank cut open with an acetylene torch.

"'About the only experience I have not had in the banking business has been the privilege of sitting down in some isolated spot with a 'jug of wine and a loaf of bread' between us and talking with a one-time professional yeggman."

Morton commented after his arrival: "This is the first time a banker ever invited me to his home, though I did notice he invited me to his country place and not to his town home that is near his bank."

Morton said he and co-workers usually worked in the South during the winter, averaging about three bank robberies monthly, netting about $24,000, which was cut three ways. He cautioned: "Nobody but a fool robs a big city bank."

After his stay here, Morton will go to Miami where he plans to write a book about his life

Says Heiress' Ex-Husbands Should Form A Society

PARIS, Oct. 7. (AP)—Barbara Hutton's current husband thinks if the Woolworth heiress marries a fifth time, it would be so "very grotesque" that her former mates should "form a society."

Prince Igor Troubetzkoy suggested it in an interview at the Ritz Friday. He avowed that he still loved his wife — who has been saying that his love was dollar-inspired — but that "apparently I mean nothing to her anymore."

He said "she wants to crystallize her desire for something new" and left him in search of "absolute happiness." And now "she is trying to crucify my reputation."

The prince declined to say if he plans to sue Barbara, but added that "people can't walk on me forever."

Heatedly he denied Barbara's accusation that he wed her for her money — estimated between $20,000,000 and $40,000,000—and insisted it was Barbara who had asked him to marry her "again and again and again." So he did, in 1947.

The heiress' first husband was the late Count Alexis Mdivani of Russian Georgia (1933-35), her second, Count Kurt Haugwitz-Reventlow of Denmark (1935-41), and her third screen star Cary Grant (1942-45).

"I think she loved me," reminisced Prince Troubetzkoy. "She has always been sincere about everything she's done. Even if she married 20 times, she'd be sincere every time."

Still "I should never have married Babs," he went on. "It was my mistake, not hers. I was only a stockbroker. She loved high society." He gave her age as 37, his as 38.

Boxing Champ Has Last Fight

U.S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Oct. 7 (AP) —The United States army's heavyweight boxing champion received the Distinguished Service Cross today for his greatest fight—and his last.

Cpl. Levi Jackson, Jr., fell under a rain of hot steel his big fist could not stop. In death he was still a champion.

The 24-year-old Negro went into the final round as a medical aid man, near the town of Haman in South Korea Aug. 13.

Time and time again, Jackson faced North Korean fire to rescue men of a company which lost more than half of its personnel without giving an inch of ground.

Autumn Colors Not Undone Kawarthas, Trent In Prime

You will be the loser if you and your family do not make a determined attempt to get out in the Kawartha wonderland this Thanksgiving week-end.

It seemed last Sunday that colorings were shaping up too quickly to last through the week and, had there been wind and rain, the show would have been ruined. Fortunately, weather has been temperate all week and colors have outdone themselves, especially along frost-free lake and river shorelines.

Where should you go?

In any direction of the compass, but go. Some of the most popular and brilliant sights may be seen on the following suggested routes: Highway 7, turn right on Keene Road branch, through Keene to Hastings and across the Trent. Turn right again and continue along the south shore of Rice Lake to Bewdley and come back home north along Highway 28.

Or, go north on Highway 28 with the first must-stop at Burleigh Falls. From there you may branch west along the Oregon Trail and wind up in Bobcaygeon.

You may also continue north on 28 as far as Bancroft and Barry's Bay. Some of the outstanding spots along this route are the Department of Highways picnic spot on Eel's Brook, north of Haultain, the sweep of Paudash Lake from the granite-walled turn-out. And just before coming to the south end of Paudash, the Cheddar Trail to Wilberforce takes you through the blazing hardwoods for many miles.

If you favor Stony Lake, drive via Warsaw, past Gilchrist Bay to the lake's head at Jack's Creek and, if your brakes and nerves are in good condition, put the car in low gear and go to the top of Blue Mountain. The Kosh country to the east and wilderness in three other directions offers the most overall breath-taking picture of them all.

East on Highway 7 to Kaladar and north into the Land o' Lakes country where the excellent road passes Lake Mazinaw, is another choice; you may continue this trip as far north as Denbigh.

The colorful Kawarthas are staged for your pleasure. See them now.

Toilet Installation Held Up; Brings Man To Court

COBOURG, Oct. 7 — (ENS) — Hearing of a charge against Howard Killenbeck, of Hastings, laid by the counties health unit, resulted in Magistrate R. B. Baxter deferring his decision pending the defendant showing his good faith in the matter by submitting documentary evidence before Oct. 27.

Killenbeck was charged with failing to provide a washroom and toilet facilities for customers of his lunchroom in Hastings from October 22, 1949, to September 22, 1950. He pleaded not guilty.

J. D. Finlayson, sanitary inspector for the counties health unit, testified that he inspected the premises on June 8 last year and found that it required covered containers for dishes, washroom facilities and toilet. On October 14 he visited the establishment again and found that there was still no toilet or washroom.

Thomas Waters, a sanitary inspector of the health unit, said he called on the defendant on Jan. 3 and while there were a toilet bowl and flush tank, they had not been connected up. He was informed that Killenbeck was waiting for the plumber.

A visit on Feb. 7 and another one on April 4, showed that the toilet still had not been connected up. The toilet was still not ready for use on visits made on June 9 and August 9. On the occasion of the last visit on Sept. 6, the situation had not changed.

The defendant told the court that after he had hired a plumber and received the equipment for later installation, the plumber asked for it back because he was in financial difficulties. He spent $500 on a septic tank but the plumber didn't finish the job Later the plumber left town.

He hired another plumber who delayed for months and then said he would not finish up work that had been started by the other plumber. He got another plumber and had been promised the work would be completed this fall.

"You appear to have tried and it looks as if the plumber didn't live up to his part of the bargain. I am going to defer the matter to October 27 and direct you to have your plumber write to the health unit and say when he was going to finish the work," said the magistrate.

Scots Ready Strike Blow For Parliament

GLASGOW, Oct. 7—Advocates of more independence for Scotland have buckled on their armor, ready to strike a big political blow for a separate Scottish parliament.

The home rulers—or covenanters, as they call themselves—want Scotland to have more say in running her own affairs. They say the London parliament doesn't appreciate local Scottish problems.

Their first entry into the political arena is in the Scotstoun district of Glasgow, where a by-election will be held Oct. 25.

The Covenanters, who claim 1,700,000 supporters in Scotland and overseas, are not putting forward a candidate. Instead, the 50,000 voters will be asked to mark a plebiscite when they cast their parliamentary votes.

John MacCormick, Covenanters' chief, said Friday he is confident the plebiscite will show more than 80 per cent of the voters in favor of a Scottish government to deal with domestic matters.

Cannot Be Ignored

"Such a demonstration cannot be ignored either by government or opposition," he said.

For weeks he and the other leaders have been stock-piling literature, including an election "manifesto." If the plebiscite justifies their hopes, Covenanters will conduct at least 12 plebiscites throughout Scotland at next general election.

Small Accounts Important 'Ad' Men Told

MONTREAL, Oct. 7 — (CP) — Wilfred Campbell, assistant advertising manager of the Toronto Daily Star, urged advertising men Friday to keep on the constant lookout for the new small accounts and to remember the importance of making personal calls.

Mr. Campbell spoke before delegates to the Newspaper Advertising Association of Eastern Canada.

"Canadian Daily Newspapers in the main are the one mass medium in which the manufacturer and retailer can interlock their advertising campaigns," he said. "They are the only medium in which the manufacturer can run an advertisement at the same time when the product is available and the consumer wants to buy."

He said this country's advertising rate for daily newspapers is the lowest of any type on the continent and is one third lower than the global average.

Round-table discussions were continued today, led by Ross Bates, advertising manager of the St. Catharines Standard.

Howard S. Mark, advertising manager of the Robert Simpson Co., Toronto, told a luncheon gathering that department stores look more favorably on a newspaper circulation manager who gives natural circulation figures than those who create artificially.

He suggested newspaper men keep in touch with store managers and send them any material likely of interest and use in their business.

miles of the Siberian border.

The South Korean Third Division, crushing the first Red effort to slow its drive, pressed on 95 road miles inside North Korea on the east coast. Its objective was Wonsan, an industrial city and one of the 10 best ports in Korea.

Expect Bitter Fight

A field dispatch today said it appeared likely the Republic's soldiers would be able to reach the outskirts of Wonsan before running into serious Communist opposition. However, a bitter fight tor the town is expected.

Two other South Korean divisions also advanced into North Korea along a 50-mile front extending from the east coast.

Just south of the 38th Parallel, artificial boundary dividing South and North Korea, a 175,000-man United Nations Army regrouped in military secrecy, Gen. MacArthur's spokesman said any speculation that this might mask an imminent big push would be unwarranted.

Heavy bombers ripped the Reds vital rail artery from Pyongyang to the north-east coast port of Chongjin, 65 air miles from Siberia. Using new tactics, the Superforts dropped tons of delayed-action bombs, timed to explode at intervals.

The car came to rest in four feet of water in the centre of the creek, and the two wet occupants waded ashore.

Provincial Constable Donald Erskine investigated.

The body is resting at the Comstock funeral home until service in the chapel Monday at 2 p.m., the Rev. F. W. Craik of St. James United Church officiating. Burial will be at Little Lake Cemetery.

MISS GERTRUDE HAZEL SMITH

Miss Smith was an employee of the DeLaval Company for many years and was a member of St. Luke's Anglican Church.

Funeral service will be held at her residence on Tuesday at 2 p.m. The Rev. W. E. Kibblewhite of All Saint's Anglican Church will officiate and burial will be at Verulum Cemetery, Bobcaygeon.

Former Dictator Leading Polls

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Oct. 7—(AP)—Getulio Vargas, Brazil's former dictator, has widened his margin to more than 400,000 votes over his nearest rival in Tuesday's presidential election.

Incomplete and unofficial returns at 9 a.m. gave Vargas 867,306 votes, Lt.-Gen. Eduardo Gomes, nominee of the National Democratic Union, 425,100, and Cristiano Machado, candidate of the government-backed Social Democratic party, 242,828.

Incomplete and unofficial returns late Friday night gave Vargas 700,176 votes to Lt.-Gen. Eduardo Gomes 340,946. Christiano Machado, candidate of the government-backed Social Democratic party, trailed with 211,390.

Dogs, Cats, Skunks

During September eight dogs and 15 cats met death on the city streets while 51 dogs and 111 cats went to the incinerator. G. A. Dunford, inspector reported to the Peterborough Humane Society this week. Ten of the dogs picked up were returned to their owners and 12 cats were returned home. A deer formerly at Chemong, was placed at the Filtration plant zoo. Twelve skunks visited the incinerator during the month.

Begin Work On Railway Linking Ungava, Sept Iles

QUEBEC, Oct. 7—(CP)—Premier Duplessis announced at a press conference Friday that work on the 360-mile railway linking Sept Iles, on the St. Lawrence river north shore, and the Ungava and Labrador iron-ore deposits started Oct. 4.

The rail line, which will cost about $100,000,000 will bring ore from Ungava to a harbor to be constructed at Sept Iles. From there it will be shipped to Sorel, 50 miles below Montreal, for processing.

The premier said the cost will be borne entirely by the "company concerned with the exploitation of the ore deposits."

"Formerly," the premier said, "the government always granted subsidies for such projects. Under the Union Nationale government, there has not been a cent given in subsidies."

For 120 miles, construction of the railway will be "comparable to certain phases of the work in the Rockies when a rail line was built there," Mr. Duplessis said.

The whole development and rail-line construction will provide work for thousands during the next four years.

The premier also said that start of the session of the Quebec Legislature Nov. 8, as announced Wednesday, is "not a special session." It was the "regular session starting earlier than usual."

Mr. Duplessis said Wednesday that the Quebec Legislature had been called to adopt "special legislation" designed to speed reconstruction in fire-ravaged Rimouski and Cabano.

The session will be adjourned until next year to allow delegates from Quebec to attend the Federal - Provincial constitutional conference at Ottawa in December.

For what I have, I humbly thank
The One who rules our destiny;
I know that neither wealth nor rank
Could ever bring content to me.
I'll envy none his birth nor throne,
Nor make another envy me;
For what I am, not what I own
Comprises my entirety.
Each year the seasons come and go,
To make Life's lessons very plain;
Beneath the Winter's snow, I'll know,
Like flowers of Spring, I'll live again.

Pastor Believes Events of Divine Origin

By SPENCER MOOSA

TAIPEI, Formosa. — (CP). — Late last April the Rev. Hendon M. Harris was driving in the hidden pond woods forest preserve near Chicago. He felt sleepy and halted his car to take a nap.

He was awakened, he says, by a strong wind and looking at the sky saw a bear and dragon fleeing from pursuit by a wounded lamb.

His vision, he decided, was God's way of vouchsafing that Communism would go down in defeat—and God's way of telling him to join in the fight.

Harris is pastor of the Airport Baptist Church in Chicago. His congregation was raising funds to build a new church. It decided to use the money to send him to Nationalist China.

Harris flew to Formosa. He arrived in May, when Nationalist fortunes were at very low ebb and their cause was lost in the eyes of the world.

Message of Hope

Harris brought a message of hope. The story of his vision spread from one end of the island to the other.

Since his arrival he has spoken before Nationalist troops everywhere. His evangelism has won 24,000 converts to Christianity.

Included among the converts was an entire group of 7,000 Nationalist combat troops who heard him speak.

Harris describes the morale of Nationalist troops as excellent and says they are anxious to prove themselves in battle.

"They represent 600,000 reasons why this island will never fall," he asserts.

To the pastor's way of thinking, the events on the mainland which led to the Communist conquest were all part of a Divine plan.

Formosa a Refuge

As part of this—in his words—"the Supreme Being provided the Chinese leaders with a refuge here in Formosa to cleanse themselves of corruption."

He predicts that the Nationalists will return to the mainland, and that the people, as result of suffering what he calls the Red scourge, will turn in large numbers to Christianity.

Harris says Gen. Sun Li jen, a Virginia Military Institute alumnus and commander of the Nationalist ground forces, has become interested in forming a chaplain's corps in the Nationalist army. Sun is not a Christian.

Not Only One

The Baptist minister says he is not the only one who has had a call to help the Nationalists.

The Rev. Charles McKoy, a Baptitst pastor in New York, had a call about the same time. He came to Formosa after selling his car and cashing in on his life insurance.

McKoy, in his middle 70's, has had a great effect on Nationalist leaders, Harris says, adding:

"Madame Chiang Kai-shek broke down and wept on hearing his message of faith and encouragement."

Harris is 34 years old. There is nothing about him to suggest fanaticism. He was born in China, the son of missionaries.

He is director of the New Testament Evangelization Society of La Grange, Ill., where his wife and four children live.

Believe U.S. Must Lead Way To Peace

DES MOINES, Ia., Oct. 7 (AP) —An "inescapable responsibility" rests on the United States to lead the way to peace, delegates to a Lutheran Church convention were told here Friday.

A statement presented to the 17th biennial convention of the United Lutheran Church in America termed Russia and its satellite governments "the major obstacle to peace."

Delegates from three Canadian synods are attending the convention.

The statement, endorsed by the U.L.C.A.'s board of social missions, suggested a five-point program of action for individuals and a four-point program of procedure for the U.S. government, which the board said were designed to further the cause of permanent peace.

Its suggestions to the U.S. government were:

1. Support in the United Nations every measure which will serve to deter further aggression.
2. While making clear its reluctant but sufficient readiness to meet military aggression, cooperate in creating a world setting in which conflicting ideologies may compete peacefully and guard against incidents which could precipitate fighting on a world scale.
3. Set an example of true democracy in domestic practice and speed the completion of an adequate international covenant on human rights.
4. Recognizing that Soviet Communism finds an open door in areas of economic deficiency, press forward with a program of economic development of those countries where such assistance is needed.

Ottawa May Help Pay For Research

OTTAWA, Oct. 7 — (CP). — Health Minister Martin said on Friday he is studying the question of possible Federal help for the Ontario Government's research into the treatment of alcoholism.

"The whole project now is under review, and we should be in a position next week to say what we are prepared to do," Mr. Martin said.

At Toronto, the Rev. J. W. Foote, Deputy Chief Commissioner of the Ontario Liquor Control Board, said the Federal Government may help pay for Ontario's research.

Mr. Foote said Health Minister Phillips of Ontario has discussed the matter with Federal officials

The research plan, announced earlier this week, is already taking shape. Dr. G. H. Ettinger Dean of Medicine at Queen's University, said studies will be carried on in three separate laboratories. Provincial grants for similar research have been made to the University of Toronto.

Radio Men In Yellowknife Area Deliver Babies By Remote Control

YELLOWKNIFE, N.W.T. (CP) This is the country where radio men deliver babies by remote control, and bears may be shot from the window of the transmitter station.

At the big 50,000 watt station of the Canadian Army Signal Corps at Yellowknife, key station in the Army's northern network, they hardly bother mentioning happenings such as these. It's old stuff for northern radio men.

The radio network is called upon to turn its skilled hands to everything from delivering messages to delivering babies.

Among its important tasks is a daily report on weather conditions in the Mackenzie River valley, the "cradle" of North-American weather. This report is relayed to Washington, DC, where it is a key factor in making up continental forecasts.

The 14 army men on the station represent the only communications link to the "outside" for the 2,500 people of Yellowknife and the scattered population through the surrounding bush country.

Telegraph Service

The army network acts as regular telegraph service and also handles communications for the RCMP and mining companies. These, together with weather and routine army messages, are channelled south through a network headquarters at Calder, suburb of Edmonton.

When the northern radio man is called upon in an emergency to transmit medical information, not an uncommon occurence in more remote stations, he sends for the nearest doctor and puts him on the air direct.

Radio reception in the north country is exceptional, the army men report. On one occasion they had a complaint from Philadelphia because a small set used here was interfering with Philadelphia police radio. The transmission travelled a couple of thousand miles in spite of the fact it was not supposed to be powerful enough to be heard over the horizon.

Hydro Project On Schedule

TORONTO, Oct. 7 — (CP). — The frequency-conversion program of the Ontario Hydro Commission—believed the largest effort of its kind in the world—is on schedule on its first anniversary, Robert H. Saunders, chairman, announced Friday.

He said the program started on October 5, 1949, now is proceeding in three main areas simultaneously—north and east of Toronto, in the Sarnia district, and the London area.

About 243,800 pieces of equipment for 61,895 of its 800,000 customers have been converted from 25 to 60 cycles, the chairman reported.

During the 10 or 12 years needed for the program all domestic, commercial and industrial consumers in the 25-cycle "island" in Southern Ontario will be changed over.

Sunday Sports In Peterborough?

Toronto now has commercial sports on Sunday. Ottawa (as a city) is in a dither about them. Whitby is going to put the matter to a vote. So is Cobourg. What about Peterborough?

* * *

The Examiner had its say about Sunday sports for Toronto. We said that it was a matter for Toronto to decide, and that the habits and customs of smaller places should not affect the decision in a big metropolitan centre like Toronto. We were not displeased or shocked when Toronto decided, by vote, to permit them. For one thing, they give the tens of thousands of homeless, restless urban dwellers—the tens of thousands who inhabit boarding-houses, never go to church, and cannot amuse themselves something to do on Sunday.

* * *

Do we favour organized Sunday sports in Peterborough? No. Peterborough is not a huge city in which most people live miles from country pleasures, and good air, and must either go to church, lie listlessly on boarding-house beds, or pound lonely dirty pavement. It is easy refreshment and entertainment to walk in Jackson Park, bicycle up the River Road, explore the reaches of the Otonabee, or stroll along pleasant streets. Lakes, rivers, fields and woods are nearby. There are many things to do on a Peterborough Sunday by people who must be doing things—without going to a game.

* * *

We have two chief objections to permitting organized Sunday sports in Peterborough. The first is this: A city of this size is quite closely knit. There is a community of spirit and activity. Friends are handy. Neighbours are neighbourly. And our people do not play noisy games on Sunday. Sunday is a quiet, comfortable, pleasant, relaxing day with us in Peterborough. Why distract it?

* * *

Our second objection to Sunday sports in Peterborough and other places of its size is that these sports are organized and commercial. We have quite enough of commerce during the week. Give us a rest from it. And we have more than enough of organization during the week. Societies such as Peterborough are grievously over-organized, with clubs, societies, booster organizations, schools and churches. We are so highly organized that there is no time during the week to draw a free breath. Let us keep our unorganized Sundays; our Sundays when we can do as we jolly well please; loll on a lawn, have people to tea, skip out into the country, blow soap bubbles or deck ourselves in Sunday best and go to church before a good, soporific big mid-day dinner.

* * *

It would disturb our Sunday respite from activity even to know that nine men and one batter were sweating at a ball game over at Riverside, or in the evening to see in the sky the white glare of the floodlights.

* * *

We do not fear for the future of the city's churches, if sports were permitted on Sundays. The attractions of a football game could not be more damaging to church attendance than the attractions of Nature (which the preachers extol) now are. The people who would go to Sunday commercial games are generally not the ones who are faithful in church attendance, especially in the Protestant churches. Further, the practice is not to allow these sports until the afternoon, after morning services (when most people who go, go to church).

* * *

The fact is that Sunday sports our antipathetic to Peterborough, its traditions, its customs, its ethics. And we do not need them.

Why Be Thankful In November?

Canadians are pretty muddled about Thanksgiving. It is really an American festival but we celebrate it (the Pilgrim Fathers were, after all as British as any Canadian ancestors). However, we in Canada loosely tie it in, calendar-wise, with the ecclestiastical Harvest Festival of the Old Country and thereby pretend our Thanksgiving has nothing to do with the American progenitors on the Mayflower:

The Americans celebrate Thanksgiving on the last Thursday of November, since it was so fixed by President Lincoln in 1864. That date came from the day set aside by the Mayflower (their ship) Pilgrims after their first harvest in 1621. We ourself have never had a very high regard for the Pilgrim Fathers since we learned that they did not garner their first harvest until the end of November. Why, even the North American Indians did better, even if they did wait until Indian Summer. No true Indian Summer comes as late as the last Thursday in November. But we are a whit grateful for the late U.S.A. Thanksgiving date. Americans make a long week-end of it, when the rest, and sane part of the American continent (i.e. the Canadians), are hard at work. The Americans giving thanks then come up to Canada in droves, and all our shops are open to receive them. We Canadians have already had our Thanksgiving, all by ourselves in our lake and woodland resorts, unimpeded by American visitors.

Actually, this is the proper week-end to give thanks. Crops are in; the maples are gorgeous, (very much so in Vermont, where many Canadians go to occupy hotel rooms and cabins not in demand by Americans who have no holiday Monday); and now, this week-end

The little hills rejoice on every side
The pastures are clothed with flocks;
The valleys also are covered over with corn;
They shout for joy, they also sing.

In late November when the Americans celebrate Thanksgiving, the landscape is drear, the crops are in and almost forgotten, and people are hudling together preparing to face the bleak, cold winter, already wondering how they can afford to buy the Christmas presents they are expected to give.

Now is the time for thanksgiving, when the hills rejoice. Is the Canadian Thanksgiving in mid-October one reason why this country should never join the U.S.A. which is so dull-witted as to celebrate the festival in late November?

Why Not Give Up Education Altogether?

In the schools of London, Ont., the World's Series is considered to be of greater importance than the day-to-day business of education; public address systems and radios have been brought into use in order that the broadcasts of the baseball games may reach every class. Commenting on this the assistant superintendent of schools, Mr. A. B. Lucas, said: "There's not much use trying to teach them if their minds are on the ball game."

This is probably the feeblest statement ever made by a professional educator. If education is to wait until the minds of children of public school age are on school subjects, it will wait until Gabriel sounds his trumpet. And if baseball—at a time when baseball is at its lowest ebb in decades—can so easily take the place of education in the London schools, the people of London could save a lot of money by closing their schools altogether, and discharging their educators.

No Pumpkins, No Turkeys

Today, in our issue before Thanksgiving, we carry no pictures or stories of pumpkins, turkeys and other paraphernalia supposed to be symbolic of Thanksgiving. Pumpkins, et. al. have been worn to a frazzle by twaddle. We tell on our Church page where Peterborough may worship. We signal the occasion on our front page and this page with designs by a member of the staff. On our Feature page, our Outdoors editor interviews a 92-year-old Indian from the Hiawatha reserve on Rice Lake in impressionistic style, with his camera to sidelight the story. And all about us, in this Kawartha region, flaming woodlands invite our hearts. Need more be said?

NOTE AND COMMENT

A Western livestock show offers a prize for "the most miserable looking bull." We would be glad to show them the miserable looking bull we receive every day from the public relations boys.

The news is that 30,000 cases of New Zealand apples have arrived in Canada. Presumably to undersell the local apple, which is priced in a way which would seem excessive for the Golden Apples of the Hesperides.

It is reported that there are angleworms seven feet long in South Africa. We presume that if a fisherman there cannot boast about the big fish he caught, he can at least brag about the big worm he used.

It is now asserted that a man can kill his desire for liquor if he will take a drink of salt water whenever he yearns for a snort. But there is one danger about drinking salt water, as any shipwrecked seaman will tell you: it is habit-forming, and in the end it sends you off your head.

The Marchbanks Correspondence

To Raymond Cataplasm, M.D., F.R.C.P.
Dear Dr. Cataplasm:

I was fascinated, as I am sure thousands of others were, by the case reported in the papers recently of William MacLeod, the Canadian who passed himself off as a doctor in the U.S.A. for five years; he delivered countless babies; he pried into the most complicated abdomens; he sawed off virtually everything the human carcass can get along without. One hospital official said of him: "He was a very good doctor and a nice person; he had a marvellous personality and impressed all of us at the hospital". He was caught only when he failed to make a payment on his car.

Now, doctor, I have a car which is paid for, and I should like to set up as a physician. But I do not want to go through all that nonsense in medical school. Can you help me? Could you, for instance, let me have an old diploma which I could adapt to my own use? I do not want to be a surgeon, for I have always been rather tidy and finicky, and hate messy work. Anyhow, my hands tremble. But I think I would make a first-rate specialist in internal medicine.

I have a wonderful personality, and look more like a doctor than most doctors. I have thoroughly mastered the art of looking at people as though I knew what ailed them, and a certain amount of experience as a critic of opera has made me an expert at peering down people's throats.

Further, I have spent so much of my time as your patient that I think I know enough to be a doctor myself. I should like to start right away, and would appreciate your reply, and the diploma, by return post. I want to get on the profitable end of the stethoscope.

Your perennial patient,
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS.

To Mrs. Kedijah Scissorbill
Dear Mrs. Scissorbill:

As perpetual chairwoman of the Indignant Females League for Advancement and Recognition you have a lot of influence with women. There is a little matter which I hope you will attend to for me.

A few days ago a woman with a small child came into the office where I work. The child stooped down (it was a small child and its stoop might be estimated at about six inches) and picked up something from the floor and put it in its mouth. The mother immediately showed every sign of agitation and cried "Don't do that, pussykins, it's dirty!"

Now, Mrs. Scissorbill, I resent the suggestion that my floor is dirty. Every effort is made to keep it clean. Will you circularize your membership, therefore, and inform all mothers that the proper remark under such circumstances is: "Eat freely from Mr. Marchbanks' floor, pussykins, for it is sure to be clean". Unless you do this I shall form myself into an Angry Minority, and say that I am being discriminated against.

Thanking you in advance,
S. MARCHBANKS.

To Chandos Fribble, Esq.
Esteemed Fribble:

I have been refreshing myself recently by reading a book about the days of the sailing ships, and I am impressed by the picturesque language in which the orders of that time were couched. "Luff your binnacle, Mr. Mainbrace", the captain would cry. Or "Splice your spinnacle; pipe all hands to the foretop gall'nt-mast and scuttle the capstan". And the crew would give a rousing Yeo ho and do it.

It is a pity that this sort of talk has vanished from modern life. Do you think it could be revived among the men engaged in some daring profession — dealing with the atom bomb, for instance? I envision such dialogue as this in a laboratory:

Head Scientist: How stands your atom, Professor Splitzwitz?
First Mate: Steady she is, sir.
Head Scientist: Vast heaving with the chapper, there! Steady all!
All Scientists, Except Some Sneaky Red Ones Who Have Got In Unnoticed: Steady with the atom, lads! Yeo, ho and rumbelow.
Head Scientist: Stand by for fission! Lower away on the chopper-halyards.
First Mate: Pipe the chopper, bo'sn!
Bo'sn: Tweet, Tweet!
The Atom: (at the top of its voice) Eeek! Begorra, I'm in two!
First Mate: Fissured she is sir!
Head Scientist: Well done, me hearties. Bo'sn, a special ration of heavy water for all hands!
All Scientists:
Fifteen men on an atom's chest —
Yeo ho ho and some heavy water!
Government snoops have purged the rest,
So don't get caught with Stalin's daughter!
This would liven up atomic work, and preserve the language of a noble craft. Do you think anything can be done about it?

Yours hopefully,
S. MARCHBANKS.

To Amyas Pilgarlic, Esq.
Dear Pil:

Yesterday I was walking beside the river which winds so pleasingly through the city in which I live, when what should I see but a woman kneeling by the bank in a secluded spot, washing out some clothes! Nobody would pay any attention to such a sight in Europe, but on this continent it is an oddity, much as though one were to find a farmer making butter in an old-fashioned churn with a dasher.

And yet, I reflected, this woman shows good sense. Most of us pride ourselves on our modernity, our running water and our electricity, without ever thinking that the whole conduct of our lives could be put awry by three or four men who control master-switches; turn off the electric power and the running water in any city, and that city is disrupted until you turn them back on again. We have forgotten that rivers are to draw water from, and that wood is to burn, and that it is possible to go to bed at dusk and get up at dawn.

A clever invader would not try to bomb us into submission. He would disconnect our services at the mains, and in forty-eight hours we should be in his hands.

Ponder this well,
SAM.

To Big Chief Marchbanks
How, Marchbanks!

Meet fellow on park bench yesterday. Bum, Marchbanks. He awful fat. I got to get rid of this fat, he say. Why, I say. Fat not healthy, he say. All doctors say fat make you die young. First I got to get money to eat, he say, then I got to go on diet. You got fat head, I say. Look at bear. Bear awful fat. Bear healthy, too. Bear healthier than any doctor. Skinny doctor meet fat bear, bear win every time. You poor ignorant Indian, he say. You know nothing about modern science, I know bears, I say.

Not in jail yet, Marchbanks. Winter come soon. How can I get in jail?

How again,
OSCEOLA THUNDERBELLY,
(Chief of the Crokinoles).

Religious Liberty Under British Socialism

(CALGARY HERALD)

MOST of the people who write about British Socialism wind up with the comforting conclusion that despite all their planning and regimentation, the British are at heart a free people: and if forced, at any point, to choose between freedom and Socialism, will put freedom first. The case of James McElroy, as reported in The Times and The Manchester Guardian, does not prove these people are wrong. But perhaps it will give them some food for thought.

Until recently, Mr. McElroy worked for the Rover Motor Company at its main factory, on the outskirts of Birmingham. He belonged, like his fellow-workers, to the National Union of Vehicle Builders. Then he got religion, or at any rate, got a new religion. He decided to join the Plymouth Brethren, a rather severe little sect which discourages its members from belonging to worldly organizations, such as trade unions. On grounds of conscience, therefore, and with faith in Britain as a land of religious liberty, Mr. McElroy resigned from the N.U.V.B.

The union was very angry: so angry, in fact, that it went on strike, demanding that Mr. McElroy either be compelled to rejoin, or else be dismissed from his job. The strike was illegal, insofar as it had not been reported to the Minister of Labour under the legislation of July 18, 1940 (Conditions of Employment and National Arbitration Order), but it achieved its end. Mr. McElroy was dismissed. E. Ransom Harrison, chairman of the Rover Motor Company, explained the dismissal afterwards, in a letter to The Times:

"During the period of the strike the firm was losing a very considerable amount of money each week; chaos was arising in their supplies; their best men were becoming unsettled; exports of hundreds of vehicles were lost; reserve accommodation in ships had to be cancelled; shortly, their other works—supplying the main factory—would have had to shut down and this loss and confusion would all be multiplied by each week the strike continued. In these circumstances, we had no option but to bow to force."

That was written on September 5, 1950.

On September 11, a Conservative member of the House of Commons, L. D. Gammans, wrote a reply, suggesting that the Rover Motor Company had acted in a weak-kneed fashion. Why, he asked, had they not demanded that the government live up to its own commitments, and enforce its own legislation?

He concluded: "There is something disturbing about a state of society which supports conscientious objection to fighting for one's country in times of dire peril, but denies in peacetime religious objections to remaining a trade unionist." There is, indeed. But surely Mr. Gammans doesn't expect Attlee or Bevin or Cripps—that most Christian of all Christians—to do or say anything about it. They know where the votes come from.

They are a fine, sanctimonious lot, these British Socialists, these British trade unionists. They denounce atheism in Russia, tyranny in Poland, oppression in Spain, segregation in South Africa, discrimination in Dixieland, and what have you. But when it comes to one of their own people, a British workman, being trampled, they say nothing. Like the Pharisee, they pass by on the other side.

Letter To The Editor

WANT NO MARKET CHANGE

Sir: Regarding the suggestion in Wednesday's paper that the citizens of Peterborough decide whether or not the market should be moved from its present location. I have spoken to many farmers and not one is indifferent,—they just do not want the location changed. I asked why they did not protest, they replied "what good would it do, they (the council) would do as they pleased anyway". If anyone is in doubt as to whether the citizens want it changed they need only visit the market square any Saturday morning. The ratepayers should certainly be allowed to decide this matter.

If the property is to be turned into a parking lot, serving only those fortunate enough to own a car, then the parking facilities should be limited to five days a week, with Saturday set aside for farmers and citizens' use.

Korean war correspondents say one of the mysteries of the fighting at this stage is what has become of the substantial North Korean forces which a few weeks ago were pressing hard against the Allied bridgehead in the Pusan sector.

Some of these units, evidently, have fought northward in bitter rear-guard actions. But others seem to have vanished into thin air.

It's very likely thousands of South Koreans conscripted against their will were among these units, and they may have simply abandoned their weapons and uniforms to melt into the civilian population.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Now there was at Joppa a certain disciple named Tabitha, which by interpretation is called Dorcas: this woman was full of good works and almsdeeds which she did. And it came to pass in those days, that she was sick, and died: whom when they had washed, they laid her in an upper chamber. And forasmuch as Lydda was nigh to Joppa, and the disciples had heard that Peter was there, they sent unto him two men, desiring him that he would not delay to come to them.

Then Peter arose and went with them. When he was come, they brought him into the upper chamber: and all the widows stood by him weeping, and shewing the coats and garments which Dorcas made, while she was with them. But Peter put them all forth, and kneeled down, and prayed: and turning him to the body said, Tabitha, arise. And she opened her eyes: and when she saw Peter, she sat up.

And he gave her his hand, and lifted her up, and when he had called the saints and widows, presented her alive. (Acts 9: 36-41.)

Progress of Peterborough: XXXIX

Prosperity Develops County Tho' Half People Under 17

By HOWARD PAMMETT, M.A.

Baldwin's Municipal Act 1849 facilitated establishment of municipal councils responsible to the ratepayers in counties, townships, towns and villages. The Colborne District became the County of Peterborough, and in 1851 was renamed the United Counties of Peterborough and Victoria. Until 1859 Peterborough town was represented on the County Council, and Ashburnham village similarly after its incorporation in 1858. In 1850 John Langton (Fenelon and Verulam) was County Warden, in 1851 Thomas Short (Otonabee), 1852-58 Wm. Cottingham (Emily), 1859 W. S. Conger (Peterborough) F. Ferguson was treasurer from 1850 until the offices of clerk and treasurer were combined in 1858, a post held by Walter Sheridan, Clerk since 1850, until his resignation in 1866. C. Rubidge continued as Registrar until his death in 1873. When Judge George Hall retired in 1853, Robert Boucher held the post of County Judge until his death in 1868. W. S. Conger resigned as Sheriff in 1856 to run for Parliament, being replaced by James Hall who served until 1872 when he in turn resigned to run for Parliament.

Under Warden Langton, the 1850 Council included: Birdsall (Asphodel), Crow (Dummer), Benson (Peterborough town), Short and Bawbell (Otonabee), Clarke (Douro), Fortye (North Monaghan), Bell (Smith, Ennismore and Harvey), Cottingham (Emily), McDonnell (Ops), Jacobs and Forsythe (Mariposa), Ferguson (Eldon). The Council voted each member 6s. 3d. for each day's sittings, with two extra days' pay for those who came more than 20 miles. £300 was voted for stock in "the intended plank or gravel road leading from Peterborough to the boundary line of Cavan". £5 ($20) was given to buy school maps and apparatus, and £4 for ticking to hold the bed-straw of jail inmates, for each of whom the jailer was allowed 20c a week for food.

In 1852 the Council granted 7s. 6d. a week for six months to Michael Walsh, after he lost an arm by accident, plus 10s. for books, to attend the Peterborough Grammar School to fit himself for a teaching job. Most demands on the slim county treasury were, however, refused: Council refused to compensate Pat Leahy of Douro when his barn burned down, and turned down a petition for a footpath over the new Hunter St. bridge. Only after a long campaign did the Sheriff in 1854 get authority to buy a carpet, cost £3, 19s. 6d., to replace the sawdust on the floors of the Council Chamber.

Clergy Reserves Fund

Late in 1851 the County Council petitioned the Executive Council of Canada to sell Crown lands at 5s. an acre in front of township and 2/6 in back townships, the proceeds to be used for building county roads and bridges. The only result was a reduction in land prices; in 1854, however, the Government set up a Clergy Reserves Fund, and part of the proceeds of land sales were distributed to municipalities for local purposes such as schools and roads. In 1853 county taxes totalled £1573, of which £748 was needed for education, £350 for juries, and £200 for salaries. In 1854 the levy was £1600, while £800 was spent for education, £535 for juries, and £373 for salaries. The provincial grant gave the Council a little leeway.

The people of the two counties were over half Canadian-born; about one-quarter in Peterborough, and slightly fewer in Victoria were born in Ireland, the rest being about evenly divided between Scotland, England and Wales. Those born in the United States more than doubled in the fifties, attracted by the lumbering industry, and the French Canadians in Victoria increased from 18 to 466 for the same reason.

Young Population

In both counties over half the population were 17 years of age and under, and nearly three-quarters were under 30 years old. By the age of 30, one-third of the men and three-quarters of the girls were married. More girls than boys were being born, but also more females were dying at nearly every age, due to pioneer hardships. Two-thirds of the old people were men, and it was not unusual for an aged widower to have buried two or three wives (in succession of course). Yet as life became comfortable, people lived longer: in 1851 the two counties contained two persons in their nineties, and one over the century mark; in 1861 there were 14 in their nineties and one centenarian. Births throughout the decade were four to five times as many as deaths. The above generalities apply also to Cavan township, whose population rose from 4,438 to 4,901 in this decade.

Prosperity On Agriculture

The prosperity of the district was founded solidly upon agriculture, in spite of the spectacular rise of the timber industry. In Peterborough County the number of farmers increased from 1,441 with 179,429 acres to 2,241 owning 260,252 acres; in Victoria from 1,520 with 160,190 acres to 2,651 with 292,765 acres; in Cavan township, however, farm ownership declined from 472 owning 51,021 acres to 468 owning 57,809 acres. The acreage cultivated rose 50 to 75 per cent in the district. Wheat crops increased from 253,510 bushels to 360,255 bushels in Peterborough, mostly fall wheat; in Cavan from 108,319 to 165,388 bushels, 60 per cent spring wheat; and in Victoria from 263,301 to 708,349 bushels, nearly all spring wheat. Other products in order of importance were: oats increasing twofold, potatoes fourfold, turnips fourfold, peas threefold. Less important crops showing steady growth were barley, rye, buckwheat, carrots, hay. The number of horses doubled, and cattle rose 50 per cent, but sheep and pigs remained about the same. Forty per cent more wool was produced, but production of homespun cloth remained steady. Butter and cheese production was up 75 per cent, and maple sugar 125 per cent. The 1861 cash values were:

	Peterborough	Victoria
Farms	$4,699,100	$5,903,013
Implements	182,759	206,768
Livestock .	788,354	737,599
Approx. total values in crops and produce ..	$6,500,000	$7,800,000

In 1851 there were 19 grist and three oatmeal mills in the district; while the numbers did not increase by 1861, most had expanded and some were using steam-power, so that production doubled. The 1858 Directory listed the biggest ones: Rogers mill in Ashburnham, 100 barrels daily; Short's Allandale mill, stream and water power, 50 barrels daily; Herst & Denne mill one mile north of Peterborough, 100 barrels daily; Martin's Mill (formerly Hall's) in Peterborough, 80 barrels daily; Wallis mill, leased by E. Peplow (on site of Scott's first mill), 75 barrels daily; Lang mill at Lindsay, 100 barrels daily; Taylor & Westwood mill at Oakwood, Mariposa, 150 barrels daily, steam power; Cullis mill at Alma, Mariposa, 75 barrels daily. There were smaller mills at Keene (M. Burnham), Norwood (P. Grover), Westwood (Ewing & Rosborough) Hastings (H. Fowlds), Omemee (Cottingham), Ops (J. Fair), Lakefield (D'Arcy), Fenelon, Bobcaygeon, etc.

There were nine tanneries in 1851, and three woollen factories, and about the same number 10 years later. Eight carding and fulling mills in 1851 had decreased to two in 1861, four asheries decreased to one, five distilleries had all disappeared 10 years later. On the other hand, small industries providing necessities for farmers, lumbermen and other citizens began to appear by 1861: four shingle mills, four sash and door mills, 14 wagon and carriage factories, six cabinetware factories, two farm tool factories, one axe and tool factory, two pump factories, two brickyards, seven cooperages, seven boot and shoe makers, one tinware factory, one pottery factory. The number of foundries (all in Peterborough) remained at five, but employees increased from 24 to 29. Wagonmakers increased from 27 to 65, teamsters from 52 to 91, mechanics from six to 33, tinsmiths from six to 22.

With new industries came the need to increase commercial credit; in this period the correspondence of industrialists and merchants has many references to "notes falling due," and the need of loans to "cover their bank paper". By 1861 Peterborough had three banks: Bank of Montreal, Commercial Bank, Bank of Toronto; Lindsay had the Upper Canada Bank and the Bank of Montreal; there were no others in the district. While wholesale credit expanded, retail credit-selling declined as merchants were compelled to demand cash for goods, or to give liberal discounts for cash purchases. Buyers of wool, grain, hides and other produce advertised: "WE PAY SPOT CASH". In June 1857 the bank managers announced that from July 1, dollar currency would be used in all business replacing pounds, shillings and pence, a convincing symbol of the revolutionary changes in industrial and commercial methods and markets.

The district became more unified as forests dwindled and transportation and communication developed. After the Canadian government took over the postal system in 1851, postage stamps were used to prepay delivery of parcels and letters; many new postoffices were opened, mail came in daily over the railways, and the amount of mail doubled in 1860. In 1855 the International Telegraph Company came in along the C & P railway, opening an office over Ferguson's store in the Burnham Block, but they closed down in a few years. In January 1856 the Montreal Telegraph Company came in along the PH & P railway via Millbrook, opening an office over Bradburn's Store on George St.; Charles Munson was agent, and in 1858 George Cox (aged 18) who later became a leading financier; this telegraph company did not open a Lindsay office until 1862. In 1857 F. Fortye was appointed customs inspector and George Haslehurst revenue inspector at Peterborough for the Government.

Weekly newspapers reached out to the district: the Peterborough Review was begun in 1835 by Robert Romaine, and in 1856 the Examiner under Augustus Sawers replaced the Dispatch. That year J. Cooper started the Omemee Warder and next year E. D. Hant began the Lindsay Advocate. The Colborne Transcript and the Millbrook Messenger, both begun about 1856-57, covered Rice Lake area. From the lakefront the Cobourg Star and Sun and the Port Hope Atlas and Guide com-

I, GI-TOW-I-SIK, SPEAK AN OBJIBWAY'S THANKS

(This special article, an interview by Nick Nickels with a senior member of the Hiawatha Indian Reserve, replaces Mr. Nickel's usual column "Afield" this week.)

I, Gi-Tow-I-Sik*, speak....

It is good to sit in my cabin doorway, for the October sun still has some warmth in it. It warms my old joints that creak like the dead maple back on the hill—the one under which I used to rest with my grain cradle at my feet during hot August noon hours, many years ago.

Although my sight fails me for things close at hand, I am still able to distinguish two or three of my people who pass along the road yonder. They wave at me. But I can see far-off things without trouble. The young ones laugh when I tell them this. They say my mind is wandering. They leave my cabin. They cannot understand my love for this land.

Take the lake, for instance. White men named it "Rice" in the days when thousands of its acres were heavy with grain. The autumn when the first of them came through in birch canoes with four hundred friendly Hurons bending to their paddles, he wrote of the golden grape vines heavy with black fruit, of trees loaded with nuts. He told of a large kill of deer his party made up the river which we named the O-Ton-A-Bee. He called it a land of plenty. I have never known such times, of course, but I knew its better years.

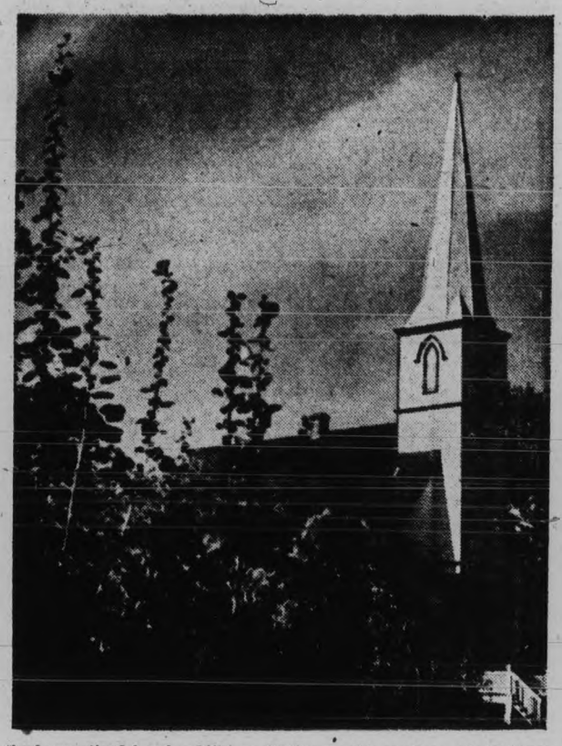
We Mississaugas were farmers, fishermen and hunters in the old days on this Reserve. We belong to the Ojibwa Nation that was said to be one of the two largest in Canada. We were the largest because we lived in the most bountiful section of the country, not as nomads, but in villages of log houses of saplings and bark. Many plots of maize supplied meal for the winters. But that was not all.

In the Autumns we collected wild rice, speared trout, pike and sturgeon on their spawning beds and killed enough deer and moose for winter meat. There was maple syrup to be gathered in Spring and berries in late summer. It was a bountiful land.

By white man's standards, we were pagans. Each Autumn at this time we gathered in bands at our villages to give thanks to our Great Spirit for all this bounty. There was no special date for this occasion, for it was governed by Nature's cycle of harvest. They were times of great feasting, rousing games of bagataway—you would call it lacrosse—and games of chance with coloured plum stones.

So, you can understand that the love of the chase, of gathering Nature's harvest, and being thankful for it, is our heritage. I used to love to break the land on this farm of mine, go fishing in the evenings and gather rice in the Autumns. Each one of us used to take a squash or pumpkin, ears of corn, strands of wild grape and bright maple leaves to the little white Church just down the road. It looked fine with all those bright things on the widow sills and villagers came in great numbers to sing of a good harvest.

Young man, what does the time of Thanksgiving mean to you?



• • • •

Gi-Tow-I-Sik, I will say to you on behalf of my fellow white men, that in these times we do not have the spirit of Thanksgiving in us.

To prove it, I asked a cross section of citizens what it meant to them. To a librarian in a radio station it meant a good meal. To a clergyman, who knew of the drain on his congregation, it meant the last holiday week-end of the year. Provincial policemen were prepared to cope with an expected upswing of traffic accidents and rash of shooting fatalities that begins with the Fall shooting season. Government conservation officers combed highways and byways to check their fellow men's shooting bags to make sure they did not lie and take more than their share of wildlife.

And to each one of us it appears that the early picture of the first Thanksgiving, taught to us in primary school, was of the Pilgrim Fathers' first feast with their Indian friends in Plymouth Colony. This story is still being taught in our schools.

What a pity Canadian educators allow this American color story to continue when they should be telling of the original harvest festivals practised by the Ojibway Nation in this section of Eastern Canada. Your pagan ancestors, Gi-Tow-I-Sik, had something worthwhile.

If this Canadian story of Thanksgiving must be tied in with impressions of our earliest explorers, we have that, too, in the observations of Samuel de Champlain. He tells of visiting Huron longhouse villages along the Trent water system fully five years before the landing of the Pilgrim Fathers in Massachusetts

He describes ceremonies in the dark smoke-filled council houses, built large enough to accommodate all the dwellers of a village. It is safe to assume that Champlain joined the Chief and his Medicine Man on the skin mats by the fire, ringed 'round by warriors, their wives and children, and puffed solemnly at the ceremonial pipe as it was passed to him. He noted the harvest bounty in their lodges, strings of dried cobs of maize, smoked meat and fish, bark chests of wild rice and berries and earthen pits filled with pumpkins.

Though their dialect was foreign to him, Champlain needed no interpreter to explain that these were a contented, humble people who were thanking their Deity for an abundance of food and asking that it would continue.

Surely, this is the Canadian Thanksgiving story that we want our children to know and remember.

In Quires Where They Sing: 500 of Them

By HAZEL PAULL

Every Thursday evening, with the exception of two months in the summer, more than 500 people attend choir practices in the churches of Peterborough. Between the hours of 7.30 and 10 p.m., the strains of next Sunday's hymns and anthems are heard at many points throughout the city. Most choirmasters have a struggle trying to balance a choir in which the sopranos outnumber the tenors one to four or even one to five and at least one city choirmaster has the unusual difficulty of being overpowered by too many altos and not enough sopranos.

Biggest headache facing choirmasters at present it the difficulty of planning special music for Thanksgiving Sunday, when a number of choristers will be out of town for the holiday.

Of a choir of 50 at one city church, 12 have already announced their intentions of being away for the week-end and it may be that more will be away when the time comes.

Industrious Boys

Perhaps the most industrious of all Peterborough church choristers are the young boys who sing in one of the Anglican church choirs. They sing with the ladies soprano section of the main church choir and sometimes they are heard singing as a boys choir. These youngsters, ranging in age from nine to about 14, spend three and a quarter or three and a half hours a week at practice. It's no easy matter learning to sing canticles and psalms at prehigh school age.

Choirs range in size from 30 to 60 voices but rarely does a choir turn out 100 per cent for practice.

It's Thursday Practice

Peterborough choirs seem to find that Thursday is the only night when practices can be held satisfactorily. Friday night is definitely out. That's the time for movies and dancing for the young fry. And yet, in larger centres such as Toronto and Montreal, Friday is practice night. In villages Saturday is invariably the day.

But Peterborough will stick to Thursday. There is not usually much doing on a Thursday — or that has been the case in the past. Recently several visiting entertainers have given Thursday evening performances here.

Any suggestion that Monday Tuesday or Wednesday be adopted for choir night invariably brings the reply "that's too far away from Sunday, we'll forgt all we learn in that time."

Most of the adult choirs are led by men but there are some exceptions. Mrs. Olive Searles is in charge of music at Mark St. United Church and Mrs. Charles Renaud, at St. James's.

Several women have charge of junior and intermediate choirs, which have a total membership in the city of approximately 250.

Thanksgiving Music

Thanksgiving music planned for the week-end steers clear of much of the hackneyed harvest festival anthems.

One of the United Church choirs is performing Maunder's cantata "A Song of Thanksgiving" another is singing a Dutch carol with the same title. At another city church, the choir will render the composition by F. G. Mann "I will give thanks" which was sung at the onen air centennial service two weeks ago. Several modern composers are represented in the choice of anthems, and such suitable solos as Handel's "O Lovely Peace With Plenty Crowned" will be heard in the churches.

Ladle In A Pot Of Gold

A Song Of Thanksgiving

Thou visitest the earth, and waterest it: thou greatly enrichest it with the river of God, which is full of water: thou preparest them corn, when thou hast so provided for it.

Thou waterest the ridges thereof abundantly; thou settlest the furrows thereof; thou makest it soft with showers; thou blessest the springing thereof:

Thou crownest the year with thy goodness; and thy paths drop fatness.

They drop upon the pastures of the wilderness; and the little hills rejoice on every side.

The pastures are clothed with flocks; the valleys also are covered over with corn; they shout for joy, they also sing.

Peterborough Scientist Helped Develop Radar; Now Senior Atomic Physicist

By A. J. THOMAS

Physicists work much in the dark—that is, in a darkness outside the glare of publicity. Undoubtedly they have their own private illumination, for instance, from the heat of an atomic furnace such as that at Chalk River, up the Ottawa. At that place is reputed to be the "hottest" (i.e. having the highest thermal neutron flux) atomic furnace in the western world. One Canadian who had much to do with the experimental physics which had lead to Chalk River is a Peterborough son, Arthur G. Ward. During the late war years, and until 1948, Mr. Ward worked at Chalk River, on loan from the British Government.

He is now back in England, doing atomic research there.

Arthur Ward, a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Ward of 677 Water Street, grew up in Peterborough. After leaving PCI where he had a good but not a brilliant record, he went to Queen's University, to study mathematics and physics.

What is a kiss? Why this, as some approve:
The sure sweet cement, glue, and lime of love.

Robert Herrick:
Hesperides, 1648

There he graduated with a BA and MA in science, topping his classes, establishing himself as a lazy fellow in the afternoons (during which he played expert bridge) and winning numerous scholarships. One, a research fellowship, took him to Cambridge in 1937.

Radar Experimentation

At Cambridge he worked in the Cavendish Laboratories under distinguished British physicists, and became engrossed in the relatively new science of atomic physics. When war broke out he was too valuable a man for ordinary combat duty. He was assigned to radar development, and an experimental station under the Air Ministry.

Radar was a British development, and it was due to the team to which A. G. Ward belonged that in 1940 was born the era of centimetre radar.

The story of British radar is told in a book written by an Australian scientists in Britain, A. P. Rowe, CBE, called modestly, "One Story of Radar." Mr. Ward was one of the small group of scientists which included R. A. Ratcliffe, C. Holt Smith, W. B. Lewis and A. P. Rowe. It was called "Telecommunications Research Establishment." Owing to them, British ships were made safer from German bombers, and British towns warned of German planes' approach, by radar. Now Canada's northland nearest Russia is partly protected by radar.

The author of the book says of A. G. Ward and several associates who joined this Air Ministry's research team in Dundee in 1939: "Although not born to be civil servants, (they) were the keystone of much of the fundamental work which widened the scope of radar." And these scientists worked not without danger—if not from their own experiments, then from German bombers during the Battle of Britain and later.

Aruthr Ward, now happily married and with a family, is of the new generation of scientists. He sometimes seems not to have a care in the world, or two thoughts to knock against each other... until you look at his eyes. In them is a hint of the mysteries he has examined, the powers which he and others are harnessing, and the mathematics and physics which, in this atomic era, are changing history and human society. And it is obvious from looking at him that he has a head on his shoulders—a big head.

High school football is the week-end attraction for grid fans in Morrow Park. A scheduled junior "B" just this aft at 2.30 there betwixt PCVS and St. Peter's. On Monday at 2.30 on the same field, DeLaSalle of Toronto tackles St. Peter's in a senior "B" fixture of the Catholic Conference. Results of last night's tussles, LCI vs. PCVS junior "A", and the exhibition between Western Tech and PCVS seniors, are in elsewhere. No night games here over the holiday week-end. The ORFU senior "B" Orfuns are off to Oshawa for a melee on Monday aft.

Armar Butcher and his men have been doing some work at Riverside Park, prepping for another ball season in '51. Levelling the outfield and getting ready to finish the fence around the outfield so that the whole park will be fenced in. Next week, they go to work on the infield after the diamond has been swung around 10 feet to the east. That'll move the right field foul line about 10 feet north from its present position. Now, with lights up, if we just had the main grandstand built next spring, Peterborough would have a baseball park to be proud of—and a lot more revenue would be raised for the city in this sport.

Matmen In Team Match

The pro wrestlers are back here Tuesday eve at the Brock Arena and they're dishing up a team match in the main bout. Toar Morgan and Pat Flanagan, the popular pair, take on Wee Willie Davis (huge Hollywood villain) and rough Lee Henning in this dish. Jim (Goon) Henry mauls Jack Moore in the semi-final, while the prelim has Abe Zvonkin against Don Lewis. Those mat team matches are terrific for rough action, as the well-condition huskies—averaging close to 240 pounds apiece—shoot the works. Grapple fans from all over the district come to see these torrid team matches, and they get a big bang out of 'em.

Art Ross will be here with his Boston Bruins, at full strength, next Thursday for an exhibition puck game. Team will be divided into two squads and serve up a hot session, proceeds going to the Peterborough Minor Hockey Association. While the Bruins run off several exhibition games ere going into their gruelling NHL grind, Peterborough wouldn't have seen them but for the fact that Dit Clapper lives here; he swung the deal. And there's extra interest in Boston around this city this season as the Bruins are sponsoring the IOOF-ers as an OHA junior "B" farm club. They're interested in Peterborough, and we—of course—are interested in the Bruins. Apart, that is, from local Leafian fans.

They Played For Keeps

Everybody and his brother seemed to be at Civic Arena last eve as two Maple Leaf teams staged a rousing exhibition to start hockey off here this season. Whites beat the Blues 5-2, most of the rookies being on the Whites. Yes'm and sir, those husky youngsters fought hard all the way, and the veterans didn't like it a bit. You see, these fellows are never too secure in those cushy jobs which pay from $5,000 to $10,000 a year for some six or seven months—they have to hustle to hold their berths. As a matter of fact, young Al Rollins looked better in goal last night than Turk Broda, who fanned on two. Hap Day was there jotting down notes on which defence was out when a goal was scored. It's big business, and they don't fool around in the NHL.

* * * * * *

Anyway, 'twas a fine show before a sellout crowd. Hard and fast hockey all the way by first-class pro performers, and Conny Smythe and his Leafs deserve credit for putting on the game for crippled children of the city and district. So does the local Rotary Club, which handled everything fine. Hope we can get a repeat performance next year. Prexy Hugh Waddell of the Rotary Club expressed thanks to all and presented Coach Joe Primeau and Manager Hap Day with engraved Westclox watches. An Apsley chap won the outboard motor. Several near fights and some roughing showed that the players weren't out there just for the skate, and the crowd appreciated the hustle throughout.

PCVS Gridders Get Wins In Two Games

Everything ran as expected Friday night in the PCVS football doubleheader at Morrow Park. Bey Goulding's senior Garnet and Grays edged Toronto Western Tech 6-1 in a senior exhibition and Alex Londry's junior "A" squad walloped Lindsay Collegiate's light juniors 26-5 in a Lakeshore league fixture.

A quick touchdown in the first quarter followed up by a single point in the third gave the PCI seniors the margin to down the Tech footballers. The team was far off the pace by which they rolled over the Trinity firsts Wednesday 29-11.

Along the ground the PCI'ers just couldn't seem to make yards. Roy Armstrong, Warren Brown, Bus Jensen and Bob Candy weren't getting the holes to dive through as they did Wednesday. Only once did stocky Armstrong manage to break loose, in the fourth, for 34 yards.

Kicking, PCVS' Al Northcott and Bryan Young matched the yardage of Black, Benson and Crowe throughout. On the runbacks on the kicks, Crowe and Allan led by far for the Toronto crew.

Started Strong

In the air, the PCI'ers started strong but dropped off sharply. After two completed passes, they threw eight before they connected again. Their final tally showed three complete, one interception and nine incomplete. Toronto's wasn't any better; in fact it was worse, three complete, two interceptions and 13 incomplete.

A fumble by Toronto just after the kickoff led to the PCVS major. Bryan Young flipped a long pass to Al Northcott and the ball rested on the Toronto 16. Bob Gandy was first stopped and then Young tossed again to Armstrong who just reached the line as he was tackled. The convert attempt failed. Later in the first, they drove hard via the ground to the Toronto five but froze there.

Passing led to the single point in the third. Young first threw to Armstrong for 12 yards, Army bringing the ball in with a nifty one-hand catch. Young immediately passed to Neil Thompson who lateralled, but ahead for an offside pass to Bob Gandy. Gandy raced across but was called back. Northcott booted them to the deadline for a point.

A PCVS fumble at the Garnet and Greys' 36 helped set Toronto for the single. After two downs Black, who played an outstanding game for the Tech, kicked to Young behind the goal line where Graydon downed him.

Had No Trouble

Although the PCVS juniors did a fair chore on the Lindsay collegiate squad, they could have racked up a higher score. As it was, they combined a fair air attack with a fair ground offensive from the late first until the final whistle to pile up the score.

Bill Stewart, quarter, led the way for a touch in the first with two passes, to Dan Griffin and Spencer Hope. Reg Fowler and Ron Dunn provided the ground action before Dave Langhorne went across through centre. He added the extra point.

A plunge by Dunn and a pass by Stewart to Griffin placed PCVS in scoring position in the second, Fowler finally going across.

Bill Stewart heaved a long pass to Fowler minutes later to put the ball on the Lindsay 10. Dunn went for four yards before Stewart went across on a sneak for the third major score. The half score was 16-0.

Plunges in the third by Stewart, Fowler, Langhorne and Dunn set PCVS up again. Stewart tossed to Norm Hayward at the one-yard line and Spencer Hope went across to make the score 21-0. After this touch Lindsay started a 66-yard march for their only major. MacLean and Graham started the ball rolling and Maurice Pennock ended it. He went 37 yards on two plunges, finding large holes in the PCVS line and a sleepy backfield. His third effort took him across.

In the dying minutes of the third Hope started the last scoring rally with a 12-yard plunge at the Lindsay 50. Stewart forwarded to Hayward at the Lindsay 24 which was followed up by a plunge by Fowler in the fourth for nine yards. Stewart again threw to Hayward this time for the final touchdown.

Kenny Reardon shows promise of being just as good a goodwill ambassador for Montreal Canadiens as he was a defence player for the National Hockey League team.

The former Winnipeger has been a tremendous hit with youngsters attending Canadiens' amateur hockey school at Regina stadium.

"I'm not in very good shape but I like to get out there with the boys," said Reardon, who recently announced his retirement from active hockey.

He came to Regina camp straight from attending a hockey clinic for college coaches in the New England states.

He picks Detroit as the team to beat again in the N.H.L.

"They're having trouble placing a 20-goal man like Gaye Stewart so you can understand how strong they are. This Prystal (Metro Prystai, formerly of Chicago Black Hawks) will be a big help to the Wings, too.

McGill University won the annual Canadian intercollegiate golf title Friday, defeating six other four-man teams in a 36-hole medal tournament at the Cataraqui Golf and Country Club.

Paced by Bobby Paul, who won the individual championship with 18-hole scores of 78-78 for 156 McGill's divot-diggers had a team total of 646. University of Toronto golfers placed second, 24 strokes behind McGill, with 670.

University of Western Ontario placed third with 684; University of Montreal fifth with 691; Carleton College with 710; Sir George Williams College seventh with 713 and Queen's University last with 722.

Mike King, Edmonton's big plunging halfback, has taken over the lead in the western Interprovincial League scoring race.

Statistics released in Regina Friday by league secretary Bob Gillies shows King has eight touchdowns for 40 points.

Montreal junior Canadiens, 1949 Memorial Cup winners, edged Windsor Spitfires of the Ontario Hockey Association 2-1 Friday night in an exhibition junior game at Sarnia.

Montreal came from behind to tie the count at 1-1 in the second period and then won on a goal by George Hollingsworth in the same period.

It was the second game in two nights for the two teams, Windsor winning 4-1 in Windsor Thursday.

Detroit Red Wings came from behind to score a 7-3 victory over Indianapolis Capitals in an exhibition hockey game at Chatham Memorial Arena Friday night. The Wings were down 2-1 at the end of the first period.

B. Pogue Tops In "Y" Loop

The YMCA senior girls' bowling league opened its long season's schedule this week at the "Y" and some fine scores were racked up for the start of the grind. Tigers whitewashed Glengarry's, Bombers did the same thing to Hurricanes, Corvettes took two from the Commandos, and Lucky Strikes took two against the Aces.

Betty Pogue led the way in threesomes with 734, while Irene Penrose had 629, M. Morton hitting 614, as Joyce Towns and Betty Castle tied with 601, Betty Pogue also had the best single with a 271 chore, as well as another 269 game. J. Towns hit 261, W. Lockie 241, M. Moore 240 and E. Pearcy 236.

Leaf Prospects Fight Hard As Whites Beat The Blues

Toronto Maple Leafs are really fighting for berths on the NHL squad this year, and more than 2,000 local fans can testify to that. They saw two Leafian crews, the Whites and Blues, battle it out bitterly in an exhibition game here last night, under auspices of the Rotary Club. The Whites won it 5-2, the so-called rookies having a good margin on play for two periods.

It turned out to be more than just a practice or exhibition tilt and was better than many scheduled NHL scraps, as the Whites and Blues fought fiercely all the way. It was 3-0 in the first frame and 5-0 going in to the third for the hustling Whites. Several roughing penalties were handed out, two fist fights almost materialized and there was considerable slashing and bumping as the big fellows did their stuff with an eye on Coach Joe Primeau and Manager Hap Day.

Receive Watches

The players were introduced by Joe Primeau and Bob Davidson, the latter handling the Blues. President Hugh Waddell, of Rotary Club, expresed thanks to the fans, the Leafs, and all others who helped put across the game for crippled children of the city and district who will benefit by $3,000. Hap Day and Joe Primeau were presented with engraved Westclox watches, the former speaking briefly in appreciation. Mayor Max Swanston drew the ticket for the outboard motor, which was won by Keith Watson, of Apsley.

The pattern of 1950-51 NHL play was shown in the speedy, scrambly style dished up here last night, with plenty of hooking and interference, despite close checking be Referee Bill Morrison and Linesmen Bill Knott and Maurice Walsh. They stepped fast throughout, with dipsy-doodle Max Bentley looking the fastest man on the ice.

Beat The Turk

Goalie Al Rollins, of the Whites, was better in the net this tilt than the famous Turk Broda, the latter appearing slow to fan on a couple of markers. Harry Watson, Howie Meeker and Cal Gardner were the most effective snipers, being in on most of the goals, with Flem Mackell and Bill Barilke also good on the attack for the Whites. Bentley got one for the Blues and Rudy Migay another, an assist each going to Joe Klukay, Danyy Leicki, Vic Lynn and Frank Mathers.

Gardner scored early from Meeker on a bit of loose defence work. Mortson went off for tripping and Stankiewicz followed for holding. Both were back when Watson tallied neatly in close from Gardner and Meeker. Watson added another from Meeker and Gardner when Turk was slow covering the short end. Mackell added one in the second around the net with Broda again slow covering. The Whites got their final one by Gardner from Barilke in close with a slap shot. Barilko was gated for holding and Thompson got it for slashing as play became hot near the end of the chukker.

Max Scores

Bentley put the Blues in the picture early in the third with a slap shot, partily screened, after Klukay and Lewicki built up the play. Hannigan and Rope roughed it up and nearly came to blows, drawing roughing penalties. Bolton got it next for holding and then Mortson and Meeker for high-sticking—with fists at the ready. Migan hit the twine for the last counter on a quick angle shot in close from Mathers and Lynn. McCormack hit the sin bin for cross-checking, and he was followed by Mackell and Thompson for roughing with play plenty hot. Broda was pulled in the final minute but nothing happened. Teams:

Blues—Broda, Thompson, Mortson, Mathers, Bentley, Klukay, Kennedy, Hannigan, Lynn, Sloan, Armstrong, Migay, Horton, Lewicki and Smith.

Whites—Rollins, Timgren, Stankiewicz, McCormack, Bolton, Juzda, Gardner, Mackell Hassard, Meeker, Rope, Brilko, Watson and Ashley.

Referee, W. Morrison; linesmen, W. Knott and M. Walsh.

TEAM MATCH A FEATURE—A tag team match between Pat Flanagan and Toar Morgan against Wee Willie Davis and Lee Henning will feature next Tuesday's mat card at the Brock Arena. These four grapplers need no introduction to the fans and plenty of action and fireworks can be expected when they clash. Team bouts are always popular and with these four outstanding performers in the ring, on occasions all together, a sizzling scrap looms up. The semi-final will see Jim (Goon) Henry taking on Jack Moore while the prelim will introduce a newcomer Don Lewin against Abe Zvonkin. The entire card is star-studded and rates a capacity crowd.

By DON GRANT

The sixth in the series of football signals is the shifting of the hands in a horizontal plane indicating an illegally thrown forward pass or one thrown with the apparent intent to save loss-of-yardage.

A forward pass may be thrown only by the team which put the ball in play from a scrimmage and if thrown otherwise, will be ruled as an offside pass. The pass may be thrown by any player of the attacking side who is behind the line of scrimmage when he throws the pass and if violated will mean re-scrimmage with the loss of the down. If the violation is on the third down, the attacking team will lose possession.

The pass must cross the line of scrimmage even though blocked by an opponent, except where intercepted and possession secured by a player of the defending side. If the ball does not cross the line of scrimmage, it will be declared incomplete.

In a scrimmage from which a forward pass is thrown, the attacking team must have at least seven players within one yard of the line of scrimmage, in a single line and not advancing towards the opponent's goal line at the instant the ball is put in play. If violated the ball will be re-scrimmaged with the loss of one down, if on the third down, the loss of ball at the point of scrimmage.

The same penalty shall be handed out if on any scrimmage from which a forward pass is thrown, a player of the attacking side, before the ball is snapped, moves in such a way as to cause confusion as to whether or not the player is eligible to receive the pass. This applies particularly to the shifting of players on and off the wingline or changing position on the wing line.

If a pass is thrown (in the referee's opinion) with no apparent intent to execute a forward pass play but to save a loss-of-yardage, the attacking team shall be penalized as for an offside pass. This may take the form of throwing the ball to the ground either towards the opponent's goal or otherwise, out-of-bounds and so that it strikes, is touched or is caught by a player of the passer's side without it having crossed the line of scrimmage.

Flaws In Defence Cost Phillies Their Third Game

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Oct. 7—(AP)—Same old "four straight" Yankees. The world series now resembles the old days of 1927, '28, '32, '38 and '39.

After Friday's third victory over the luckless Phil Whiz Kids, the Yanks were poised for the kill. You could get 50 to 1 if you liked the Phils in the series.

No club ever came back from three lickings to win a championship, and the Phils haven't played like a team to break precedent. Every move they've made has backfired.

Eddie Ford, the Yanks' "golden boy" of the stretch drive, was ready for today's fourth game at 1:00 p.m. EST. The 21-year-old kid southpaw copped nine in a row before he finally lost one on relief. He is one of the Yankee hopes for the future.

Eddie Sawyer had two probable pitchers for his groggy National League champs—Bob Miller (11-6) and Bubba Church (8-6), both untried rookie righthanders seeing their first world series.

Sawyer, however, indicated he might switch to Jim Konstanty, his constant reliefer. Jim pitched eight innings in the 1-0 opener and worked one-third of an inning in Friday's 3-2 Yankee victory.

Poor Defence

Flaws in defence cost the Phils the third game Friday before 64,505 fans at Yankee Stadium. They outhit the Yanks for the first time, taking great liberties with starter Ed Lopat, but folded in the clutch.

Kenny Heintzelman, they greythatched southpaw vet, took a 2-1 lead into the eighth inning. He had two out and nobody on base when his control deserted him. After walking Gerry Coleman on a 3-2 pitch, he passed Yogi Berra and Joe DiMaggio on eight straight balls.

Konstanty strode from the bullpen with the bases full. Yankee Manager Casey Stengel switched from Hank Bauer to pinch-hitter Bobby Brown.

Big Jim made Brown hit a ground ball to shortstop that should have taken him out of the inning. But Gran Hamner fumbled the ball. He dropped it again as he tried to pick it up with his bare hand. Before he found the handle, Coleman was across the plate with the tying run.

Coleman, an inconspicuous .287 hitter in regular season, tightened his grip on the world series hero title by a ninth-inning single that broke up the game after Gene Woodling and Phil Rizzuto scratched infield singles.

A Leading Hitter

The Yanks have scored a total of six runs in the first three games. Coleman has driven in three and scored two of them. With four hits in 11 at bats, he's among the leading hitters with a .364 average.

With a base hit in the right spot or a break along the way, the Phils could lead 3-0 today instead of tottering on the brink of elimination.

Sawyer got better pitching than anybody figured from Konstanty, Robin Roberts and Heintzelman. Yet he lost all three — the first two because the Phils couldn't hit and the third because they couldn't come up with a ground ball.

Hamner's glaring error on an easy chance was the blow that ruined the Phils. But another error, on a bad throw by Andy Seminick in the third, made the Yanks' first score easier.

A walk to Phil Rizzuto, a stolen base, Seminick's bad throw and a single by that man Coleman accounted for the first Yank run.

Lopat No Mystery

The Phils found Eddie Lopat no mystery, nibbling away at his soft pitches until they finally tied the score in the sixth on Del Ennis' double and Dick Sisler's single.

It was about time, too, for Ennis and Sisler to break into the hit column. The Phils' extra-base punch had been held hitless in 20 previous trips.

Hamner, leading series hitter at .500, could have been the hero instead of the goat in the important third game. He came up with three hits, including a single that touched off a seventh-inning rally. Andy Seminick's sacrifice and Mike Goliat's single sent Hamner home with the run that put the Phils ahead for the first time in 26 innings of series play.

Again in the ninth, after his error permitted the Yanks to tie the score, Hamner lashed into the first pitch from reliefer Tom Ferrick for a double. Only a fine bare-handed stab on the bounce by Joe DiMaggio robbed Hamner of a triple or potential inside-the-park homer.

The Phils had Ferrick on the ropes when a bunt moved Hamner to third. Stengel ordered his pitcher to walk Goliat intentionally. Dick Whitman, batting for Konstanty, rapped to Joe Collins, who nipped Hamner at the plate. Then Eddie Waitkus flied to Cliff Mapes for the third out.

Digs Into Reserves

Sawyer had dug deep into his reserves for pinch-hitting and running talent in the ninth. So the veteran Jimmy Bloodworth went to second base in the last of the ninth. Russ Meyer went to the hill. Both moves proved wrong.

Meyer retired the first two men. Bloodworth juggled Woodling's slow roller for a scratch single. Jim made a fine diving stop of Rizzuto's hard bounder but again the ball went for a hit.

Then Coleman dunked a fly ball between Jackie Mayo and Richie Ashburn for the game-winning single.

Letting Coleman hit was another stroke of genius by Stengel who can do no wrong. He considered sending Johnny Hopp up to hit for Coleman. Luckily for him, he decided to stick with Gerry.

Crescents Crush Athletics 10-3 To Take Title

TORONTO, Oct. 7—(CP)—For the first time in his long lacrosse career, Doug Gillespie is within shooting distance of the Mann Cup, representing Canadian lacrosse supremacy.

Gillespie's coaching and high scoring helped Owen Sound Crescents to the championship of the Ontario Lacrosse Association senior circuit this season.

In Fergus Friday night, he fired two goals and got two assists as Crescents pounded St. Catharines Athletics 10-3 in the final game of the Ontario finals. It gave Crescents the right to meet New Westminster Adanacs in the best-of-seven Mann Cup finals which open here Sunday.

New Westminster, 1947 Dominion champions, arrived by air last night, undeterred by a long-standing jinx which so far has always seen the defeat of western teams in eastern territory.

Adanacs arrived without two stars, Ralph and Johnny Douglas, who were unable to get time off work for the trip. They will be replaced by Arnie Ferguson, playing coach of the Victoria Shamrocks, and Alfy Wood, top scorer this season with New Westminster Salmonbellies.

Favored to Win

Crescents went into Friday night's game in the indoor Fergus rink favored to win. They are the only team in the league to have played their home games indoors.

Each team had won its three games in the best-of-seven finals.

Defenceman Don McWhirter scored twice while Arnold (Onions) Smith, Jack Foote, Harry Kazarian, Jack Mason and Russ Salter got the others.

Leo Teatro, Ken Croft and J. McNulty scored for Athletics, who in the last 12 years have won the Mann Cup six times.

Joe DiMaggio Tries To Buck Up Heartbroken Phillie Shortstop

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK, Oct. 7—(AP)—Granny Hamner, youthful shortstop of the beaten Philadelphia Phils, dragged his leaden feet down the runway leading into the visiting team's dressing room at Yankee Stadium.

His eyes were blurred. His head hung almost on his chest.

Suddenly he felt an arm around his shoulders. He looked up and saw Joe DiMaggio.

"Don't feel too badly, kid," Joe was saying in a sympathetic voice. "It was a bad break for you. But it happens to the best of us. It happened to me once. That's the break of the game. Keep your chin up. You're too good a ball player to let it get you down."

The great Yankee star was referring to the grievous error made by Hamner in the eighth inning that allowed the Yankees to tie the score. New York went on to win the game in the ninth, 3-2 to take a 3-0 lead in the world series.

Hamner looked at Joe, thankfulness written all over his face. Finally he managed to mutter:

"I've made a lot of errors in my time, Joe, but that one—"

Granny swallowed hard and continued: "It was a simple grounder. I was sure I had it. But I let it slip off my fingers."

Nobody Talks To Him

Later Hamner sat deep in the confines of his locker looking into space. Nobody talked to him. Nobody had the heart. Although he seemed to be looking at you, you knew he [illegible]

Perhaps he was [illegible] dark day six years ago when, as a 17-year-old youngster fresh out of Richmond, Va., he sat slumped in the Shibe Park dressing room, crying his heart out.

He had just received an unmerciful roasting from a hostile crowd for having a particularly bad day in the field. Hurt and shamed by the boos, the crestfallen kid did what probably any inexperienced youth would do. He hung his head, slunk into the safety of the club house and sat down and cried.

After a while he felt a friendly arm around his shoulders. It belonged to Fred Fitzsimmons, then Phils' manager.

"I know how you feel, son," wise old Freddy said in a fatherly fashion. "We all go through it some time or another. But don't take it so hard. You're going to make them eat their words some day. They'll be cheering you plenty before you are through."

And maybe if he recalled that, it helped a little.

St. Louis Cardinals trounced Detroit Tigers 11-0 in the seventh and deciding game of the World Series 16 years ago today at Detroit. Joe Medwick's run-in with Marvin Owen at third base in the sixth inning enraged bleacher fans and Medwick was taken out of the game for his own safety.

Wings Favorites To Defeat NHL All-Stars

DETROIT, Oct. 7—(AP)—The reshuffled Detroit Red Wings are 7-5 favorites to do what no other National Hockey League team has done—beat the N.H.L. all-stars.

A crowd of more than 10,000 is expected to see the fourth annual all-star game [illegible] night with the league's player pension fund benefitting by about $20,000.

N.H.L. officials say it's the first time the all stars have been rated underdogs in the hockey classic. The fans apparently feel that the Red Wings, who won the N.H.L. championship and Stanley Cup last season, are still potent enough to beat the best combination the league has to offer.

Detroit's hopes are centred about the famed Gordie Howe-Sid Abel-Ted Lindsay line and a couple of newcomers, goalie Terry Sawchuk and Metro Prystai.

The Red Wings are counting too on the fact that the all-star 17-man squad didn't even get together for one practice session as the various players stayed with their respective club until Friday or so.

However, coach Lynn Patrick of Boston Bruins has a power-packed all-star squad. It features Toronto's Ted Kennedy and Montreal's Maurice Richard, two of the most colorful players in hockey.

Kennedy will lead the all-stars' first line and this may mean he will be on the ice against Detroit's Gordie Howe, who suffered a severe brain injury last season after a much-discussed collision with Kennedy in the Stanley Cup semi-finals.

Roy Suddards Leads City Bowling League

Shockey's Cleaners of the men's City Bowling League this week at Duffus' showed some of the power that carried them to the loop championship last season by spilling the pins for high pinnage of 3,611, as Campbell and Best took high single game with a nifty 1,267 effort. Roy Suddards of McGillis Hotel came through with top triple of 877 and a swell single game of 362 for a good night's work.

Holly Mowry had an 855 threesome and Bill Harris 835, while other high singles were H. Mowry 351, H. Legrow 349, M. Akers 327, F. McCormack 321, R. Hopkins 317 and G. Walton 303. Shutouts were registered by Shockey's and Ted Moore's over Bond's and Clapper's. Four-point totals were bowled by McGillis, Sunocos, Dunn Tailors, and Cavanagh's respectively over Fashion-Craft, Swartz, Campbell and Best, and Esquires. McGillis lead the league with 16 points in three nights, but the schedule has just nicely started.

Tigers Blank Niagara

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Oct. 7 (CP)—With one victory already tucked away, Waterloo Tigers have the advantage of their home park today for the second game of their Ontario Baseball Association final senior series with Niagara Falls Fords. The Tigers backed up the five-hit pitching of Joe Yosurak with a 15-hit barrage on three Falls twirlers in capturing the series opener here Friday night, 7-0. Third game of the best-of-seven set will be played here Monday.

OHA Has Refused Dinning A Release

TORONTO, Oct. 7 (CP)—The Ontario Hockey Association executive at a meeting here Friday night denied Bill Dinning a release from Hamilton Tigers to join Sydney, N.S., as a player-coach.

Dinning told newspaper reporters later that he will not play for the Hamilton senior club and will go to Sydney as a coach.

The executive settled a three-club wrangle for the services of forward Willie Marshall by awarding him to Guelph Junior A Biltmores. Marshall, high-scoring star for St. Michael's College here last year, was awarded to Guelph over protests of Toronto Marlboros and St. Miks.

The Dundas intermediate A club, a new entry, was given permission to use six imports, double the usual quota.

Fire Loss In Peterborough $839,424 In 6 Years

Fire loss in Peterborough in 1949 was $42,250, Fire Chief George Smith stated on the eve of Fire Prevention Week. Carelessness was the principal cause of these outbreaks. "Eight of 10 fires can be prevented if we just stop and thing," he said. During the past six years the loss has been $839,424.

A rundown of yearly losses is as follows 1944 $53,172; 1945, $59,-157; 1946, $113,400; 1947, $387,122; 1948, $268,823, and 1949, $42,250. The number of fires have gradually increased—44, 51, 59, 56, 58, and now 78.

Some of the major causes of fires he lists as careless smoking, smoking in bed, defective electrical wiring, flammable liquids, burning rubbish, children with matches, and faulty chimneys, pipes and heating equipment.

The Peterborough Fire Department is serving as local sponsor of Fire Prevention Week, held October 8-14 by proclamation. During this week the community will be made conscious of the heavy toll of lives and property that results every year, mainly from carelessness.

Chief Smith explained that there are approximately 55,000 building fires annually in this country, and nearly half of these occur in homes. The National Fire Protection Association records show that more than 500 persons burn to death every year.

"The Fire Department is eager to take advantage of Fire Prevention Week to make every home in Peterborough safer," the fire chief said. "We stand ready at all times to provide full information on the ways of preventing fires.

Six Hazards

He lists six fire hazards:

One, careless disposal of cigarettes and careless handing of matches. Matches should be kept where small children can't reach them.

Two, needless accumulation of combustible rubbish. Stacks of old newspapers, magazines, worn-out clothes, broken furniture and discarded boxes are ideal tinder for a stray spark.

Three, dirty and poorly maintained chimneys and heating equipment.

Four, flammable wood shingle roofs. Asphalt shingles or other fire-resistant material should be used instead.

Five, defective or overloaded electrical circuits. Wiring should always be instaled by a qualified electrician.

Six, improper handling of gasoline and kerosene and use of flammable cleaning fluids. Non-inflammable cleaners are available.

Careless campers and smokers are said to be responsible for more damage by fire in Canada each year than any other factor.

In 1949 there were 18,906 fires reported in Canada with 140 deaths and $20,237,896 in property damage. These figures do not include the Noronic disaster in which 120 were burnt to death September 17, 1949.

INSURE for a Happy Future
DON'T LET FIRE BEAT YOU
A fire hazard often overlooked by the insuring public is underinsurance. Many instances disclose the fact that the amount of insurance carried is very inadequate in relationship to the value of the property, leaving the insured in the unfortunate position in the event of a serious fire of not having nearly enough insurance to cover the loss he has suffered.

HOUSE No. 467 — Long a favorite with Canadian families — particularly in the east — is the centre-hall house as shown here. For more than a century such homes have graced our towns and countryside — many in brick, others in stone and clapboard. Exterior lines are appealing from any angle. Walls are of salmon brick, with entrance detail, shutters and trim in white. Roof is of weathered cedar shingles. It is interesting to note that each of the six rooms in this house has at least two exposures! The house contains about 23,200 cubic feet, omitting the side porch. Two Textile Unionists Face Charges

THREE RIVERS, Que., Oct. 7—(CP)—A union organizer and an employee of the Textile Weavers Company, Ltd. of nearby Grand'mere were arrainged Friday on charges of taking part in an illegal strike.

Lucien Doufour, 44, Montreal, an organizer for the United Textile Workers of America (AFL-TLC), and Michel Elemond, 36, of Grand'mere, the employee were released on $250 and $100 bail, respectively, pending preliminary hearing next Thursday.

Judge Edouard Langlois granted bail after both agreed to keep away from the partially-struck plant.

They were arrested on a complaint filed by Roy Leach, superintendent of the company.

The strike started last Monday when 69 workers refused to work after the company turned down a request to rehire two dismissed employees. That night, 69 employees got theeir pay, unemployment insurance book and pension money through the mail at home, indicating they were dismissed.

FOR SHOW—The CF-100 Avro jet fighter is flying to Montreal from Toronto to take part in the Canadian Industrial Preparedness Association's show at Montreal Airport. The jet, which will be piloted by W. A. (Bill) Waterton, the test pilot chosen to investigate the potentialities of the plane, was to have attempted a record non-stop Atlantic hop. This was called off, however, because the aircraft is needed at home to carry out tests necessary for a speeded-up production program.

Canucks Train At Okinawa

TOKYO Oct. 7—(Reuters)—Canadian troops for the Korean war are expected to complete training on the Pacific island of Okinawa, it was learned Friday.

This key air base has been lightly defended since the United States 29th Regiment was thrown into the struggle in August to hold the shrinking American bridgehead in Korea.

It is believed the Canadians will help to garrison the strategic island while preparing for operational or occupation duties in Korea.

The Canadian brigade is expected to leave Canada some time in November.

In Ottawa, headquarters officials said advance parties of Canada's special brigade have started to move in accordance with an over-all plan to train the brigade in the Far East.

For this reason, advance parties have arrived at Fort Lewis, Wash., which is planned as a mustering-centre through which the troops will move on their way east. There are no centres in Canada sufficiently large to assemble the brigade as a unit.

Painters and Poets Abound Nova Scotia's Peggy's Cove

By JACK SCOTT.

PEGGY'S COVE, NS. — Couple of years ago when Brown Eyes and I were looking around Hollywood we came upon an outdoor set at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios used for harbor scenes.

A plywood tugboat nudged a plywood pier on which artificial barnacles grew, all of it set in a shallow tank that was dead calm or, if one flicked the switch on the wind machines, wild and stormy.

The effect was enormously theatrical, especially since the adjoining set was the suburban home used for the Andy Hardy pictures. Yet this fabricated illusion somehow seemed to distill all the authentic atmosphere of a small seaport. So we sat down in busy Culver City and sailed away on a magic carpet of Hollywood make-believe.

We both remembered that experience today when we joined Peggy's Cove Cult. For Peggy's Cove looks too dramatic, too completely picturesque, to be altogether true. It's like walking into a set designed by some genius.

With the possible exception of some of the small harbors along the coast of Cornwall, I've never seen a place that looked so much like it ought to look as Peggy's.

The Cult is composed largely of painters and poets who swarm over Peggy's granite face each summer, crouching at their easels or simply sitting on a rock to sponge up inspiration.

Blood Should Tingle

The Halifax painter, William Degarthe, a charter member, has said, "A person who doesn't feel his blood tingle when he sees Peggy's has no heart for art." Fact is, nobody is known to have visited this barren little place without coming away a lifelong bore on the subject. And that goes for us, too.

Something is happening now at Pegg's that its oldest admirers have always feared and predicted as far back as 1935:

In that year T. Morris Longstreth wrote a book about Nova Scotia and said it was innevitable that Pegg's Cove would some day be discovered by the mass of tourists and that its rustic, honest beauty would fall before the hot dog stand and the motel.

Next year Peggy's may face this test because a broad new road is being built in to the cove. In the past—and, for that matter, right now — you get in over a kind of wagon trail, in some parts right over naked rock, and this has discouraged the mob but with a modern road completed, it's almost a sure bet that the hamlet will become a tourist mecca and perhaps, as the Cult fears, some of the charm will go.

At the moment its all here and all pretty wonderful, especially at this time of year when even the painters and poets have gone away, leaving only the 60-odd permanent residents.

South of Halifax

To get to Peggy's Cove you drive about 20 miles south from Halifax along the main highway to Yarmouth and take a gravel road down to the sea. You dip and turn with the Atlantic flashing into view off to your right and past places with names like Frostfish Cove, Seabright, Hackett's Cove, Shut-in Island, Modesty Cove, Paddy's Head and Indian Harbor.

This is the country I nominated the other day as the most scenic we'd seen. But on that day the torn-up road prevented us from actually reaching Peggy's. And Peggy's, as we discovered today, is truly the gem of all.

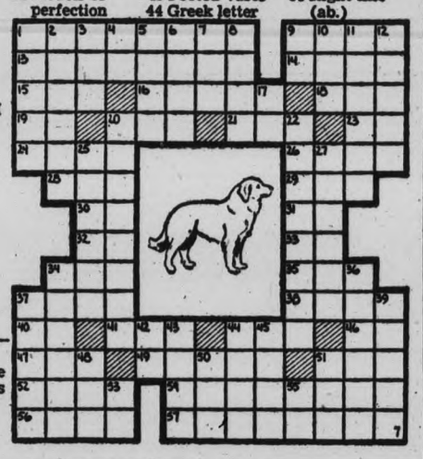
Here is a swelling, bald rock shouldering against the open Atlantic. It is treeless and only a few gnarled shrubs and a thick, tough moss can survive the salt spray and the wind that always blows. All along this stark shore are gigantic boulders, most of them looking as if a good shove would set them rolling. They give an eerie, Salvador Dail aspect to this wild and rugged coast.

As you crawl in low gear along the ruts of a lane that winds over the rock and through the prehistoric boulders and gorse, see ahead, dominating the point, a lovely white lighthouse (whose lamp is fired nightly by tall, stringy Rupert Manuel, also the Cove's outstanding violinist). It is very much like driving into an oil painting.

The cove itself is a tiny tongue of the sea that somehow found its way into a deep crevice in the granite.

Members of the Cult often try to analyze the charm that draws so many artists here. It seems to me there may be some deep symbolism involved for in all this fierce seascape the little cove is truly the snug harbor of safety we're all seeking.

Certainly it is the world's most peaceful and nerve-soothing spot. Mouse-grey fish shanties stand on barnacled piles along the shore and above on the steep rock are the simple, neat homes of the residents, all facing down to the little cove. The bright orange and blue hulls of anchored boats are mirrored in the cold, clear water. Here and there are lobster traps, nets and tubs of brine for pickling mackerel.



You need not be an artist to sit, as we did, and let your mind and nerves slow down to this mood and feel—as Ian Sclanders, one of Peggy's staunchest admirers, has written — "A magic compounded of light and shadow and unchanging stone and ever-changing sea; of sun and fog and silence and booming surf."

Whether all this will be impaired by a tourist boom is a matter only the future can tell. We noticed one sign that read, "Parking, 10 Cents," that seemed a small blot on the scene. Still, the things that make Peggy's so unforgettable are probably durable enough to resist any of the degredations of man.

Lay In Supplies For Long Winter In Newfoundland

By RUPERT JACKSON

RALEIGH, Nfld. —(CP)— The people of Northern Newfoundland and Labrador are preparing for the long winter months of isolation.

In little villages such as this on the northernmost tip of Newfoundland, fishermen will be locked in by icefloes. They are laying in supplies of food and fuel to last them until next April or May.

When the ice comes in, it surrounds Raleigh on three sides, and then all transportation is by dogteam or snowshoe. Supplies cannot be sent in except by plane, so to survive the freeze-up, the village has to stock up in advance.

The villagers' diet for the winter months usually is bread, potatoes, turnips, cabbage, salt meat and salt codfish. The fare is relieved by the occasional seabird or seal killed by the fisherman's vicious, muzzle-loading shotgun.

Transport Expensive

Small coastal schooners and steamers are now busily freighting supplies to the northern ports and transport is expensive. With his meagre finances, the northern Newfoundlander has to figure his needs most carefully, almost down to the last grain of flour and the last spoonful of molasses.

But now things are bought. The flour, molasses, oatmeal, hard biscuit and other essentials are sailing northward to be stored. A hundredweight or so of salted codfish is reserved for the fisherman's own use before the catch is sold to the merchant. Cod traps and trawls are being stored away until the next season rolls round. Potatoes and turnips are being dug out of the rocky soil and everything will soon be battened down.

Within the next six weeks or so, communication will end with Raleigh and its neighboring communities of Milan Point, Carpon Cove, Ship Cove and Cape Onion.

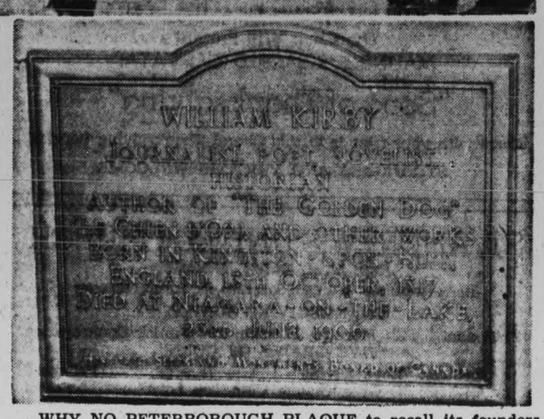
Road Projects



In 1855 a joint stock company took over the Port Hope-Peterborough Road, which was graded, gravelled, and planked in the south. This road, approximately where the highway now runs, had tollgates, one just outside Peterborough, and two near Millbrook. Bletcher's stages ran daily over this road, and the traffic south of Bewdley was especially heavy, but with the building of railways to Peterborough the roads were used less for commerce. A more profitable stage line operated from the Commercial Hotel, Peterborough, through Emily township, Lindsay and Mariposa twice weekly each way, using stages in summer and sleighs in winter. This line connected at Lindsay with lines to Port Perry and Whitby, Fenelon and Bobcaygeon; at Peterborough travellers could transfer to lines operating north and east, to Lakefield, Warsaw, Norwood, Keene and Hastings. From Hastings, tollroads ran to Cobourg and Colborne. A growing number of travellers preferred to hire a buggy and driver at $2 or $3 a day, for more comfort and speed.

In 1854 a Peterborough group led by Augustus Sawers organized the Peterborough - Bobcaygeon Road Company to build a gravel road between the two communities, through Ennismore and across Chemong Lake by a bridge; although Peterborough town pledged itself to buy £5,000 of stock, Ennismore township £3,000 and other stock pledges were £1,-100, the project was never commenced. Four years later W. A. Scott and D. Hopkins of Peterborough town proposed that the County issue £50,000 debentures, proceeds to be used to build 100 miles of macadamized roads throughout the county; West to Fowler's Corners, and to Bridgenorth, and through Ennismore to Pigeon Creek, north along the Smith river-road and up the middle-line toward Buckhorn, northeast to Warsaw, east to Norwood, Havelock and Blairton, southeast to Keene, and from Norwood to Hastings. This ambitious project was rejected by the townships, one reason for the town withdrawing from county administration in 1859.

The transportation network was completed by improved steamship service on the waterways. On Rice Lake the "Forester" plied from Hastings to Peterborough, Hiawatha, Harwood and Gore's Landing; Henry Fowlds of Hastings sold this boat in 1858 when he built the "Forest City"', but both steamers were used for passengers, freight, and towing rafts. The "Otonabee" operated between Harwood, Hiawatha, Bewdley and Peterborough, and was especially busy when the Rice Lake railway bridge was closed. The steamer "Fly" ran daily from Bobcaygeon to Bridgenorth and return, connecting with Palmer's stageline which carried passengers and freight to and from McGregor's Hotel in Peterborough. The "Ogemah" of Fenelon Falls ran three times weekly from Port Perry to Lindsay, Fenelon, Bobcaygeon and Bridgenorth, connecting at the last place with Whie's stageline carrying passengers and freight to and from Caisse's Hotel in Peterborough. The steamer "Woodman" ran between Port Perry, Lindsay, Fenelon and Bobcaygeon, but was used chiefly for freight and towing rafts. Steamboat and stage fares averaged about equal: Peterborough to Lindsay 75c, Peterborough to Norwood or Hastings $1.25, Peterborough to Lakefield, Warsaw or Keene 50c. By road, water or rail, a trip from Peterborough to Cobourg or Port Hope cost $1.

WHY NO PETERBOROUGH PLAQUE to recall its founders and writers such as Mrs. Moodie? A plaque to the memory of William Kirby, author of the Golden Dog and other works, who died at Niagara-on-the-Lake in 1906, was unveiled in a ceremony at the town hall there this week. Above, William Kirby, Sr., grandson of the author, is shown lowering the Union Jack from the bronze plaque during the ceremony. To the right of the pillar on the town hall steps is Mayor William Greaves, Rev. C. H. E. Smith, who gave a short prayer to the memory of the late Mr. Kirby, and J. G. Williams, St. Catharines. Lower photo shows the bronze plaque mounted on the wall of the town hall. The inscription on the plaque reads: "William Kirby, Journalist, Poet, Novelist, Historian. Author of The Golden Dog (Le Chien D'Or) and other works. Born in Kingston-Upon-Hull, England, 13th October, 1817. Died at Niagara-on-the-Lake 23rd June, 1906."—(St. Catharines Standard Photo).

Middle East Link Found In Symbols In Alberta Cave

CALGARY —(CP)— Who lived in Alberta before the Indians?

Retired rancher J. W. Dick of Calgary, who has made a study of rock paintings found in the province, believes Alberta's first residents may have been a prehistoric race which had an alphabet similar to one used by early inhabitants of the Middle East.

Most of these written characters were found in the "Mystic Cave," a large cave near the Porcupine Hills of southern Alberta. These characters, Mr. Dick says, resemble script of the Sabaean nation which lived near the Red Sea in King Solomon's time.

Rock glaze covering the paintings suggested they had been painted many years ago. The cave in which they were found showed signs of human habitation. Tools, possibly used in making the writings, were uncovered.

Written In Blood

Experts have pointed out that the ideograph used in the cave writing resembles ancient picture alphabets, semitic in origin. One university professor felt the figures may have been written in blood.

John Laurie, secretary of the Indian Association of Alberta, told Mr. Dick that he had seen no Indian writing similar to that in the Mystic Cave.

The rancher quoted a letter written by language professor, Dr. F. Owen of the University of Alberta in which he said, "it seems clear the symbols...bear a striking resemblance to some of the symbols of the Sabaean alphabet or at least can be constructed out of the elements of the Sabaean alphabet."

Godwits Safe

AUCKLAND, N.Z.—(CP)—The New Zealand Governemnt has rejected a request from sportsmen to lift the ban on shooting Godwits, once treated as game birds. The Godwits anually arrive from Siberia in huge flocks, fatten on New Zealand feeding grounds and return to their nesting areas in the northern hemisphere.

SERGE JAROFF, diminutive leader of the Don Cossacks will bounce his way through another program of this popular male choir on Sunday in Montreal. Since 1930, this group has toured Canada and the United States annually, and this year they will pass the 7,000 concert mark.

Ask Thousands Books For Canadian Troops

OTTAWA, Oct. 7 (CP) — The call went out today for thousands of books for Canadian servicemen on duty at home or abroad.

It was sounded with announcement that the Canadian Legion Educational Services are undertaking the immediate supply of books for the forces.

The announcement was made by R. B. Curry, president of the CLES and drew support from Defence Minister Claxton and Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Tommy) Burns, deputy minister for veterans affairs.

All three stress that thousands of books, particularly current volumes, fiction or non-fiction, bound or paper-backed, are needed and going to be needed. They asked Canadians to send them to the Canadian Legion Book Depot, Ottawa.

Giving Children The Bible With A Word Of Guidance

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, DD

The Bible has been called "God's book for man's life"—and very properly so, for that is just what it is.

But the Bible is not one book, but many. It came out of a great range of time, at least a thousand years, possibly more. These books were by various authors, and others apparently collected their writings, so that there were editors, as well as authors.

In the wide range of their writing and editing they reflect different times and conditions. II Kings 1:10 tells how Elijah called down fire from heaven, and consumed fifty; but when James and John (Luke 9:54) wanted Jesus to call down fire and consume villagers, who used Him despitefully, "as did Elias," Jesus rebuked them, saying, "Ye know not what manner of spirit ye are of."

All of them, I think, goes to show with what care and intelligence the Bible must be read and studied, if it is to be in truth and reality "God's book for man's life." For some have read it to their detriment and shame, while others in their zeal have made it the text-book of their intolerance and persecuting fervor, missing entirely its deepest message of love and grace.

I have recently purchased Bibles to send to my two grandchildren, and in my mind has been the question, "Would I send them just as they are, without any not of guidance whatsoever?" I finally decided to send with them some word of guidance, singling out for them the passages of the greatest interest and beauty and offering them as they grow older a proper perspective in the reading of the entire Book.

The first of these ways is the one usually followed—putting the Bible into the hands of young and old, with no, or little, word of suggestion or guidance, trusting that they will find and see in the Bible all that the giver himself knows.

It seemed to me that it might make a great difference to these little girls, and to that love of the Bible that I hoped to induce in them, if instead of such a story as that of Jesus blessing the little children, they should happen upon the story (II Kings 2:24) of Elisha cursing and destroying her children. I wanted to make sure that they would know the Bible as a book of life, and read the words of Jesus, before they even happened to read records of violence and cruelty.

I wanted them, if they ever read of such things, to read of them in the light of what Israel learned concerning God. And if they happened to read how Abraham, in a serious lapse, lied concerning his wife (Genesis 20:2), I wanted them to know that great pioneer and man of faith set peace so much above self-interest, that in the matter of seeking peace the world has not caught up with Abraham. (Genesis 13).

So, along with the Bibles, I am sending to these children an introduction to the Bible that I have put in rhyme. I hope it will make the Book of Books a book of grace, glory, and blessing, as it has to me. Perhaps some day I may make this available for the grandchildren of others.

Preaches Farewell

WESTWOOD, Oct. 7—(ENS)—The annual harvest home service of St. Michael's Anglican Church was held last weekend when the rector, the Rev. P. A. Rickard preached his farewell sermon.

The church was decorated with grain, fruit, vegetables and flowers.

The choir of Christ Church, Norwood, led the singing and sang an anthem, with Mrs. Copp at the organ.

WMS Meets

OMEMEE, Oct. 7— (ENS). — There was a record attendance for 1950 at the October meeting of Trinity United Church WMS Thursday, when Miss Marion Zufelt presented a report on the Whitby School for Leaders. While Marion, a 'teen-ager, studied the mission band work in particular, she expressed strong appreciation for the spiritual values of the school in general. She also reported some of the points stressed in the sessions, among which was the importance of 'teen-age work in the missionary society, since it was from among 'teen-age groups that recruits must come for the mission fields—the groups which had not yet chosen their life work.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. H. Deyell. Mrs. Brown, leader of the group in charge of the program, was assisted in the worship service by Mrs. M. Sandy, Miss J. Lamb, and Mrs. B. Hyland. Miss O. Wilton presented the study chapter dealing with the political history of Japan and which was entitled "The Unbroken Lineage."

Secretaries' reports included a temperance reading by Mrs. S. Moyer, stressing the cost of alcohol to industry and to life, and a reading by the stewardship secretary, Mrs. S. Vaughan, stating the ways WMS moneys were spent last year in Canada and overseas, with amounts apportioned to each cause. Mrs. H. Laidley sang, Lunch was served by Group 4.

42-Acre Hospital Grounds Get $15,000 Landscaping Five-Year Plan Well Started

"In five years, the completed landscaping project at the new Civic Hospital will be comparable with the best in the country," stated Armar Butcher, superintendent of the Parks Department. Approximately 15 men have been working on the hospital grounds for the past three weeks. Topsoil has been moved from the back to the front and after a levelling process was completed, the front circle was seeded. Numerous shrubs have already been planted and work in the four parking lots is well underway.

Stone trucked in from the Lakefield Road quarry is being used in a limestone and granite wall banking the front parking lot. The wall is 300 feet long. The other parking lots are situated at the east and rear of the nurses' residence and at the rear of the hospital.

$15,000 Cost

The estimated cost of the overall project is expected to be $15,000. The cost of this year's work is estimated at $6,500.

Numerous shrubs and trees will be planted at the front and rear of the hospital. These will include white and red pines, spruce, cedars, tamaracks, maples, elms and hemlocks.

A cedar hedge will be planted in front of the laundry and power house and a barbarie or spirea hedge in front of the nurses' residence. The landscaping plans also include numerous gravel walks.

The grounds owned by the hospital total 42 acres. The major part of the section at the low front will be converted into a park with a fringe of hardwood trees at the road.

"We expect to have the immediate and front and rear landscaped this year," stated Mr. Butcher.

Plans were drawn up by Gordon Culham, landscape architect, Toronto.

Teachers Invite Board Officials To Convention

For the first time this year the Peterborough County Teachers' Institute are inviting the trustees and secretaries of all school boards in the county to the annual meeting.

An attendance of 200 is expected for the one-day convention being held at the Kawartha Club, October 25. About 125 of this number will be teachers.

The agenda has not yet been completed but one of the features will be a discussion, led by Leo W. Copp, normal school principal, on the new school curriculum of Education Minister Dana H. Porter.

New Curriculum

The new curriculum substitutes three gradings of children—primary, junior and intermediate—for the first 10 grades in school. It is not yet in effect in county schools.

Two trustees and two teachers will give their points of view in brief speeches and each will be questioned from the floor immediately after he has spoken. Mr. Copp will sum up the discussion.

To try to settle the problem of who is entitled to what public school grants, an official will come down from the Department of Education.

The program is being drawn up with an eye to items interesting to both board members and teachers. Invitations to trustees, secretaries, principals and teachers of Peterborough county have already gone out from the office of K. O. Birkin, inspector of public schools.

KIWANIS CLUB ENTERTAINS

Thirty underprivileged children left by bus today, guests of the Peterborough Kiwanis Club, to see the Shriner's Circus in Toronto. Meals were provided en route and arrangements were made by Dr. Cliff McKee and Charles Spier. The children were in charge of A. Stewart.

A SURREY, LESS THE FRINGE, conveyed the Premier of Ontario, the Hon. Leslie M. Frost, KC, through the Warkworth Fair Grounds on Friday afternoon. He addressed a record crowd on their centennial year and officially opened the fair. Besides Mr. Frost, shown (above) waving from the front seat, are driver George Gummow, shoemaker George Wilson, 91, rear seat (front), one-time landlord of the Hon. W. A. Premier Opens Fall Fair At Warkworth Before 3,000

Premier Leslie Frost finished the last mile of his trip to Warkworth fair Friday by horse and buggy—the same kind of buggy, he said, that he drove as a boy along the old Muskoka road from Orillia. About 3,000 people listened as Ontario's premier, and minister of health and welfare William Goodfellow, opened the fair officially. Just in front of the platform were the oldest man and woman on the grounds—Mrs. Catherine Dingman, 101, and George Wilson, 91.

Feature of the fair, of course, was the exhibiting of cattle and horses, judging of which lasted from shortly after noon until dark. One of the most frequent winners in the Holstein-Friesian show was N. Craig Nelson of Campbellford, who took eight firsts, four second and four thirds.

Mr. Nelson's cattle also took the reserve junior championship and the junior and grand championships.

Allan Mann of Peterborough had one of the largest exhibits of horses at the show, and took nine ribbons in the roadster and carriage class. His son, Burritt Mann, exhibited many of these road horses.

In the exhibits building was a collection of antiques shown to mark the 100th Warkworth fair. First Warkworth fair was held in 1850.

Warkworth stores also aided in Church Packed For Funeral Of S. Staples

"We have lost a great friend," said the Rev. E. F. Linstead, speaking at the funeral Friday afternoon of Samuel Sandford Staples in a packed Springville United Church, with an overflow of people gathered outside, all verifying the minister's statement.

A widely known horse breeder and former member of the Ontario Legislature, Mr. Staples died suddenly of a heart attack in a Newmarket hospital early Wednesday.

"He demonstrated in his life the spirit of service which began among his neighbors and friends and extended throughout the province," Mr. Linstead said. "This man quietly was continually doing kindnesses and deeds of helpfulness not seen by everyone . . . In his religion he was abundantly tolerant . . ."

The church had filled about half an hour before the service began and cars full of friends and neighbors continued to arrive until the service started.

Burial was in the Ninth Line Cemetery near Ida.

Honorary pallbearers were Gerald Armstrong, William Howden, Dr. Harold Worton, Edward O'Toole, Sanford Staples, John Sanders, William Watson, Dr. Fred Lesley, William Henry.

Active pallbearers were Alfred Armstrong, Reginald Armstrong, Bruce Sargent, William Hutchinson, Lloyd Sutton and Leonard McNeil.

Among the many who attended the funeral service were Mr. and Mrs. Merton Storey, Walter Brown, Harold Cathcart, Walter Bowles, Robert Armstrong, Reeve of Cavan; Melville Johnston, Reeve of North Monaghan; Bruce Elliott, Clarence Lang, John N. Lillico, Claude Bolton, Kenneth Routley, Ira Robison, O. Ball, Thomas McIndo, Harold Ball and from Peterborough, Hugh Stewart, Jack Stewart, Col. J. A. Dewart, J. K. Hughes and E. L. Sackville.

LCBO Shake-up Ken Graham Named Sub-Chief

TORONTO, Oct. 7—(CP)—Brig. J. G. Spragge, comptroller of the Liquor Control Board of Ontario, was appointed chief administrator of the Liquor License Board Friday.

The appointment makes him the top civil servant on the two boards regulating the sale of alcoholic beverages in the province.

Also announced was the appointment of G. Kenneth Graham, general manager and chief inspector of the Liquor License Board as assistant chief inspector of stores for the LCBO.

Mr. Graham is the son of Chris Graham, onetime Peterborough hotel operator. He worked with his father in the Empress Hotel here, and went with the LLB after his father sold the hotel.

Replacing him on the Liquor Licence Board will be George McLean, director of information for the Ontario Department of Travel and Publicity.

Rumors have been current for some time of changes in the administration of liquor control in the province. After meetings with officials of the Liquor Control Board some weeks ago, Premier Frost said there was some concern over liquor administration.

The Liquor Control Board is basically a merchandising organization which buys liquor from distilleries and distributes it. The Liquor Licence Board supervises and licences retail outlets.

1950 Will Raise 49's Fire Loss Of $42,250

Fire loss in Peterborough for 1950 will be higher than in 1949. But the figure is still low, Fire Chief George Smith pointed out today on the eve of Fire Prevention Week.

In 1949 the total loss (fire, smoke and water) amounted to $42,250.56, the lowest in seven years. In the first nine months of this year fire damage has amounted to $48,684.

Fire Chief Smith says he is pleased with the drop in fire damage and lays it, chiefly, to two things: one, the general public is becoming increasingly conscious of fire prevention methods; and two, the efficient work of the two full-time fire inspectors—Orville Wilson and James MacFarlane.

"But it only takes one major fire to spoil the record," he pointed out.

By proclamation next week is Fire Prevention Week and Chief Smith wants every Peterborough resident to make a special effort, checking his own home and business premises, to eliminate the fire hazard. Nine out of 10 fires are caused by carelessness, he says.

In 1949 there was a total of 78 fires—more than in preceding years—but none of them reached the $5,000-damage mark. Peterborough's biggest blaze so far this year was in July when the Lucky Strike Bait Works was damaged to the extent of $20,696.

The Dominion Fire Commissioner has compiled statistics showing that during the last 10 years 509,139 fires have destroyed insurable property valued at $434,000,000. In that period 3,720 people have lost their lives and 14,000 other have been injured.

To protect the Peterborough residents there is a fire fighting force of 44 officers and men. Its equipment includes an aerial ladder, city service ladder truck, four pumpers and a portable pump.

Paper Carriers Earn $36,000

Today, National Newspaper Carriers' Day, people are saluting the boys and girls who deliver the news daily to thousands of homes across the country.

H. B. Cowan, Jr., circulation manager of the Examiner, said today that the Examiner carriers are as good as any across the Dominion. They're red-blooded Canadian boys and girls. They have the feeling of independence, being able to help buy their clothes as well as having some pocket money which they wouldn't have if they didn't fill in the blank period between school closing and supper by delivering newspapers.

Some of the 156 Examiner carriers earn as high as $383 a year. The total payroll for Examiner carriers over the year is close to $36,000.

Periodic circulation contests among the carriers enable them to see hockey games as well as visiting Niagara Falls. During the last trip to Toronto the carriers were flown by TCA across the city as an added feature. At the present time the carriers are working on a contest ending today, when those who qualify will go to Niagara Falls.

Right of City To Sell Market Questioned By Vendors Deputation Sent To Minister

Right of the city of Peterborough to dispose of the market square at Charlotte and Water Streets as it wills is said to have been questioned by a deputation of vendors who called on the Minister of Agriculture, Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Thursday. That was the substance of "grapevine" information reaching the city hall Friday. Mr. F. D. Kerr, K.C., who accompanied the deputation declined to discuss this reported mission even with any note of affirmation. It is understood he went in a professional capacity.

The city hall report was to the effect that vendors retain some contention that the deed of the property was jointly given to the city and county for market purposes for all time.

City Clerk Outram said he had heard about a deputation representing vendors of produce going to Toronto.

"As to ownership of the market," said Mr. Outram, "that question was investigated thoroughly a year or two ago when the council began considering the eventual disposal or use of the land and buildings comprising the entire block bounded by George, Charlotte, Water and Simcoe streets.

The city owns all the land, and also the buildings on George St. in the market hall section of the block, upstairs and down. It also owns the present municipal buildings on Simcoe St."

Mr. Outram also recalled that one of the grocery chain was interested for some months in purchase of a large area of the market square extending in both directions from the corner, on Charlotte and Water streets.

"I'm not presuming to speak for the council," Mr. Outram said, "but it stands to reason that it would undertake to sell any part of the market property, or adjoining buildings owned by the city, only if the members were assured that they had full right to do so."

Prospect Of Vacating

This question arose partly in the prospect of vacating the present city offices, the police headquarters, and the office occupied by the Utilities Commission, when it decided to build a new city hall.

Recently vendors were advised of the near approach of delivery of the meters, and with that imminence of loss of the central vending square some of the produce sellers have begun to realize that the city desires, through the action of its council, to try to get some adequate revenue from a property that is ideally suited for parking.

There are other aspects of marketing service as an advantage of vendors which might be mentioned, including the constructive efforts of James Dutton in his aldermanic days to accomplish some concerted and co-operative action for the improvement of the market as it was then regarded. Vendor interest was so sketchy that the council abandoned that lack of initiative, and there is much opinion today that the vendors lost then an opportunity which might have strengthened their position and also their practice, both of which have been dubiously regarded, especially as a source of revenue, in a period when need of municipal income has become more pressing.

Since then, downtown parking has become an increasing problem, and as a means of relieving it, the council has decided this year to set up meters on the market square, and transfer the outdoor market to the property owned by the city at George, Rink and Townsend streets.

Vendor's View

Norman Moncrief, one of the delegation, said: "It stands to reason the government didn't give the town of Peterborough the land for no reason at all. The purpose of the gift was to establishd a market place, even though it may not say so specifically on the deed."

Mr. Moncrief who does a good business on the market square, said he was not opposed to a change in the market site. But he insisted that the buildings and other facilities on the alternate site should be as good as on the present one.

SPECIAL SERVICE VOLUNTEERS

Families and friends of Peterborough men who have enlisted for service with the 25th Brigade (Canada's Special Force to serve the United Nations), which is now being organized and trained, are requested to furnish their names in writing to the City Clerk.

It is the desire that an accurate record should be kept at the City Hall of all Peterborough personnel in this Brigade and a record of their service, in order to add to the chapter of Peterborough's military history.

The co-operation of the citizens in this matter will be appreciated.

E. A. OUTRAM,
City Clerk.

Housewife Has Power To Prevent Fire

"HELP—Fire!" is a terrible cry. In the Canadian housewife's hands is the power to prevent that cry and the casualties which can result from fires.

About 70 per cent of all building fires in the homes can be traced to carelessness. It's the tiny household hazard that often causes the most devastating tragedies, according to insurance experts.

These are rules that every housewife can follow to safeguard her family from the hazard of fire:

Be careful of matches, fire hazard No. 1. They are the most dangerous in the hands of children. So for that reason matches, even the so-called safety matches, should be kept as high on a shelf as the housewife can reach, but beyond the reach of tiny hands.

Matches can even be dangerous in adult hands if they are dropped while still burning into a waste-paper basket or are used carelessly near gasoline or other inflammable material.

Don't play at being handyman with the electric wiring. Call an electrician to check wires if something goes wrong. The fuse-box is meant to take only fuses—a penny or some other makeshift fuse arrangement can cause a dangerous fire.

Bundle up your trash and sell it or dispose of it before fire disposes of it for you. Many families have stacks of old magazines, piles of discarded clothing and even pieces of furniture stuck away in an attic or cellar. These accumulations are fire hazards.

Place paint-soaked rags, or rags soaked with paint remover, cleaning fluid and gasoline in a metal covered container to be disposed of with your trash as soon as possible. Such rags are combustible. They may burst into flames at the least provocation. Don't store them.

Finally plan a course of action to take just in case there ever is a fire. Mark down the number of your nearest fire station in a handy note near your telephone. Learn how to turn in a fire alarm for your home. Next figure out the best way to get to the ground from your bedroom in case a fire catches you at night.

TRAVEL VARIETY — Planes, canoes, a truck and a jeep give an indication of the mobility of this tiny Northern outpost in the Ungava-Labrador iron area. Hundreds of millions of dollars are being spent on a development which is expected to produce 10,000,000 tons of high-grade iron ore a year by 1955.—(NFB Photo)

Mine Union Has Best Contract

PORT COLBORNE, Oct. 7 — (CP)—A spokesman for the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.), which defeated the Steelworkers' Union Thursday in a bargaining-rights vote here, said Friday, the Steelworkers' disappointment can be well understood.

C. H. Millard, national director of the United Steelworkers of Ameerica (C.I.O.) said in Toronto the Mine-Mill victory—by a vote of 745 to 588—was "disappointing but not entirely unexpected."

He claimed the Mine-Mill contract with International Nickel Company falls short of conditions won by the Steel Union.

Michael Kopinak, president of Mine-Mill's Local 637, said "Millard's disappointment can be well understood in light of his costly two-year attempt to destroy our union."

"Millard's reference to our contract with Inco does not fool the Port Colborne workers. They know that Millard cannot produce a single contract covering the claimed 200 Steelkworkers' locals in Canada that can begin to compare with wages, security and working conditions our union has achieved."

GIRL, 19, PLUNGES 30 FEET INTO ROCK-STREWN RIVER

Thérèse Morin, of Chateau d'Eau, near Quebec City, saves youngster about to be swept over falls

1. The little girl, daughter of a vacationing Quebec druggist, had been playing with her friends on the rocks that border the St. Charles River at Chateau d'Eau. With the typical over-confidence of a 9-year-old child, she came too close to the edge — lost her footing and fell into the water. Within seconds she was carried away by the current!

2. Miss Thérèse Morin was on a bridge when she heard the cries of the drowning youngster. Although she had just finished a large meal and that it was 30 feet down to the water's surface, she plunged into the rock-strewn river. Her feet had been cut by the jagged rocks, but she managed to reach the child — just as she was reaching the falls!

3. Strong swimming and a plentiful supply of courage enabled Thérèse Morin, not only to grasp the child before she was swept over the falls, but also to bring her safely in to shore. Because her instinctive action was in keeping with the highest traditions of good citizenship, we are proud to present this brave Canadian girl with The Dow Award.

Markets Resume Drive To High Ground

By FRANK KAPLAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Stock markets resumed their bull drive to new high ground this week. Brisk demand boosted market leaders to peak levels following recent advances to the highest average prices in about 20 years.

Biggest news of the week in financial circles was freeing of the Canadian dollar on world currency markets.

Canadian stock exchanges faced a heavy batterin of selling Monday following the dollar news but recovered quickly as Wall Street advanced briskly.

Much of the buying centred in better-quality stocks. Predictions of a levelling-off process in the latest upward drive were ignored Particular groups of stocks and individual issues reacted strongly to company and industry news.

Steels Under Pressure

New York started the week on gains ranging to $4. Then steels were under pressure Tuesday as management and labor prepared to bargain. Profit-taking cut back part of Monday's gains but motors paved the way for a resumption of the advance Wednesday. Prices were mixed Thursday and finished the week at peak levels Friday as investors chose carefully.

The Associated Press 60-stock average climbed 1.9 over the five days to a new 19-year high at 84.6.

Canadian markets reflected New York movements despite early pressure that followed the "free dollar." Industrial boards were paced by papers. Rumors are persistent of an increase in the price of newsprint when the dollar settles.

Highest Point

In Toronto, the exchange's industrial index of representative stocks climbed 5.60 to the highest point since 1934, when the index was first compiled.

News of resumption of $3.50-an-ounce cost-aid to high-production-cost gold producers created considerable interest in the gold stock list. The index showed a gain of 0.68 but buying was heavy in many lower-priced issues on development news.

Two stocks held the limelight in a slowly-rising base metals list. Golden Manitou Mines reacted to news from the property in the Val d'Or district of Northwestern Quebec, and Quebec Manitou—holding a large interest in Golden Manitou—reflected the heavy buying in the former. Leaders in the industry brightened quietly to pull the index ahead 3.93.

Western Oils encountered considerable selling because of the possibility of lower well-head prices, but found encouragement in news of new discoveries and official opening of the new pipeline. The index dipped .41.

BIG PICKEREL — While fishing of the south end of the dam, Doug Radford, Hastings, using a black streamer fly, caught a wall-eyed pike measuring 29 inches long and weighing 8¾ pounds.

Tabloid Sports At Confederation

A tabloid field day was held Thursday in Morrow Park for grades 2, 3 and 4 of Confederation school while the higher grades had an individual meet.

Richard Miller and Beverley Holland swept the honors in the senior events for boys and girls. Intermediate championship honors were divided in the boys' section by Ben Floyd and James Kimball. Lois Corner took the intermediate girls' first honors. Again in the boys' junior section the championship was shared by Lloyd Waling and Jack Falkinghorn. Loreen Luffman was the junior champion.

Every child in grades 2, 3 and 4 took part in the events with each class forming a group of 35. They hopped, skipped, threw softballs and soccer balls, and caught softballs.

Miss Olive Day's grade 2 class took first place with 89 points and Miss Kay Dawson's grade 3 class placed second with 81. Other standings were Mrs. Hugh Smith's grades 3 and 2, 76 points, Miss Olive Johnson's grade 4 class, 75 points, and Miss Florence Newman's grade 2 class, 62 points.

Movie Column

Marie Wilson Tries Hand At Film Group

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 7 (AP)—This week Marie Wilson opened in a program of plays that present her as a hillbilly maid, a Cockney laundry girl and a Russian widow. Which shows you how far some stars will go to escape type-casting.

Marie, of course, is generally thought of as the dim-witted Irma of radio and movies. The blonde beauty, who is about as dim-witted as Dorothy Thompson, realizes that type-casting endangers any career.

Marie's attempt to escape typing no doubt will cost her something. The meagre salary will probably not pay for the gowns she has designed for her roles. I might add that one of the costumes covers her right up to the neck. In it she proves as charming as usual.

Bits 'n' Stuff

Two items of significance came from MGM this week The studio announced it would make a special trailer to advertise "King Solomon's Mines" on television, and that Red Skelton had concluded negotiations for a new contract which will probably give him the right to do television.

Until now, the big studio has never publicly admitted it has had a "hands off" policy. This could be the start of a new era . . .

Edgar Bergen has unveiled his travelogue which he made in Sweden a summer ago and it is highly amusing. Charlie and Mortimer are in it, but Edgar manges to get as many laughs. No wonder—he was the producer . . .

Another note about "movies are better than ever." Showing at leading local theatres are "Platinum Blonde (1931), "San Quentin" (1937), "Alcatraz Island" (1938) and "Pigskin Parade" (1936).

WI Of White School Entertains Seymour

WARKWORTH, Oct. 7 (ENS)—The White School branch of the Women's Institute met Wednesday when the branch entertained 34 members from Seymour East and Seymour West branches.

Roll call was answered by naming a household task each member would like to have her husband do for her.

It was stated that the Women's Institutes of Canada had sent the sum of $23,995 to the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund as well as quilts and clothing.

The following program was presented by the victory branch: A humorous recitation by Mrs. Little; Mrs. Allan Lewis gave an account of a recent trip taken to Cleveland; Mrs. Ingram gave a reading; and Mrs. Hume gave "It's better with butter."

Mrs. Reg McCullock, district president, and Mrs. Black, federated representative, gave a report of the CNE and the forthcoming Belleville convention.

The members of White School branch served a lunch. Mrs. Floyd Finley and Mrs. J.Pelletier were hostesses.

Mrs. Allen Lewis, president of Seymour West, gave a vote of thanks to the White School branch and Mrs. Hume, president of Seymour East branch, seconded the vote of thanks. Mrs. Owen Finlay, president of White School branch, replied.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Lorne Wallace.

Kenneth Stacey Gets Wings

Kenneth Stacey, son of Dr. and Mrs. S. E. Stacey, 613 Centre St., graduated with his pilot's RCAF wings last month at the training school at Centralia.

Aged 20, Pilot Officer Stacey joined the RCAF in November last year. He was a graduate of PCVS and during his school days, was a life guard three summers at Inverlea Park.

Hold Funeral Service For George R. Kirk

NORWOOD, Oct. 7—(ENS)—The funeral of George R. Kirk was held at his home on Dummer Road Thursday and burial was in Norwood cemetery. The Rev. E. E. Pugsley officiated.

Mr. Kirk died at his home Monday after a long illness. He was the son of the late George Kirk and Matilda Drury. He was educated in Dummer and lived all his life in this community. He was a member of Norwood United church and had been a very loyal member of the Orange Order. His wife, Agnes D. Sloan, predeceased him.

Mr. Kirk was a man with a quiet, kindly manner which won him many friends. There were many floral tributes at the funeral.

He is survived by one daughter and one son, Miss Lila Kirk, and Maitland Kirk, both of Norwood; one brother, Richard, and one sister, Mrs. George Sloman (Eliza) of Norwood, and one granddaughter, Mrs. Clare Ames (Greta) of Campbellford.

Pallbearers were Malcolm Sloan, Walter Sloan, Wilson Small, Roderick Webb, Arnold Baptie and Armar Weir.

Flowers bearers were Richard Baker, Wm. Gratton, Victor McConnell, John C. Riseborough, Alfred Scott, James Osborne, Robert Leeper and James Hannon.

Canadian Mining Industry Faces New Vistas In Expansion–McCann

KINGSTON, Oct. 7—(CP) — Canada's growing mineral industry now is worth $1,000,000,000 a year and faces a bright future of expansion and development, Revenue Minister McCann said today.

There are indications that Canada is "approaching a forefront position" as a world producer of crude oil, iron ore and titanium, he said in a speech prepared for delivery at Queen's University where he was given an honorry Doctor of Laws degree.

He predicted the mineral industry will play a vital part in Canada's defence preparations. And until this program is completed "or unless the international situation improves to a much greater extent than we now have reason to expect, the peace-time uses of metals and minerals will have to give way to a varying degree to their uses for defence purposes."

"However, recent events in Korea give us considerable reason to hope that a determination to face realities will eventually stamp out aggression."

Indications pointed to a rising demand for the products of the mines and the oil wells for some time to come. There would be every incentive to find and develop deposits, and new mining engineers would be needed. He noted a downward trend in engineering graduates from Canadian universities and suggested the mining industry should encourage young men to take up mining by sponsoring visits to the mining and oil areas of the country.

The future of Canadian mining could be looked upon with "genuine optimism." The facts spoke for themselves and needed no coloring, yet there were those who could not resist doing so with "soothing phrases about our inexhaustible mineral resources and our untapped mineral wealth."

"Our mineral resources are neither untapped nor inexhaustible. And yet, there are few countries of comparable population that have a stronger mineral economy than Canada."

He spoke of the great iron-ore developments in the east — at Steep Rock and the Michipicoten areas in Ontario, the Labrador-Quebec region, and in the Allard Lake area of Quebec where "the largest known source of titanium in the world is being brought into production."

He concluded:

"Only a few years ago we were seriously concerned about the dwindling production of crude oil in the west. Even the prairie needs were being largely imported. Now we are thinking in terms of a possible self-sufficiency of oil supply for Canada.

Child Averts Drowning Playing Near Drain

WARKWORTH, Oct. 7 (ENS)—While playing with his three-year-old sister and some playmates, Russell Thain, son of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Thain, fell off the dam at the rear of the Co-op. building, striking his head on the stones.

Though in a dazed condition, he clung to a branch of a tree, otherwise he may have drowned before help could arrive.

His little sister Sharon started to run towards home to tell her mother, when she met Mrs. Jim Smooker in front of the Co-op. building and told her of Russell's danger.

Mrs. Smooker immediately called for help and running on, reached Russell in time to pull him to safety. He was rushed to the doctor's office, where Dr. Brintenell and Dr. Jolliffe treated him for a badly lacerated scalp wound and shock. Later he was taken to his home.

Ontario Indians On Warpath Against Ottawa's 'New Deal' Plan

BRANTFORD, Ont. —(CP)— Western Ontario's Indians are on the warpath again.

This time they're intent on scalping a proposed Indian act revision introduced in the Commons last July. The revision was given first reading and then shelved until the House meets again in February.

The revision, Bill 267, was termed "a new deal for Canadian Indians" by Citizenship Minister Harris. A brief prepared by the Six Nations Indians here says the bill is anything but a new deal.

The brief, recommending changes in the bill, has been adopted by the United Indian Council of Western Ontario. Copies will be sent to every member of parliament.

Signed by Representatives

It is signed by reservation representatives from Kettle Point, Cape Croker, Walpole Island, Moraviantown, Sarnia and Muncey as well as Chippewas and Oneidas of the Thames Valley and the Six Nations near Brantford.

They object to "the gross injustice, contrary to all British democratic principles" of sections of the bill dealing with reservation lands, enfranchisement and administration of Indian funds held in trust by the federal government.

The Indian "should be given the right to vote and still retain his identity and rights as an Indian," the brief reads. It protests sections of the bill allowing Indians applying for enfranchisement full citizenship rights in addition to some rights of unenfranchised Indians.

Other Objections

The brief notes "with alarm" certain provisions "whereby we could be removed from our reserves, when the only security we know is tied up in our reservation lands."

It described the bill as "an element in the long-awaited campaign to abolish our reservations and defraud our people of their lands."

Strong objection is registered to clauses giving the citizenship minister discretion in administering some sections of the act. The bill "should restore to us the right of self-government in our own domestic affairs, and not make us subservient to the will of one individual."

Score Provisions

The brief scores provisions giving the government the right to [illegible] Indians from lands situated [illegible], and allowing payment from trust funds held by the government to Indians who wish to leave their tribe and be enfranchised.

"Since these funds were established for the benefit of our people and their posterity forever, and since persons applying for enfranchisement have not in any way contributed to the establishment of these funds, the council requests . . a ruling on the legality of these disbursements."

The brief also urges giving Indians the same rights as white people in buying and consuming liquor. The new bill provides penalties for Indians found drunk with liquor on a reservation, or involved in the liquor traffic.

The secretary announced that the life buoy ordered by the council for the swimming pool had arrived.

On motions of W. L. McKenzie and S. Nurse it was agreed to purchase a culvert 12 feet by 8 inches for the east side of James St.

Refuse To Jail UEW Officials

TORONTO, Oct. 7 (CP) — Mr. Justice D. A. Wells Friday dismissed a motion to send two officials of the United Electrical Workers' Union to jail for allegedly breaking an injunction against picketing of a strike-bound plant at Belleville.

The Belleville Lock Co. Ltd., obtained the injunction against six employees and a labor organizer on Sept. 30. Mr. Justice Wells ruled there was no evidence that the union officials, Douglas Tyner and Glenn Bedell, had taken part in the picketing. He previously had declared the strike, involving more than 50 workers in a wage dispute, to be unlawful.

Canadian Scientists Find New Substitute for Radium

OTTAWA —(CP)— Canadian scientists have discovered a better and cheaper substitute for radium for use in industrial and medical radiology, says Dr. C. J. Mackenzie, president of the National Research Council.

The new substance is cobalt 60, a radioisotope developed by NRC scientists in the giant NRX atomic pile at Chalk River, Ont.

Cobalt 60 has a higher specific gravity than can be obtained anywhere else in the world and gamma ray activity many times the strength of the same amount of radium. With such a concentration of radio-activity in so small a unit, radiologists can make sharper pictures than ever before.

In the realms of industrial radiography, tests on the structure of metals can now be carried out more efficiently and less expensively with cobalt 60.

Other investigations have uncovered vital "potential theatre of military activity" in the upper atmosphere, 60 to 80 miles above the earth's surface, says Dr. Mackenzie.

Plotted Meteors

NRC scientists, peering at the fluorescent screens of complex radar sets since 1947, have plotted the paths of meteors and measured the speeds at which they scorch across the sky.

The radar observations have yielded important information about meteors and the upper atmosphere and such findings are of interest to the armed services as they apply to a region which is a potential theatre of war.

The possibility, long dreamed about, of keeping an ice-free channel in the St. Lawrence River throughout the winter is also being studied.

Last year, Dr. Mackenzie reports, NRC work ranged from the construction of an infra-red detector to finding faulty joints in power transmission lines, to the production of pearl essence from herring scales.

Thanksgiving Day Revives Very Ancient Tradition

By The Canadian Press

Thanksgiving Day on Monday is the ever-new revival of an ancient tradition. While it's Canada's 72nd annual Thanksgiving, the custom of giving thanks for the harvest yield and the year's blessings dates from ancient times before the coming of Christ.

Traditional religious services will pack churches in cities and towns across Canada, while sports events and other outdoor celebrations attract thousands. The family dinner will be built around the Thanksgiving turkey.

This year Canadians will give thanks for a big wheat crop, though it has suffered some frost damage, and for the United Nations victory in Korea. The day has its own sign[illegible]e for every family.

On this continent the first Thanksgiving Day was observed in New England after the harvest of 1621. The British held a service in 1759 to celebrate the capture of Quebec, holding observances in the Ursuline Chapel at Quebec. The Canadian holiday was made official in 1879, when the governor-general, the Marquis of Lorne, set Nov. 6 as a day to attend church and give thanks."

The actual date shifted in later years. From 1918 to 1930 it was merged with Armistice Day on Nov. 11, but in 1931 the Armistice commemoration and Thanksgiving services were separated and the latter was fixed for an early Monday in October. Now the actual Thanksgiving Day is fixed annually.

First Canadians To Manufacture Cosmetic Product

Three young Canadians who came out of college in the late forties for new worlds to conquer have come up with probably the first Canadian original cosmetic on record and are not only adding to the color and gaiety of Canadian girls but are cutting a mighty swath in the formerly reachable United States market.

The Canadian product is so simple that almost everyone who looks at it says, "why didn't I think of that before?" It's already the rage among college and high school girls, debutantes and young matrons below the border and is only now beginning to reach Canadian campuses and cosmetic counters. It consists simply of a compact little matchbook containing 15 individual lip-matchsticks and a built-in mirror. Each of the "matches" tipped with a popular brand lipstick is used like a brush to give the lips full coloring plus the desirable clean, well-defined lines. Once used, the "match" is thrown away.

Available in five shades, each book of lipmatches is a crush-proof, cellophane-wrapped unit, which eliminates the necessity of carrying bulk when all that's needed is a retouch. It has the utility of a compact, the convenience of a matchbook—and may be slipped into pocket or purse for instant use whenever needed.

The inventors of lipmatch, three young Canadians still in their twenties, supply the United States as well as the Canadian market from their Montreal factory. Beginning with a total capital of $200 they are now shipping more than 300,000 lipmatches a month to the United States, and are not only the first manufacturers of a Canadian cosmetic product to sell on a large scale in the United States but are believed to be the largest Canadian manufacturers selling a made-in-Canada consumer product across American retail counters.

WMS Votes $5000 To Korean Relief

TORONTO, Oct. 7—The sum of 5,000 was voted for immediate relief work in oKrea by the executive of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church of Canada, following a report on refugee conditions by Mrs. Hugh D. Taylor, Overseas Missions executive secretary. She quoted from the letter recently received from Edward Adams, Korea representativeof Church World Service and one of the five U.S. Presbyterian missionaries who remained in South Korea during the war to carry on relief work among the hundreds of thousands of refugees.

Three hundred thousand refugees took to the road—only about 10 feet wide in one area of South Korea—just before the UN breakthrough, he reported.

"For the first three to four days," he writes, "that road south was a solid block of struggling, crying, groaning humanity. The second day it started raining and rained off and on for several days. Those were busy days, we did the best we could, but what a drop in the bucket was our help! I hope never again to see such concentrated and mass suffering.

"We have organized with a nucleus of four Korean pastors the Christian Church Service Group. More will be joining. They are working without salary."

Medical treatments had to be limited to babies because of numbers. The Red Cross sent doctors down, but it wasimpossible to cover the field.

Every articleof relief goods then on hand was requisitioned (more goods cannot yet be sent). "Any remnant of goods that is large enough to be made into an article of clothing is being designated according to its size," said Mr. Adams. "All remnants that are too small for this are being made up into quilts with cotton padding.

High Divorce Rate Problem in Egypt

TORONTO, Oct. 7—That Egypt is ripe for Communism within the next decade, unles the Western democracies supply the technical know-how necessary to raise the pitifully low standard of living of her 20,000,000 people, was the opinion expressed by Prof. H. M. Cassidy, addressing a dinner meeting of the University Women's Club. Dr. Cassidy spent 10 weeks in Egypt early this year, as UN adviser on social welfare to the Egyptian government.

The status of women in Egypt is deplorable, he said. Few still remain in the harem, but young people have no opportunity to meet before marriage. Consequently, the divorce rate is one out of three within the first year. A husband may simply tell his wife to "go." Prof. Cassidy quoted an Egyptian official as saying: "Our most pressing social problem is the destitution of widows left with children."

A FACE TO SEA — This huge, grotesque mask found on the shore at Jones Beach, NY, by Frank Palmer, left, sets Palmer and Dan Linden to pondering. The wooden mask weighs about ten pounds, is hand carved and has jet-black glass eyes. Considering the buffeting it must have got in the Atlantic Ocean, it is in good condition.

Urge Banning of War Films To Protect Young Children

COPENHAGEN —(Reuters)— Production of moving pictures glorifying war should be banned, but war toys may have good effects for girls and boys, a big international women's gathering decided here.

The 600 delegates represented 6,000,000 rural-dwelling women in 23 countries at the congress of the Associated Countrywomen of the World.

The decision to start a campaign against war movies came on a resolution proposed by Mrs. G. K. Young of Australia.

Under the resolution film producers were urged to "refrain from production of films glorifying war and destruction." At the same time they were asked to introduce films of an educational nature.

Box Office Counts

The resolution and the request to producers, however, had to be backed up by individual action which would register at the box office.

"Box office receipts speak louder than resolutions," Mrs. Young said.

"Each of us delegates must take the campaign back to the rural area where we live. A survey of the United States has shown how sensitive film producers are to box office receipts.

"Each and every one of our members can join in urging film producers simply by refusing to attend war films and by educating her children to show discrimination too."

War Toys Valuable

A surprise move during the convention was the withdrawal of a resolution which urged a ban on war toys. Another Australian delegate, Mrs. N. Walsh, said that discussions with psychiatrists and nursery-school teachers had resulted in a re-estimation of the value of war toys.

Explaining withdrawal of the resolution, she said that children who played at bombing after having gone through the actual ordeal became normal children. Those who were repressed in these reactions, she said, became too excitable, suffered nightmares or other war neuroses.

The congress in another session called on all women to take a greater interest in politics, both at the local and national levels. The delegates went on record as feeling "the ultimate aim of citizenship is to run for public office."

Must Understand

Mrs. Eugenie Anderson of Red Wing, Minn., who rose from housewife-politician to become American ambassador to Denmark, said that women today are required to understand public affairs.

"More is demanded of a housewife today than was ever before expected of a woman," she said. "It is no longer enough for women to look after their families and work for them in the home; housewives today must also understand, and therefore take part in, our world's fight for liberty.

"In present-day international conditions, it is vital that the ordinary citizens — includng housewives — both in town and country understand the meaning of liberty and how we free people must collaborate in the United Nations, the Atlantic Pact organization and elsewhere."

No Holds Barred for Writers In Paris Who's Who Bestseller

By ERNEST SANDFORD

PARIS — (Reuters) — A witty, intensely Gallic Who's Who is among the best sellers in Paris bookstalls. Published by France's most-sued magazine, "Crapouillot," it is dictionary of contemporaries—as others see them.

Secret of the popularity of this book of biographies is perhaps to be found in the "register of claims" at the end of the recently published second volume. The "register" lists the protests and threats of libel actions made by pilloried personalities against the publishers.

Intimate data is a feature of the sketches of great contemporaries contained in the two volumes which have so far appeared.

Wherever possible, the dictionary gives the heights and weights of France's famous men and women, their hobbies and "peculiarities," their greatest failures and successes, the names and nature of their pets.

Name of Gun

Of French President Vincent Auriol, for example, it writes: "For 40 years he has risen at six and made his own coffee."

"Crapouillot" takes its name from a heavy French mortar used in the First World War that was famous for its noise and panic-spreading effect.

Many of the literary personalities whose biographies are given are themselves the authors of other biographies in the book. As a result there are not only merciless attacks in some of the biographies but also memorable compliments and expert literary, artistic and political criticisms.

Age A Factor

In judging the former marshal of France, Philippe Petain, 95-year-old prisoner on the Ile-de-Re condemned for heading the Vichy government during the Second World War, the biographer excuses his attitude to the Germans on the grounds of his great age. When France was prostrate, he adds, "Petain was her shield and De Gaulle her sword."

Extracts from pen sketches that have set thousands of readers chuckling or gasping include:

Jean Anouilh: "Has known hard times, but succeeded in not being a journalist."

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Cattiness and Selfishness Two Causes of Unpopularity

A girl wants to know why she isn't popular. Well, there are many reasons why we fail to be persona grata with our fellow creatures, but the chief reasons for unpopularity are these:

Being stand-offish. Expecting everyone else to make all the advances toward friendliness. Expecting other people to run after you and court you. Never meeting anyone even halfway. This is a busy world and few of us have the time, or are inclined to take the trouble, to defrost a refrigerator on the chance of finding that there is a nice, warm human heart within that is hungering for affection and companionship. There is nothing that draws us to people so much as graciousness and nothing that repels us from them so surely as the lack of it.

Dorothy Dix

Cattiness. Always having your claws out and giving everyone with whom you come in contact a sly scratch. You know the sort of girl who will say: "How nicely your dress made over, Mary. I never say anything dye better. It looks like new." The people we like are those who stroke our fur the right way and make us purr under their hands go away feeling pleased with ourselves, not those who leave us bleeding from a hundred wounds in our vanity.

Caddishness. Being high-hat. Snobbish. Running after people who are rich or socially important and snubbing old friends. Kowtowing to those above you and trampling on those below you. Nobody has any time for a toady.

Don't Grab

Selfishness. Grabbing the best of everything for yourself. Always seizing more than your fair share of everything. Monopolizing the window in an automobile, the choice room in a hotel, the best seat, the softest bed, gobbling up most of the chocolate creams. Never being willing to divide. Crashing in on another girl and her date, but, when you have one, segregating him from all the balance of the girls. The selfish girl treads on everybody's toes and they respond by kicking her out of their path.

Being bossy. Being determined to run the show and make everybody do your way. Never being willing to give and take. Refusing to play the game unless it is played your way. Feeling that you have a divine right to impose all your opinions and tastes on others. Most of us love our personal liberty and are not strong for dictators.

No Monologues

Talking about yourself. Monologuing along about your own affairs, your family, your interests, your amusements, what you do and think. Assuming that the general public is just waiting with bated breath to hear every detail of your private life and never wearies listening to the account of all of your symptoms when you are ill, of what happened on some insignificant trip you have taken, and what you said to boy friend and he said to you. The only human beings who are interested in our personal reminiscences are our mothers.

Lack of tact. Being a bull in the conversational china shop. Telling home truths that blister. Saying the wrong things to the wrong people. Discussing divorce with a woman who is just back from Reno. Asking the mother of a delicate child if it isn't tuberculosis. Telling a woman who is posing as 30 that your mother used to go to school with her. The people who speak without thinking never have anyone but themselves to talk to. We avoid them as we would the plague.

significant change from today,

Lack of attractiveness. Being dull. Never knowing how to do things. Never fitting in anywhere. Being argumentative. Not being able to talk interestingly, or play a good game of cards or dance or even get along peaceably with other people. This is a selfish world in which we do not afflict ourselves with bores if we can help it.

Finally, not being willing to pay the price. For popularity comes high. It costs self-sacrifice, putting others before yourself, refraining from saying many things you would like to say and making a continuous effort to be pleasant and agreeable and entertaining.

Fairy Godmother Visits Shut-ins

EDMONTON — (CP) — "Do unto others" is the working motto of Mrs. Augustine Juchli, warm-hearted fairy godmother of Edmonton shut-ins and aged.

For the last nine years Mrs. Juchli has been a constant visitor to homes, hospitals and old folks' homes. She invariably is seen carrying armfuls of fragrant flowers from her large garden or jars of pickles and jams she has prepared specially for those she visits.

When hospital visits are over for the day and evening light forbids more work in the garden, a favorite pastime for the French-born Mrs. Juchli is reading a collection of letters written by her foster children.

Answering an appeal to help war orphans, she offered to maintain six French boys and girls. They correspond regularly. In their letters they tell of their pride and joy in the clothes and food parcels they receive from her.

Gloves Important

Paris is showing an extraordinary variety of gloves this season. Long 14-18 button gloves for wearing with sleeveless afternoon or cocktail gowns; semi-long for elbow-length sleeves and shorties for wrist-length sleeves. Antelope, suede, deerskin and doeskin are the choice for morning and street wear. Satin, taffeta nylon, lace, tulle net and ribbon make the gloves for gala evenings. Choice of Paris, however, is the little number without stitching but closed on the back of the hand with a tiny zipper. It is reversible with contrasting colors inside and out. Frills, ornaments, chains, pins in contrasting materials and colors are shown to be added to match different costumes.

Try this Recipe to Make Oatmeal and Date Cookies

Conducted by MARY MOORE

QUESTION: I have been reading your column daily, and find it very helpful.

I hope you can help me out on a recipe for oatmeal cookies with date filling. I can't seem to find one anywhere.

Also, could you give me some good recipes for canning pears, say with cinnamon sticks or slices or orange and lemon.

In canning, is it always necessary when processing to have the water covering the jars? Why not just up to the shoulder of the jar? What happens when liquid boils out of the jars, but they still seal? Thanking you.—Mrs. S. G.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER:

Oatmeal Cookies With Date Filling

Two beaten eggs, 1 cup brown sugar, 3 tablespoons milk, 2 tablespoons melted butter, 2 cups flour, 2 cups (or a little more) rolled oats, 1 tablespoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt. Beat the eggs, add the sugar, milk and butter. Sift in flour, baking powder and salt and add the rolled oats. Mix with hands until of consistency to roll out. (If necessary add another tablespoon milk.) Chill. Roll out to one-quarter inch thickness. Cut out in 2½-inch cookies. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. about 8 or 10 minutes. Watch carefully.

When baked and cooled, put two cookies together with

Date Filling: One pound stoned dates, ½ cup sugar, juice of one-half lemon, ¼ teaspoon salt and 1 cup boiling water. Stir over low heat until soft or cook in top of double boiler, stirring occasionally, until of spreading consistency.

Canned Pears

Bartlett pears are considered choicest for canning by commercial canners. Wash and pare fruit, cut into halves lengthwise, remove seed section and drop in slightly salted water until you have peeled enough pears to fill 4 jars. Make a syrup of 1 cup sugar to each 3 or 4 cups water, adding paper thin slices of lemon, OR small pieces of ginger root or small pieces of stick cinnamon. Bring to boiling point, and pour BOILING HOT over pears in sterile jars, filling to almost overflowing. Put on sterile tops, seal to within one-eighth turn of tight. Process in hot water bath, having water come to shoulder of jars. Count 20 minutes after water in process kettle begins to boil, having jars standing on a rack in bottom. Remove from water as soon as possible to handle jars. Tighten seal —NEVER loosen, and invert to cool.

It looks attractive to add pieces of cinnamon stick or lemon peal or ginger root to the jars of pears.

When liquid boils out of jars during process, yet jars are sealed when they are taken from water, do not loosen seal, for if jar is sealed it will keep.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: Would you please send me a diet for reducing? — Mrs. M. W.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I have sent you a calorie chart.

Generally speaking a reducing diet for a woman doing a moderate amount of housework, would require 1,600 calories. You could work out your own meal routine, but I will give you one day's sample:

Breakfasts

One egg cooked without butter —boiled, poached, coddled; one slice whole wheat bread unbuttered; one orange or grapefruit or two peaches or one pair or bunch of grapes; one or two cups unsweetened coffee, using whole milk instead of cream in it, or clear.

Lunches or Suppers

One 2-slice whole wheat sandwich without butter or mayonnaise, but with ¼-inch thick slice meat or fish or cheese or egg filling, plus 2 leaves of lettuce; 8 ounces skim milk; 1 tomato or 4 pieces celery; one banana or one-half melon or pear.

Dinner

At least four-ounce portion of lean meat (remembering that high protein intake is essential to successful reducing diet); 2 green or yellow vegetables with no more than 1 teaspoon butter; generous salad with no more than 1 teaspoon mayonnaise; fresh fruit of any kind—as much as you want—without sugar. Clear unsweetened coffee.

NOTE: If you prefer a salad to a sandwich lunch, have 4 ounces clear soup, 1 slice unbuttered bread, large fresh vegetables salad with about 4 ounces cottage cheese. You could add tea as long as it did not replace your milk. Write to me again when you have tried to make this work, and let me know your weight.

Paris Favors Woollens For Fall

PARIS — The autumn collections always turn naturally to woollen, which are the joy of couturiers because of the infinite variety of color, pattern, texture and weight possible in this soft and alluring material.

This year the new aspect of woollen materials is a complete change in texture. The rounded curves, the voluminous folds, banishing the rigid, masculine lines of recent seasons, have revived a much more feminine silhouette. Many of the new materials have a nap which gives a soft, velvety look which every woman delights to feel as well as wear.

For several years now hard, firm materials have led the fashion in Paris. The softer, plushy materials were more often used in sport things, but this year they are definitely "habillee."

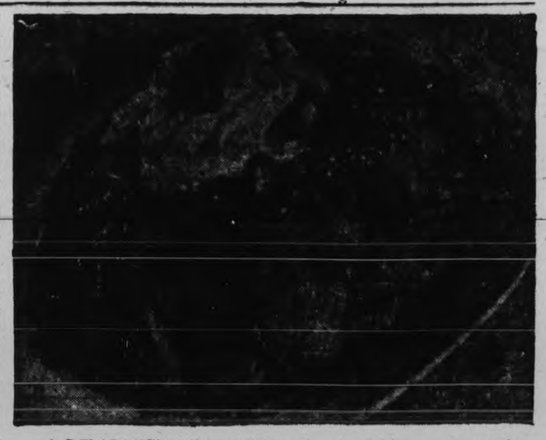
First autumn materials are, inevitably, plaids to tone with the autumn colors of all nature. Now the lighter wools in plain colors are beginning to appear, but most of them have a soft, furry surface. Some of the new woollens have a very long pile which looks almost like fur. These are to be seen particularly in casual coats and short jackets or coats. One of the most popular models of Jean Desses is a black coat, long pile, with large sleeves, very tight at the waist and simple swing at the bottom.

Paquin has chosen a similar material for redingotes to be worn over featheweight dresses of bright-colored wool. Unfortunately for all women, many of the new "brushed-wool" dresses have their best affect on very slim women.

Alwynn has a particularly lovely wool, anthracite grey, which has a surface like velvet. An asymetric peplum on the jacket of his suit is bordered with fur; waist pinched, skirt narrow—almost peg top.

Household Hints

TO SAVE PAN



It saves a pan when cooking dinner if you broil fruits or vegetables along with your meat. Try cooked carrot, yams, tomato halves, fresh mushrooms, cooked dried prunes, bananas sliced lengthwise and canned fruits which have been well-drained of juices.

OUTDOOR TOY SPACE

Encourage self-reliance in your child by providing him outdoor toy storage space in garage or shed. Low door pulls will enable him to help himself.

WAX DUST PAN

Wax your dust pan and the fluff and litter will slide into the garbage pail without prodding when emptying time comes.

A DELICATELY flavored brazil-nut pudding can put the finishing touch to the simplest or fanciest dinner.

COOKBOOK OF THE WEEK

Brazil Nuts and Apples Good in Coffee Pudding

Stymied for cooking ideas? Then the Culinary Arts Institute Cookbooks, being released one a week for twenty-four weeks to readers of The Examiner, are just what you need. So far the following titles have been released: Snacks, Leftovers, Cakes, Poultry, Pies, Soups, Salads, Meat, Fish, Eggs, Vegetables, and this week, Desserts. Each book covers a single phase of cooking and each one is crammed full of new and unusual recipes as well as standard, time-proved methods. Beautiful photographic illustrations show how to dress up even the most ordinary dish to make it tempting and luscious.

This week's cookbook, "250 Delectable Dessert Recipes," has chapter after chapter of delicious suggestions for desserts, covering everything from custards, puddings, refrigerator dishes, coffee cakes, old-fashioned steamed puddings, to unusual ways to prepare fruit. Here is just one of the many tempting recipes, with the recipe for sauce taken from the last chapter, which has ideas for all kinds of dessert sauces:

Brazil-Nut Pudding

¼ cup Butter
½ cup Sugar
1 Egg Yolk
½ cup grated Apple
¼ cup pitted Dates, cut fine
¾ cup sifted Flour
½ cup chopped Brazil-nut meats
1 teaspoon Baking Powder
¼ teaspoon Salt
½ cup strong Coffee
1 Egg White

Cream butter and sugar together until fluffy. Add egg yolk, apples, dates and Brazil nuts. Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt. Add alternately with coffee to first mixture. Fold in stiffly beaten egg white. Turn into buttered loaf pan, small ring mold, of 8-inch square pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 45 to 50 minutes. Serve with Brazil-Nut Hard Sauce. Serves 6.

Brazil Nut Hard Sauce

½ cup Butter
1½ cups Confectioners' Sugar
1½ tablespoons Cream
2 teaspoons grated Orange Rind
1 cup chopped Brazil - nut meats

Cream butter until soft. Beat in half the sugar gradually, add cream and beat in remaining sugar. Add orange rind and Brazil nuts. Beat until fluffy. Chill. Makes about 2 cups sauce.

marking the centennial showing of the fair. Almost every story window had several antiques, varying from old books, such as "The History of the Devil", to elderly lamps and dishes brought out from the old country by emigrants.

Weather for the fair was fine, although the air turned cold toward evening. The fairgrounds are set in a small valley and the hills to the east were lined with flamboyant maple trees and pasture still brown from the summer sun.

Report Canada Has Doubled Its Production

MONTREAL, Oct. 7 —(CP)— Defence Minister Claxton said Friday Canada's productive capacity has doubled since 1939 and the defence department is helping the boom with orders this year worth considerably more than $625,000,000.

He told the Canadian Industrial Preparedness Association that although parliament has voted $300,000,000 to help arm Europe Canada still doesn't know what arms Europe wants.

The Atlantic Pact organization was trying to find out Europe's detailed requirements. Canada, in the meantime, had offered the equipment—now in stock— for "one or two divisions" to western European countries and the government expected it to be accepted.

Once accepted, it would be dispatched at once and the $300,000,000 would be used to replace the equipment with stocks made on this continent.

Lot Standing Still

But, while awaiting an over-all Atlantic pact blueprint, Canada's own equipment orders weren't standing still. Although most of the bills would fall due in later years, orders have been or are being placed this fiscal year for $275,000,000 worth of warplanes, $80,000,000 in electronic and wireless gear, $80,000,000 in ships, $40,000,000 in clothing and textiles, $100,000,000 in construction, $16,000,000 in armament and $36,000,000 for motor vehicles.

There would be "considerable" additions to this.

Woman Corrected 1895 Misstatement

TORONTO —(CP)— A misstatement about Mary Baker Eddy which the founder of Christian Science herself corrected 55 years ago, found its way into a brief Canadian Press news item last month.

A two-line "filler" issued by CP said that Mrs. Eddy "regarded herself as the incarnation of the feminine principle of deity." Source of the error was a reputable reference work.

In 1895 Mrs. Eddy wrote to the New York Herald dealing with a similar assertion: Her statement concluded: "To think or speak of me in any manner of a Christ, is sacrilegious. Such a statement would not only be false, but the absolute antipode of Christian Science, and would savor more of heathenism than of my doctrines."

The Canadian Press is glad to quote Mrs. Eddy, who died in 1910, in the correction of its inadvertent error.

Twenty-five voices at the morning service rendered the anthem and a quintette consisting of Mrs. Dyson, Mrs. George Taylor, Mrs. Hawthorne, Mr. Dyson and Mr. Clarence Watts also sang.

The church was filled again in the evening when the choir sang and Mr. and Mrs. Dyson sang a duet.

On Wednesday evening the Woman's Association served a turkey dinner. A play "George in a Jam" was presented by Bethany AYPA.

Proceeds amounted to $400.

United Counties Plowing Drew 1,200 To Baltimore

With more than 30 contestants and a crowd of approximately 1,200, the Northumberland-Durham plowing match Wednesday at Baltimore was a grateful success to the planning directors.

It was held on the farms of Gordon Van Luven and Harry Toyne adjoining the Hamilton township hamlet, as the match returned to the eastern county after a series of annual contests in Durham.

In the classes for horses, it seemed significant that there were no entries of juniors under 17 years.

The Labbatt silver cup for the best tractor plowing of the day was awarded to Earl Linton, Cobourg RR No. 6, by the match judge, Winton Timbers.

William Hooton won the Trent Valley Bakeries special for the best land plowed with horses. Mr. Linton also took home the Eaton silver plated tray for the best work with tractor or horses by a competitor who had never taken part in a match prior to 1950.

The Bank of Toronto (Millbrook branch) cup for the best tractor land by youth under 20 went to Earl Brown of Newcastle.

Esso special for the best tractor work in sod, by a resident of Northumberland, was $10 that went to Earl Linton who had a field day as a newcomer to match company.

Leonard Henderson of Millbrook, is president of the Durham-Northumberland Association, and John Richard of Newcastle is secretary.

Results were as follows:

Open class in sod, horses: 1, William Hooton, Ida; 2, William Allin, Newcastle; 3, James McGowen, Fraserville.

Find Yugoslavia's Press Growing More Democratic

By RONALD PRESTON

BELGRADE, Oct. 7 (Reuters)— The press in Communist Yugoslavia is becoming more democratic.

A radical transformation in the spirit of the press here has been taking place, especially during the last nine months, as a result of Premier Tito's break with Russia more than two years ago.

Yugoslav newpaper men have moved away from Soviet models of writing towards something nearer western ideas of objective reporting.

Much more space is being given by all newspapers to foreign news items, especially proceedings at the United Nations.

The news is often given as straight quotations from foreign—especially Western—news agencies without political slant or official comment. UN and North Korean war communiques, for instance, are regularly given in this way side by side.

One purpose behind more foreign news in the Yugoslav papers and on the radio, one Communist official of the Belgrade radio says, is to discourage people from listening to foreign broadcasts, which many of them do regularly.

Newspaper criticism of how Yugoslavia is being run, especially in the economic sphere, is also increasing.

A landmark in these developments is seen here in "a letter from London," a regular feature contributed to the government-controlled Belgrade newspaper Politika by its London correspondent, Miroslav Radiochich.

When two years ago Yugoslav comment on the British scene was almost entirely critical, there now is greater objectivity and even friendliness and praise.

Radoichich admires the discipline and politeness of the British people, the efficiency of London transport, the way rationing is organized; but disapproves of the "sensationalism" of the British press and of inequalities in housing.

Politika's correspondent disapproves of British newspapers which, though "technically unsurpassed in the world," use "cleverly striking, suggestive headlines above a text which is often unimportant and even means nothing."

S. Koreans Capture Wonsan Port

Red Troops Stall U.S. Division Crossing Frontier

TOKYO, Oct. 10—(AP)—South Koreans today captured the prize east-coast port and arsenal-industrial city of Wonsan after sharp day-and-night street fighting.

Only a mop-up job of wiping out Communist snipers remained before Allied forces can start putting the harbor and airport into shape for operations. Port facilities were reported 50-per-cent. intact.

To the southwest, Communist troops holed up in their pre-war "defence" chain of log pillboxes and virtually stalled the U.S. 1st Cavalry thrust across parallel 38 near Kaesong on the road to the Red capital, Pyongyang.

Seizure of Wonsan climaxed a lightning sweep of more than 100 road miles into North Korea since the ROK (Republic of Korea) 3rd Division crossed the border Oct. 1.

First Strong Resistance

The Reds put up their first strong show of resistance just south of the city Monday.

Allied planes blasted the Red strongpoints and the ROKs stormed through to the important airfield just south of Wonsan before dawn Tuesday.

Then the road-hardened South Koreans swept on into the city where the Reds fought street by street amid burning buildings.

Scattered fighting continued throughout Tuesday in the port city but the bulk of the Red defenders fled north and west.

Wonsan is about 105 miles north of Parallel 38 and 95 airline miles almost due east of Pyongyang.

AP Correspondent Hal Boyle reported South Korean sources said their 3rd and Capital Division troops have fought clear through to Wonsan's northern limits after capturing the valuable nearby airfield.

The report said Red resistance in the city had dwindled to machine-gun, small-arms and occasional mortar fire.

Old Delhi Fire Razes 500 Shops

NEW DELHI, Oct. 10—(AP)—Nearly 500 shops, including a bank and a post office, were destroyed in an all-night fire which raged until early today through Old Delhi's downtown bazaar district.

Police had no reports of deaths, but thought it possible that some women and children may have perished in the blaze.

Cause of the fire was unknown, but an electrical short circuit was suspected. Property loss was estimated unofficially at 10,000,000 rupees ($2,000,000).

Six firemen, four police constables and six other persons were injured. Looters quickly descended on the ravaged shops despite a 200-man police cordon thrown around the area.

Old Delhi is just north of British-built New Delhi. The old city of 520,000 inhabitants could marshal only 11 fire engines to combat the flames.

Shah Of Iran To Wed Chief's Daughter

TEHRAN, Iran, Oct. 10 (AP). The 30-year-old Shah of Iran announced today that he is engaged to marry Saroya Esfandiari, 19-year-old half-European daughter of an Iranian tribal leader.

An official court communique announcing the engagement gave no date for the wedding. It will be the Shah's second marriage.

Iran's young Shah Reza Pahlevi has been one of the world's most-eligible prospective husbands since he was divorced two years ago from Empress Fawzia, the sister of King Farouk of Egypt. Fawzia during the couple's nine-year marriage had borne the Shah a daughter but no sons.

Geo. Hainsworth Hockey Great Dies In Collision

GRAVENHURST, Oct. 10 — (C P) — George Hainsworth, 57, one of hockey's all-time greats, was killed Monday night in a highway accident near here.

For 14 years he was an outstanding goalkeeper, mostly with Montreal Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs of the National League.

Three times he won the Vezina trophy, which goes to the N.H.L.'s best goalie. One year he scored 22 shutouts in 44 games.

Hainsworth died when his automobile was in collision with a light panel truck. Four other persons, including his wife Alma, were injured.

Hainsworth lived in Kitchener, where he was an alderman. A doctor pronounced him dead at the scene of the accident from several broken ribs which punctured his heart.

Mrs. Hainsworth was taken to hospital in Bracebridge, 10 miles north of here, fo rtreatment of head cuts.

Noreen Hoover, 20, of Bracebridge, driver of the truck, was treated at the scene for bruises. Her companion, Teresa Thompson of Bracebridge and an unidentified girl suffered similar minor injuries.

Won Trophy 3 Times.

Hockey's Vezina trophy, awarded annually to "the goalkeeper who has played the most games for the team with the fewest goals scored against it," was won in three successive years by Hainsworth while playing for Montreal Canadiens.

Those seasons were 1926-27, 1927-28 and 1928-29.

He held the record for the least number of goals against a goalie—43 in a 44-game season in 1928-29.

That same year he set a National League shutout record of 22.

Hainsworth was the immediate predecessor of Walter (Turk) Broda as goalie for Toronto Maple Leafs. He was released by Toronto in November, 1936, after 14 years of professional hockey.

BULLETIN

TORONTO—(CP)—Bill Ezinicki of the Toronto Maple Leafs signed a contract today to play with Pittsburgh Hornets, a Toronto farm team in the American Hockey League. An announcement by Hap Day, assistant general manager of the Leafs, said Ezinicki agreed to play for "minor-league pay". He will do so until he gets into condition, Day told reporters. If he does so, he will return to Toronto at a major-league salary.

France Loses 3,500 Men In Rebel Trap

Crack Legionnaires Wiped Out In Biggest Battle

SAIGON, Indo-China, Oct. 10—(AP)—Most of the 3,500 French troops trapped northwest of Thatkhe have been lost, the French announced tonight in a communique.

The loss occurred in the biggest battle to date of the four-year war between the French and the Indo-Chinese Nationalists led by the Communist Ho Chi Minh. Several hundred of the trapped troops escaped, the communique said. The remainder "succumbed after a bloody battle, but only after inflicting extremely heavy losses on the enemy."

In Paris the Cabinet decided to rush Gen. Alphonse Juin and the Overseas Territories minister, Jean Letourneau, to Saigon this weekend.

Crack foreign legionnaires and Moroccan troops were engaged in the fighting near the Chinese frontier.

Have Bad Weather

Bad weather had grounded French planes, hampering the securing of information of the encircled forces.

The troops under attack are the garrison from Caobang, key frontier post abandoned by the French last week, and a column from Thatkhe sent to screen them.

The French forces earlier had placed the encircled force at "several battalions" in size. Today a spokesman said they were outnumbered 10 to one by guerrillas in the "several tens of thousands."

Thatkhe, meanwhile, has been reinforced by fresh French troops. The garrison there had been dangerously depleted by the attack on the column sent to screen the withdrawing Caobang garrison, but observers say the reinforcements have eased the danger to the post—one of the few points still held by the French along the Chinese frontier.

Should the remainder of the encircled group not succeed in escaping the Viet Minh trap, observers consider it would be a disastrous defeat to the French. Their troops already are spread thin along the Chinese border, while Viet Minh forces—reported to be supplied and trained by the Chinese Communists—have been increasing steadily in numbers and fire power.

20,000 More Jobs

TORONTO, Oct. 10 — (CP) — Lands Minister Scott said today 20,000 more jobs likely will be created by recent capital expansion in Ontario's forest industries. More than $100,000,000 has been spent largely in Northern Ontario, he said. He mentioned projects at Long Lac, Brompton, and Marathon, where $50,000,000 has been poured into carving new logging towns out of the bush.

WRECK MIRACLE—Telescoped and wrecked cars lie in a shambles on the tracks in Erie, Pa., after the westbound New York Central "New England States" express slammed into a derailed gasoline tank car. Fourteen cars were set afire, injuring 37 persons, but most crawled to safety through smashed windows and doors.

$750,000 Fire Sweeps N. Sydney Business Section

NORTH SYDNEY, N.S., Oct. 10—(CP)—Fire driven by a huge wind swept along the business section of this Cape Breton port town today and caused damage, officially estimated at more than $750,000. Nine business houses, including a funeral parlor and a hotel, were destroyed or gutted. Six others were badly damaged and three dwellings were destroyed.

At 8 a.m. EST the blaze, battled by four fire departments from this industrial area of Cape Breton, was still out of control. No casualties were reported in the outbreak that began at 4 a.m.

The fire was finally brought under control at 9:30 a.m., EST. It was the worst in the history of this town of 4,000. Other bad outbreaks occurred in 1912 and 1945, when a theatre and six other buildings were destroyed.

Fire Chief Bill Parsons and Police Chief Louis Clark were in charge of fire-fighting operations. They were assisted by hundreds of volunteers, including 20 Newfoundland soldiers who were waiting for the island ferry when the fire broke out.

A northwest wind of 35 miles an hour lashed the flames through the wooden buildings. Some 25 were made homeless and at least 50 put out of work.

Scorched By Fire Freighter Still Afloat

HALIFAX, Oct. 10—(CP)—The Spanish freighter Monte Inchorta, her No. 2 hold scorched by fire, reported today she is out of danger and is headed for Halifax under her own power.

Foundation Maritime Limited said its ocean-going tug Foundation Lillian, racing to the freighter's aid, was in touch with her by radio today from a position near Sable Island, 100 miles off here.

The ship's agents here said they had no particular's of the fire's extent, but that the ship's owners in Bilbao had requested that a tug be sent to her assistance.

Freighter Aground In Blinding Storm

ST. JOHN'S Nfld., Oct. 10 (CP)—The British freighter Mapledore ran aground at Captain Jack's Tickle in a blinding Labrador snowstorm, it was reported today.

A message—from the Newfoundland hospital ship Maraval—gave few details but said that she is standing by the stricken vessel, out of London. The motor vessel Algerine also is standing by.

The report indicated the Mapledore is in no danger and is not leaking.

Lloyd's register of shipping lists the freighter as 4,574 tons. It was estimated here she carries a crew of 35 or 40. No casualties were reported.

Will Christen Princess Oct. 21

LONDON, Oct. 10—(Reuters)—Princess Anne, baby daughter of Princess Elizabeth; is to be christened Oct. 21 at Buckingham Palace, the Royal family's main London residence, it was announced Monday night.

The date chosen is Trafalgar Day, red letter day of the Royal Navy. The little Princess is born to a navy tradition, since her father, Prince Philip, is on active service, and her maternal grandfather, King George VI, fought in the Battle of Jutland in 1916.

Prince Philip, serving in the Mediterranean in command of a frigate, will fly home for the baptism.

Princess Anne, born Aug. 15, will be christened by the Archbishop of York, Dr. Cyril Garbett. The Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, who usually officiates at such occasions, will be out of the country.

Princess Anne—the full name in which she will be baptized is Anne Elizabeth Alice Louise—will, like her brother, Prince Charles, wear a historic Royal christening robe of honiton lace. This was worn by all Queen Victoria's children, and all the Royal children since.

Names of the godparents will be announced later.

Three Injured Near Belleville

BELLEVILLE, Oct. 10 (CP)—Three persons, including a Regina couple, were injured today in an automobile collision eight miles east of here during a rainstorm.

Injured were Mr. and Mrs. John Nagel, of Regina, and Robert Slavin, of Belleville. Slavin's wife, with him in his car, was shaken up.

Doctors said they held little hope that Mrs. Nagel will survive Her husband, whose condition was described as "bad," suffered a broken hip, cuts, bruises and shock.

Mr. Slavin is Eastern Ontario district supervisor of Percival Stores.

Police said the cars crashed at Milltown, eight miles east of here on Provincial Highway 2, the busy Toronto-Montreal route. They said Nagel was driving west. Slavin east. The pavement was slick as a result of a rainstorm that started last night and was continuing at the time of the smash-up.

Communications Battle Wrecking War Reporters

ASHIYA, Japan, Oct. 10—(AP) — The battle for communications has made the covering of the Korean war the most difficult assignment, perhaps, that newspapermen have reported in modern times.

It has been such a physical and emotional strain that veteran reporters agree they never have been under such pressure. Even the younger correspondents are showing the effects.

The battlefield dangers have been real enough, but the greatest wear and tear has been in the communication fight.

Communications have been skimpy ever since the Korean war started. Unlike the European theatre in the Second World War, there has been no commercial service near the scene.

In the siege of Seoul, reporters were communting 1,200 miles to file their stories. They would get a front-line story, rush to the Kimpo Airfield near Seoul, and then hitch a 600-mile plane ride to this Japanese airfield. Here they have telephone communication with Tokyo.

After filing their stories, they had to hitch a ride back to Kimpo and do the same thing over again. This is rather like getting a story in Ottawa and hitching to Winnipeg to phone the newspapers in Edmonton.

Half a dozen correspondents try to get back to Korea from Tokyo had an experience Monday which spotlights the difficulites.

We left Tokyo at 9 a.m. in pea-soup weather and headed for Kimpo. One engine began acting up and our pilot put his plane down at the Ashiya field.

We shifted to another plane partly loaded with cargo. It was dark when our plane circled the Kimpo field. Before we could land, a Corsair crash-landed on the field—knocking out the runway lighting system and tearing up part of the steel-mat landing strip.

Our pilot made a pass at the runway, but in the dark he barely escaped crashing into oil drums on one side of the strip.

Truman Plans To Meet MacArthur

Conference Scheduled "In Pacific" During This Weekend

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 — (AP)—President Truman announced today he will meet this weekend with Gen. MacArthur in the Pacific to discuss "the final phase of United Nations action in Korea."

Truman said in a statement that he will also discuss with MacArthur "other matters within his responsibility." He did not say what these were.

Truman's statement did not say where he would meet with the United Nations commander.

The White House withheld an announcement on the place of the meeting. But it was presumed to be somewhere west of Hawaii.

It was learned the President will go directly to the rendezvous from St. Louis where he is flying Wednesday.

No Elaboration.

The White House sources which gave this word to reporters declined to elaborate on the occasion for the meeting.

Possibly one purpose of the Truman-MacArthur meeting is to review the whole Pacific situation before the President addresses the United Natins General Assembly Oct. 24.

McArthur and the Truman administration have disagreed over policy toward Formosa; island stronghold of the Chinese Nationalist Government.

McArthur has taken the position that it is essential to the United States' far Pacific defence line that Formosa be kept out of unfriendly hands. The Formosa's future is a matter for the United Nations to decide.

Say Policeman Loses Pension After 25 Yrs.

TORONTO, Oct. 10 — (CP)—A Toronto paper says today in a dispatch from Windsor that the Provincial policeman whose prosecution of a liquor charge touched off the Windsor police investigation "is off the Provincila Police force, his pension lost after almost 25 years service."

The paper identified the former policeman as E. Durnford, who was sergeant in charge of the Essex County Provincial Police detachment when he laid a charge of selling liquor against Joseph Assef. During the trial Magistrate J. A. Hanrahan made statements about Windsor law enforcement which brought on two investigations —one by the the city's police commission and the other by Provincial Police.

Get Big Drug Haul

TORONTO, Oct. 10—(CP)—Seizure of 4½ ounces of heroin and the arrest of a man and a woman on charges of illegal possession of narcotics were disclosed today by police. Morality Department officers said the drugs would be worth upwards of $40,000 at underworld prices, "if it's pure stuff." Charged were Harvey Laborsky, 22, and Muriel Armstrong 21. Police who raided a house shortly before Saturday midnight said they found the couple filling capsules.

Varsity Bans Move To Lure Football Talent

TORONTO, Oct. 10 (CP). — President Sidney Smith of the University of Toronto today cracked down on an alumni plan to lure "promising football talent" to the university.

Revealing a move by several "Old Grads" soliciting contributions to persuade football players to enroll at Varsity, Dr. Smith said "any project to subsidize players, however unofficial, will be officially opposed."

He did not name the alumni involved, but said the appeal was strictly unofficial. He said the group sent a letter to a select list of graduates asking for contributions.

"We have an amateur team, and the university intends to hold the line against professionalism," he said. Football is an accepted part of college life, "but we of the university must never forget that it is an educational institution."

Last Ditch Stand

"I am confident that the staff, the students and a vast majority of the graduates and public will support what may be a last-ditch stand against the forces of professionalism which have obscured the true objectives of student athletics in many American universities."

Warren Stevens, university athletic director, said the scheme was "'news" to him.

The Toronto football team finished last in the four-team Intercollegiate Rugby Football Union last year. Fielding an inexperienced team, they won their first 1950 league start Saturday, downing Queen's 7-1 in Kingston.

1-Legged Clerk Wins $264,138 In Pool

CARLISLE, Cumberland, England, Oct. 10 (Reuters)—Thomas Wood, 42, a one-legged clerk, today won £94,335 $264,138) for one shilling in a football pool—the highest pool dividend ever paid in Britain.

Wood, a married man with two sons, lost his right leg while serving as a sergeant-major with the British Army in Burma during the last war.

Last week, in the same pool, he won £9 for sixpence, which encouraged him to double his stake this week. His previous biggest pool win was £53.

A 71-year-old woman last week won a dividend of £91,785 for a sixpenny investment.

Canadian Troops Arrive At Washington Army Base

FORT LEWIS, Wash., Oct. 10. (CP)—More than 100 officers and men "housekeping" vanguard of a troop movement unprecedented in Canadian military history, rolled into this huge United States Army training centre on Monday night.

At an undisclosed later date, a self-contained brigade of 4,000 to 5,000 men — about half of those recruited as a special United Nations force for action in Korea —will arrive at the 30,000-acre training ground which served as jumping-off point for thousands of American troops in the Second World War and for the US 2nd Division now in Korea.

Just what Canada plans for the troops hasn't been announced yet, but never before has it sent troops on so large a scale to train in the United States.

The brigade, commanded by Brig. J. M. Rockingham of Vancouver, is bound on present plans for further training in the East —likely the US Army base at the Pacific Island of Okinawa.

That has been mentioned as a possible advance training point by the Canadian government with sailing date screduled for mid-November.

It may be, however, that only a token occupation force will be asked of Canada now that action in Korea apparently is headed for a final mop-up shortly.

Selection of Fort Lewis as a mustering centre for the brigade was made because Canada has no adequate training centres handy enough for such a jumping-off point, sources here say.

At least part of the training to be given here for the troops assembled from bases across Canada will be "processing" into American-type arms.

Say Deadlock Unsolved By Meetings

No Specific Plans Have Been Made To Resume Parley

OTTAWA, Oct. 10—(CP)—Compulsory arbitration will be resorted to for a settlement of the railway wage dispute, according to indications here today.

Government-directed negotiations between the railways and their unions have bogged down, it was learned, and no specific plans have been made for resuming them before the expiration of a negotiation period fixed by the government.

Next Saturday is the expiry date under legislation that ended the general rail strike Aug. 30 up until today the disputants had neither called for a new extension of the period nor set a date for resumption of negotiations that have been in abeyance since last Friday.

There was some expectation in informed quarters here that the government would be notified formally Wednesday of lack of progress in the negotiations, which would be followed by the appointment of an arbitrator to settle points still at issue in the wage-hour dispute that precipitated a nine-day general strike of 124,000 rail employees Aug. 22.

Under parliament's back-to-work measure, the arbitrator would be chosen jointly by the union and railways or, failing agreement between them, by the government.

The arbitrator's findings would be binding on both parties, though his powers would be limited to a relatively-narrow range—the area still in dispute when negotiations between the disputants collapsed finally Aug. 22.

The legislation binds both sets of parties to at least the concessions they made up to that time. Also, it provided specifically for a four-cents-an-hour increase for the employees effective on ther return to work Aug. 31.

The renewed negotiations have been in progress off and on since that date. The parties obtained a 15-day extension of the original 30-day negotiation period. The extended time expires Saturday.

In the latest set of talks that resumed last Wednesday at Montreal, according to informants here, the negotiations did not get far from the point at which they had been broken off in August.

OTTAWA, Oct. 10—(CP)—The RCAF today announced it has completed the first segment of a research project which has as its specific aim to test the value of air photography in the search for lost aircraft. The Air Force expects to get the answer in the next two weeks.

To launch the project, the RCAF Saturday dispatched two Dakota aircraft on a 1,500-mile jaunt to photograph by air 2,100 square miles of rugged ground in the Peterborough area between Trenton and Camp Borden.

Four battered airframes, resurrected from an Air Force scrap heap, were "planted" at strategic points in that area to simulate actual wrecks. The trick will be for specialists in photo interpretation work to spot the wrecks in the air photo negatives now being developed.

Navy Blue Rain Falls On Hamlet In Britain

ASHBY-DE-LA-ZOUCH, England, Oct. 10—(AP)—Mysterious blue rain pelted down from a blue sky Monday at the nearby hamlet of Gracedieu.

The eerie shower centered on Harold Walker's gas station, his home and the surrounding 100 square yards.

"It left navy blue blobs the size of a penny all over the place," Walker told a reporter.

He said there was a dubious possible explanation: A whirlwind might have sucked up ripe elderberries from a grove of trees several miles away.

Soviet Says U.S. Planes Bomb Airport

Russians Demand Punishment For Flying Personnel

MOSCOW, Oct. 10—(AP)—Russia charged Monday night that two American fighter planes strafed and damaged a Soviet airfield near the key Siberian seaport of Vladivostok last Sunday.

A Russian protest note was proferred to the United States Minister-Counsellor, Walworth Barbour, by Andrei Y. Gromyko, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister. The note placed the incident 62 miles north of the Russian-Korean border.

It demanded 'strict punishment' for the 'responsible personnel' and American assurances against such incidents in the future.

The note said two F-80 Shooting Star jets machine-gunned an airfield in the Sukhaya Rechka area. Suyhaya Rechka is across Novik Bay from Vladivistok and about 18 miles southwest of that important Siberian rail and shipping terminus.

"As a result of the firing, damage was inflicted on airdrome equipment," the note declared. It made no mention of casualties.

Barbour declined to accept the note on the grounds the protest was a matter for the United Nations to handle.

Gromyko disagreed, arguing that since the note dealt with the firing by American planes on a Russian installation, it was the sole concern of the two governments involved.

Cables Information

The note subsequently was sent by the Russians to the American embassy. U.S. Ambassador Alan G. Kirk, who had been in bed with a cold, went out early this morning to inform the State Department by cable of the Soviet communication.

The note was published in Moscow papers without editorial comment.

In refusing to accept the note, Barbour took the same stand as was taken by the United States last September, when Russia protested the downing of a Russian plane by American aircraft off Korea.

That note was never accepted by the United States, and Russia submitted it to the U.N. for consideration only, not for action. It has remained shelved.

Korea has a long common frontier with Manchuria, China, but borders on the Soviet Union for only about 20 miles along the extreme north-eastern tip of Northern Korea.

Reds Accept Plan, Diplomats Skeptical

Wait Vishinsky Speech To Clarify Surprise Move In U.N. Assembly

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Oct. 10 (AP)—Western diplomats were skeptical today of Russia's surprise acceptance of some parts of State Secretary Dean Acheson's four-point anti-veto peace plan.

They speculated on the Soviet Union's motives.

Was it one of Russia's startling diplomatic shifts, or was the tenative embrace which Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Soviet foregn minister, gave the plan in the 60-member political committee intended as the kiss of death?

Puzzled diplomats waited for a major Vishinsky policy speech to clarify the situation.

The plan itself, called "United Action for Peace," is a formalization of Acheson's Sept. 20 proposals, which the State Department's Republican adviser, John Foster Dulles, called the "logical sequence" of the lessons learned in Korea. Its main points are:

1. Emergency sessions of the veto-free General Assembly whenever the Security Council, which has the primary responsibility for preserving peace, is hamstrung by a veto.

2. Peace patrols of observers to report to the Assembly on acts of aggression.

3. Designation by UN members of specific units of their armed forces to be placed at the disposal of the UN in times of crisis.

4. Establishment of a commission to report to the Security Council and General Assembly next year on specific means which might be used to enforce peace.

Co-Sponsors

Co-sponsors with the U.S. are Canada, Britain, France, the Philippines, Turkey and Urugusy.

The plan was introduced to the political committee Monday by Dulles. Vishinsky immediately took the floor and astounded delegates by declaring Russia favored some of the points in the sweeping program. He added, however, that there would have to be many amendments and alterations.

Most observers had expected outright Soviet opposition.

Dulles, in a radio interview later, said speculation about Vishinsky's motives for his latest stand might be "dangerous" or "unkind."

Three Injured Near Banff

BANFF, Alta., Oct. 10—(CP)—Three persons escaped serious injury Monday when their automobile collided with another car which, police said, sped away from the accident scene, about eight miles east of here.

Treated for minor injuries at Banff hospital were Patricia Pinch of Regina, Pauling Lefebvre of Cornwall and Al McClure of Winnipeg.

Their car struck a cement post, shearing off one side. Both front and rear wheels were left at the spot while the rest of the car careened 200 feet.

Downward Pressure On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Oct. 10. (CP) — Market leaders encountered moderate downward pressure as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. The market slumped sharply at the opening on a flood of selling orders that accumulated over the long holiday weekend but losses were reduced slightly in mid-afternoon.

Key industrials showed losses ranging from fractions to more than a point. Papers paced the decline. Constructions found strong support with Gypsum selling at a new high and utilities and steels also brightened.

Base metals also sagged with losses about doubling gains. Ascot Corp., with property near Sherbrooke, Que., featured the list, trading heavily for a gain of 40 cents at $2.24 following news of financing plans. Golden Manitou, highlight last week, slumped sharply on heavy profit-taking and leaders of the group like Noranda, International Nickel and Hudson Bay showed losses up to $1.25.

Western Oils started higher but followed the general trend in later dealings.

Junior gold producers weakened quietly while seniors held firm.

Hint Chance of Sabotage In $100,000 Army Fire

PEMBROKE, Oct. 10—(CP)—Loss was estimated at more than $100,000 in a fire which destroyed quartermaster's stores of the 2nd Royal Canadian Regiment at Petawawa Military Camp, 10 miles north of here, Sunday. Equipment used for the training of Canada's Special Force was destroyed in the fire, and the possibility of sabotage was investigated by a court of inquiry which sat several hours Monday afternoon.

In Ottawa, Defence Minister Claxton asked for a full report as soon as possible.

Believed Accidental

Col. D. J. Todd, officer commanding the camp, said "sabotage was the first thought which occurred to me. But as far as I know, the fire was accidental."

Two witnesses at the inquiry testified the blaze started where the power line entered the stores building over a front porch.

"It might have been a short circuit or a bare wire," Col. Todd said.

France Asking Armament Funds

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10—(AP)—The French government has begun to lay the groundwork for a detailed request for American funds to help finance the first year of France's stepped-up rearmament program.

French financial experts have started presenting initial figures to the state department in preparation for the arrival Thursday of Finance Minister Maurice Petsche of France.

Petsche will sum up France's case during a round of conferences with top American officials, including Treasury Secretary John Snyder and State Secretary Dean Acheson.

The French request is reported to cover the amount of money France believes she will need during the 1951 fiscal year to start her on the self-imposed task of creating, equipping and maintaining 15 new army divisions.

Cattle Cheques For $1,300 Said Worthless

H. C. Dunn, a cattle buyer, who gave his address as Peterborough, has been charged in Lindsay police court with false pretenses. After hearing the evidence Magistrate E. A. Gee, of Lindsay, reserved judgment.

Crown Attorney Lorne W. Jordan claimed that Dunn had issued more than $1,300 in worthless cheques to two Verulam township farmers. The cheques were in payment for cattle bought in September.

Dunn said he was aware there was not sufficient cash in his account to cover the cheques but he expected to have it back in the bank shortly. He said he sold the cattle to Canada Packers and could have taken an advance on the sale price of the cattle. And if this money wre deposited it would have caught the cheques.

Dunn denied he had attempted to defraud the farmers; he had expected them to deposit the cheques which would have given him extra time to get the money.

Crown Attorney Jordon said the false pretenses were in telling the farmers they could get the cheques cashed immediately.

Defense counsel was Alex Elliott, KC, Peterborough.

MORE ABOUT—

S. Koreans

Correspondent William Jordan reported from Wonsan Reds fled before the South Koreans but turned back and put up a fight in the northern half.

Stiff Resistance

Between these two battle areas, Red forces, partly regrouped in two divisions, put up stiff resistance against South Koreans driving northward in the centre of the peninsula.

The U.S. 1st Cavalry Division kicked off in regimental strength Monday from Kaesong just below 38, and ran into stiff Red resistance right from the start.

Communist troops were dug in on mountains flanking the main Seoul-Pyongyang road. They poured a withering fire into the advancing troopers and forced them to dig in overnight.

The 1st Cavalry troopers fanned out along a 25-mile front.

American tanks, artillery and planes blasted a path through the outer defence lines. The infantry fought through to the vicinity of Sinchon, a highway village about 2½ miles north of 38.

Another cavalry column crossed the Yesong River, 10 miles west of Kaesong, smashed three Red counter-attacks, and drove ahead on a northwest tangent.

A third column Tuesday drove to the vicinity of Panbu, 15 miles northeast of Kaesong.

Gen. MacArthur's Tuesday summary said gains were made against "stubborn enemy resistance supported by small-arms, mortar and artillery fire."

Lt.-Col. William Walton said the Reds had prepared defensive positions to a depth of 25 miles.

A British official announcement said the Commonwealth Brigade made up of British and Australian troops, was advancing with U.S. First Corps units.

A British spokesman said he could not say whether the British forces were across Parallel 38 yet.

MacArthur's headquarters said the biggest known concentration of North Korean troops is in the centre of the peninsula about five miles north of the border. A spokesman said at least two Red divisions — 20,000 troops—are massed there.

Two Red Korean majors surrendered south of 38 and said they did not expect Communist resistance to hold much longer. One a medical officer, said the North Korean civilians are "98 per cent unsympathetic" toward ther Communist rulers.

The other, formerly attached to an armored brigade, predicted there would be little guerrilla activity in Communist Korea.

American intelligence officers partly discounted the statements, but the Red forces are believed weakening in manpower and material.

Obituary

MISS JESSIE JOHNSTON

ROSENEATH, Oct. 10—(ENS)—Ten days after leaving Roseneath to live in Kingston, Miss Jessie Johnston, 69, died suddenly on Sunday of coronary thrombosis. She had spent her entire life in Roseneath and for many years operated a nursing home here. The nursing home closed when Miss Johnston left for Kingston.

Plowing Match Opens At Alliston

ALLISTON, Ont., Oct. 10(CP)—Rain drenched contestants and spectators today but did not delay the start of the 37th annual international plowing match.

Fine weather had been predicted for this area 40 miles northwest of Toronto. However, rain that started yesterday continued today.

Scene of the famous four-day competition is the nearby Nottawasaga Farms. If the weather is good and the sandy soil drains well, officials hope to have everything in good shape when international competition starts.

Federal Immigration Minister Harris will open the international competition at 2 p.m. EST Wednesday. Final banquet and presentation of prizes will be made Friday at Beeton, five miles southeast of here.

Top Prize

Top intercounty prize today will consist of a conservation and agricultural tour of the United States. Four Ontario youths, all less than 20 years of age, will make the trip. They will be accompanied by a manager appointed by the Ontario Plowmen's Association, sponsor of the competition.

Top awards of the international meet will go to the winners of special horse and tractor classes. Two plowmen will be given the opportunity of representing their country at matches throughout the United Kingdom. Winners last years were Ronald K. Marquis of R.R. 1, Sutherland, and James M. Eccles, Brampton.

In spite of the inclement weather last year, an estimated 25,000 persons were on hand each day. O. P. A. officials are hoping for an even bigger turnout this year. While no announcement has been made yet regarding total prize value, it is expected to equal 1949's $15,000.

Traffic Guards Approved By City Council

Appointment of part-time traffic guards for the protection of children in crossing streets at certain intersections has been authorized by the special traffic control committee and leaves such appointments to the Police Commission.

The intersections are: Sherbrooke at Park St.; Murray at Water St.; Murray at George St.; Weller St. at Monaghan Road; Lansdowne St. at Lock St These were specially mentioned for part-time supervision.

It was proposed that these guards should be elderly men or women who are still mentally alert and can be depended upon to be at these intersections at the required places for four periods of 15 to 20 minutes daily on all school days.

Traffic control signs for the protection of children have been authorized on the recommendation of the traffic control committee.

"Children crossing" sings are to be placed on Murray St. in front of Central School; at Elm and Park Sts. and Weller and Park Sts. on Weller St. east of Monaghan Rd., and west of the Queen Mary school grounds.

For Prince of Wales School: on Sherbrooke west of Grandview Ave., and east of Monaghan Road.

Confederation School: on Park St. north of Braidwood Ave. and close to the corner of King George St. "The present signs are too close to the school."

Grove School: School signs on Erskine Ave. north and south of school; on Cameron St. east of Erskine Ave. north of C.N.R. crossing where it can be plainly seen before motorists enter the curve to cross the railway.

For May's School: A school sign on Lansdowne St. east of Erskine Ave.; the present sign on Lansdowne east of the school should be moved further east: "Children Crossing" sign should be placed near the corner of High and Lansdowne Streets.

Also for Central School: a change in the position of the school signs on Water St. so that they will no longer be hidden by parked cars; a sign on McDonnel St. between Water St. school grounds to warn motorists driving east on McDonnel that there is a playground ahead.

The committee recommended that "School" signs should be erected to mark any points of crossing which reach the block in which the school is located; and that "Children Crossing" signs be used at more remote points only.

Mammoth's Tooth Found In Pit

VICTORIA, B.C. — (CP) — A big tooth belonging to a prehistoric mammoth has been discovered in a gravel pit near here.

Weighing several pounds, the molar of the hairy elephant which existed on this continent several thousand years ago, was turned over to the provincial museum. It measured about 10 inches long and five inches thick.

Dr. Clifford Carl, museum director, described discoveries of this kind as "rare" on Vancouver Island.

"We have found remains of mastadons," he said, "but we have discovered few bones of mammoths."

The discovery did not mean that hairy elephants once roamed Vancouver Island. His opinion was that the bones were carried in the ice field during the glacial period and deposited in a bay near here when the ice melted. The mammoth was the only ele[illegible] said

Report Six Accidents In Cobourg Area

COBOURG, Oct. 10—(ENS)—Provincial Police of the Cobourg detachment were kept busy during the weekend handling heavy traffic. From Friday until Monday night, six accidents were investigated, two of them hospital cases. The remaining four were not serious.

At 6:30 p.m. Saturday, Joseph Crowley, 464 Donegal St., Peterborough, was seriously injured when his truck left the road and ploughed into a clump of pine trees. He was taken to Peterborough Civic Hospital. Police said that Crowley was driving a panel truck with empty milk cans and was proceeding north toward Bewdley when his truck left a straight stretch of road, hitting a 12-inch cedar and then going into four pine trees, whose trunks varied from 12 to 30 inches in diameter.

The impact stripped the truck body off the chassis and the driver was thrown clear. The accident was investigated by Provincial Constable Frank Clough of Cobourg.

Four people went to Port Hope Hospital after an accident which occurred Saturday afternoon near Welcome. Police said that Edwin Galloway of Scarboro tried to pass a transport and when he saw he couldn't make it, sideswiped it in trying to get back into line.

The car then bounced across the road into the path of one driven by Charles Bronson of Trenton.

Galloway was taken to Port Hope hospital with head injuries and was later admitted to Toronto East General hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Bronson and son Bobby were treated at Port Hope hospital for facial lacerations and shock. Provincial Constable C. Tutton of Cobourg investigated.

When Law Enforcement Is Difficult—And When Impossible

When the months-old investigation by the Kings County grand jury erupted into a major gambling scandal involving a great many members of the New York City police department, there was no lack of indications that the corrupt conditions affected many other areas throughout the United States, and that revelations of protection for gamblers would in time involve more highly placed figures than police officers. To date, these indications have not been supported by detailed evidence, but the intensified investigation now under way is still in its early days—and it comes at a time when United States Senator Estes Kefauver has declared that political corruption today "is on a scale, that makes the corruption of prohibition days look like kindergarten play."

• • •

Whether Senator Kefauver is right or not, a close parallel may be drawn with those earlier days. The illegal liquor racket, in both the United States and Canada, was well organized and powerful; graft and bribery commonly accompanied it. And the main foundation on which this racket was organized was general public disrespect of the law; a large part of the public was ready to flout the law, with the result that laxity in enforcement was at least tacitly encouraged. The power of the tremendous professional gambling organization today is largely built upon a similar foundation of public disrespect of the laws designed to suppress that profession.

• • •

We are strongly in favour of suppressing professional gambling rackets, because of inherent evils and others which flourish alongside. We have often speculated, however, on the possibility that some modification of present laws might prove more beneficial than stubborn retention of them in their present form. One feature which might well be eliminated is the insistence of governments that they shall license certain gambling establishments while refusing to license and prosecuting others. It is a feature that does not encourage respect for anti-gambling laws.

• • •

As long as a large section of the public is willing to subvert anti-gambling laws, enforcement of these ordinances, as The Washington Post points out, is a difficult and thankless task. And if police are venal, it becomes an impossible one.

Man Or Mouse?

We have just received a handsome present of cheese, with the compliments of the Canadian Dairy Industry; we have been favoured in this way in order to call our attention to the Cheese Festival which is to be held from October 16 to November 15.

Should we accept this cheese as a graceful tribute from the dairy industry toward the press? Or should we haughtily reject it, as though it were a bribe which we could not accept without some diminution of our editorial integrity. In short, are we a man or a mouse? In matters relating to cheese, we admit without a blush, we are a mouse. But in order that no one may say that the present of cheese has influenced us in writing this editorial comment, we shall write first, and eat later.

We are glad that steps are being taken to popularize cheese in Canada. For too many years our cheesemakers had a take-it-or-leave-it attitude toward the public; they made cheese in large sizes—too large for family use—and it had to be bought in slices which became unsightly if they were not quickly eaten. As a result cheese lost popularity in this country, in spite of the fact that many very good types of cheese were made here. But now that cheese is marketed in more attractive forms, and in more easily managed quantities, it is regaining favour.

Well may it do so. For cheese is an excellent food, and unlike some excellent foods, it is not primarily for children. It is possible to take a gourmet's delight in fine cheese; cheese repays study and care in serving. Personally we do not care for cream cheeses, nor have we the palate for the more extreme Gorgonzolas and Roqueforts; we respect people who like both these mild and fierce cheeses but we do not share their taste. We like the good Cheddars, and we particularly like Stilton, a cheese which has not, so far as we know, been successfully produced in Canada as yet. But if the cheese makers continue to improve their products, and to seek new forms for cheese, it should not be too long before a good Canadian Stilton is produced. And when that day comes we shall buy a whole one, wrap it in a napkin soaked in port wine, and sit down to wait for it to ripen. The glory of a perfect Stilton is not to be surpassed by anything in the whole fragrant, calm, noble and reflective realm of cheese.

It Can Be Done

A remarkable woman is touring Canada at present, addressing a number of Canadian Clubs; her tour is sponsored by these and by the British Council. She is Miss Ninette de Valois, the director of the Sadler's Wells Ballet, at present the finest ballet company in the world.

Miss de Valois is remarkable not only because she is a fine administrator and a fine trainer of dancers. She is remarkably also because she has created a world-famous ballet company out of seemingly unpromising material, in the face of opposition and discouragement.

The Sadler's Wells Ballet began as a small group of dancers whose job it was to dance in the opera performances which were given at the Old Vic Theatre. Then, when Lilian Baylis, the manager of the Old Vic, acquired the historic Sadler's Wells theatre and transferred the opera to that place, the ballet went with it. And in time permission was granted for the ballet to give performances on days when the opera company was not using the theatre.

The reception given to these performances was cold. It was assumed by many people that Russians were the only people really capable of ballet, and that the English were peculiarly ill-suited to it. Cruel things were said about "cockney ballet". But Miss de Valois (who is, by the way, an Irishwoman, in spite of her name) persisted, with an ideal constantly before her. It is only during the last ten years or so that her ideal has come close to realization.

There is a lesson in this for Canada. We moan about the lack of artistic work, creative and interpretative, in this country. Miss de Valois appears before us as a proof that virtually anything is possible if indefatigable persistence is allied to true knowledge and a high ideal of the end to be attained. We can have all the arts in Canada, in a high degree of perfection, if we are prepared to work for them. It can be done. In the realm of ballet our visitor has done it.

Crusade Against Fat

In a recent issue of the Journal of the Canadian Medical Association a Dr. D. E. Roger, of Regina writes harshly about fat people; they are fat, he says, because they are greedy and eat too much. He puts the matter more delicately than this, but his meaning is plain. Dr. Roger is well in the modern movement; it is the fashion nowadays to abuse fat people, and to accuse them of greed.

There is no doubt but that many people are fat because they are greedy, but it is also a fact that by no means all greedy people are fat. We have seen little, starveling men and women with hardly an ounce of flesh on their bones devour the most staggering meals; we have seen people who showed no special tendency to be fat who crammed themselves between meals with sweets and who always take two helpings of whipped cream. Such people appear to dispose of their food in a different way from those who become fat. Many fattish people are moderate eaters. There is an injustice about this which medical science might attempt to unravel. There are, we have observed, a good many fat doctors, and we do not suppose that they like to be branded as greedy.

It has been proven pretty clearly that excessive weight is dangerous, and that it shortens life. But many people who tend to be fat may question whether it is not better to eat as they please and take the consequences, than it is to live for a few more years at the expense of a lifetime of abstinence from foods which they like. Real gluttons are rare; people who eat more than they need are very common. The present tendency to pillory the fat man, and to present him to the world as an example of swinish self-indulgence, is just silly. He would no doubt be better off if he were slimmer, but only the fat know how easy it is to gain weight, and what a penance it is to take it off again.

NOTE AND COMMENT

"A man is no younger than his legs", says a physician. That is even truer of a woman.

A Maine woman has married a man whom she ran over with her car. A rough but effective method of getting a husband.

Socialist Britain is considering free divorce. A blessing, as the Calgary Herald points out, for the disillusioned wife who has just seen him without his free wig.

Musical Notes

By PETER PIPER

THE other night I was at a friend's house and the conversation drifted gently but purposely to matters musical. One of the company maintained that Dryden and Pope were easier to set to music than the earlier poets such as Milton and Shakespeare with their sumptuous language. He even went so far as to say the finest poetry made the most unsatisfactory songs, as the beauty of the language obtruded itself too much. I pointed out that Milton and Shakespeare were favourite sources for composers, but was met by the ingenious argument that the composers wished to make capital out of the reputations of these great figures for their own ends, not because of the suitability of the words. I feel that the attitude of my friend towards art, however strongly he might deny it, is rather puritanical. He wants each art, poetry, music, and so on, all wrapped up in their own little compartment as "pure poetry," "pure music," etcetera. He is horrified at the idea of one contaminating the other. Therefore the less poetical the poetry, the more suitable it must be for setting to music, so that one can forget the words and concentrate on the "pure music." Poulenc's musical setting of words from a seed catalogue would represent the highest development of art of song except of course for wordless choruses, closed lips effects and solfeggi. The truth, as I see it, is that this segregation of the arts is undesirable; in fact different arts are not completely isolated from each other, but are different manifestations of the same thing, the creative impulse, which is a manifestation of life. Any attempt at keeping the arts apart is bound to result in barren abstractions and mutual impoverishment.

❖ ❖ ❖

SOME time ago we heard with regret that Shostakovitch, Prokofief and other notable Soviet composers were in trouble with the authorities for failing to produce music in keeping with Communistic ideology. One of the most distressing features of the whole affair with the abject apologies and promises to do better in future. The latest news is that the wind has veered in the Kremlin, and a more liberal policy towards writers and artists is the order of the day. The inhuman and doctrinaire policy of the late Andrei Zhdanov has been modified, and the men of real talent are being gradually reinstated, so we hear. The measures against them were very unpopular with Communists abroad, and what is more, the composers of light ephemeral music who had been boosted as true proletarian composers had proved unequal to the job of taking the place of those whom they had supplanted. How long this new state of affairs will last one cannot say, but at least it is gratifying to hear that these composers are enjoying a slight relief from the badgering that they have been suffering during the last two or three years. A good impression of what they have had to put up with is to be found in Alexander Werth's "Musical Uproar in Moscow."

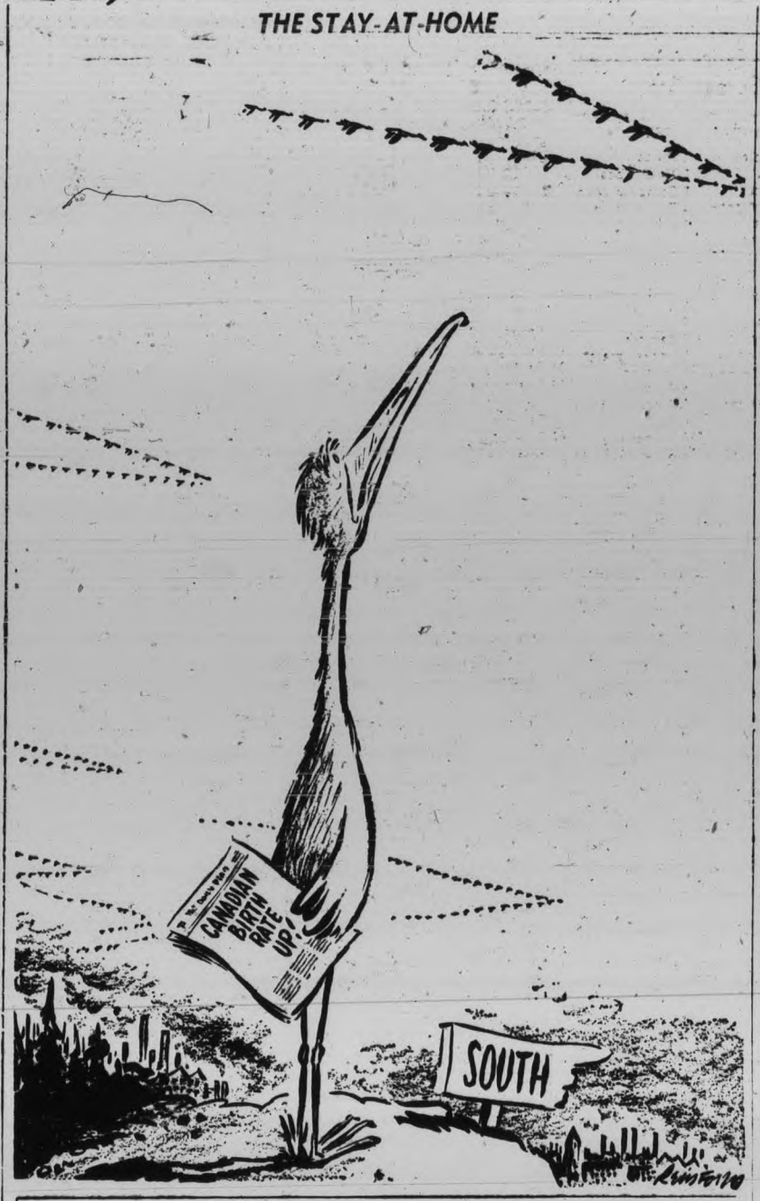
❖ ❖ ❖

MENTIONING Milton's "Blest Pair of Sirens" last week reminded me of somebody, I think it was Sir Thomas Browne, who wondered what song the Sirens sang. I am afraid that we shall never find the answer to that, but it is fairly certain that they never sang in "close harmony"! There were three Sirens originally (not two, as Milton states), and they each had long Greek names and sat on a rock, luring sailors to their destruction with their beautiful songs. When Ulysses sailed near them on his famous Odyssey he prudently arranged to have his ears stopped with wax. Later on the Argonauts overcame the peril by having Orpheus sing for them. The Sirens were worsted in this vocal combat and threw themselves into the sea, where they were changed into rocks, so that even in death they were a hazard to seafarers. Curiously enough the German legend of the Lorelei, the beautiful maiden who sat on a rock overlooking the Rhine singing and combing her hair, was invented as late as the nineteenth century by the Romantic poets Brentano and Heine. As for the air raid sirens, anyone who was in London during the last war will find it difficut to forget their eerie howling.

❖ ❖ ❖

ON Thursday, October 12, Dr. Healey Willan who gave his first organ recital in Peterborough the other day, celebrates his seventieth birthday. Born on the outskirts of London, England, in 1880, he held various church appointments in England until 1913, when he came out to Toronto as head of the theory department of the Conservatory and organist and choirmaster at St. Paul's Church. In spite of his many official posts Willan has been a prolific composer, chiefly known through his music for plays when he was musical director to the Hart house Players' Club, and also several songs. Nor must we forget his Symphony in D minor for Orchestra. He belongs to the conservative school of composers, and is particualy interested in plainsong and the contrapuntal style. By a strange coincidence he shares the same birthday with the Grand Old Man of English music, Ralph Vaughan Williams, who is eight years his senior. We extend birthday greetings to these distinguished musicians, and trust that they may both be spared for many years to come.

❖ ❖ ❖



I wonder how many people realize how much work is in the organization of a concert. There are so many things that can go wrong. If the floor of the stage has not been swept it is almost certain that the artiste will appear in a long flowing skirt. Lighting, tickets, programmes, hospitality, ushers, advertisement, and so on, must all be attended to. And then the performer may fail to turn up on time! How much better it is to be just a plain member of the audience, with no worries!

No Change

(This Week)

We've just heard how the monotony of school life was made abundantly clear to a seven-year-old last month. Returning home from her first day in second grade, she announced gloomily, "We have a new principal, a new teacher and a new school nurse, but the same old children."

THE STAY-AT-HOME

Return To "Gigantomania"

(NEW YORK TIMES)

In the past few weeks the Soviet Government has announced five major projects which are apparently to form the core of economic development under the Fifth Five-Year Plan, scheduled to begin next year Between 1953 and 1957 the following major programs are scheduled to be completed: Reconstruction of the entire existing irrigation system, construction of two of the largest hydroelectric stations in the world at Kuibyshev and Stalingrad, on the Volga River, and of a smaller hydroelectric plant, on the lower Dnepr River, at Kakhovka, and irrigation of millions of acres in the Ukraine, Volga area and central Asia, the latter to be made possible by a new 700-mile Great Turkmen Canal which will divert the Amu Darya from the Aral Sea to the Caspian.

These are ambitious projects. Both of the two Volga hydroelectric stations, for example almost dwarf the great Dnepr power plant, of which so much has been written and boasted since the early Nineteen Thirties. If completed on schedule they should add substantially to Soviet economic power in the next decade. Soviet comment on these new plans is a compound of sycophantic adulation for Stalin, to whom is assigned all credit for these projects, and roseate description of enormous prosperity to be brought about when the work is completed. There is little stress on the fact that enormous exertions will be required to realize these dreams. Nor have Pravda and Izvestia seen fit to point out that these programs indicate clearly a continued forced high level of capital investment with concomitant sacrifice of current consumption between now and the time these plants are completed.

While the inner debates which preceded these announcements have been kept secret, certain conclusions seem clear, though Soviet commentators do not mention them. First, the U. S. S. R. does not expect any early significant use of atomic power for peacetime production. The plans for enormous expenditures on the Kuibyshev and Stalingrad hydroelectric stations are the best refutation of Mr. Vishinsky's boasts before the United Nations last November. Second, these plans connote a very significant shift in policy. A decade ago the Soviet press was full of denunciation of "Gigantomania." It pointed out that emphasis upon enormous projects had proved uneconomic and wasteful and there must be a shift to small and medium projects to meet the country's needs. The present plans just announced are a return to "Gigantomania" with a vengeance, or a scale surpassing many of the projects renounced so roundly in 1939-40. Finally, the stress of irrigation is implicit admission that the much-publicized afforestation program is inadequate to solve the Soviet food problem.

Man Wants The Extras

(Quebec Chronicle— Telegrahph)

The money we get is paid for by hard work. What do we buy with it? Food, lodging, clothing—and suchl extras as we can afford. And often enough it is on these extras that a good part of the fun of living depends. Maybe it is foolish, in a way, to take hard-earned cash and spend it on a trip, or on a new car, a recreation room, or anything else that isn't absolutely necessary. But it is foolishness of that kind that helps to make life enjoyable.

In The Old-Fashioned Way

Just to add to the confusion among music lovers, one of the recording companies is about to bring out a disc which will play only at sixteen revolutions per minute. Eventually some mad scientist is going to remember that the old-fashioned phonograph had a little dial which enabled you to set the turntable speed anywhere you liked.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

By faith Abraham, when he was tried, offered up Isaac: and he that had received the promises offered up his only begotten son, of whom it was said, That in Isaac shall thy seed be called: accounting that God was able to raise him up, even from the dead; from whence also he received him in a figure. (Heb. 11: 17-19.)

❖ ❖ ❖

For what saith the scripture? Abraham believed God, and it was counted unto him for righteousness.... He staggered not at the promise of God through unbelief; but was strong in faith, giving glory to God; and being fully persuaded that, what he had promised, he was able also to perform. And therefore it was imputed to him for righteousness.

Now it was not written for his sake alone, that it was imputed to him; but for us also, to whom it shall be imputed, if we believe on him that raised up Jesus our Lord from the dead: who was delivered for our offences, and was raised again for our justification. (Rom. 4: 3, 20-25.)

❖ ❖ ❖

Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ.... For if, when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son, much more, being reconciled, we shall be saved by his life. And not only so, but we also joy in God through our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom we have now received the atonement. (Rom. 5: 1, 10, 11.)

Unconsidered Trifles

Mrs. Hawkins: "Oh yes, Mrs. Harris, I'm working again. I'm getting $5 a week now, cleaning out a bank."

Mrs. Harris: "Good gracious! My husband got five years for doin' that."

❖ ❖ ❖

"Henry, darling," she murmured. "I hardly know how to tell you, but—soon—soon—there will be a third sharing our little lovenest."

"Sweetheart," he cried, "are you certain?"

"Positive," she replied, "I had a letter from mother this morning saying she's coming to live with us next month."

The Tall Corn

(John Crosby in The N.Y. Herald-Tribune)

One of the rare, rich delights of the summer when most of the big dramatic shows are taking a vacation from television, are the old, old movies which are taking their places. Nothing like an old, old movie to revive old, old memories. For one thing, the girls wore hair in those days, masses of the stuff. It was piled up on top of their heads, hung halfway to their waists, and bounced all over the place when they walked.

An actress's hair was a valuable acting prop in those days. A girl could express a high degree of indignation by shaking her head, which instantly took on the aspect of an elm in a windstorm. Despair was generally indicated by running the fingers of both hands through the hair, culminating at the neck.

Not having seen any new movies this summer, I have no idea how the girls handle these emotions without anything to shake, without anything to run their fingers through. The writers, I expect, will just have to eliminate those emotions. No despair, no indignation, boys.

One thing that hasn't changed through the years is the dialogue. Joan Benett who had been added like a spice to bring out the full, rich flavour of a movie called "The Housekeeper's Daughter," looked earnestly at the hero in that epic, as if she were seeing him for the first time, and said: "Robert—I—don't know how to tell you this, Robert, you've just got to listen to me.... Do you remember what you told me this morning?"

Ah, there's a wonderful line! It has a number of variants. 'Do you remember what we promised each other last night?' 'Do you remember what you told me the day we met? You said I reminded you of your mother. What's happened to us since then, Albert? What's happened?' Well, I'm not going to write the whole script. Let the movie boys do their own work.

There have been a couple I've missed this summer and it's been a cold summer without them. The kindly old warden, saying: "Sorry, Miss, time is up." Then there's the gent informing the singer that his wife has decided not to divorce him, the child will recover from polio and Louis B. Mayer was just on the phone offering him $10,000 a week. "Now go out there and sing your fool head off."

Want some more? "You look as if you've seen a ghost." "I have." "This is bigger than I am, Marry. It's bigger than both of us." It's been a long time since I've seen an English picture. It's been a long time since: "It's good to have you home again, Master David. Your father's in the study."

TORONTO, Oct. 10 — (CP) — Mrs. Grace Bagnato, 61, died Saturday. She was the mother of 23 children, nine of them born between 1926 and 1936, the period of the famous $500,000 Millar Stork Derby.

Mrs. Bagnato failed to share in the money, left by Charles Vance Millar, an eccentric Toronto lawyer, to the Toronto mother who gave birth to the most children in the 10 years after his death in 1926.

A court ruled her ineligible to share in the money because two of her nine children were unregistered. The money was divided between four Toronto women after a lengthy court dispute.

Orfuns Tie In Second Spot By a 7-5 Win Over Oshawa

ORFU standing:

	P	W	L
Cobourg	6	5	1
Orfuns	6	3	3
Oshawa	6	3	3
Orillia	6	1	5

Beating Oshawa Red Raiders 7-5 yesterday in the Motor City the Peterborough Orfuns went into a second-place tie in their ORFU senir "B" grid group race. They still have a mathematical chance at first place, and a good chance of finishing second, to enter provincial playdowns as the group runner-up team. They will be playing Orillia this weekend, and have two games here after that.

Single points garnered in the first and second quarters paid off, their unconverted touchdown in the third heat being offset by Oshawa's unconverted try in the fourth of a keen contest. A good-sized crowd sat through a light drizzle in the last half and saw two powerful clubs fight it out on fairly even terms. Orfuns had an edge on play for three quarters but were driven back regularly in the hot fourth stanza. Play was pretty open with Oshawa fumbles hurting but their forward passes clicking well. They had four fumbles to none, but had three forwards to one while getting 12 first downs to six.

Hoofs Long Ones

Chuck Paul consistently outkicked West with some fine long-distance hoofing. Bill Huntley again was the main plunger for the Bamforth band, driving hard on every thrust. Ken McKim got through the enemy line fast and often to mess up plays, while Frank Fitzferald, Bill Trimm, Don McGillis, Gord Beatty, Merv Benney and others shone in the line. All the regulars went well for the winners, and the reserves proved strong in a torrid tilt. West, Hodgson, Brodie, Knihisky, Armstrong and Sibleck were the pick of the Raiders.

An attempted placement by Huntley from the Oshawa 20 late in the first quarter went awry but got in there for a single point. Early in the second heat, Orfuns drove up again with Huntley and Paul leading the parade, and Leventis rouged Hulcie on Huntley's attempted field goal to make it 2-0. Before that Paul threw a 12-yard forward to Peachy for the only completed pass by the team inthis fray. Penalties and fumbles hurt Oshawa in the first half. They also had a placement attempt blocked after West's long run.

In the third, West's kick was fumbled but it was ruled no yards and Orfuns had possession on the enemy 20. Huntley and Paul moved the sticks and then Huntley went over for a try, not converted. Matthews blocked Armstrong so hard, the latter limped off. Oshawa drove in the fourth, with Murphy, Hulcie, Hodgson, Brodie and West all reeling off yardage. They were halted for a time and Jerry McGillis got in a nice buck, with DeCarlo and Frank Fitzgerald later smothering a forward try back of the line, and then Raiders rolled late. They bucked right up to a yard out and Murphy went over, but it was not converted and it ended that way.

Orfuns: Flying wing, Conlin; halves, Peacy, Huntley, Matthews; quarter, Paul; snap, Beatty; insides, McKim, Masters; middles, F. Fitzgerald, Bonney; outsides, D. McGillis, Burns; alternates, DeCarlo, Hodson, Levantis, Hill, Trimm, Farr, Fraser, J. McGillis, R. Fitzgerald, Lynch, Scriver, Archibald.

Oshawa: Flying wing, Lyzun; halves, Hodgson, West, Brodie; quarter, Wilson; snap, Knihisky; insides, March, Bilsky; middles, Bouckley, Burkhart; outsides, Luke, Armstrong; alternates, Sibluck, James, Brooks, Hulcie, Kravec, Zaharaw, Beaton, Almond, Sobanski, Freeman, Murphy, Harper, Lawson, Dionne, Grice.

Officials: L. Deadey, T. Jarvis, S. Stupp.

Summary:

First Quarter
Orfuns 1—Huntley's kick to deadline.
Second Quarter
Orfuns 1—Levantis rouge on Huntley's kick.
Third Quarter
Orfuns 5—Huntley's try.
Fourth Quarter
Oshawa 5—Murphy's try.

St. Peter's Win First One Over DeLaSalle

A last-minute touchdown assured St. Peter's High Senior Bees Monday afternoon of their first win in a Thanksgiving annual game, their first win as a senior team and their first one in the Ontario Catholic Athletic Conference.

Two rouges and the touchdown which was converted on the second attempt enabled the SPS crew to rack up eight points to down De LaSalle Oaklands of Toronto 8-0. The win leaves them tied with the Oaklands, who now have won one and lost one. St. Michael's College Senior B team is atop the league with two wins.

St. Peter's will most likely keep a stout guard on Carl Brioux' toes. For they kept the SPS'ers in the game as he booted the two rouge kicks, one in the first and another in the third. This slight edge made De LaSalle try desperate attempts to break loose late in the third which only seemalso led them in further. Brioux alsot led the St. Peter's along the ground. His slow but hard drives helped whittle the yards down. Harry O'Neill, one of the two quarters, also went for yards on several end sweeps.

Let the Attack

Alfie Iwasaki led the De LaSalle offence. On 75 per cent of the plays Iwasaki was the ball carrier. He was most effective as De LaSalle reeled in the early second for yards. In spots in the third and fourth he stood out on plunges.

Jim McKinnon was the main spring in the De LaSalle defence. His hoofing drove off the St. Petes' crew throughout and helped keep the play centred between the 25-yard lines for the first three quarters. In the fourth his kicks became shorter as he was rushed. Once he had to try to run and lost 12 yards. Passing by both squads was off. Out of the combined 15 attempted forward passes, only one, by St. Peter's, was completed. Five others were intercepted, two of St. Pete's and three of De LaSalle's St. Pete's missed on five and De LaSalle on four.

After two minutes in the first Carl Brioux booted from the De LaSalle 30 to McLean well behind the line for a rouge. On the last play of the third he again kicked, this time from the 45-yard line to McKinnon, who fumbled and recovered. But he was rouged for another point. A placement by Brioux in the fourth missed.

Quarter Johnny Armstrong dropped back in the last minute of play and took McKinnon's punt at the De LaSalle 35. He pivoted and zipped for 20 yards before downed. Armstrong then sneaked on the first down for five yards. Carl Brioux shot through centre to the line but was held. Armstrong crossed over on the third on another quarter sneak. De LaSalle were offside on the first convert attempt and John Jones drop-kicked the extra point neatly on the second attempt.

Line-ups

De LaSalle Oaklands—Flying wing, Cobham; halves, Orlando, McKinnon, Iwasaki; quarter, McLean; centre, Murphy; insides, Kelly, Willan; middles, Malcolm, Bryne; outsides, Quinn, Burt; alternates, Sabal, Chapman, Clamens, Fidani, Findley.

St. Peter's High School—Flying wing, J. Jones; halves, Brioux, L. Jones, O'Neill; quarter, Armstrong; centre, Morrissey; insides, LaPlante, Simmons; middles, G. Crowley, O'Reilly; outsides, Cavanagh, Farley; alternates, C. Crowley, O'Brien, Heffernan, C. Hickson, Crough, Hickey, McMurray, Harrington.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Many puck fans here are still talking of the stirring exhibition staged last Friday in Civic Arena by the two Maple Leaf teams. Well, folks will have a chance this Thursday night to see another NHL squad, divided into two teams, in another exhibition at 8.30 in the local rink. Boston Bruins are coming, proceeds for minor hockey in Peterborough. Dit Clapper arranged to have Bruins— who are sponsoring our IOOF junior "B" squad—show here just before they start the long NHL schedule. These pros are hustling for their jobs, too, and Art Ross will be on deck to look 'em over. It ought to be a dandy joust.

George Carver of Belleville had this report last week: "Max Jackson announces that Kingston Vics have acquirer a sponsor in the Hershey Club of AHL. Harold Cotton head scout for Boston Bruins, made the arrangements, adding Vics to the Boston empire which already includes Barrie Flyers, Port Arthur Bruins, Moncton Hawks and Sudbury Bruins." And of course, Hershey Bears—and now Peterborough junior Oddfellows. These teams receive some players, some financial assistance and surplus equipment. In return, they try to develop young puckists for Boston Bruins. Looks like an okay arrangement for both sides.

Orfuns Did the Trick.

Orfuns edged the Raidiers 7-5 in Oshawa yester aft to go into second place tie with the Motor Citizens in their hot ORFU group race. Despite their wobbly start, they have been rolling lately and having very much in the hunt, taking on Orillia this weekend and having two more home games ere scherule's end. The Bamforth bunch played fine football Monday against real stiff oppostion to earn the duke. Two previous losses were nothing but tough-luck windups to dandy games. These Orfans are really good all the way through. A strong punching line, good backfield, and hustling reserves. Well-coached and in first-lass condition. You have to be powerful to hold your own in this senior "B" group.

Chuck Paul got away some mighty kicks, the Oshawa pro baseballer getting 80 yards on one and 70 on several more. Bill Huntley again did some terrific plunging, while Matthews, Conlin, Peachy and the other backfielders all did a yeoman chore. The line was especially good, but found Oshawa hard to halt in a sizzling fourth-quarter drive. That's where those two early singles helped. Trimm was tops, Frank Fitzgerald and and Don McGillis again showed how to play a line, McKim cut in fast and often to stop the Raiders— but then you can't single out too many. Or you'd be naming two dozen stars. But the team as a whole looked mighty nice. We think they'll go places yet this autumn.

St. Pete's Win a Pair.

St. Peter's football teams took a couple of weekend fixtures here. The SPS senior "B" squad downed De LaSalle of the Catholic Conference 8-0 Monday to gain a second-place tie, and the same teams tangle up Toronto way next Sunday. St. Pete's juniors blanked PCVS junior "B" boys 24-0 on Saturday. Four separate school scraps this week of the six-man team type, that schedule winding up October 23. Orfuns play Orillia in ORFU competition this weekend, the site not being settled yet. Cobourg took the Bombers yesterday after Oshawa had beaten them Saturday. We haven't the PCVS setup for this weekend yet, but these teams will be seeing action.

Plenty of minor baseball playoffs over the holiday weekend. Ed Woodcock's bantams survived to oust Ottawa twice by 9-4 and 16-2 scores here Saturday and in Perth Monday. Jerry Frizzelle hurled fine ball in both, and Brian Turner hit a homer in the first. They now go into provincial finals. Good stuff. Len Symond's juves lost twice to Ottawa by 19-2 and 19-5 counts to finish their semi-final series. Bill Post's peewees split here Saturday winning 15-9 and losing 5-1, but they had to forfeit the deciding game in Ottawa and that eliminates them. The third tilt was billed for Perth, but the OBA had a change of heart and ordered it for Ottawa. The locals couldn't line up transportation at that time for the long hike and had to call it quits. A tough break all around.

Juveniles Drop OBA Series

St. Anthony's of Ottawa qualified for the OBA juvenile finals when they defeated Len Symond's local squad yesterday 19-5, at Riverside. They had also won at the Capitol Saturday, 19-2 to sweep a best of three series in straight games.

The Bytown crew, a big, heavy team, showed good pitching and fielding, combined with heavy hitting in this series to win on their merits. Jerry Moore, Rudy Costentini, Harold Rowatt and Jack McDonald led the stickers, while the twirling of Mechini, who relieved Power in the third, was the big fatcor in winning the second game.

Peewees Split Twin Bill In Semi-Finals

Bill Post's peewees split Saturday's baseball double-header with Ottawa Fliers to open a best-of-three semi-final series for the right to meet Leaside in the OBA finals.

Petes took the opener 15-9, but dropped the nightcap 5-1, as lefty Ross proved effective, scattering seven hits. The locals put on a fine rally in the fourth innings of the first contest to score seven runs and take a safe lead as Bill Garvey went the route and pitched good ball too, though hit hard in spots. Petes scored in every inning and all the boys played fine ball, trying hard all the way.

In the second game, Fliers fought back to earn the decision in a close tussel with Brown and Garvey twirling well enough to win ordinarily, but inability to solve the slants of Ross gave the Ottawa boys the nod. They were two crowd-pleasing contests.

UE Defeats Toronto In Exhibition Fray

The local UE soccer team had as their guests Saturday Toronto Nationals from Toronto. The visitors lost 3-2 in a fine brand of soccer on King Edward Park before a small crowd. Best for Toronto were Moran, E. and D. Smythe, Thorn at centre-forward; for UE, Cotton, Booth and J. Smith. The local club had four Cobourg players with them, Andy Smith, Andrew Smith, F. C. Munday and Art Jones.

Within a minute, two goals had been scored, Booth, rapping home a smart effort, but their success was short-lived because Toronto inaugurated a combination play that permitted their centre-forward, Thorn, to slam home a low grounder. Thereafter, the Petes took the initiative with clever soccer that brought out the superb qualities of the visitors' full backs —Smythe and Wood—who were brilliant in defensive tactics. In fact, the custodian playing well out of his goal to advantage.

Near the interval, Toronto pressed with a steady attack, to find Munday, full-back, punting clear up the field where Booth trapped the ball with one foot and with the other lifted the ball over the goalkeeper's head into a vacant goal.

On resuming, Toronto relied upon their usual eleven to confine all the activities to the UE goal where the local half back line worked overtime — particularly Cotton, who was outstanding throughout. With his close checking, anticipation of tactics, he nullified attacks to perfection.

Eventually Toronto altered their style of play to be successful after three free kicks in a row. Moran beat three men, while in possession of the ball, and sent Munro on the left wing to beat the full backs to lift the ball into the rigging for the equalizer. With two minutes to go, UE added more pressure than usual to gain the winning goal from a scrimmage in front of goal.

UE—A. Jones, goal; S. McGann and F. C. Munday, full backs; H. Steel, E. Cotton and Andy Smith, half backs; R. Strong, F. Booth, J. Halroyd, Andrew Smith and A. E. Featherstone, forwards. Subs., J. Craig, A. Boyd.

Toronto Nationals—J. Swyre, goal; W. Smythe and F. Woods full backs; D. Smythe, T. Kernohan, D. Binges, half backs; J. Pringle, G. Layton, C. Thorn, J. Moran and T. Munro, forwards.

Referee, Jack Adams; linesmen, G. Downer and A. Hutchinson.

Bantams Win By 9 to 4 To Tie Series

Eddie Woodcock's bantams defeated Ottawa here Saturday by a score of 9-4 to even up their best of three baseball series for the right to enter the OBA finals, probably against a Toronto team.

Jerry Frizzelle turned in another smart pitching effort for the locals with seven strikeouts, and but two free tickets. He allowed just five hits. The Woodcock boys all went well to earn a much needed win, but the best blow of the game was Brian Turner's hefty smash to deep centre in the fourth that went for the circuit.

DON'T PASS ON HILLS

Passing other cars on hills is the cause of many accidents. Don't go by the car ahead until you have a clear stretch of road free of oncoming traffic. Then get back on the right hand lane. Drive with care and courtesy. Obey highway regulations and help to reduce the appalling traffic toll. Surely there is no better way of practicing safety first—no finer example of proving your own "Good Citizenship".

Give $500,000 Back To Fans As Series Over

NEW YORK, Oct. 10—(CP)—The front office took over today where the players left off as $500,000 was returned to fans who expected the 1950 world series to run to seven games instead of a four-straight victory for New York Yankees over Philadelphia Phillies.

That sum represented money sent in by fans who purchased tickets for a full-blown series.

The quick ending came Saturday when the Yanks scored a 5-2 victory over the Phillies to win their sixth series in four straight games. But only in the final game did Yankees at any time own a lead of more than one run.

It was the Yanks' ability to keep up the pressure that brought them their 13th world championship in 17 tries. Never for one moment did they indicate they could be beaten, no matter how slim their lead was at any point

Error Costly

In that final encounter, the Yankees held a 5-0 lead in the ninth inning behind their 21-year-old left-handed Eddie Ford. The end might have been even more decisive but for an error by outfielder Gene Woodling.

The Yankees had opened with a rush in the first inning, routing the Phils' youthful Bob Miller with a two-run splurge. Then, stalled for a time by Jim Konstanty, they finally got around to ripping into this ace relief specialist, and three runs came over with the aid of a homer by Yogi Berra and a triple by Bobby Brown.

The Yankees gave nothing until the top of the ninth, when Phils catcher Andy Seminick came to bat with two out and two Phils on the base paths. It appeared to be all over when Woodling moved over near the left barrier to grab Seminick's high fly. But Woodling dropped it and two runs dashed across.

A few minutes later it appeared that the Phillies meant to take some more liberties. But Yank manager Casey Stengel called to Allie Reynolds, who had hurled the American League champs to victory in the second game of the series at Philadelphia.

He blazed three strikes across on pinch-hitter Stan Lopata and the series was over.

Nearly every mistake the Phillies made proved costly. Except for Woodling's muff, Yankee lapses always were followed by Yankee brilliance that stopped the National League winners in their tracks.

Argos, Bombers On Top Of 2 Football Leagues

By The Canadian Press

Toronto Argonauts and Winnipeg Bombers came out on top of Canada's two major football leagues after standings were shuffled during Thanksgiving weekend play.

But they each lead—Argos in the Interprovincial Union and Bombers in the Western Conference—by only a single game. However, Bombers still have a game in hand over their nearest rival.

Sarnia Imperials dropped their first league game of the year in the Ontario Rugby Football Union senior loop but still hang on to first place. The onrushing Toronto Balmy Beaches, however, have a game in hand.

The weekend also saw the first games of the Intercollegiate schedule, with McGill and Varsity winning ther games.

The Big Four wound up in a three-way tie for first place among Argos, Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Ottawa Rough Riders after Saturday's games when Hamilton smashed Argos 29-23 in Toronto and Ottawa downed Montreal 18-8 in the Capitol. But Als came back to win 18-14 in Montreal Sunday and Argos slipped past Hamilton 20-19 in Hamilton Monday.

Tied For Second

That left Hamilton and Ottawa tied for second, two points behind Toronto and two ahead of Montreal.

In the West, Saskatchewan Roughriders and Winnipeg each won a pair of games while Edmonton Eskimos and Calgary Stampeders both dropped two.

Amid the usual collection of bands, colors and cheer leaders, McGill Redmen, favored to take the Intercollegiate circuit, swamped the defending champion University of Western Ontario Mustangs 22-6 in Montreal. The inexperienced University of Toronto Blues, whose coach admits they're "a year away," downed Queen's 7-1 at Kingston.

In the Big Four, Montreal held even with Ottawa during the first half of their Saturday game. Howie Turner and Bruce Cummings kicked singles for the Riders while Benny MacDonell barged across for a touchdown which Eric Chipper converted. Rod Pantages replied with a single for Montreal and Virgil Wagner went across on a pass from Frank Filchock which was converted by Nick Scollard.

Break Loose

In the third quarter, Ottawa broke loose with another single by Cummings, a major by Paul Gibson, and a convert and a field goal by Chipper. Pantages kicked a final Montreal single in the fourth quarter as Ottawa knocked down Filchock's desperate passing.

Montreal got its own back Sunday when Tommy Manastersky ripped off a touchdown and Scollard converted in the first quarter. Alouettes went on to a field goal by Scollard and a single by Pantages in the second quarter while Ottawa could get only a single by Cummings. Bill LaRochelle went across for a major for Ottawa in the third quarter but Ralph Toohy scored one for Montreal in the last period with Bob Simpson getting a late touch for the Riders.

Tiger-Cats grabbed costly Argo fumbles Saturday while the Hamilton line tied up the Argos. Big Bill Gregus bulled through for two Hamilton touchdowns, Eddie Bevan went for another when an Argo pass went wild and Edgar Jones went over for a major in the last quarter and converted all four Hamilton touchdowns. Fred Kijek punted four single points for Hamilton.

Ulysses Curtis, Al Dekdebrun, Billy Bass and Rod Smylie got Argos' touchdowns, with Nick Volpe converting three of them on Hamilton as they roared back to bring a 20-6 deficit to within one point of a tie. Jones missed a 42-yard field goal on the second last play of the game, after having scored tow touchdowns and converted one in the thrilling drive.

Dekdebrun, Doug Smylie and Curtis went over for major scores for the Argos, with Joe Krol kicking two singles. Volpe converted all three majors—making his record for the season 28 out of 32 attempts.

Oshawa Pedlars Win Sr. 'B' Softball Title

SUDBURY, Oct. 10—(CP)—Oshawa Pedlars won the Ontario Softball Association Senior B championship Saturday by trouncing Sudbury Nationals 18-5 to sweep the best-of-three series in two straight games.

Getting away to a 7-0 lead in the second innings, the Pedlars went on to collect 16 hits off two Sudbury pitchers. Southpaw Mel Muelemester, giving up seven hits, blanked the Nationals for seven innings.

Leading the Oshawa attack was was Tony Romanski, who hit two home runs and a single to drive in four runs. Norm McGee and Herb Cooper each hit triples while Sam Stark and Jack Logeman collected doubles.

By The Canadian Press

At least six leading Czech hockey players were sentenced to long terms in jail by a state court Saturday at Prague.

The players were arrested last March after Czechslovakia withdrew from the amateur world championships in London.

The trial, lasting three days, was held in secret.

The number of defendants and the charges against them were not known.

It was belived they were found guilty of slandering the state, resisting security police, and planning to leave the country illegally.

According to reports here Monday night the sentences ranged from four to 15 years' hard labor.

The United States defeated Canada 56-34 at Tel Aviv Saturday night to win the basketball title of the all-Jewish World Olympics. Both teams had been undefeated in the elimination tournament up to the finals. The Canadian team was made up of players from the Dominion-champion Montreal YMHA Blues and Toronto YMHA.

Helen Traubel, Metropolitan opera star, says she has bought a part interest in the St. Louis Browns baseball club "mostly to satisfy a sentimental urge." She wouldn't reveal the size of her investment but said "it is a nice chunk."

Miss Traubel's sentimental attachment stems from the fact that she was born in St. Louis.

Hill Prince licked Noor at Belmont Park Saturday in the $54,100 Jockey Club Gold Cup, and all but nailed down the "horse-of-the-year" honors.

Scarboro Evans Motors rallied for two runs in the ninth to edge North Bay Palangio Dodgers 5-4 Monday in the deciding game of the Ontario Amateur Softball Association intermediate A finals at Toronto.

Local Bantams Get Series In Third Game

Jerry Frizzelle came through again in fine style at Perth yesterday to defeat Ottawa 16-2 in the deciding game of the OBA bantam baseball semi-finals. It was a best of three series.

Credit is due the team as a whole in a sparkling triumph as the entire infield played brilliantly throughout despite two errors, while the outfield trio shone afield. Jerry Strickland and Doug Leach pulled down some nifty skyscrapers. Frizzelle struck out eight batters and walked but two and but for the first, when his rivals scored a pair of runs, was never in trouble. He, with Lawrence Ball, also starred at bat with three safeties in five trips to the plate, while Hunt smacked a single and triple in four official trips. St. Catharines or Mimico will furnish the final opposition for Ed Woodcock's hefty crew of fighting lads.

St. Peter's Get 24-0 Grid Victory

For three years St. Peter's High football teams waited for last Saturday afternoon. During those years, PCVS junior footballers have handed the SPS teams severe drubbings but Saturday the curtain fell on that play and another rose to begin a second play. Johnny Lynch's junior "B" SPS gridders whitewashed the PCVS thirds, the junior "B" team, 24-0.

Along the line and in the backfield the St. Peter's boys carried too much weight and had a little too much experience for the PCVS lads. For the first three quarters St. Peter's plunged and punted the PCVS team in close. In the final session the small Garnet and Grey squad began to roll and held the St. Pete's boys off the score sheet.

Frank McGillen edged the punting of Bob Delahey and Lionel Bloom for the PCVS crew but often the PCVS boys were hurried as St. Pete's linemen charged in. Bloom colored the game with several running kicks, a football feature not seen here in some years.

Led The Attack

Dick Foley, Murray Byrne and John Hickey for SPS led the ground offensive expertly. They had good support from the line men who were pushing their smaller opponents for the holes. Art Batley, PCVS quarter, along with Lionel Bloom and Ken Pammett, were fair grounders against SPS.

A 65-yard march by SPS early in the first provided the first major as McGillen, Fitzgerald and Foley went for yards. Murray Byrne finally went across for the major score, no convert. Immediately St. Peter's roared back up the field for another 45 yards but were held at the PCVS two by the wingline.

The second touchdown started back on the SPS 37. Foley, Byrne, Hickey and McGillen carried the ball to the PCVS one where Foley went across. McGillen converted to make the score 11-0. From the kickoff O'Rourke ran back for 30 yards before caught by the ankle by Lionel Bloom. A Hickey-to-McGillen pass allowed McGillen to cross standing up. The convert attempt failed.

Another strong, long ground offensive placed the SPS within kicking distance in the early third and McGillen kicked to deadline for a point. O'Rourke, along with Byrne and Foley, several minutes later placed the ball on the PCVS four. Foley went across. Bob McCormick passed of the extra point.

McGillen closed the scoring in the game with a punt to Delahey behind the PCVS goal-line.

Lineups:

PCVS — Flying wing, Brotherstone; halves, Pammett, Bloom Delahey; quarter, Batley; centre, Keating; insides, Parry, Walker; middles, Speirs, Hooper; outsides, Nickson, Eastwood, alternates, H. Stewart, Lynch Ash, J. Stewart, Cubica, Merrett, Lundy, Reader, Goodson, McPhee, Rose.

SPHS — Flying wing, Fitzgerald; halves, Foley, Byrne, McGillen; quarter, Hickey; centre, Crough; insides, Hickson, Kirkley; middles, Clark, Hull; outsides, O'Connell, Legros; alternates, McCormick, C. Hickson, Gooley, LeBarr, Taylor, Simmons, O'Brien, Ferren, O'Rourke, McDougall, Kingdon Chretien.

Red Wings Whip All-Stars 7-1

By The Canadian Press

The National Hockey League starts Wednesday and the other coaches can't be blamed if they throw apprehensive looks at Detroit's powerful Red Wings.

The Stanley Cup holders took the N.H.L. All-Stars into camp 7-1 Sunday, the first time the All-Stars have lost in the four-year history of the annual benefit game.

And it takes nothing away from the powerful Red Wings to say that the all-star team that took the ice in the Detroit Olympa was probably weaker than the one picked by N.H.L. coaches at the end of last season.

Coach Tommy Ivan of Detroit said himself after the game "We were just in better shape physically than they were."

The game put some $11,675 into the N.H.L. players' pension fund.

Jolliffe Charges Dairy Combine

TORONTO, Oct. 10 — (CP) — E. B. Jolliffe, leader of the CCF opposition in the Ontario Legislature, said Monday night that big cities dairies "constitute a combine and a first-class racket" which should be exposed and stripped of their power to impose exorbitant prices on the public.

In a radio address on a free-time political broadcast over the CBC's provincial network, he said Canada has started on a dangerous runaway inflation and that price controls, federal or provincial or both, are necessary at once.

Referring to the high price of milk—20 cents a quart—in the Toronto area he said the situation had resulted in lower consumption which was a blow to agriculture and health.

Mr. Jolliffe said that in Montreal, Edmonton and Calgary the farmer gets more for milk than in the Toronto market and the consumer pays less. He said one reason for this was abandonment of milk control prices by the Ontario Government in 1948.

Millbrook Couple Celebrates Golden Wedding

MILLBROOK, Oct. 10. (ENS)—A reception to celebrate the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Parker was held in Millbrook Town Hall on Friday.

The celebration, which was two months before the actual anniversary date, was held earlier to allow the 150 guests to be able to attend. The roads are expected to be blocked by snow later in the year.

It was on Dec. 27, 1900, that Elizabeth Ann Huske and Bruce Hilbert Parker were married at the Millbrook home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Harvey Richads. The attendants were Miss Bertha Huske, also a sister of the bride, and David Patton.

Mr. and Mrs. Parker have spent their lifetime in the district. Their farm is in Manvers township, close to the Fallis line. There are two children, William Parker, on the Fallis line and Mrs. Edgar Davidson of Merriton; seven grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

After a program of music and readings, four generations of the family — Mr. and Mrs. Parker, Mrs. E. Davidson, Mrs. William Leitch of Thorold and great grandson, James Leitch, were seated on the platform.

Heavy Demand For Health Stamp In New Zealand

AUCKLAND, N. Z. —(CP)—The first stamp bearing a picture of Prince Charles was issued in New Zealand recently. It is this year's New Zealand health stamp, which has a picture of Princess Elizabeth and her son drawn from a special photograph.

Health stamps are on sale for several months each year to support health camps established at seaside resorts to give poor children an annual holiday. The stamps cost a penny more than the normal postage rate, the extra amount going to the health camps.

Ordinary stamps are always available, but while the health stamps are on sale large numbers of people voluntarily pay a penny more on each letter they post as a contribution to the health camps.

These stamps have always been popular with collectors overseas, both because of their attractive designs and because some of them have rapidly increased in value. This year's design, however, seems likely to have a phenomenal demand. Heavy orders have poured in for sheets and half sheets and there has been an extremely heavy demand for first day covers franked at health camp post offices.

Blame Fascists For Bomb Set In Toronto

TORONTO, Oct. 10—(CP) — A Ukrainian organization whose labor temple was damaged Sunday night by a crude bomb charged Monday that "Fascist terrorists" were responsible.

Police reported no development in their investigation of the blast, which injured 10 of the 900-odd persons in the building on west-central Bathurst St.

But Peter Prokop, national secretary of the Association of United Ukrainians, told reporters the "terrorists" are a group of displaced persons. Most of them fought for the Germans in the Halychyna S.S. Division during the Second World War, he said.

"We know who these people are," he added, "but we can't put our fingers on the ones who are responsible right away."

$10,000 Damage

Damage to the labor temple which was seized by the custodian of alien properties during the war because of alleged connection with the Communist party, was estimated at $10,000 None of the injured was in serious condition.

The building, returned to its owners, the Ukrainian Farmer Labor Association in 1945, was jammed with dancers and with persons watching a concert. A home-made gunpowder bomb, filled with six-inch railway spikes, smashed windows and scattered glass on the crowd.

Bomb Set

Detective Sgt. Daniel Mann of Toronto's anti-subversive squad, said examination of the blast scene showed the bomb apparently was set, not thrown. His men found a fuse more than a foot long. The R.C.M.P. also is investigating.

Prokop identified the "terrorists" as a group of displaced persons closely linked with the League of Liberation of the Ukraine, which is active in Europe. Most were extreme Nationalists, he said, who lived in Polish Galicia before the war and who enlisted in the German army when told the Ukraine could be "liberated," he said.

Use 36 Million For Vehicles

OTTAWA, Oce. 10—(CP) — The government has earmarked $36,000,000 for the purchase of motor vehicles for the defence department and announcement is expected shortly by big, multi-million dollar orders for the production of jeeps by Canada's automotive industry.

Defence Minister Claxton said the sum includes $21,000,000 for the development and purchase of American-type vehicles to be produced in this country. Informed quarters said that probably means big production orders for Canada's auto plants at Windsor and Oshawa.

Defence sources said the $36,000,000 will probably be spent not only on jeeps but other types of vehicles as well, including some for the special army force.

Turns Caravan Southward After Trans-Canada Trip

By JACK SCOTT

HALIFAX, N.S. — At Peggy's Cove yesterday Judy upturned her small bottle of Pacific Ocean into the Atlantic. This more or less means our trip is at an end.

I say more or less because we still have that long voyage home. Looks as if we'll be dragging the tin box behind us. We'd hoped to sell the trailer here in Halifax and make a quick dash back across the continent. But the trailer market in Halifax is something less than lively. "You'd do better tryin' to peddle the Brooklyn Bridge," one authority said.

We are waiting now for the Foreign Exchange Control Board to release a few of those precious US kopeks. If all goes according to schedule, as it never once has in the past four months, we should be headed south within a couple of days.

Plan is to run down the coast through Maine, New Hampshire and Massachusetts to Boston and then across the country by the most direct route to Southern California, north to San Francisco and on up the lovely coast road through California, Oregon and Washington. Should be home early in December. And very glad to be there, too.

The Southern California destination is not entirely a self-declared dividend. It's the advice of a number of American trailer bums we've met. Their convenient opinion is that the northern highways, particularly through the Rockies, might give us trouble with such a heavy caravan. This is the story I am sticking to.

It is very nice to sit in chilly Halifax, Nova Scotia, with winter definitely in the air, and think about San Juan Capistrano and Santa Barbara and all that fresh orange juice.

On the trip westward the column will probably resume its old, aimless gait. We don't plan on any "discovery" of the United States. We're interested mainly in getting through them in the shortest possible time. However, I expect there'll be some notes on what seems interesting to us along the way.

I mention this because, frankly, I'm a little weary of writing the travel kind of stuff exclusively. A whole bunch of tantalizing subjects have been cropping up which I've been asked to maul around. So now we're taking the date-line off the copy and getting back to just writing about what comes along, or the much-ado-about-nothing that is the columnist's stock in trade.

Which doesn't mean that this coast-to-coast assignment hasn't been interesting. It's been that all the way and given us an outlook on Canada that only this kind of first-hand investigation can bring. It's just that I'm never very happy confined to one subject for very long. So it's a relief to get back to the grab-bag kind of scribbling.

Not So Easy

I might mention—I will mention—that a trip of this kind, for all its rewards, is doomed from the beginning to be something less than altogether successful.

In the first place it's pretty close to impossible to keep readable on a five times a week basis and still keep on the move, making the arrangements necessary, facing up for the small emergencies and so on. Put youself in the shoes of such a traveller who drives all day, comes into a strange town at dusk, sets up camp and then realizes he has 800 words of copy to get away to maintain his schedule. Takes a little of the joy out of it.

If I were doing it again (and we want to do it again when the trans-Canada highway is complete) I'd write only when I knew I had a story. It's kind of silly to press the trigger when you know the gun isn't loaded. Which is what this rigid, Tuesday - through - Saturday routine means.

We're sharply aware of a sense of failure in many respects, notably in our timing which meant we had to hurry things far to much at this end, had to skip Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland and which gave us no more than a fleeting look at the maritimes which are loaded with stories. And it's true, too, that the deplorable road condition we encountered across the prairies kept us too occupied to really savor that part of the country.

Next time we'll know better. Meantime out thanks to those of you who came along and didn't ask for too much and to all the friends, in and out of the business, who helped us along.

INTERFERENCE APPROVED

I don't like to interfere, but when I found that my youngest daughter-in-law didn't know that blueing is the only safe way to keep clothes white, I felt I just had to say something. 'Reckitt's Blue prevents clothes turning yellow', I told her. 'Just a swish or two in the final rinse and your wash will be sparkling white.' Blue is necessary to obtain true white. At the same time she takes no chances with anything that may damage fabric.

HUNTED FOR FOUR HOURS Monday afternoon, Frank Morrow, aged 23 months, was found drowned lying at the bottom of this outdoor goldfish pool at the back of 212 Brock St. directly opposite his home. The picture of the youngster shown in the inset was taken several months ago. His mother, Mrs. Frank Morrow, 209 Brock St., first notified police of the disappearance of her only child about 2.20 p.m. He was found by Clifford Carruthers, 212 Brock St. about 6.25 p.m.

Frank Morrow, 2, Drowns In Fish Pond Near Home

Two-year-old Frank Morrow drowned in an outdoor goldfish pool behind 212 Brock St. across the street from his home Monday afternoon. The discovery of his body lying face down in 19 inches of water by Clifford Carruthers, 212 Brock St., ended an intensive four-hour search by police and neighbours.

In some way the youngster, only child of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morrow, 209 Brock St., had got out of his backyard where he was fenced in and wandered across the street to the pool in which there were many gold fish swimming.

Whether the youngster walked into the pool or slipped in while trying to catch a goldfish is not known. The pool is over seven feet across, level with a cement walk which circles about three-quarters of it.

A few minutes after Mr. Carruthers found the youngster, police arrived to search the pool, having just learned of it. Constable Allen Edmison lifted the body from the water. Neither coroner could be reached and Dr. C. F. Cahill was called. He pronounced the youngster dead by drowning.

There were no marks on his face or forehead to indicate he had struck his head falling into the pool.

He was first reported missing to police by his mother about 2.20 p.m. After some time, radio station CHEX was asked to broadcast a description of the youngster and reports began coming into police, but all proved false.

Sergeant Leo Murphy organized the search and the neighbourhood was scoured by Constables Harold Mesley, Sherman Keleile and Allen Edmison. It wasn't until 6.25 p.m. that the tragic discovery was made. Apparently the youngster had been dead some time.

The radio station was asked not to broadcast the news that the youngster had been found dead until his father, away hunting near Tweed, could be notified.

The child is survived by his parents, Frank Morrow and the former Joan Primeau, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Primeau, Peterborough, and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Morrow, Tweed.

Funeral service will be held Wednesday at 2:15 p.m. from Duffus Funeral Home to St. Peter's Cathedral for blessing at 2:30 p.m. Burial will be in St. Peter's Cemetery.

More Than 10,000 On Fairgrounds

Despite threatening skies and an awkward power blackout, the Norwood Thanksgiving Day Fair proved "bigger and better than ever."

There was no official tally covering everybody who entered the fair grounds but G. A. Brethen, president, estimated there were several thousand more than ever before. One Fair Board official put the attendance at more than 10,000.

After a colorful children's costume parade through Norwood, and the singing of the Maple Leaf and God Save the King by a massed choir of schoolchildren, the fair was officially opened by Ben Bleecker, president of the Ontario Fairs Association.

Mr. Bleecker advocated the government give Grade "C" fairs the same assistance on fair ground buildings as it did to classes "B" and "A".

Greatest crowd pleasers were the three harness races: the free-for-all with a $200 purse, 2.24 with a $150 purse, and the 2.28 with a $100 purse.

Victory Hi, owned by Stan Blewett and driven by Orville Fallis, got top money, winning all three heats in the free-for-all. Peter Aubrey, owned and driven by Harry Ingles, Brighton, was second, running 2-2-2. Flika, owned and driven by B. C. Sammons, Cobourg, ran 3-3-3; and Jerry Mac Jr., owned by J. Jones, Oshawa, and driven by Allan Brown, came fourth.

In the 2.28, Dark Mercury, owned and driven by Harry Ingles, split top money with Wee Jack, owned by Sharp Motors, Oshawa, and driven by Orville Fallis. Dark Mercury ran 2-1; Wee Jack 1-2; Jerry B, driven by Allan Brown, 4-3, and Star Allstrange, owned and driven by Arthur Wells, Brighton, 3-4.

Rocket Hanover, owned by H. J. Bone, Port Hope, and driven by Clarence Franklin, had it all his own way in the 2.24. He won all three heats.

Luella Gay, owned and driven by Harry Ingles, battled it out with Lee Mainsheet, owned by Stan Blewett and driven by Orville Fallis for second place. The Blewett horse won out 2-3-2. Buddy Hal, owned and driven by W. J. Fowler, Apsley, finished 4-4-4.

Babe, owned by M. Parry, R.R. 1, Frankford, captured the running race 1-1-1 and finished 1-2-2 in the pony race. Jim Cricket, E. Morris, R.R. 1, Frankford, came 2-2-2 in the running race, and Teddy, belonging to H. Michell, of Markham, finished 2-1-1.

More entries were reported at this year's fair than ever before, and the prize list was longer than last year. A long list of special prizes was awarded for the best livestock, poultry, grain and other entries in the 34 classes listed.

The parade of champions held in the horse oval was so long it had to be spread onto the race track. The prize horses and cattle were spread out for a quarter of a mile.

Duck Hunter Dies As Accident Fires Old Gun

Patrick Hill, 17, a native of Havelock, was killed almost instantly Saturday noon when his old-model shotgun accidentally discharged while he was removing it from a moored rowboat.

The fatality was the first of the duck hunting season in the Peterborough district. It occurred at Flat Rapids on Crowe river, five miles east of Havelock.

An exposed hammer on the double-barrelled, 12-gauge shotgun is believed to have caught on some part of the boat when he picked the gun up by the barrel. The full blast from one barrel struck him on the right side, just below the armpit.

Three companions on the duck-hunting expedition—one of them Hill's brother—had gone ashore and were out of sight when the gun went off. They heard the report and raced back to the boat but were unable to be of assistance.

He was lying partly on shore and partly in the shallow water at the river's edge.

Hill's family lives on Ottawa St., Havelock, but for some time he has been working with the Gail Lumber Co., Oshawa. His brother Bob, 19, and Ross Varty, 19, companions on the hunt both work with the lumber firm.

The fourth member of the party, Glen Varty, also 19, is a cousin of Ross's.

After renting a boat from Russell's Cabins on Crowe Lake the youths started up the river. The boat was moored at Flat Rapids and three of them immediately went ashore, leaving Hill to follow.

Dr. Donald Munro of Warsaw coroner, said there would be no inquest. Provincial Constable Don Erskine of Campbellford investigated.

The funeral is at 2.30 p.m. today (Tuesday) in the United Church, Havelock.

The fatally-injured youth was born in Dummer township. His next of kin includes nine brothers and a sister .

Intruders In Butcher's Forget To Take Steak

A break-in at the Montgomery deep freeze plant and butcher shop on Robinson St. Monday night netted thieves nothing — not even two large steaks they started to take.

They tried to crack open the office safe but without success. The dial was knocked off, but little else done to it.

The would-be thieves forced a door into the plant after going through a shed owned by McCarthy and Johnson and climbing a ladder to the door.

They went into the butcher shop section of the plant and there picked up two steaks that had been wrapped up. They carried them into the office and set them on a radiator while they tried to open the safe. They left without the steaks and this morning the meat was slightly cooked.

Detective-Sergeant John Stevenson and Sergeant William Aggas, identification officer, investigated.

City Man, 25, In Hospital One of Three Hurt In Weekend's Accidents

Jack H. Hendren, 25, 75 Sherbrooke St., is in St. Joseph's hospital after his motorcycle Monday night plowed through a rail fence into a nearby field, a half mile north of Marmora on the Cordova road. He sustained cuts on his face and neck and was brought to hospital unconscious from a combination of injuries and shock. His condition is not considered serious. Hendren was one of three car accident victims admitted to Peterborough hospitals over the Thanksgiving weekend.

On Rear Seat

His companion, Roy Foster, 22, of 292 Townsend St., was riding on the rear seat of the motorcycle when it went out of control on the gravel road and crashed through the wooden fence.

Foster remained on the vehicle and was uninjured, but Hendren fell off and was picked up lying on the ground, straddling a post.

Dr. Don Holdcroft, of Havelock, gave the injured youth medical attention and he was taken to hospital in Peterborough, still unconscious.

The two youths were going to Cordova The accident was caused when Hendren failed to take a turn in the road and the motorcycle plunged into the ditch.

Constable Percy Enbury, of Marmora, and Provincial Corporal Jack Hatch, of Madoc, investigated.

Head Injured

Joseph Crowley, 30, Donegal St., escaped with a minor head injury when shortly before 7 p.m. Saturday his truck left Highway 28, north of Bewdley.

The panel truck is a total wreck after crashing into a clump of pine trees and rolling over. Crowley later said he was affected by exhaust fumes and had blacked out at the time of the accident.

He was thrown clear of the wreck but was taken to Civic Hospital for observation, and he was released Sunday.

Provincial Constable F. Clough, of Cobourg, investigated.

Pauline Ksonzena, aged four, of Trenton, is in St. Joseph's Hospital with bruises sustained when she fell from the back seat of a moving car. Her condition is not considered serious.

Adjourn Charges Against Archie Patterson

Archibald Patterson, 75, North Monaghan, appeared in police court in answer to two charges of reckless and careless driving following an accident Sept. 28 in which William Simmons, 72, Orpington Rd., was killed at Park and Lansdowne Sts.

The two charges were adjourned without a plea to Oct. 25 for a hearing. Patterson was represented by T. J. Carley, K.C.

Simmons was hit by Patterson's car as he was walking from the southwest corner north across Lansdowne St. He was hurled or carried part way by the car to the northeast corner some 50 feet away and died in about two minutes.

Patterson and Simmons were friends who some 25 years ago had lived near each other on Orpington Rr. They had remained friends ever since.

Patterson was driving his car east on Lansdowne St. He said he did not have time to apply his brakes before hitting Simmons. He saw him only an instant before, almost directly in front of his car about six feet away.

Simmons was on his way to the bank east of the intersection on Lansdowne St. to cash a cheque. He had parked his car on the south side of Lansdowne St. west of Park St. and apparently intended to turn south on Park St. to go home after returning from the bank.

Hydro Fails Twice During Norwood Fair On Monday

NORWOOD, Oct. 10—Electric power failed in Norwood twice on Monday, both at crucial times of the day. At dusk, a fuse in a transformer failed and for more than an hour people on the fairground were groping in darkness, relieved only by a few car headlamps and flashlights.

The main events of the fair had ended and the blackout came during a lull but at a busy time for those serving hots drinks and lunches. Others were ready to take their stands downs and worked as best they could in the dark.

Before it was time for the evening entertainment, the lights came on again.

The first failure was at noon and for 15 minutes the village was without power. Once again, those serving hot meals at the fair were handicapped, but by dint of a little ingenuity, the busy women managed to provide dinner for the hungry crowd.

The W.A. of the United Church had a tent where a hot midday meal was served and where sandwiches, pie and coffee were available throughout the day. The Catholic Women's League also had a stand and the Anglican denomination was also represented.

GREENBACK WITH RED TOUCHES — This is a copy of one side of a phony American dollar bill being circulated widely among the poor in Italy by Communist propagandists. In place of the usual seal, the note has an atomic bomb and the inscription, "Atomic Death Terror." On the opposite side are the letters "KKK" under a hooded figure. The inscriptions at top and bottom say "With this money they cannot buy the Koreans," and "With this money they cannot buy the Italian people."

Deny Reports Audie Murphy Quitting Films

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 10 (AP)—Reports that Audie Murphy is quitting the movies are exaggerated.

So says Murphy, the much-decorated soldier and blossoming star of the movies. The reports arose after he enlisted in a National Guard outfit in his native Texas. That meant active duty in the army, with the possibility of a long hitch.

"I'll report to Austin, Texas, as soon as I finish the picture," said Murphy. "But I'll only be in a few months to help train combat troops. Then I'll come back to Hollywood."

He denied printed stories that he is mad at Hollywood and will give up pictures.

Happy in Pictures

"I'm as happy working in pictures as I would be in any other business," he said. "There are things I don't like and people I don't like, but that would be true whether I worked for the movies or the telephone company or anything else."

Murphy is more mature and assured than he was when he first arrived here after the war. He seems to take the Hollywood hoopla more in stride. But he is still amazed at the things that are written and said about him.

For instance, last week he received a chastising telephone call from a big theatre owner, who had heard reports that Audie was being temperamental on the "Red Badge of Courage" set. Audie had director John Huston call the magnate to assure him the rumors were false.

Master of 50 Years Ago Honored By Masonic Lodge

Rt. Wor. Bro. W. L. Armitage, Toronto, a past master of Peterborough lodge, A.F. and A.M. for fifty years was honored on Friday night when he was presented with a long service medal.

It was the second time in the 87 years of Peterborough lodge that one of its past masters has lived to claim the distinction of being 50 years a past master.

The presentation was made by Bro. James Hamilton who was an officer in the lodge when Rt. Wor. Bro. Armitage was Master.

The chairs in the lodge were occupied by veteran past masters and members. Rt. Wor. Bro. Armitage was in the master's chair. Others in the chairs were V. Wor. Bro. W. J. Henry, Wor. Bro. R. G. Cottrell, Wor. Bro. A. Davidson, V. Wor. Bro. M. T. Breckenridge, Bros. Ed. Wand, William Ackerman, James Hamilton, O. B. Shortly and A. J. McClellan.

A veteran Jewel representing [illegible] years of continuous membership was presented to Bro. A. J. McLellan by Rt. Wor. Bro. R. L. Dobbin.

It being the annual past master's night of the lodge the past masters occupied the chairs for the work of the evening which consisted of the initiation of Robert Andrew Boucher. His father Wor. Bro. W. P. Boucher assisted in the ceremony.

Dean Armitage was ordained in St. Paul's Cathedral, London, Ontario in 1894. Two years later he was appointed assistant to the Rev. Canon J. C. Davidson of St. John's Church, Peterborough with charge of All Saint's Mission. He was named the first rector of All Saint's when it was set aside as a separate parish in 1902. He was later vicar of Picton, and rector of St. Mark's, Toronto, St. James' London and rector and canon of St. John's Cathedral, Saskatoon. Two years later he was elected Grand Chaplain of the Grand Lodge of Canada, and in 1927 was named Grand Chaplain of the Grand Chapter of Saskatchewan.

He is also a Royal Arch Mason and occupied the chairs in Prince Edward Chapter and was in 1911 Grand Superintendent of Prince Edward District.

Enrolment Down At Universities

OTTAWA —(CP)— A labor department quarterly bulletin shows that enrolments in Canadian universities are about 2,000 lower than they were in 1948-50.

The department said the decrease was expected since most of the veterans of the Second World War who sought higher learning after their discharge now have graduated.

The bulletin showed that the annual number of all graduates with bachelor degrees or the equivalent, had risen from about 4,000 in 1920 to more than 18,000 in 1950. The sharpest increase was in the post-war years from 1945 to 1950. The department anticipated the downward trend will continue to about 11,000 in 1958 when a slight upwards trend—the normal long-term trend—might be expected.

The annual number of engineering graduates rose from about 400 in 1921 to about 3,600 in 1950.

It was estimated that this figure would decline to about 1,000 in 1955. Then a gradual increase might be expected to reach about 1,200 in 1960.

The department said the employment market varied considerably between branches of engineering. Mining engineering was a branch that likely would have a shortage of graduates in the next few years. But electrical engineering, the most popular choice of veteran students, appeared likely to show a slight surplus for the time being.

IN 50 YEARS ALUMINUM HAS GROWN TO BE A LARGE PART OF CANADIAN LIVING

Aluminum plant - Kingston, Ont.

Unloading ingots

final inspection

Half-way House between Aluminum Ingot and You

With an axe and a few other hand tools, our ancestors could chop down trees and make houses, chairs, bowls, canoes — lots of things. But all these were heavy and had many other disadvantages. It's different now that we have aluminum — which is light, rustless, won't burn, doesn't rot . . . is practically everlasting.

It takes a whole series of unusual and complicated "tools" to make things of aluminum. To start with, it takes ships to import the ore, ports for unloading, powerhouses for electricity, smelters . . . all these to produce the aluminum itself, still only in ingot form.

Next, it takes a plant like the Alcan one at Kingston to receive these ingots from the smelters and to shape the metal into tubes, sheets, extrusions, forgings and foil. Finally, it takes more than 1000 Canadian manufacturers to form all these into chairs, kitchen utensils, building materials, aeroplanes, etc. — things Canadians use every day.

So, you see, this Kingston plant is "half-way" house between ingot and finished article, between the original aluminum and you. It is a link in the chain of "tools" with which, over the last fifty years, Canadians have equipped themselves to make aluminum articles — creating work and wages for thousands, bringing greater convenience and comfort to modern living.

Spencer-Sidey Wedding

The marriage took place in Mark St. United Church Friday, at 4 o'clock, of Irene Eleanor, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Sidey of Warsaw to Roy Harold Spencer, son of Mrs. Harold Spencer of Brighton and the late Mr. Spencer.

The Rev. B. S. Morwood officiated, assisted by the groom's uncle, the Rev. Ralph Spencer of Montreal. Baskets of gladioli and autumn leaves decorated the church for the occasion. Music was played by Mrs. Cecil Searles at the organ, and Mr. Searles who played violin solos before the ceremony and during signing of the register.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of regal, lily satin with closely molded bodice, long, close fitting sleeves tapering to points over the hands, sheer nylon yolk outlined with appliques of Swiss organdy cutwork and seed pearls and the same cutwork formed a tiny peplum at the waist line. The skirt fell in soft folds at back continuing into a graceful train. Her veil was of silk illusion, fingertip length, the edges outlined with fine silk braid and was held to a braided tiara of satin, scattered with seed pearls. She carried a cascade of white mums.

Miss Willa Wright of Niagara Falls, cousin of the bride, was maid of honour wearing, coronation green taffeta and carrying bronze 'mums. Miss Bernice Spencer, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid, gowned in rust taffeta and carrying golden yellow mums. Their gowns were designed on similar lines with close fitting bodice and full skirts, shorts jackets with full backs and three-quarter length sleeves. Headdresses and mittens were of matching taffeta.

Nora Spencer, sister of the groom was flower girl in gold taffeta with low round neck and full shirt caught at the hemline with baby mums. Her headdress was also of gold taffeta and she carried a small cascade of bronze and white mums.

The groom's attendance was his brother Gordon Spencer and ushers were Ross Branscombe of Brighton and Alan Cameron.

At the reception held in the Empress Kawartha Room, the bride's mother received wearing a two-piece dress of purple-aster crepe with matching hat and corsage of mauve mums. She was assisted by the groom's mother who wore dove grey crepe with hat of purple velvet and corsage of mauve 'mums.

The bride and groom left for a motor trip to Quebec and New York city. For travelling the bride chose a suit of navy pic-and-pic with navy and red velvet accessories, navy top coat and corsage of red roses.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Men and Women of Forty Often Lose their Discretion

DEAR MISS DIX: After twenty years of married life I am in love with my wife, while she has apparently lost all interest in me except as a provider. I am 43. She is 42. We have three lovely daughters, the oldest 17, the youngest 5.

Dorothy Dix

My wife and I have lived together understandingly and in comparative happiness and contentment until about a year ago when a change in her attitude became apparent. Without any reason whatever she became cold and unresponsive to me and seemed to lose all interest in me. She never smoked nor drank until the last year. Now, while she doesn't do either at home, she smokes continuously when we are out with others and frequently drinks too much. She also has become very flirtatious and courts the attentions of men.

I am not jealous. I only wonder what change has come over her or over me to cause her to so completely change her conduct.

A BEWILDERED HUSBAND.

◇ ◇ ◇

ANSWER: There is nothing the matter with your wife but her age. The 40s are the age of indiscretion for women as well as men. It is then that men and women who have been sane and well poised heretofore suddenly seem to take leave of their senses and do mad things that they spend the balance of their lives repenting.

Youth's Last Call

Of course, there is a pathological reason for this. It is the last flare-up of passion, the last call of youth, the last chance at romance, and to many men and women the temptation to have one final fling, one last draught of the heady wine of pleasure without counting the cost, that is irresistible.

It is this feeling that makes middle-aged men, who have been staid and sober citizens and exemplary husbands and fathers, forsake their devoted wives and marry girls young enough to be their daughters.

It is this that makes middle-aged women have their faces lifted and their hair dyed and buy themselves boy-husbands if they have money enough. Every community has its spicy tales of men and women who have made fools of themselves in their 40s by swapping off old wives and husbands for new, and who are paying the price in bitterness and tears and disillusion, and in being the laughing stock of all who know them.

Time is the only cure for her state. If you have the patience just to wait this phase will pass and she will be glad enough to come back to the old love that is tried and true and comfortable.

◇ ◇ ◇

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a young man of 28, engaged to a girl who works in the same department of a large business office that I do. She is secretary-stenographer, to a man who is my department head. She is constantly browbeaten and driven by her boss, and she comes to me with her troubles and complains about him. I want to sympathize with her, but I do not want any personal feelings between the man and myself, for he is also my boss, and it makes the situation very difficult for me. I also asked my sweetheart not to wear her engagement ring at the office, and she is putting off our marriage because of this. I love her more than all the jobs on earth, so what shall I do?

ANXIOUS.

ANSWER: Marry her and take her out of the office. She is evidently one of the women who are temperamentally unfit for business and whose proper sphere is a home where they can be monarch of all they survey and quarrel with the butcher and the baker without endangering their husbands' futures.

As the matter stands it is just a question of time until she will lose you your job because your mutual boss will find out that she is running to you with her complaints about him and that you are taking her part, and he will discharge you. Even now she is hindering your chances of advancement, which must come to you through your immediate superior, by distracting your attention from your work and causing you to dislike him.

I trust your sweetheart will make you a good wife in the way of being affectionate and kind and a good cook. But she isn't going to be the kind of wife who will help you get on in the world. If she were broad-minded enough to see the picture as a whole, she would know that your success depends on your getting along with your boss, and she would not try to stir up enmity between you.

◇ ◇ ◇

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband is having an affair with a girl in his office. Should I go to her and demand that she give him up?

JERSEY.

◇ ◇ ◇

ANSWER: Certainly not. Why humiliate yourself further? The girl knows all about you and she would only laugh at you and gloat over you. Any girl who runs around with a married man knows exactly what she is doing and cares nothing for his wife's feelings or rights.

THICK SLICES OF POTATOES, cut in spirals and deep-fried, make unusual holders for all sorts of foods.

Potato Nests or Twirls Make Attractive Containers

Even the best cook runs short of ideas every once in a while, and the best way to keep this from happening or remedying it when it does occur, is to purchase the Culinary Arts Institute series of 24 cookbooks which are currently being released to readers of this newspaper.

Each of these remarkable cookbooks deals with a single phase of cookery in such a way that the inexperienced cook will have no trouble following the instructions and the more experienced cook will find it a rich source of new and unusual ideas as well as a ready reference book for any culinary question.

So far the titles released are Snacks, Leftovers, Cakes, Poultry, Pies, Soups, Salads, Meat, Fish, Eggs, Vegetables, Desserts. This week "250 Ways of Serving Potatoes" is available. This book contains many thrifty recipes, party suggestions, and unusual ways of treating a food that is served at least once a day in most households. The recipes are concise and beautiful photographic illustrations on every page give added serving ideas. There are 2 suggestions from the Potato Book which could be used to serve with any creamed meat, fish, poultry or vegetable:

Potato Twirls

Pare two large potatoes and cut lengthwise into tiny strips. Heat in small amount of hot fat until nearly tender, but not brown. Remove from fat, sprinkle with salt and arrange potatoes against the sides and bottom of large deep muffin pans, pressing firmly into place. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees Fahr.) 15 minutes. Serve hot filled with any creamed fish, meat or poultry. Makes 6 nests.

Totato Twirls

Cut pared medium-sized potatoes crosswise into ¾-inch slices. Starting at the outer edge cut around and around in each slice to form a spiral. French fry in deep hot fat (380 degrees Fahr.).

The correct method of French frying potatoes, with many variations, is of course included in the Potato Book.

You will certainly want to get your copy of the Potato Book and catch up on whatever earlier titles you might be missing. All you need do is clip a coupon from page 2 of any issue of this newspaper—one coupon for each cookbook you want—and present the coupons with 25c for each book at The Examiner Office, or to your Examiner carrier, or at Braund's Home Food Markets. Or if you wish to order your cookbooks by mail, send the coupons with 30c for each book (5c additional for postage and handling) to Cookbook Department, Examiner, Peterborough.

Visitor Enjoys National Parks

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP) Canada's parks have a big appeal for Mrs. J. Leach of Tulsa, Okla. After visiting Wasesiu National Park in Northern Saskatchewan, she announced a determination to visit all of Canada's 26 [illegible] parks.

She said Washesiu—and five other Canadian national parks she already had visited — are "rings around" the ones in the United States.

"My husband and I have decided to visit all 26 parks—even if we have to cover them in a wheel chair."

Apfel Strudel for Dessert Appetising German Recipe

By MARY MOORE

The young lady who is re-arranging the dust on our floors this year is named Erna, and while I am never sure that there is no dust under the beds and that the shirt collars will be wrinkleless I am sure that that gal can make Apfel Strudel.

She does not "live in" but brings me the most wonderful food that she makes at home. In one-half German, one-quarter English and one-quarter eloquent gestures she gives me the recipes.

I hope our readers who know authentic German recipes when they see them find this one as satisfactory as I do.

◇ ◇ ◇

Erna's Apfel Strudel

Stand your sifter in a big bowl and into it put 1 cup bread flour, 2½ teaspoons baking powder, 1½ tablespoons sugar and ½ teaspoon salt. Beat 1 egg slightly and add 3 tablespoons milk to it. Work into the flour mixture 3 tablespoons soft shortening and when it is blended enough to look like coarse oatmeal, pour the egg mixture into it and stir to make a stiff dough. Roll this out in a big sheet on floured board to one-quarter inch thickness. Spread with 2 tablespoons soft butter. Prepare 3 cups chopped pared and cored apples and mix with them 1-3 cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon each cinnamon and nutmeg. Spread this over the buttered dough. Roll up like a jelly roll, place in buttered baking dish. Erna saved out about 1 tablespoon of the egg and milk mixture to brush the top. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. for 45 minutes or until a apples are tender. Erna says to serve it hot or cold. I liked a little piece of Baumert cheese with it.

She proudly presented me with a sour-milk spice pie on Friday last. She had carried it ever so carefully up to our house on the bus and said just "For Petuh." As well as I could interpret it this is her recipe for that:

◇ ◇ ◇

Sour Milk Spice Pie

Soak 1½ cups seeded raisins overnight in 1½ cups sour milk and 2 tablespoons vinegar. When ready to bake, add 1¼ cups sugar, mixed with ¾ teaspoon cinnamon and a scant ½ teaspoon cloves. Stir in 1 or 2 beaten eggs. Pour into pastry-lined pie plate and bake as you would a custard pie—425 deg. Fahr. for about 35 to 40 minutes. Erna says this could have a top crust but "looks nize dis vay"—that is, with a creamy gold custard top.

◇ ◇ ◇

Minnesota Bean Pot

This one is not Erna's. It comes direct from my dear friend Garnie Groh. Notice its thrifty qualities.

One-half pound kidney beans, 1 sliced onion, ¼ to 1-3 cup chopped fat pork, ½ lb. ground round steak or hamburg, 6 small red peppers, 1 quart canned tomatoes, 3 teaspoons salt. Wash the beans and soak over night well covered with water. In the morning put on to cook in the soaking water, adding the onion which has been sauteed with the fat pork, for about 5 minutes. Add the beef, pepper, tomatoes, salt. Bring slowly to boiling point and simmer covered for about 2½ hours or until beans are tender. To serve remove the peppers and pass crisp crackers at the table.

Garnie makes this in a very large quantity. She serves it for supper when it is first made and cans the rest for storing.

◇ ◇ ◇

Obviously you readers know I would love to have your contributions too, to this column, for there are many cooks who read this who have treasured German recipes we would love to share with you.

SPEAKING OF FOOD—

The other day your reporter was in Dominion steeping in the friendly courteous atmosphere when a perplexed customer arrived at the meat counter. The pleasant salesman enquired how he could be of service. The customer replied that he wanted a roast. "Any particular kind?" asked the salesman. To this the shopper replied, "A good one." "Well sir," beamed the meat man, "that's easy . . . This is Dominion and that's the only kind we sell."

Incidentally the shopper selected a beautiful looking roast of beef, the kind for which Dominion has a reputation and departed happily.

Why don't you visit Dominion and see for yourself the reason so many shoppers are turning to Dominion for dependable quality meats.

This is the season for apples. They're right at their best now for looks, flavour and quality. And just to give your family something new in apple pie, try this. A generous layer of snappy cheese grated on top of the pastry, before baking, will give your pie a wonderful flavour. McIntosh Reds are selling at 65c for a 6 qt. basket. Wealthy apples at 59c and Alexanders 3 lbs. for 19c.

Have you entered Dominion's contest "Dollars for Shoppers?" You may win a valuable cash prize. Here's all you have to do to enter . . . go to you Dominion Master Market and ask for your entry blank fill it out and listen to station CHEX at 6:55 every evening. If your name is drawn from the number of entries, you will be asked one question. The right answer brings you a cash prize.

So why not do your family shopping quickly and conveniently at Dominion and when you're there, fill out your entry blank.

P.S. And just in case you're in doubt, your Dominion Master Market is located at George and Sherbrooke Streets in Peterborough.

Information about Travel Funds

New regulations covering travel funds were announced by the Minister of Finance on Wednesday, October 4th.

The main point to remember is that Canadian residents require Form H Permit to take out of Canada more than $50 U.S. or more than $100 of Canadian and U.S. currencies combined. Form H Permits will continue to be available at banks.

The regulation covering the use of Form H for the export of currency is a safeguard against the export of capital sums where such export would not be permitted through other channels.

Authority has been given to banks and other agents of the Foreign Exchange Control Board to approve applications for U.S. travel funds without reference to the Board, for amounts up to:

1. $500 per trip for bona fide business travel.
2. $500 per person in the calendar year for other travel.
3. $2,000 Canadian per year, or its equivalent, for attendance during a full academic year at a university, college or boarding school in the United States.

Applications in excess of these amounts may be referred to the Board and will be approved for reasonable amounts, having regard to the duration of the proposed journeys.

Border Travel:—Individuals may obtain up to $50 U.S. in any calendar month for use on a trip to the United States where the applicant will not be taking out of Canada more than a total of $100, of which not more than $50 is in U.S. funds.

Council Divided On Issue Of New School In Norwood

HAVELOCK, Oct. 10—(ENS)—The proposed new area high school to be erected at Norwood for this district caused a lengthy discussion at the meeting of Belmont and Methuen council on Saturday and resulted in the councillors being equally divided on the question. Reeve Ross Barrons found himself in the position of having to cast the deciding vote and he thought it was too big a question for one man to decide.

In consequence, the clerk was instructed to ask the Department of Education and the Department of Municipal Affairs if the council has the power to call a vote on the matter.

The motion by councillors Anderson and Whitney was that the council accept liability for Belmont and Methuen townships' share of the debenture debt on the proposed new area high school to be built at Norwood, the total cost of the school not to exceed the estimated cost of $328,908.

The amendment moved by councillors Newton and Wrightly was that the council would not accept responsibilities for debentures for the building of a new high school at Norwood until such time as this question was placed before the ratepayers for an expression of their opinion.

The council made a grant of $20. to Norwood Fair Board.

ELECTRIC RAILWAYS

Canadians first saw electric street railways in operation at the Toronto Exhibition Grounds in 1885.

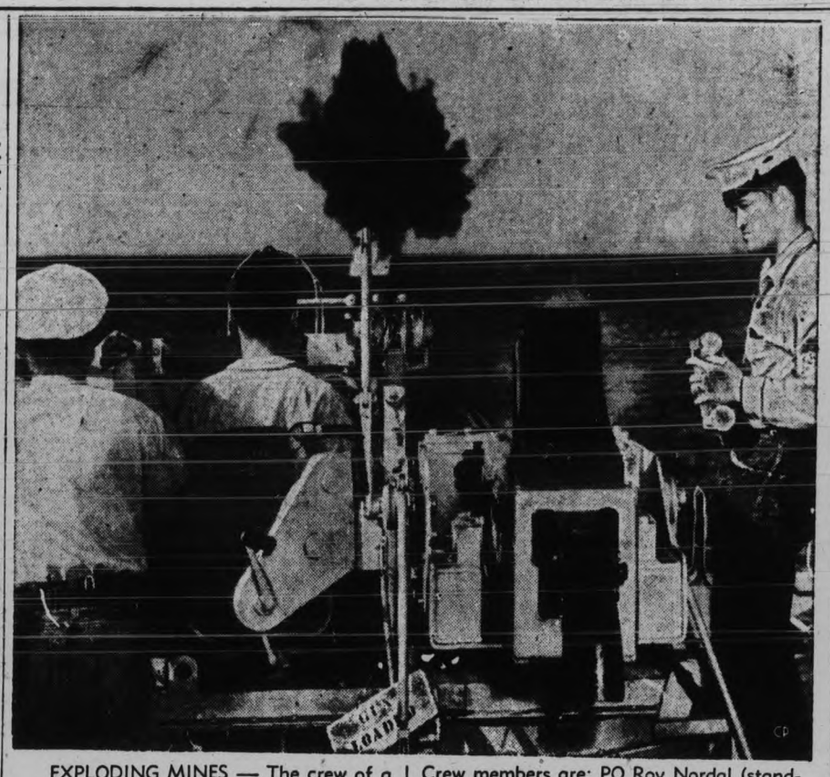
Yugoslavia Charges Russia Feathering Economic Nest

By ALEX H. SINGLETON

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Oct. 10 —(AP)— Yugoslavia—bitter over the role into which she has been cast by the Soviet-led cominform — charges Russia is feathering her own economic nest at the expense of her East European neighbors.

Perhaps no country has a clearer insight into Russian policies than Yugoslavia. Until two years ago, she was a partner in the Communist International Information Bureau. She patterned her economy along Russian lines and endorsed decisions—such as the Danube 1948 convention—which could be regarded as more in Russia's interest than Yugoslavia's.

Times have changed, and so has the Yugoslav attitude. Premier Tito's press has accused the Soviets of pulling a series of raw deals on the cominform clique, ranging from using Czechoslovakia as a finishing mill for Russian goods to milking tiny Albania's oil resources.



Sarcastic Views

Sarcastically, the influential newspaper Politika commented recently that Russia had signed agreements with all the other cominform countries "as might have been expected, on the basis of sad practices of so-called socialist relations which (were) supposed to have an atmosphere of friendship and mutual understanding."

"Just how much mutual understanding was imbued by the atmosphere," Politika said, "is best illustrated by the following facts:

"The treaty with Romania was signed on Feb. 17, with Bulgaria on Feb. 18, with Czechoslovakia on Feb. 22. Within five days, three Eastern European countries agreed to deliver 75 per cent of their entire export production to the Soviet Union. A few days later, similar agreements were negotiated with Hungary and Poland."

Tito's official press also has charged that Albanian oil is being shipped out of the little seacoast country in tankers at night and sold across the Adriatic in Italy as Soviet petrol.

Regiment To Fire Live Ammunition

A live-firing scheme has been planned for the 50th Heavy AA Regiment, RCA, Capt. Roy Leamen, head of the A and T staff at the armouries, announced today. The scheme will take place over the October 21-22 weekend.

The entire regiment, its equipment including three 3.7 ack ack guns and 14 trucks, will be used in the scheme to Picton. Some of the radar equipment may be taken also.

On route the regiment will occupy and defend a strategic position with their equipment. There will be no live firing during this part of the scheme. Following the noon meal the regiment will move on to the Point Peter firing range where they will occupy the firing positions there.

Fire Sunday

After spending the night at the Picton camp, the regiment will fire Sunday at the Point Peter range. It will return to Peterborough late Sunday afternoon. There will be no anti-tank firing.

"This is one of many schemes planned for this training year to increase interest and efficiency within the regiment," said Capt. Leamen.

The purpose of the scheme is to give the strength of the regiment additional live-firing of the guns. Only at the annual summer camp has the regiment as a whole had live-firing practice before.

Christian Scientists Held Monday Service

A Thanksgiving Day service was held by First Church of Christ, Scientist in the church edifice, Hunter Street, Monday morning, Thanksgiving Day.

The Thanksgiving proclamation by the Governor General of Canada was then read by Mrs. Norman Moffat, the First Reader.

The lesson-sermon for Thanksgiving Day given in the Christian Science Quarterly and read in all Christian Science churches in Canada and many other parts of the world, followed the second hymn. The subject of this lesson-sermon was "Thanksgiving" and had for the Golden Text: "Oh that men would praise the Lord for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men! And let them sacrifice the sacrifices of thanksgiving, and declare his work with rejoicing." (Psalms 102: 21, 22.)

After the responsive reading of the Bible passages, Mrs. Anna Seymour the Second Reader, read the citations chosen from the Bible, while Mrs. Norman Moffat, the First Reader, read the correlative passages from Science and Health.

A solo "Thanks Be to God" by Stanley Dickson, was sung by Mr. S. T. Castle, the soloist, after the lesson-sermon had been concluded.

Testimonies appropriate to the occasion were then given by Christian Scientists in the congregation. This period was completely filled by expressions of gratitude for healing and other help received during the past year.

Mrs. Mildred Hubbell, ATCM, was pianist.

LET REDS PROVE GOOD AIMS-CANADA

Three Allied Forces Closing Big Pincers On North Korean Capital

Red Leaders Reject Surrender Ultimatum Order Citizens Fight To Death, Australian, British Troops Across Frontier

TOKYO, Oct. 11—(AP)—Commonwealth and U.S. troops today were at least 10 miles inside North Korea and were fighting 75 miles south of the Red capital of Pyongyang, a field dispatch reported. They were reported steadily closing a pincers on the strategic road and rail centre of Kumchon, 11 air miles north of the 38th parallel. Kumchon is on the main road to Pyonyang. The size of the British, Australian and U.S. force which was grinding northward was not given. AP correspondent Don Whitehead said only that the troops were moving up "in force."

Four South Korean divisions also beyond the parallel were driving steadily against Red forces fighting a bitter no-surrender battle ordered by the Communist commander-in-chief.

The highest-ranking American on the fighting front, Maj.-Gen. Hobart R. Gay of the 1st Cavalry Division, said the Communist forces are doomed and the taking of Yongyang is only a matter of time.

"These cookies are [illegible]" he told war correspondents at Cavalry headquarters.

Communist premier Kim Il Sung told the 10,000,000 people of North Korea in a broadcast message that they must not surrender.

"Our motherland is face to face with a grave crisis," Kim said, ordering his shattered troops to "fight until the final day of victory, overcoming all difficulties."

Ignores Ultimatum

Kim's message was obviously an answer to Gen. MacArthur's second and "last time" surrender ultimatum of last Sunday, but the Red premier did not mention it.

On the Allied side, President Truman was scheduled to leave Washington late Wednesday for a weekend conference with Mac-

Bank Manager Drives Off Thug With Shots

TORONTO, Oct. 11—(CP)—A bank manager traded shots with a lone bandit today and foiled an attempted hold-up at a suburban branch of the Imperial Bank of Canada.

The gunman ordered manager William H. G. Smith out of his office in a small bank at Avenue Road and Fairlawn Avenue in North York township.

Smith reached into a desk drawer for his own weapon. He fired at the bandit and missed. The gunman shot back. A second shot from Smith and the bandit fled. No person was injured by any of the shots.

The thug entered the bank shortly before 1 p.m. EDT. First reports were that there were no customers there at the time.

He pulled a gun on the teller-accountant, W. H. Boyce. Nearby was a junior clerk, Douglas Hurd.

Covering Boyce and Hurd, the bandit ordered Smith out of his office, apparently in an attempt to crowd the entire staff into one corner. Seconds later the gunman was fleeing.

He got no money.

Say Tidal Wave Ruins 2 Villages

JAKARTA, Indonesia, Oct. 11—(AP)—Radio Amboina said today the tidal wave caused by Sunday's earthquakes swept away two villages with estimated damage of $1,000,000. No casualty figures were given.

The radio station, voice of Amboinese rebels who are fighting Indonesian Republican government forces, repeated an earlier appeal for speedy Red Cross aid "preferably by plane."

It said the coastal villages of Galala, 2½ miles from the capital, Amboina, and Hutumuri, on the southeast coast, vanished when tidal waves crashed 200 metres (656 feet) inland. Galala has a population of 1,00 and Hutumuri, 2,000.

Amboinese informants here said the villages, which are both in rebel-held territory, probably had been evacuated before the disaster struck. They said practically all men of the island are fighting the Indonesian government force and most of the women and children have taken to the mountains because of the military operations.

Hire Toronto Lawyer File McAuliffe Appeal

TORONTO, Oct. 11—(CP) — A Toronto lawyer was engaged Tuesday to file an appeal against the death sentence imposed on Herbert McAuliffe, 32, for the machine-gun slaying of Arthur Lierman after a bank robbery. McAuliffe is sentenced to be hanged Dec. 19.

Arthur Maloney claimed in his appeal that the trial judge, Mr. Justice R. W. Treleaven, should not have instructed the jury that it could not bring in a verdict of manslaughter.

Lierman, 31, an Oxford county tobacco farmer, and William Goddyn, 24, were shot down after they chased a robber from the scene of a bank robbery at Langton, Ont., last June. McAuliffe was arrested a few days later after an intensive manhunt.

Taking First Steps To End German War

BONN, Germany, Oct. 11 (AP)—The Western Allies today took another step toward ending the state of war with Western Germany.

Implementing the decision of the big three foreign ministers made in New York last month, the Western authorities here have asked the West German government to remove from its laws any references to the state of war.

The high commission's legal experts have asked West German Minister of Justice, Dr. Thomas Dehler, to appoint German representatives to an Allied-German committee being set up to put the New York decisions in motion.

Erasing the state of war references from the German law is necessary so that similar action can be taken by the governments of Britain, France, and the United States.

Set Brigade Sailing Date, May Not Leave

OTTAWA, Oct. 11 — (CP) — Arrangements have been made with the United States to ship [illegible] across the Pacific, and even the sailing dates have been tentatively set for next month. But the current feeling in Cabinet circles is that the force won't be going to Korea, at least not all of it.

The Cabinet meets Thursday to have another look at a paradoxical situation fast approaching a head, but there is no sign that it will make any new decision about the destination of the force's 10,000 men.

Delay arises from continued fighting in North Korea—which could end any day—and the fact that the United Nations haven't yet informed Ottawa whether or not Canadian troops will be needed for an occupation role. In the meantime, the plan to send them to Korea stands.

Want Token Force

The feeling here is that the UN will want at least a token Canadian force in the occupation for political reasons. Informed quarters say key cabinet ministers now feel the whole force won't be going to Korea, but that Canada would probably comply with a request for a small occupation force.

Meanwhile army headquarters is going right ahead with the original plan to send the force to Okinawa next month for final training, but is on notice to expect a change in that plan at any moment.

Advance parties are slated to leave for the Far East next week, but some people at defence headquarters doubt that they will. Canadian Army staging camp has been established at Fort Lewis, Wash., and staffed with officers and soldiers who, once the force has gone, will return to Canada.

Advance parties from the force itself are due to reach there shortly. As one high officer put it, once the momentum for a large military movement is started, it isn't easy to slow down without causing all sorts of trouble.

The plans have been carried to the point of arranging with the U.S. to transport the Canadians across the Pacific after Nov. 15 on American troop transports.

Pearson Asks Vishinsky Show Proof

Soviet Member Urges U.N. Speed Efforts For World Police

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 11 — (AP)—L. B. Pearson called today on Russia's Foreign Minister, Andrei Y. Vishinsky, to back up Soviet claims of peaceful intentions by proof in actions.

"We will wait with eagerness for that proof," the Canadian Foreign Affairs Minister told the U.N. general assembly's political committee.

Pearson and Carlos P. Romulo of the Philippines labelled groundless Vishinsky's statement that major portions of a seven-country anti-aggression resolution were illegal.

The only alternative to the plan, they said, is to sit back and admit failure of the United Nations' peace machinery.

On this third day of the committee's debate, support continued to pile up in the committee for the seven-power plan embodying collective security suggestions of State Secretary Dean Acheson. Ecuador, Ethiopia, and Iraq joined Canada and the Philippines in speaking for it.

Vichinsky Has One

Vishinsky put in a resolution of his own calling on the Security Council to speed its efforts to set up an international police force as provided under the UN charter. After 4½ years of trying, the Military Staff Committee has been unsuccessful in doing just that.

Undeterred by Russian opposition, the United States and other sponsors of the anti-aggression resolution redoubled their efforts to give the veto-free General Assembly emergency power to repel aggression.

Although disappointed that Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky's promised "partial support" turned out to be almost complete opposition, they planned strategy for an early vote. The expected adoption would mean the U.N. could never be caught short again by an emergency such as the Korean war.

They wrote off Russian obstruction as no more than they

See Final Clean-Up In Truman Meeting

Experts Say Plans Must Be Made Against Further Red Outbreaks

TOKYO,, Oct. 11 (AP) — President Truman's forthcoming with Gen. MacArthur is seen here as the prelude to a final clean-up in North Korea —and perhaps the birth of a broader and stronger American policy in the Far East.

This was the general interpretation placed today on the announcement of the forthcoming meeting this weekend somewhere in the Pacific.

In his first meeting with Truman, the U. S. commander in the Far East is expected to re-emphasize his long-standing views on the seriousness of the Communist threat in Asia.

Communist pressure has intensified Indo-China, which top military men here long have regarded a critical area. Communist heat is apparent also in other parts of Asia—an important target of the Kremlin, in the view of these commanders.

Announcement of the projected meeting recalled the 1944 conference of President Roosevelt, MacArthur and Admiral Chester Nimitz in Hawaii, when the final strategy of the Pacific war against Japan was decided.

"Final Phase" Clear

The "final phase" of the Korean war, which the White House said will be discussed, appears clear.

A powerful United Nations force already has begun the climatic military drive into North Korea. All political barriers to the crossing of the 38th parallel into Communist territory have been removed.

The conclusion of the campaign will produce a host of political and economic problems throughout Korea. The pattern for occupation appears to have been fixed by MacArthur's set-up in Japan.

But in themselves, these problems do not appear to require a presidential journey to the Pacific.

This leads to the belief that military policy in the Far East will be discussed at the Pacific conference.

In general, American defence problems in relation to Formosa, Indo-China and other Asian areas may be covered at the meeting. It was noted that the White House announcement said Truman and the general will discuss 'other matters within his (MacArthur's) responsibility."

Top Competition For Plowmen Opens At Match

ALLISTON, Ont., Oct. 11 (CP) —Major competition in the 37th International Plowing Match gets under way today with a number of British and United States plowmen vying with Canadian champions.

Today's international card includes nine open classes in stubble plowing with jointer plows, both horse and tractor.

The competition, sponsored by the Ontario Plowmen's Association, continues until Friday at the nearby Nottawasaga Valley farms. Events offering top prizes for Ontario plowmen—free trips to the United States and the United Kingdom—will be held Thursday and Friday.

For a while Tuesday it appeared that rainy weather might force postponement of the matches, but the intermittent rain turned out to be a blessing for the plowmen, damping down the sandy soil to the right consistency for good, clean furrows.

Some 6,000 spectators were on hand to view Tuesday's special "local county" competitions. Eligible were competitors of any age or sex from the counties of Dufferin, Grey, Ontario Simcoe and York, with winners advancing into international divisions.

Alberta Entry

Len Job, this year's Alberta champion, is here from Edmonton and has entered matches for each of the three days of international competition.

Former British and Irish champions living in Canada now also are in evidence.

Among the first to appear was a former Irish champion, Pat Minnock, now 27, who won the Eire championship at the age of 21. John Lindsay Brown is an Irishman of another color, three-time champion of Ulster, whose cups now decorate his home near Bradford.

From across the Irish Sea comes R. L. Batey, of Newcastle-on-Tyne, former winner of several British intercounty contests. Batey now spends much of his time trying to convince Canadian farmers of the value of the Ransome plow.

Clerk Lost In Bush 42 Hours, Now Safe

ROUYN, Que., Oct. 11—(CP) —Phil Gormier, 34-year-old store clerk, walked out of the bush to safety Tuesday after spending 42½ hours lost in rugged country 20 miles west of Rouyn. He became separated from a hunting companion Sunday night.

He had no food during his wanderings but was in good spirits when he reached a highway about 12 miles from the point where he entered the bush.

Killed By Motor

RITTMAN, O., Oct. 11—(AP)—Death caught up with Ira Johnson, 50, of Akron Tuesday night as he ran away from his automobile after it stalled on a Baltimore and Ohio railroad crossing. The train struck the stalled vehicle and hurled the car's motor several hundred feet. The motor struck Johnson in the back.

Governors Ask For Increase In Civic Hospital Credit

Disappointment to the council and also to the Board of Governors of Civic Hospital in failure to sell the old Nicholls Hospital property at an expected sum up $200,000 may require further borrowing, according to the prospect sketched at the meeting of the finance committee of the council Tuesday night.

A motion by Mayor Swanston and Ald. J. A. Dewart proposed that Mr. T. T. Rodger, treasurer of the Board, be requested to attend a committee meeting next Monday night to outline and discuss that aspect of the new hospital's financing.

This course developed out of the consideration given to a letter from the governors asking for permission to increase the limit of their temporary borrowing to meet current operating costs from the present $25,000 to $50,000.

"The board needs increased borrowing power because there are certain times toward the end of the month when payments of salaries and also for necessary purchases have to be made, and at the same time collections may not be sufficient," Mayor Swanston said.

"It is like the case of the business man who has doubled his business and needs a larger line of credit," said Ald. Dewart.

Ald. E. C. Braund said the money was too easy got for the governors. "They've got to live within their means. I think $25,000 is enough borrowing credit."

Said Ald. Dewart: "If $25,000 was enough before they moved into the larger hospital, it seems reasonable that they need increased credit now with twice the number of beds and patients."

Ald. H. F. Waddell said the collection of bills from patients was still one of the great problems of the board.

The estimated deficit in operating the hospital was $6,666 a month, and the board was also permitted to borrow up to $25,000 to meet their liabilities, Ald. Braund remarked. "That gives them something like $1,000 a day to play on."

Ald. Waddell remarked that the hospital was not like any commercial business. It had to receive patients, and then it needed money to carry on its day to day affairs.

"They have more accounts receivable," said Ald. Dewart, "and they need more credit to carry those accounts," Ald. Dewart said.

"You can't turn away sick people," said Ald. Waddell, a representative of the council on the board.

Ald. Braund indicated that he would be willing to agree to increased credit for the board, but only to the end of the year.

Ald. A. B. Burrows said he agreed with Ald. Dewart because the hospital plant had been greatly enlarged, and would necessarily require more borrowing

Council Rejects Dept. Inquiry

SUDBURY, Oct. 11 (CP)—City council Tuesday night voted down a motion that the Ontario Municipal Affairs Department be asked to investigate the city treasury department's system of handling money.

This proposal was made by Alderman L. Lamoureux and Jack Anderson during discussion of the disappearance Sept. 30 of $1,200 from a vault in the treasurer's office. The majority of councillors thought it better to await the results of police investigation.

Mayor W. S. Beaton, who has said it is possible the money was "misplaced," told council the provincial Attorney-General's department might be asked to help if current investigations do not turn up the case.

Earlier, a thorough search of municipal offices produced no trace of the money.

Burial will be in Woodland Cemetery with the Rev. A. G. Jacobi officiating.

No inquest is being held and no charges are being laid in connection with the accident, provincial police said today.

Government Ready to Name Arbitrator For Rail Dispute

OTTAWA, Oct. 11—(CP)—The government received formal notification today of the collapse of new railway-union negotiations ordered by parliament in its legislation ending the August general rail strike.

Appointment of an arbitrator to lay down settlement terms was expected to follow, and government sources indicated one would be appointed by cabinet next week.

Notification of the latest failure in the long negotiations came to the government today.

Cabinet met in a regular session shortly after, but authoritative sources said it was unlikely to appoint an arbitrator today.

Under the back-to-work legislation that ended the nine-day strike August 30, the arbitrator does not have to be appointed until after a statutory time laid down for negotiations between the disputants. This period—which has been extended once by cabinet—expires Saturday.

The arbitrator will have power to settle points still at issue between the railways and the unions representing the 124,000 employees who walked out Aug. 22. However, his powers will be limited only to the area still at issue, since the emergency legislation specified that he could not push back concessions granted by the railways or unions in their final negotiations.

Within that field, his decisions will be binding on both parties and must be written into ther new contracts.

Truck Upsets Bonarlaw Man Killed

Former Japanese POW David Wellman Trapped In Vehicle

David Wellman, 42, a resident of Bonarlaw, was killed almost instantly Tuesday night when his westbound truck went out of control and overturned on Highway 7, two miles east of Havelock.

He was pinned in the wreckage of the cab and was dead when extricated by passing motorists. There were no passengers.

Wellman was a former member of the Royal Rifles of Canada and was captured by the Japanese when they took Hong Kong, in December, 1941. He remained a prisoner of war until liberated by Allied forces nearly four years later. He is the son of Mrs. Jennie Wellman of Bonarlaw.

Badly Damaged

The cartage truck, owned by Wellman Bros., was badly smashed. It is believed the vehicle skidded on the slippery highway and went over onto the soft right shoulder. And it then upset trapping Wellman in the cab.

No eyewitnesses to the accident were reported.

Dr. W. M. Judd of Havelock arrived a few minutes after the accident but was unable to be of any assistance.

Provincial Constable Don Erskine of Campbellford investigated.

Latin Teacher Confesses Arson

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 11 (AP)—A Latin teacher at the University of Michigan confessed today, police said, that he set the fire that destroyed historic Haven Hall on the university campus June 6.

He was identified as Robert H. H. Stacy, 30, a teaching fellow. A warrant charging arson was issued.

Police picked up Stacy Tuesday night for questioning in connection with a $200,000 fire at a Montgomery Ward warehouse here Monday night.

Police said that after all-night questioning he admitted setting fire to a pile of maps on the second floor of Haven Hall the night it burned to a shell. Damage to the campus landmark was estimated at $618,000.

Liquor Board Plans General Tightening Up

TORONTO, Oct. 10—(CP)—J. G. Sprague, newly - appointed chief administrator of the Ontario Liquor Licence Board, said today there will be a "general tightening up" of all the board's services.

Mr. Sprague's appointment is designed to give the three-man board a stronger hand as a court hearing applications for licences and complaints about operation of liquor outlets. The appointments will free the three-man board from some of its inspection work and link it more closely with the Liquor Control Board which handles distribution and sale of liquor.

"There will be a general tightening up of all the services of the commission," he said. "There will be a review of all the affairs of the commission with the idea of putting into operation efficient and satisfactory service and administration."

Allotted $50 Bonus Enlisting In France

PARIS, Oct. 11 (Reuters)—Men enlisting or re-enlisting in the French armed forces will receive a bonus of 18,000 francs ($50) for two years and 78,000 francs ($220) for five years, the government announced Tuesday.

Meanwhile, the council of ministers decided to introduce a bill to lengthen compulsory military service from one year to 18 months. It will be laid before parliament when the new session opens Oct. 17.

French Build Fortresses Across Indo-China

Peasants Flocking Back Quickly To Once-Deserted Countryside

HANOI, Indo-China, Oct. 10—(Delayed)—(AP) — The French Army is feverishly pushing work on a web of permanent fortifications to hold 500 square miles of newly-conquered territory north of Hanoi.

In a 12-day offensive just ended, six battalions — about 4,200 men—cut a swath through a triangular region of flat ricelands 40 miles north of this chief city of North Indo-China.

(This action was south of the Caobang-Thatkhe border region where five French battalions were almost completely wiped out during the weekend by Communist-led Viet Minh guerillas).

Viet Minh forces dug pits and wide gaps in the road to block the French advance, and succeeded in making the route impassable for rolling equipment. The French had to make long hauls to replace the filler material.

Heavy mobile guards with automatic weapons and 40-millimetre guns were used to protect the construction gangs. About 1,000 villagers voluntarily helped, hauling dirt in straw baskets to fill the holes in the road.

Start 30 Fortresses

Army construction units have started to build 30 medieval-type brick fortresses in the new territory. Five of the main positions are along the roadside. The others are four and five miles back from the road, located to cover each flank.

Peasants who fled and hid in the face of advancing French columns last week now have started to return to villages and are reappearing in the fields.

What appeared to be a deserted countryside a week ago has suddenly come to life in the last two days. There is no cheering for the French. No French flags are shown. There is no display of emotion one way or another by the Viet Namese.

The French army today circulated leaflets telling the population of the capture of Thai Nguyen and of the French intention to occupy it permanently and protect the local people.

Gains Limited

For the first time a foreign correspondent was allowed in the advance area in North Indo-China during a French offensive. The operation was typical of a series during the last year that has driven the main military force of Ho Chi Minh's guerrillas from the ricelands to mountain strongholds.

Successful as it was, its importance is limited because the new territory will be as difficult to hold against the elusive hit-and-run guerrillas as it was to take. No real dent was made in Ho's forces.

Public School Can't Move Into Collegiate

COBOURG, Oct. 11 — (ENS) — Joint meeting of the Collegiate and Public School Boards with representatives of the town council was held Tuesday to discuss school expansion.

Last week the Public School Board asked council to issue debentures to pay $10,000 for a site for a new school. The request was deferred until council could enquire whether the high school area board was considering a new building to relieve its own overcrowding. In such an event the collegiate building might be available for use as a public school.

However, it was made clear at the meeting Tuesday that a new high school could not be considered for some time to come. The matter now reverts back to council for approval or otherwise of the new school proposal.

Appeal Court Refuses Set Aside Sentence

BLOEMFONTEIN, South Africa, Oct. 11—(Reuters)—An appeal court here today refused to set aside a 10-year sentence on Norbert Stephen Erleigh, gold mine company promoter, for theft and fraud on the grounds that he did not have a fair trial.

His appeal on other grounds against the conviction and sentence was still continuing.

Erleigh's application for setting aside his conviction and sentence was based on a claim that he had not had a fair trial. He alleged that Justice F. W. W. Lucas, who presided, had earlier expressed views "hostile and inimical" to financiers and capitalists.

Last April Erleigh and Joseph Milne, his partner in a 100,000,000 financial empire were both sentenced to 10 years hard labor. Erleigh was also fined £95,115 and Milne £88,810 both with the alternative of another 34 years in jail.

Tower On Fire Hall Will Disappear As Mechanical Dryers Take Over Job

Mechanical dryers are replacing the hose towers that have long reached up above the roofs of fire halls.

The tower at the Aylmer St. hall is being demolished, part of necessary alterations of the building, Ald. T. D. Miller reported to the finance committee Tuesday night. In damp weather hose used at fires took days to dry.

Dryers, operated by electricity, do the job in eight or nine hours.

Ald. Miller submitted tenders from three companies. The lowest was $918 each for two of these machines. His motion to buy was seconded by Ald. E. C. Braund. It was passed unanimously.

"We may have enough money left in our appropriation to pay for them," Ald. Miller said.

Scientists Show Truck For Processing Blood

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

SCHENECTADY, N.Y., Oct. 11 —(AP)—A 32-foot refrigerated truck that will process human blood for medical uses was given its first showing today at the National Academy of Science meeting, held at the General Electric Company's research laboratory.

The truck is the beginning of a new national blood program for the United States. It will be driven directly to donors' homes. In it, their fresh blood will be processed by new automatic machines that extract very vital substance. Only salt water is left when the robots finish. This water is nearly three-fourths of your blood.

The truck was demonstrated by Dr. Edwin J. Cohn, director of the Harvard University Laboratory of Physical Chemistry, and a group of scientists who made the blood-separation discoveries.

Red Cross "blood mobiles" will travel with the truck, taking donor blood. In the truck are new apparatus and five new whirling machines, known as centrifuges. The fresh new blood will have its red cells separated by a new process. The red cells will be preserved by new methods and will be given free to doctors for the many medical uses made of red cells, and for research.

Next the white cells — your protection against infectious disease—will be separated. This is the first time that live white blood cells have been available in quantity. What they are good for is not yet known. They will be tried as medicine, and probably for replacing the white blood cells whose destruction is one cause of death from atomic bombs.

Next will come separation of the numerous kinds of protein in blood plasma. When this separation is finished there will be no plasma left, only the salt water. This part of the separation yields numerous blood products already in medical use. It yields also hormones and enzymes never before available for human blood.

There are plans for research into the possibility of stockpiling these blood fractions, to be used to remake whole blood for transfusion in war and disasters.

The truck takes less than five hours for the entire separation. It is equipped to handle each day the blood of 200 donors of one pint each.

The bandits made their getaway in a car stolen from the lot after trussing the dealer, Lorne Hall, to an office chair. The car was recovered by police a short time after the robbery.

Hall was released by five 'teenage youths who heard his muffled cries.

Market Settling Into Narrow Path

TORONTO, Oct. 11 — (CP) — The market settled into a narrow price path as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Prices started on a firmer trend following Tuesday's declines but couldn't gain much ground.

Gains and losses were about balanced in industrials. A handful of market leaders were among the gains. Papers, refining oils and utilities brightened in the groupings. McColl Frontenac jumped ⅜ to 17⅝ in brisk dealings following news of an extra dividend of 35 cents. Steels, liquors and construction weakened fractionally.

Western oils slumped sharply with losses ranging up to 35 cents. Some recovery signs appeared in mid-session and a few losses were reduced slightly.

Losses tripled gains in base metals. Golden Manitou, a feature in recent sessions dipped sharply in early dealings but recovered most of the loss.

Golds showed gains ranging up to 15 cents among junior producers. Sullivan, Campbell, Red Lake and Central Patricia attracted considerable attention.

had expected. U. S. delegate John Dulles, who is guiding the resolution through the U.N., said:

"The important thing is to have armed units in readiness to act promptly to repel aggression. That Vishinsky rejects. This will disappoint all people who want positive action to strengthen the United Nations for peace."

Undermine Authority

Vishinsky based his objection to this point—and to most of the rest of the resolution the claim that it would undermine the authority of the Security Council, which he called "the foundation stone of the United Nations."

Only the Security Council, he said in the course of a 92-minute speech, has the power under the U.N. charter to control armed forces.

Almost half of the speech was devoted to a ringing defence of the Soviet use of the veto in the council.

Maintaining that the council is controlled by "an Anglo-American bloc," he declared that the veto "is a method of self-defence against a 'diktat' which other states, considering themselves all-powerful and glorious, attempt to foist on others."

Attempts of this bloc to impose its will on the rest of the U.N., he said, and not the Soviet veto, was the reason the Security Council was often impeded in exercising its functions.

Vishinsky went on to demand that the seven power sponsoring the anti-aggression resolution—Canada, Britain, the United States, France, Uruguay, the Phillippines and Turkey—admit openly that its real purpose is "to liquidate the veto."

Protest Delay In Paving Job

When is the street paving going to be finished, and let us get back to business as usual, is a question Ted Moore, Monaghan Road and Chamberlain St., is asking the contractor through the finance committee of city council.

His impatience with prolonged delay in getting the surfacing of Monaghan Road started was expressed in a letter from his solicitor, Mr. W. B. Gordon

Mr. Moore operates a service station at the Monaghan Road corner. That street has been dug up from Frank St. to Lansdowne St. Mr. Moore's grievance is to the effect that the disturbance of business by the contractor began Aug. 1, and as a result he has suffered a heavy loss of income.

"The contractor has delayed this work beyond reasonable time," Mr. Gordon wrote.

"My telephone has been mighty busy the last three days," said Ald. H. Dodds.

"Let's get Bennett here Wednesday, or not later than Thursday, and this matter can be taken up by the chairman of the board of works and some others, and get it settled one way or the other," was Mayor Swanston's suggestion.

The contractor is W. B. Bennett Construction Co., Oshawa.

Adoption Case Heard In UK

TORONTO, Oct. 11—(CP) — A prolonged dispute over the custody of an unwed mother's child will be taken to the Privy Council in London this month.

Arthur Maloney, Toronto lawyer, leaves today for England to petition the High Court Oct. 23 to hear the case of Baby Duffell It will be one of the last cases from Canada to go before the Privy Council under the government's ruling that no cases started after Dec. 19, 1949, may be appealed beyond the Supreme Court of Canada.

The child was adopted in April of 1949—three weeks after birth —by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Martin of Dunnville, Ont. The mother, an English immigrant, launched an action in Ontario to regain custody but it was turned down on grounds she had signed consent to the adoption.

The Ontario Appeal Board reversed the judgment ruling that the best interests of the child demanded that it be returned to the mother. The Supreme Court of Canada rejected an appeal by the foster parents, holding that the mother of an illegitimate child is not bound by any agreement to give it up to a stranger.

Mr. Maloney, appearing for the foster parents, argued that adoption legislation empowered a mother to give up her child to strangers.

Arthur in the Pacific somewhere west of Hawaii—on an island or a warship. The place was not specified.

The president told a press conference Tuesday in Washington he would discuss what actions are needed in the final phase of the Korean war to assure "a unified, independent and democratic Korea."

As the momentous talks drew near, this was the front-line situation in Communist Korea:

On the east, two South Korean divisions were mopping up small holdout forces in the strategic east coast industrial port of Wonsan, 95 airline miles east of Pyongyang.

Southeast of Pyongyang about 100 miles, two other Republican divisions were driving ahead on a 30-mile front. The South Korean 6th Division captured Kumhwa, a major road centre and drove several miles northwest.

Strong Resistance

West of this force, the U. S. cavalry drove several miles inside Red Korea on the closest approach to Pyongyang. Spearheads were within 80 miles of the capital but were meeting strong resistance. Other cavalry columns fanned out to the east and west, seeking holes in the Reds' border defence.

The broadcast of Kim's message heard in Tokyo, again contended that South Koreans invaded Communist North Korea June 25—the day the Reds invaded South Korea.

The U.N. decision to go into North Korea, he said, was "reacher unilaterally (one-sidedly), without allowing the participation of representatives of the Korean people."

South Koreans quickly denounced Kim's decision to continue the fight.

The vice-minister of defence at Seoul, Chang Kyung Keun, said:

"It is a pity that Kim Il Sung cannot accept Gen. MacArthur's surrender terms because Russia would not allow him to do so.

"The North Korean Communists are not fighting for Korea, but for Russia."

Satisfactory Progress

Gay told correspondents that the opening phase of the U.N. drive into North Korea was satisfactory. He estimated the Communists still could throw as many as 25,000 troops into the fight for their homeland.

This is the remnant of the 150,000-man force laced with Chinese Communist-trained and battle-hardened divisions they were able to muster for the invasion of South Korea.

Gay's 1st Cavalry Division was smashing at Red border defences along a 30-mile front in the Kaesong area, on and flanking the main road to Pyongyang.

"As I read military signs, he (the enemy) is pulling out," Gay said.

The General expressed the belief that the Communists along the border had no tanks and little artillery.

Heavily Mined

But the road to Pyongyang is heavily mined. Reds poured small-arms and mortar fire on the advancing cavalrymen from commanding heights flanking the road.

Communist Korean prisoners said they had been ordered to take cover in the hills when their organized pillbox defences were broken. They said Kumchon, 14 miles north of Kaesong on the main highway to Pyongyang, would be defended with everything the Reds can muster.

Cavalry troopers spearing west from Kaesong reached Paekchon, 13 miles to the west but just south of Parallel 38.

The centre column has pushed about 2½ miles into Red Korea on the main road.

The eastern column thrust five miles into North Korea, driving northeast toward Yuga.

Capt. W. K. Hopkins with the westward thrusting cavalry, said the Reds "retreated so fast we couldn't keep up with them."

Cheer U.S. Soldiers

AP Correspondent William J. Waugh, with the cavalry, said men, women and children lined the streets of Paekchon cheer the arrival of Americans.

In the centre of the 145-mile front, fighting flared around Yongchon, Chorwon and Kumhwa. South Korean troops seized Kumhwa, 20 miles inside Red Korea.

AP Correspondent William Jorden, with the South Koreans at Wonsan, said they captured so many rifles and sub-machine-guns they had to use Red prisoners to carrf them to gathering points.

North Korean civilians voluntarily worked at repairing bridges and carrying supplies, but the Reds still had parts of the city's outskirts under fire.

Peterborough Man

Teaches Ethiopian School

Earle Armstrong, formerly of Peterborough, is one of 13 new Canadian teachers who have joined the Ethiopian school system. Mr. Armstrong is teaching in a normal school in Addis Ababa, Haile Salassie's capital.

Born in Peterborough, Mr. Armstrong is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Armstrong, 669 Water St. He attended P.C.V.S. and graduated from Peterborough Normal School in 1943. This same year he joined the Royal Canadian Air Force and reached the rank of Flying Officer. He was overseas one year and three months.

Following his discharge, he attended the University of Toronto, where he graduated with his Bachelor of Arts degree in 1947. The next year he attended the Ontario College of Education.

Taught At Napanee

Mr. Armstrong taught at Napanee High school for one year and in 1949 re-enlisted in the Air Force. He remained in the services until this summer when he signed a three year contract to teach in Ethiopia. He sailed for this country on August 22 on the S.S. Ascania.

The thirteen new teachers bring the total number of Canadian teachers in Ethiopia to 51—the largest group for any western country employed there. They are outnumbered, however, by teachers from India, who are paid smaller salaries. Those from Canada receive salaries comparable to what they are paid at home.

Difficult Living Conditions.

Because of difficult living conditions in the province, none of the Canadians have been appointed to schools outside Addis Ababa. Indians usually get the provincial assignments.

The other teachers from Ontario teaching in Ethiopia are John Benson, St. Catharines; Carl King, Brighton; M. Clark, Sudbury; Walter Schmidt, Kitchener; Gordon Ringler, Lardner Lake; J. K. McDougall, Milton; and H. D. Wells, and Mrs. Wells, John Dempster and W. G. Lee, all of Toronto.

The Canadian teachers were engaged by Frank Patten, Toronto, deputy-director of the Ethiopian Ministry of Education, who made a teacher recruiting trip to Canada this summer.

Armed Searchers Close On Sault Fugitive

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Oct. 11 — (AP). — Eight carloads of gun-carrying searchers closed in today on fugitive Donald Cole.

Tracking the 18-year-old youth through dense forests, State Police said a capture may be near.

The elusive Cole has dodged posse patrols since last Saturday, when he shot two young girls and then fled into the woods.

The girls, Pauline Parady 14, and Myrna Benson 12, both of Sault Ste. Marie, are in hospital with critical wounds. Pauline was shot in the abdomen and Myrna is paralyzed with a bullet in her spine.

No reason was advanced for the shootings.

The hunt narrowed to a forested area near the tiny community of Dollar Settlement, 34 miles east of here, after Cole slipped into a grocery store at dusk on Tuesday night, loaded up on food and again vanished.

Dismiss Charge Of Stealing $390

A charge against 35-year-old Steve Popelink of Toronto of stealing $390 from an Ida farmer was dismissed today in county court by Judge S. L. Smoke.

The charge was dismissed when Crown Attorney John Bradshaw offered no evidence for the prosecution.

Popelink was charged in connection with the January 6 poker game in which the farmer, Herbert Lindsay, claimed he was fleeced of the money.

Lindsay told police after the poker game that he was approached by Popelink on George St., and asked if he knew where he could find a couple of women. Another man joined them then, and asked them to his hotel room.

While they were waiting for the women, as the farmer thought, the others suggested a poker game. The women never appeared, and though Lindsay won at first, he soon dropped all his roll.

Mr. Bradshaw said Popelink had admitted there was a game, and had paid back all Lindsay lost. "I do not believe there is sufficient evidence to proceed with this case," he added.

"Charge dismissed," said Judge Smoke.

Governors Ask

power in the hands of the governors.

"The chairman and the Mayor are on the hospital board. I think they should be a good guide for us," said Ald. Dewart.

Ald. Braund: "We could let them borrow up to $35,000 to the end of the year, and then revert back to $25,000.

"If you are going to curtail them in their line of credit, you should never have built the bigger hospital," said Ald. Dewart. "A man should not think of enlarging his store unless he has enough extra credit to cover the increased business he expects. We have to deal with the hospital situation as it exists today."

On the suggestion that Mr. Rodger be invited to explain the need of more latitude in borrowing for the operating costs of the hospital, City Clerk Outram mentioned the looming probability that more money would have to be provided to cover the costs of equipment, furnishings, landscaping of the grounds and some other items.

Ald Waddell: "The governors are working on a statement of that kind. They have put out orders for equipment and other necessaries, but the bills haven't come in yet, so they don't know what the amount is yet."

Mayor Swanston: "Up to the present I don't think the governors have spent up to the total of the building funds."

Ald. Waddell: "I've been trying to get the statement that has been mentioned, but as I say it can't be completed just yet."

The motion inviting Mr. Rodger was expanded to include other members of the board and also Edward Humpage, city auditor.

Finance committee was looking into the prospect of having to submit to the ratepayers a bylaw to raise $200,000 or $250,000 for further hospital funds because the old property has not been sold, and its expected return of $200,000 is not now available.

Ask Commission For Suggestions

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11 (AP)—State Secretary Dean Acheson said Tuesday the United States and Canada have agreed to request the International Joint Commission to make recommendations on three points in its Niagara Falls study.

The two nations signed a treaty last Feb. 27 for diversion of the Niagara river waters. It became effective Tuesday.

Acheson, in a letter to the U.S. section of the joint commission, said the commission should report on these points:

1. The nature and design of the remedial works necessary to enhance the beauty of the falls by distributing the waters so as to produce an unbroken crest line;

2. Allocation of the task of construction between Canada and the U.S.;

3. An estimate of costs of proposed construction.

Acheson said the joint commission may use the services of engineers and other technicians of both countries. He said the commission as far as possible should make use of information and technical data acquired by technical agencies "thus avoiding duplication of effort and unnecessary expense."

By-Pass Plan And Public Scrutiny

'Better late than never' does not always work out well; certainly not as a maxim in civic business. It was only after the taxi by-law had been passed, and when the decision to move the market and meter the old site had been taken and acted on, that the most numerous and loudest voices were raised. The matters of the market and the taxi regulations were under consideration for months and months, but the Council, as usual, had to work pretty well in the dark as far as public opinion went. Very few persons who would be affected bothered their heads about them during the long time when they should have made their voices heard, if they so wished. Public lethargy on such matters is not new or unique to Peterborough.

* * *

There is another matter on which the Council must take action. It is the proposed by-pass through the west side of the city. Will citizens close their eyes and minds to this until work is actually begun on it?

* * *

The by-pass is only on paper now, and now is the time for people to give their opinions, their approval or disapproval. This trunk road will link Highway 28 as it enters the city from Port Hope, with the highways leaving the north end of the city. The need for a by-pass is obvious. Through highway traffic and all north-south city traffic should not have to go into the centre of the city and clutter the streets. The by-pass, as indicated in the city's Master Plan, would run between Monaghan Road and the new Civic Hospital, through the housing developments in the west end of the city. Is this the best route? Are there feasible alternatives? The time for suggestions and criticism is now, and not a year from now when the broad thoroughfare is being laid.

* * *

We do not suggest that everybody in the city knows better than the city engineer or the Planning Commission where a by-pass should go. There are highly technical matters which are the special province of engineers and traffic experts. But even the experts need, and expect some direction from the Council, and the Council has a right to receive suggestions and criticism from the public whom it is seeking to serve before it has to take irrevocable action, not afterwards.

Towards A Peterborough Historical Society

It is shocking in a place the size of Peterborough, with a history so vivid and important, that there is no historical society, no centre around which records, memorabilia, and local lore can be collected, sorted and analysed. Peterborough once had a historical society, but it has been defunct for nearly half a century. It once had a collection of museum pieces of district importance. This has disintegrated. A new historical society is urgently needed and it is fitting that in this centennial year one should be formed. The meeting called for tomorrow night by the Library Board has for its purpose the re-founding of such a society. It is hoped that among the many people of the city and district who have shown their interest in local history and their concern over the lack of a historical society, enough will give action to their words, attend the meeting and assist vigorously at the rebirth of the Peterborough Historical Society.

Even The Twentieth Century Can Be Mistaken

Elsewhere on this page we print a letter from a correspondent who objects to the editorials which we have printed from time to time, in which we have deplored the neglect of grammar in Ontario schools. We are aware that the modern method of teaching in elementary schools is based upon a system of pedagogy which aims at imparting knowledge to children as painlessly as possible; it is an improvement upon the method common a century ago, when instruction and the cane were inseparable, and when every normal child hated school. But we think that there is a tendency nowadays to study means rather than ends, and the science of teaching sometimes appears to be more important than the matter taught. There is also a tendency—denied by all professional pedagogues but apparent enough—to slight the teaching of anything which might seem difficult in the elementary stage of education. Grammar is not easy, and grammar has been conveniently brushed aside.

Secondary school teachers, and teachers of languages in particular, complain of this. University instructors also resent the fact that so many students come to them unable to write simple English prose. And employers who require a knowledge of English in their employees find that such a knowledge is uncommon. If grammar and modern pedagogy cannot be combined, let us abandon modern pedagogy.

Our correspondent concludes, "After all, this is the twentieth century". Well, what of it? The twentieth century can be mistaken, as well as any other, and we think that it is mistaken in many matters relating to education. Indeed, it might be said that the twentieth century provides a poorer education for more people than any century in history.

The Return Of The Mute

The National Industrial Conference Board of the U.S.A. recently received a report from the Professional Pallbearer's Association, a union which wants every funeral to be a union funeral, at which relatives and friends of the corpse may serve only as honorary pallbearers. The P.P.A. insists that all its members be six feet tall, weigh 180 pounds and fit a size 40 suit. They appear at funerals wearing morning dress ($4 an hour), grey flannel ($3.50) or plain blue suits ($3).

We find the demand of the P.P.A. amusing but not outlandish. Anyone who has read Evelyn Waugh's novel The Loved One knows how far the nonsense associated with some modern funerals can be carried. What really interests us is that, from the dark backward and abysm of time, the mutes have spoken. They have insisted that once again they have their place at every well-conducted funeral.

Some of our older readers may remember mutes. They were hired mourners who attended Victorian funerals; it was part of the undertaker's task to hire as many as were wanted. If we may believe the testimony of Charles Dickens (and who would be better qualified to speak?) the mutes were generally recruited from public-houses and taverns, and their presence added a strong smell of gin to the proceedings. The mutes were outfitted with crape armbands and crape to bind around their hats, and they joined in the funeral procession which was, in those days, partly on foot and partly drawn in slow-moving carriages.

There were "walking mutes", who strode beside the hearse itself; they carried tall staves, to which decorative knots of crape had been fixed. The lesser mutes simply followed the mourners, looking as sad as they could manage, and—if they hoped to rise in their profession—weeping a little, but not so copiously as to appear to claim relationship with the corpse.

Mutes were of both sexes, and readers of Dickens will also recall that Oliver Twist, when apprenticed to Mr. Sowerberry, had to serve as a child mute, for those Victorian funerals of children which were so pathetically frequent.

Now, it appears, the mutes have a union. The streamlined, Americanized, atomic modern mute wants to put the finger on every funeral, drawing his pay according to the suit he wears. And why not? The gravediggers are organized, and every now and again they strike. Why not the mutes?

It is only Death that is disorganized, old-fashioned, untidy and unorganizable; it is only Death who will not appear in the proper garb, on demand. It is only Death who is so unsporting as to touch even a mute at his work, as he parades in the glory of his size 40 morning suit.

Poet's Post Office Pay

Archibald Lampman, one of the chief and best Canadian poets of nature, did not live by his pen. He taught school for a while at Port Hope, for instance. In 1882 he got a job with the Post Office department at Ottawa and continued to work in the Civil Service until his death in 1899. It was impossible in his day, as it is now, for a poet in Canada to live by his writings. (Bliss Carman went to the U.S.A.; Sir Charles G. D. Roberts lectured and did other odd jobs.) Archibald Lampman earned his bread and butter—and not much jam, as old pay records show—by working for the Government. His starting salary was $450 a year. By 1890, as the Ottawa Citizen notes his annual pay had risen to $750. Did Lampman groan about Canada starving her writers? Did he spend his evenings and holidays moaning about the underpaid civil service? No. He wrote Lyrics of Earth and gave Canadian posterity some of its noblest verse.

ON THE MARGIN:

Soldiers' Pay

THE PAY SERVICES OF THE CANADIAN ARMY OVERSEAS: by Captain J. D. Londerville (Runge Press, Ottawa). Foreword by General Crerar.

THIS book was written and privately printed for the R.C.A.P.C. Association by a Pay Officer, Captain J. D. Londerville, now a Normal School Master in Peterborough. That the author has made so readable a job of a technical and scattered off-shoot of the army as the Pay Corps during the war is a tribute to his ability to organize and analyse vast quantities of documents, and to revivify what was generally a prosaic, though very essential, branch of the army.

◇ ◇ ◇

PROSAIC? There was nothing closer to the soldier's heart (literally and figuratively) than his pay book and entries therein. And certainly the civilian at home should have been interested in army pay— not only as a dependent but as a tax-payer. Thus the subject is not as dull as it seems. Anybody who takes time to dip into this book will find some chapters fascinating; as fascinating as a ledger of personal profit and loss. And the author succeeds in taking the ledger wherever Canadian troops went— no mean feat. That is one of the features of the history; it is not perpetrated in a vacuum of ciphers. It goes to Scotland, North Africa, Italy and Normandy.

◇ ◇ ◇

"PAY" as an officer of a regiment comes to substantial life again — and "Pay" (the captain responsible for paying the troops in his sphere) was a very important figure not only because he handed out the King's money but restrained black market activities and 'flogging" —that is, the conversion of army goods to cash of the equivalent in various countries. 'Pay' often became the senior regimental officer by virtue of his longevity. It was part of his job not to get killed or wounded. So he would become the regiment's solid pillar; always there.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE history is written in as good English as the technical nature of the service will allow. There is no index (understandable when the costs of the assignment had to be kept down). The writer has not skipped —and has treated with humour—the various ways the Canadian soldier tried to outwit pay officials and regulations. He was always ready to turn a dollar (or lire, marks, francs, or guilders) to his credit. For instance, the short-lived scheme which the Auxiliary Services had at war's end, to allow troops to send flowers home to mothers, wives, and girl-friends.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE Knights of Columbus auxiliary service hatched that notorious scheme, whereby the flowers could be paid for in the currency of the country in which the men were located. Canadian troops with their pockets bulging with guilders got from the illegal sale of cigarettes, quickly started to send flowers by the $100 order. Why not? They didn't cost an earned cent. If a deal could be made with a local Canadian florist not to send the flowers, but to keep some of the money-order and send the rest to the relative, the florist and relative were in pocket ....at the expense of the Canadian public purse. The whole scheme was stopped as soon as the Pay Corps caught up with the soldiers' cunning. Captain Londerville shows that Pay was both friend of the troops and watch-dog over the Canadian public purse.

◇ ◇ ◇

PERHAPS the author can be persuaded to write a 2,000-word article to give the general reader the juice of the narrative which almost dries up in his 300-page, scholarly study. He has done his duty. He has bequeathed a valuable, thorough study of an important branch of the army to a posterity which may soon be called on to profit by the experience of 1939-45. Now he should have his fun. T.J.A.

DOUBLE, DOUBLE by Ellery Queen (McClelland and Stewart Ltd.).

THAT intrepid team of Frederic Dannay and Manfred D. Lee have done it again in their newest book "Double, Double". How anyone with as many detective yarns to their credit as Ellery Queen (the pen name by which these two writers are best known) can still think up new and absorbing situations is beyond me but they do, and this story will certainly have the amateur reader-sleuth hounding the wrong character all the time. Briefly the situation is worked out through the endeavours of a young, wild girl to find her father, the town drunk of Wrightsville, after his mysterious disappearance.

◇ ◇ ◇

ELLERY Queen becomes involved when, after receiving some mysterious clippings about two apparently straightforward deaths in Wrightsville, with the obvious intimation that the deaths are not so natural and not unrelated, he is visited by Rima Anderson. She arrives dressed in fantastically awful clothes and explains that she has lived with her father in a shack in the woods since she was twelve years old, she never went to school but is nevertheless very well educated. Her father was a professor until his wife died and then he became a drunk and fell from bad to worse until he was reduced to begging for his livelihood. Before his disappearance he had suddenly sworn off drink and for two weeks had not been drunk at all. He went to an appointment one evening and never returned; some clothing was found on the top of a cliff below which the quicksands refused to give up any further evidence of human remains.

◇ ◇ ◇

AT first the police decided that Anderson had lost his balance in a drunken stupor and fallen over; when they were faced with unimpeachable evidence that he had not been drinking for weeks the question of foul play was raised but as no one knew whom he had gone to meet there was nothing to be done about it. Appalled by the complete aloneness of the daughter and fascinated by the mysterious deaths that preceded her visit Ellery Queen returns to Wrightsville with her. After that the tension mounts as a perfectly respectable doctor, well known and loved, is found to be in the throes of panic. His assistant, a returned war veteran whom the doctor has nursed through a breakdown and taken as his son to live and work with him, falls in love with Rima and persuades the doctor to take her on as secretary. She moves into the house and discovers that the honest and popular doctor has a secret room to which he withdraws every day and before Ellery can discover the contents of the room death steps in and the old nursery rhyme 'Rich man, Poor man, Beggar man, Thief' seems to complete the series of murders. But the rhyme continues with Doctor, Lawyer, Merchant chief—or is there a comma after merchant?—that is what Ellery has to find out before he can hope to save the doctor, if he can save him. Whether he does or not I refuse to reveal because this is a really excellent murder mystery with a most surprising denouement. Even the difficulty of reading through dark glasses necessitated by hay fever did not dampen my enthusiasm for this book and I think other fans of thrillers will find it equally entertaining. S.S.T.

Cinnamon Sponge

(OTTAWA JOURNAL)

MAN has been using flavourful spices for thousands of years to add sparkle and zest to his favourite foods. Cinnamon comes from the inner bark of a small evergreen tree of the Lauraceae family, native in Ceylon. Today the tree is also grown in Brazil, Egypt, Java and the West Indies; but experts who know about such things tell us Ceylon cinnamon is much the best in flavour. Ceylon has a very fragrant aroma and a pleasing, sweet and warm taste. The distinctive flavour of this popular spice comes from an aromatic oil.

These September days when the countryman is asked what he prefers for supper dessert, he does not hesitate or ponder. Of course, all perspicacious citizens have desserts at all three meals of the day; and something tasty should be available in the buttery when one goes exploring for a bedtime snack along about 9.30. There are many worthwhile kinds of pies and puddings; there are two or three cakes worth the making. But after a day of digging potatoes or putting in a few loads of the last sweet rowen, it gives a man something to look forward to if he has spoken up for cinnamon sponge. It is totally inexplicable and probably seriously deleterious to the contemporary social order that so few cooks offer this dessert regularly to their families.

There is nothing complicated about it; it is one of those completely honest, above-board foods in which a man knows what he is getting. Use one beaten egg, one half cup sugar, one half cup molasses, one fourth cup melted sausage fat, one teaspoon soda, one teaspoon cinnamon, one half teaspoon salt, one and one eighth cup all-purposes flour, and one half cup boiling water. Mix together in the order given, sifting the soda, cinnamon and salt with the flour. Bake at about 360 degrees for approximately 40 minutes.

Never mess up cinnamon sponge with a runny blob of whipped cream; Never smear it with hard sauce. Give a man a big, hot fragrant chunk of it with a generous pat of butter or margarine. Two helpings of this dessert and a man can settle down with his almanac in an amiable, tolerant frame of mind.

The judge was just about to deliver his summing up of the case when he noticed that there were only eleven men in the jury box.

"Where is the twelfth juryman?" he asked irritably.

"That's all right, yer honour," the foreman answered genially: "He was called away on business, but he's left his verdict with me."

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And Stephen, full of faith and power, did great wonders and miracles among the people. Then there arose certain of the synagogue, which is called the synagogue of the Libertines, and Cyrenians, and Alexandrians, and of them of Cilicia and of Asia, disputing with Stephen. And they were not able to resist the wisdom and the spirit by which he spake....

And they stirred up the people, and the elders, and the scribes, and came upon him, and caught him, and brought him to the council, and set up false witnesses, which said, This man ceaseth not to speak blasphemous words against this holy place, and the law....

And all that sat in the council, looking stedfastly on him, saw his face as it had been the face of an angel. (Acts 6: 8-10, 12, 13, 15.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Put on therefore, as the elect of God, holy and beloved, bowels of mercies, kindness, humbleness of mind, meekness, long suffering....Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly in all wisdom; teaching and admonishing one another in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing with grace in your hearts to the Lord. (Col. 3: 12, 16.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Who is like unto thee, O Lord, among the gods? Who is like thee, glorious in holiness, fearful in praises, doing wonders?....Thou in thy mercy hast led forth the people which thou hast redeemed: thou hast guided them in thy strength unto thy holy habitation. (Ex. 15: 11, 13.)

Letter To The Editor

DISPUTES VALUE OF GRAMMAR

Sir: The unfounded statements regarding the value of grammar that appear at regular intervals in your editorial columns should not be permitted to go unchallenged. When you say that those who oppose the teaching of grammar "cannot write good English themselves", you overstep the mark. Dr. F. J. Schonell, head of the Department of Education at the University of Birmingham is as clear and concise a writer as you will find. His Psychology and Teaching of Reading is a gem of precision. Yet Dr. Schonell, whose books on English are perhaps the most outstanding contribution to modern elementary pedagogy, warns teachers against falling into the error of giving pupils "artificial lessons in formal grammar or useless juggling with words, neither of which activities teach children to write."

As for that mental discipline bugaboo, it went out with Thorndike's "Investigations". After all this is the twentieth century.

Newcomer Asks Is St. John Quaint Or Merely Grimy?

By JACK SCOTT

The newcomer to Saint John, New Brunswick, Canada's first incorporated city, doesn't know whether to call the old port "quaint," and let it go at that, or come to the reluctant conclusion that it's the grimiest slum town in the country.

For the tourist, as we've been the last couple of days, it's sort of baffling. Your mind never quite knows what to enjoy as charmingly historic. Or what to condemn as tragic squalor. You're uncertain about whether all this should be preserved as a grand link with Canada's earliest days. Or whether a good, city appear to be in the last stages of decay.

Parts of Saint John are wonderfully colorful. Market Slip, for instance. It pokes a stubby finger of the harbor right into the heart of the old town. Fishing schooners at the wharves lift and drop with the tremendous Bay of Fundy tides no more than a block from Zeller's, the Bank of Montreal and Household Finance.

Loyalists Landed Here

You learn that this is where the Loyalists landed in 1783. Over there, where the Bank of Montreal stands, was once a coffee house where citizens gathered to discuss Waterloo. Benedict Arnold lived for a time just up yonder street. What's more, if you sit on the old wharf in the sun, as we did yesterday, you can taste the flavor of history.

But history and age are less kind when it comes to housing. You can spend a whole morning driving about Saint John and shuddering at the rotting, broken-down hovels and tenements. Some are empty, with signs on them saying they are condemned as dwellings. It sems like a purely arbitrary choice. Almost all of them in the central part of the big, hot fire wouldn't be the best thing that ever happened here.

Number of Reasons

Seem to be a number of reasons for this. The most interesting is that much of the original Saint John was destroyed by fire in the summer of 1877. The town was rebuilt in a great rush before the winter set in. Saint John never recovered from its hurry. The residents point out, too, that the city grew swiftly and then stopped growing. "We haven't got rid of our mistakes," one old-timer told us.

Went around to see Saint John's phenomena, the famous "reversing falls rapids," but I must report that Moncton's "bore" has the edge. Least, it seems that way to us.

What happens here, as you must know, is that the Saint John River flows quite normally into the Bay of Fundy, while the tide is low. Then when the tide comes in (to a height of 28 feet in the harbor) the river puts in its clutch and goes into reverse.

Bore Is Better

Trouble is that there's a long period of slack water when not much of anything is happening and the river turns, as it were, in its own sweet time. On t'other hand, Moncton's "bore" comes in the form of a visible and roaring wave, and dead on schedule at that, which makes it a more rewarding spectacle. I've come to the conclusion, anyhow, that no phenomena can be really "amazing" unless, perhaps, you discover it by yourself.

At St. Stephen, where you cross the River St. Croix into the United States, we had a fine farewell Canadian dinner and I felt the gang shoot the works. Money was no object, I reasoned, since I'd just closed a big international financial deal with—harrumph!—a modern profit.

What Happened

What happened was this: When we walked into the bank at Saint John Monday morning to change our Canadian money into that nice U.S. stuff, the clerk suggested we might tarry awhile. Canadian dollar had just been cut loose and was on its own. If we bought now, we'd pay $1.10 for every American dollar. If we waited a cou- market got going we might get it a little cheaper. Course, he said, it might go the other way, too, and he wouldn't want to advise us.

Since the news for two days had been predicting that the Canadian buck might go right up to par, this looked like a good bet. We adjourned for breakfast and returned an hour later to find we'd saved ourselves one and three-quarter cents on every dollar.

Easiest money I ever made—which, of course, is saying something.

Customs Pleasant

Found the customs and immigration men at St. Stephen and at Calais, on the American side, remarkably pleasant. The two towns get along as one and, with the possible exception of Windsor-Detroit, it's probably the friendliest stretch of the border.

We heard some amusing stories about the traffic across the line.

One concerned a clearing-out sale of cheap alarm clocks held by a jewelry shop on the American side. A number of St. Stephen's shoppers came over to the U. S. side for the bargain, hid the clocks in various unlikely places and started out for home. But the jeweler, a practical joker, had cunningly set all the alarms to explode in the customs house.

Also the yarn about the husky hunter who shot a bear on the Canadian side, carted it, while still breathing, down to the border, declared it, caried it on into the main street of Calais, shot it dead and successfully claimed the bounty for any bear "killed in Maine."

Villains Take Main Bout With 'Hey Rube' At Finish

A "hey rube" mat mob scene at the Brock Arena last night sent hundreds of fans home talking about the exciting finish. It was the deciding fall of the main team match and wound up with police trying to hold back infuriated fans who were starting to hurl chairs into the ring as the referee and four huge matmen mixed it furiously, the team of Wee Willie Davis and Lee Henning getting the verdict. It was the hottest team bout ever seen in Peterborough, Tear Morgan — who teamed up with Pat Flanagan—suffering slight concussion and a knee injury in a fall out of the ring.

Henning, the Iowa husky of 248 pounds, and Davis, of Hollywood—a huge 275-pounder—were the villains all the way. Flanagan, of Toronto, at 225, and the 228-pound Morgan, of Lindsay, held their own with fast, smart work, but Toar's injury meant the difference. He won the first fall of the main go in 16 minutes by pinning Henning after Pat had softened the other up. Flying tackles finished it off in a red-hot round which saw Henning miss a tackle and knock himself and his partner out of the ring as the crowd applauded wildly. Referee Bunny Dunlop was nearly crazy trying to keep order as everything went. Morgan showing himself handy with fists—having been a pro boxer—and Flan speedy and tough with elbow smashes to offset illegal stuff pulled by their opponents.

Evened It Up

Henning took the second fall in 13 minutes when he ducked a flying tackle by Morgan, Toar sailing fast through the ropes to knock himself out on the arena floor and injuring his knee en route as it hit the ring steps. He had to be carried off, after his opponents tried to bruise him up as he lay helpless on the floor. Flanagan was a ball of fire in this stanza as fists flew, with Henning once clouting his partner by accident. Four were flying about the ring at one time and it was terrific with the onlookers curling the shingles with their yells.

The final fall came in slightly more than six minutes, but the fight was on several minutes before the gong, in and out of the ring, and for two minutes after the final bell, with everyone in it. Morgan couldn't return and Pat offered to take on both himself one at a time. Don Lewin, a prelim grappler, offered to help and—though ordered out by the referee—got into some of the sizzling action. But Davis and Henning worked later in relays to soften Pat up and finally choke him down for the count. It broke out after the gong with the referee knocked over and all four wrestlers swinging, and fans swarming around, one chair being hurled into the ring and more brandished before police could restore order.

Wins Semi-Final

Jack Moore won the semi-final in 29 minutes when Referee Dunlop disqualified Jim (Goon) Henry for flipping his ribs to the floor as Henry was hammering Moore illegally on the ropes. The Goon and Bunny were old mat enemies and the feud lingered on, with plenty of action. Moore was fast and strong but his 240 pounds—he hails from Toledo—weren't up to the rough stuff shown by the 270-pound Goon from Tulsa. A lot of neat mat work was shown with the hammerlock used a lot and Henry's guttural growls punctuating proceedings as he kept trying to pin the elusive Moore's shoulders to the mat. He was quite unpopular.

Abe Zvonkin, the 230-pound gridder from Hamilton, won the prelim in 24 minutes over Buffalo's Don Lewin, scaling 220, with a backbreaker and spread. Abe wasn't popular as he used the ropes for extra pressure and pulled a lot of rough stuff. The good-looking Don moved speedily and worked a nice drop kick as well as flying tackles off the ropes. It was fast going with Abe pulling hair, rasping the other's eyes and generally acting the villain, finally winning out but not winning many friends in the process.

Eastern Colleges Support Ban Over Football

TORONTO Oct. 11—(CP)—The University of Toronto led Canada's Eastern Universities Tuesday in a fair stand against "professionalism" in college football.

The move followed disclosure by president Sydney Smith of an abortive alumni plan to lure "promising football players" to Toronto with cash. He said the university "officially opposes" any such scheme.

He was backed by the heads of the Intercollegiate Rugby League's three other members—McGill, Queen's and the University of Western Ontario. All denitd any university backing of player-subsidization plans.

Dr. Smith said a group of unnamed Toronto "old grads" wrote to a select list of graduates asking contributions to "persuade" football players to enroll at varsity He said the sponsors declared they had no official connection with the university.

"Any project to subsidize players, however unofficial, will be officially opposed," Dr. Smith said. Football is an accepted part of college life, "but we of the university must never forget that it is an educational institution."

Support Smith

Dr. F. Cyril James, president of McGill University, Montreal, said he agrees "entirely" with Dr. Smith. He denied that professionalism "in any form" existed in McGill Athletics.

No athletic scholarship system exists at Western, and university heads there are "wholeheartedly opposed to the subsidization of athletes in any way," president G. E. Hall said. "Professionalism would be very much to the detriment of university athletics."

R. C. Wallace, principal of Queen's University, said "Queen's has never had and as far as I am concerned never will have any kind of athletic scholarships."

"Of course, an individual can help a student to get to college. That happens in every university where someone wishes to aid a woman with fees or expenses. But the university itself is definitely not contemplating any action to assist football players."

Mistake Buying Ticket Nets Bettor $1,849

BOWIE, Md., Oct. 11—(AP)—An unidentified man, obviously in a hurry, rushed up to the $10 place window a few minutes before the second race Tuesday bought a ticket on No. 3 and waited to see how Rocky Play ran.

He had the right number, but the wrong race. Rockey Play had already finished out of the money in the first.

The bettor had a $10 ticket on Merry Nymph, who was beaten by 8 lengths in her previous start.

But Tuesday Merry Nymph finished second to Great Hope and paid $371.80 for each $2 place ticket and $126 for $2 to show. Officials said it was a record place and show payoff for Bowie.

By his mistake, the bettor realized a profit of $1,849.

Central Triumphs

Central intermediates defeated Queen Mary eleven 2-1 on Central school grounds Tuesday afternoon in a league game. Best for winners were the Lustic brothers, and Pollock, and for the losers, Dafoe, Hutton and W Haig. The King Edward vs. Confederation game was cancelled.

Combination plays were evident throughout the first half with Central gaining the opening score through Lustic, after a three-way combination play. Just before the interval, Hutton carried the ball into Central goal where Welsh equalized. On resuming, Queen Mary added pressure throughout with all the men up on the attack; while Central awaited the opportunity to break through on combination that terminated in Jim Lustic gaining the winning counter.

Queen Mary—A. Vincent, goal; L. Staves and W. Hendry, full-backs; B. Lincoln, W. Haig and V. Brisbois, half-backs; F. Jobbitt, R. Atkinson, A. Dafoe, B. Hutton and R. Brown, forwards. Subs, S. Dinsdale, R. Dobbin, T. Bignell, T. Welsh.

Central — T. Kelly, goal; R. Ellis and G. Pollock, full-backs; V. Armstrong, C. Sorrie and T. Armstrong, half-backs; R. Naish, J. Lustic, Douglas Lustic, N. Lloyd, W. Sorrie, forwards. Subs, B. Simpson, P. Dunford, C. Hayman, D. Dinsdale.

Referee, Mr. Rutherford.

RELIEF IN 3 SECONDS FROM COUGHS DUE TO COLDS MASON'S 49

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

The OHA junior "B" IOOF-ers have named Bun Kingdon to coach the team again this coming puck season. Bun, who starred for many years here in junior, intermediate and senior hockey—as well as in senior ball—made a good job of coaching the young pucksists last season and has agreed to handle them again. Good stuff. The club has a hookup with Boston Bruins now which should make for better junior hockey around these parts, and the 1950-51 prospects will be starting open drills shortly. Elmer Pearse is president, Vic Brown vice-prexy, Glen Edwards secretary, Bob McCuaig treasurer and Len Symonds club manager.

* * * * * *

The senior "B" hockeyists are getting squared away too for an early start. Petes have been on ice already in open drills and expect to show with a strong squad. No coach named yet. The ex-Legion bunch are busy, as well, and will be strutting their stuff shortly in pre-season workouts. We hear Mick Magee will coach this club. It will be known as McGillis Eagles. Ben Swartz Sr. is backing the other team. The Legion equipment has been up for sale with both senior "B" teams buying a quantity of it at reduced rates. More on both setups in the near future.

Boston Bruins Coming

Main item of interest to hockey fans is the showing here this Thursday of Boston Bruins. The NHL-ers will ice two teams at 8.30 that eve in Civic Arena, with proceeds going for minor hockey in Peterborough. Such aces will play as Jack Gelineau, Steve Kraftcheck, Ed Reigle, Eddie Sandford, Moe Henderson, Sam Bettio, Fern Flaman, Bill Quackenbush, Pork Dumart, Milt Schmidt, Ed Harrison, Dave Creighton, Ken Smith, Paul Ronty, Phil Maloney, Ed. Kryzanowski, Johnny Pierson and Lorne Ferguson. They'll dish up a rousing scrap as most of 'em aren't too sure of steady berths with Bruins this early in the season. It should pack the place.

* * * * * *

Team spirit is high among the senior "B" grid Orfuns this semester. Higher than it has been for years. They play really hard during a game, but have a lot of fun afterward. Kidding, singing, joking and not a bit of criticism for any play or player. That is left to Coach Harv Bamforth, and he and the players are getting along swell. They respect him and he in turn says: "I just wish I could keep this bunch intact for another year—they have plenty of ability." Quite a few of the imports want to stay here, and some are top-notch hockeyists and ballsters, too. Huntley, for example, hit over .360 in pro ball out Iowa way last summer. Plunkett, Davidson and Barkley are still on the injured list.

Everyone Got Into It

Mat fans who like furious action certainly got a carload of it last eve at the Brock. That main team match was somewhat atomic, winding up in a mob scene. Four grapplers and the ref were in the ring slugging it out hard after the gong, fans swarmed around, and one hurled a chair into the ring, and police had to work overtime to restore order. A sizzler, alright. The villainous pair of Wee Willie Davis and Lee Henning won over Pat Flanagan—a real ball of fire—and Toar Morgan, who was injured and couldn't finish. Don Lewin, who dropped the prelim to Abe Zvonkin, rushed to the aid of Pat in the final round and nearly caused ructions. Jack Moore took the semi-final in disqualification when Referee Bunny Dunlop ran into an old mat enemy in Goon Henry. Noever a dull moment at the grapple shows.

OASA secretary says in a bulletin: "A meeting of the rules committee is required by the constitution to be held prior to Nov. 1. Each local association is requested to forward to this office all suggestions for clarification or changes to rules for presentation to the rules committee for study. Thus, your amendments, when presented to the annual meeting, will receive the benefit of the rules committee recommendations." The men's loop executive here will be holding a meeting soon to wind up seasonal business and vote on the most valuable player for the Peller Trophy. By the way, Evans Motors of Toronto won the OASA intermediate "A" title. We don't know if they took along the same ump who riled Mutuals so much in their series.

Art Exhibitions Go Out On Tour From Museum

By W. G. ROGERS

NEW YORK—(AP)—Packaged art exhibitions, weighing from 20 pounds to a ton and a quarter, start out this month from the Museum of Modern Art on their annual cross-country tours.

They have been shown in every state, in about 1,000 cities and towns. Museums like them for many reasons, primarily because of the carefully selected material, but also because they are comparatively inexpensive, and easy to handle.

The New York museum takes care of practically everything. First it mails out press releases. Then the paintings, photos, sculpture or other objects are shipped, all labelled and tagged and ready to hang, sometimes mounted on panels, sometimes with the display tables along, too.

Some material is of great value, some irreplacable. It travels in specially-built cases, with the bolts and screws to remove for opening plainly-marked "remove," and with a niche for every article and every article in its niche. Some boxes are even provided with a pair of white gloves so that no dirty hands will soil white mounts.

Responsible agencies pay roughly from $15 to $250 for an exhibition that may be kept two to four weeks, and they meet the cost of shipment from the last stopping point. The average show can make eight stops a season, and can stand the wear and tear at most for three seasons.

This year there are about 50 shows, 20 of them new; borrowers may come to New York to see those on display here, or make their choices from a catalogue.

In 10 years expenses have doubled, but the project has always cost the museum here more than it receives in fees. It makes up various exhibits from its own rich collections and from loans from other museums and owners.

Up to 1949, exhibits appeared in 130 museums, 390 universities and colleges, 171 public and 78 private schools, 48 libraries, 228 clubs and associations, and 79 unclassified halls and galleries. Some go abroad; three now are being prepared for Germany.

Jones Leading Big Four Point Scorers

TORONTO, Oct. 11— (CP) — Edgar (Special Delivery) Jones, formerly of the professional Cleveland Browns, is back on top of the scoring heap in the Big Four football union.

Statistics compiled by The Canadian Press show that the 23 points Hamilton Tiger-Cats' versatile half scored in two week-end games brought his season's total to 60, 10 more than the total of Ulysses Curtis of Toronto Argonauts.

Curtis, negro half from Florida A. and M. is still the union's top touchdown man with 10. Jones has six but he has kicked three field goals, four singles and 17 converts to fatten his total.

In Third Place

Bill Gregus of the Tiger-Cats and Virgil Wagner of Montreal Alouettes are tied for third place with 40 points apiece. Bill Bass of the Argos ranks fifth with 35 points.

Canadian-born players get into the picture at sixth place in the lists where Nick Volpe of the Argos and Bill Larochelle of Ottawa Rough Riders are tied with 30 points apiece.

In the Ontario Rugby Football Union, Johnny Chorestecki of Sarnia Imperials is far out in front with 73 points in five games. He got 22 in two week-end games.

Bob McFarlane, for years a scoring power in the Inter-Collegiate, was the top scorer as the College Union opened its schedule Saturday. The Western Mustangs' half has six points on a touchdown and a single. Four players—three from McGill and one from Varsity—share second place with five points apiece.

NHL Teams Swing Into Action Again

By The Canadian Press

The annual autumnal practice of big-time sports crowding each other for attention—post-mortems on baseball's world series and post-season trades competing with the exploits of rugged footballers—starts in earnest tonight. The National Hockey League horns in with a face-off on its 70-game schedule, earliest inaugural in history.

It's a United States opener—Detroit Red Wings playing hosts to New York Rangers—but all six clubs swing into action before the week is out. The sideline experts figure Detroit's talent-rich Red Wings to clean up in championship style again, but the coaches, including freshmen pilots at Toronto, Chicago and New York, aren't going out on a limb.

Another opener is carded for Thursday at Chicago, where Ebbie Goodfellow unveils his revitalized Black Hawks against Montreal Canadiens.

It seems, at this point, that there just isn't a team strong enough to challenge Tommy Ivan's motor-city skaters, who beat the blue-shirted Rangers in the Stanley Cup finals last April. But the Detroit coach predicts no runaway as last season.

"The league is better balanced," Ivan said, "and we can expect a six-team race. Our club is in good condition. I don't think the trade with Chicago has made us any weaker."

COACHES EAGLES — Mick Magee, former star all-round athlete—who still plays senior lacrosse here—has been named coach of the McGillis Eagles, who are the ex-Legionnaires, in senior "B" OHA play here this coming hockey season. Mick played defence several years with Legion, and at one time did a whirl of minor pro hockey in the States.

Rumor Rickey Plans Buy St. Louis Browns

NEW YORK, Oct. 11—(AP) — The Daily Compass said today that Branch Rickey "is going to the St. Louis Browns as the new president and club owner in a deal financed by the American League."

In St. Louis, however, Bill Dewitt, president of the Browns, asserted: "You can put this down. We don't plan any changes in the operations of our club and Branch Rickey isn't buying it. It's not for sale."

Rickey, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, recently contracted to sell his Brooklyn stock to William Zeckendorf, New York real estate man. Since then here have been many rumors as to his future plans.

In the story written by Herb Goren, the Compass said: "American League tycoons, sensitive to the basic second-division weaknesses in their structure, in spite of top-level superiority, are ready to purchase a controlling interest in Brownie stock and turn it over to Rickey in order to acquire his services."

Charltons Take Most Titles In Tennis Play

Quaker Tennis Club champions for 1950 have been declared to conclude a most successful season in which 100 members played. Maurice Charlton made a clean sweep of ladies' events, winning the ladies' singles, teaming up with Isabel Whitehouse for the ladies' doubles crown, and with Ralph Charlton in the mixed doubles championship event. Doug MacPherson was the men's champion, while Willard Elmsley and R. Charlton took men's doubles. Mrs. Charlton retained the singles and double titles of a year ago, winning the mixed for the first time. D MacPherson kept his singles title but lost in men's and mixed doubles.

In the final of the ladies' singles, M. Charlton defeated Irene Whitehouse 6-1 and 7-5. In ladies' doubles finals, I. Whitehouse and M. Charlton downed J. Elmsley and V. Rose 6-4 and 6-3. The mixed final saw the Charltons beat I. Whitehouse and D. MacPherson by scores of 6-2 and 7-5 in keen play. MacPherson turned back Elmsley 8-6 and 6-0 for the men's singles crown, but Elmsley and Charlton stopped MacPherson and Kingdon in the men's doubles final in hot going by scores of 2-6, 6-1 and 6-4.

N.H.L. REFEREES

They'll Do It Every Time

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Bashing Bill Ezinicki came back to Toronto Tuesday, but his stay was brief.

The sturdy winger checked in after an unexplained absence from the training camp of Toronto Maple Leafs. Tuesday night he checked out for Leafs' Pittsburgh farm club in the American Hockey League.

Bashing Bill's return to his familiar right-wing spot at Maple Leaf Gardens will depend on his ability to play himself back into shape with the Hornets against A.H.L. opposition.

When Ezinicki signed his contract Tuesday for an unannounced sum, it brought to an end one of the most unusual holdout cases in hockey.

Three weeks ago, when he failed to report to the Leafs' training camp for pre-season conditioning, Ezinicki said in an interview he wasn't feeling in shape for hockey.

Tuesday, the Toronto club's managing director, Conny Smythe, said "Ezinicki had some problems that have worried him. But now he's ready to play hockey for Maple Leaf Gardens."

Ezinicki was smiling broadly as he emerged from a four-hour contract conference with Smythe and Hap Day, the Leafs' assistant manager. "It's up to me now," he said. "I guess I'll have to go to work."

Alan McFater of Toronto, one of Canada's leading lightweights, won a unanimous eight-round decision over Jean Richard of Montreal in the rubber fight between the two Tuesday night.

McFater weighed 138¾, Richard 136.

McFater, fighting his 13th professional match, floored Richard for an eight-count with a short left hook at the stomach in the seventh round. The blow came out of nowhere at a time when Richard was fighting his best round of the bout.

It was the fourth meeting between the two claimants for the vacant Canadian lightweight title. Each had won a previous bout and one was drawn.

Two soccer officials have filed assault charges against a Hamilton player as the result of a dressing-room fracas after a game in Toronto Saturday.

The charges were laid by Referee Robert Crawford and Lineman William Clarke against George Campbell of the Hamilton Westinghouse Club.

The incident occurred after Crawford ordered Campbell and Hugh Suttie of Hamilton from the field for disputing his decisions during a game between Toronto Canadians and Hamilton. The two officials claimed Campbell entered their dressing room with Hamilton goalie Malcolm Love after the game and attacked them.

The charges are due to be heard in York county magistrate's court Oct. 17.

Carl Galbreath, star halfback for Toronto Balmy Beach, reported to a United States draft board at Buffalo Tuesday.

Dwight Follin, line coach of the Toronto Rugby Football Union senior club, said it was likely the sensational negro back will get only a 15-day deferment before joining the U.S. army.

Follin said that Balmy Beach already has approached 25-year-old Webb Little, a teammate of Galbreath's at Kent State University, in case Galbreath is called up.

Two protests were considered at Tuesday night's meeting in Hamilton of the Ontario Baseball Association sub-committee here. A third protest lodged against Delhi by Mitchell in the intermediate series was withdrawn.

The protest of the Brampton Midget B club against Bowmanville for not producing triplicate forms was upheld, while a protest by Orono against Mitchell was not allowed.

Reports of playdowns showed all remaining clubs to be in the semi-final series which should be completed by Oct. 21. Committee members attending included W. F. Nickle, Stratford.

Ted Phelps of England won the world's professional sculling championship from Bert Parry over the Thames 20 years ago today. Phelps held the title until beaten by the Australian Bobby Pearce at Toronto in 1933, when Pearce, now in Hamilton, Ont., won the three-mile race by 200 yards.

Hetki Sold To Leafs

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 11 — (AP)—John Hetki, Cincinnati Reds' right-handed relief hurler, has been sold for an undisclosed sum to Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League, officials of the Cincinnati Baseball Club announced today.

In 1950 the 28-year-old pitcher had a record of one win and two losses, all in relief roles.

Hetki was with the 1950 sixth-placers of the National League since 1945, except the year 1949, when he pitched for Syracuse, also of the International League.

Duties Headache To Customs Men

OTTAWA, Oct. 11 — (CP) — Customs duties are not only a headache to the folks who have to pay them. They're also a bother to the men who have to implement them.

Meeting here for its 15th national convention, the Custom and Excise Officers' Association has before it at least two beefs against the condition of that oft-used volume known as the "Customs Tariff."

It is the one which spells out the various tariffs laid down by Ottawa. But the Sarnia branch of the association, in one resolution, says so many changes have been made in recent years that the book resembles a "patchwork quilt."

That branch wants an up-to-date loose-leaf version of the current edition. The Welland Canal Zone branch backs it up with the contention that the present volume is "in a state of utter confusion."

Among the 249 resolutions submitted for study were a number on salaries and retirement as well as on sartorial splendor.

Estevan, Sask., suggested that customs officers' uniform hats were "rather cheap looking" and urged improvement. New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island branches urged spring and fall coats be added to their wardrobes. Vancouver wanted sturdy boots for dock areas and the eastern townships of Quebec called for lightweight office coats so officers wouldn't have to face tourists in their shirt-sleeves.

Says Professors Attempted To Attack Him

TORONTO, Oct. 11 (CP). — A statement read in court Tuesday quoted John Bigelow, 20, as saying he stabbed John McRae, 38, while resisting a "homosexual attack," but McRae testified that the stabbing was unprovoked.

Bigelow is being tried for the attempted murder of McRae, University of Western Ontario professor, stabbed three times with a butcher knife July 30 in his residence here.

Bigelow's statement was admitted as evidence by Mr. Justice E. R. E. Chevrier after lengthy argument with the jury excluded. It was taken by Detective-Sergeant William Mulholland a few hours after the stabbing which doctors testified was nearly fatal.

The statement quoted Bigelow as saying he told reporters shortly after the stabbing. "It's just a case of homosexual attack and I tried to defend myself."

The statement said Bigelow met McRae in a downtown hotel and they went to the latter's house to have a few drinks and something to eat. It added that McRae started feeling my body. I hauled off and gave him a sucker shot.....I went down to the kitchen and grabbed a butcher knife. He went at me and I stabbed him. He got the knife and came at me. I got it and stabbed him again."

McRae, who was in Toronto for the summer studying for his Doctor of Philosophy degree at the University of Toronto, testified earlier that he could give no reason for the attack. He said there had been no qquarrel and no undue intimacy.

Millions of people cross the oceans in safety. Yet who would sail in a ship that is not equipped to meet disaster?

Any man with dependents who sails through life without provision against life's greatest uncertainty is the most thoughtless of all voyagers. Should death snatch him away, the result to his loved ones would be disastrous.

There is no reason why any man should expose his dependents to the risk of privation. By means of Life Insurance he can arrange a guaranteed monthly income that will replace his earnings should he die. If he lives, the same Life Insurance will provide an income for his own retirement.

Ridgehouse Farms, RR 3, Fenelon Falls, Col. C. D. H. MacAlpine, proprietor, took top honors at the show with 15 firsts in class of 20 entries (not including reserves).

The Hereford show was brought to Norwood largely through the efforts of Lt.-Col. F. E. Birdsall, Homer Hawkley of Inditn River, William Mood of Birdsall, and Archie Clysdale, former manager of Old Orchard Farm.

Second Milk Boost

CHATHAM, Oct. 11—(CP) — A second rise this fall in the price of milk—to 20 cents a quart—was foreseen here Tuesday if Kent county milk producers get a requested 40-cents-a-hundredweight increase from dairy operators. Last month the price was raised a cent to 19c. Producers have asked for a government arbitrator to settle the question of a further increase.

LIVING LAWN MOWERS — Alongside one of Toronto's busiest traffic arteries and within sight of downtown skyscrapers, these sheep nibble away the hours entirely oblivious of their unusual location. The flock, which numbers 18, is used by the Imperial Oil Company to keep down grass and weeds around large storage tanks near the waterfront. Smog and oil accounts for the darkness of their coats. The sheep, shown in this Imperial Oil Company photo, are rented each spring from a farmer and returned to the farm in the fall.

500 Newsmen Honor Walter Scott Thompson

MONTREAL, Oct. 11 — (CP)—Some 500 publishers, newspapermen, radio men and public relations officer at the weekend attended a dinner in honor of Walter Scott Thompson, director of public relations for the Canadian National Railways, who retires this month.

The Montreal Men's Press Club, which sponsored the event, presented him with a life membership in the club, a disinction he shares only with Viscount Alexander, Governor-General of Canada. Mr. Thompson was also presented with a new automobile.

Mr. Thompson, who covered about 50,000 miles a year maintaining personal contacts in Canada, heard some of Canada's top newspapermen and publicists laud his work over the last 30 years.

Herve Major, managing editor of Montreal La Presse and president of The Canadian Press, said:

"George Bernard Shaw once advised Walter to get out of the newspaper business. If that was responsible for his coming to Canada we have one more reason to be grateful to G.B.S."

Always Newspaperman

Mr. Thompson said in reply:

"I am and have always been a newspaperman. There have been no tricks, no magic in my job. I have tried to create an atmosphere which will recognize the cardinal fact that the newspaper shall get the news.

"I will leave this business with the same simple idea with which I entered it. That is that there is a basis on which the management of great industries can meet with newspapermen. That basis is one of honesty, understanding, common sense and a certain amount of intelligence.

"I have no business plans whatever. Now that I have retired I intend to try to find some occupation that will be helpful to Canadians. I am going to try to be a useful member of this country of mine."

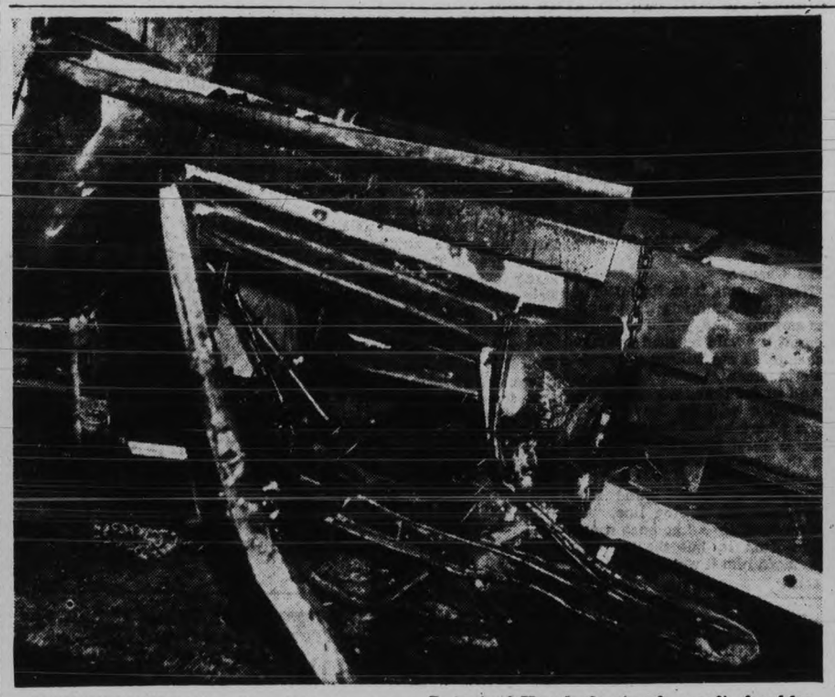
Huycke Claims No Flaws In Market Title

"There are no flaws in the city's title to the market property," City Solicitor W. F. Huycke told the finance committee of the council Tuesday night.

This assurance was aimed at the action of certain vendors who reported last week to Hon. T. L. Kennedy the approaching action of the council of converting the market square to a metered parking area. The Minister of Agriture mentioned the concern of the vendors, the importance of market accommodation, and expressed the hope that a suitable substitute place would be obtained.

City Clerk Outram recalled to the committee that ten years ago, when the city was eager to do something for improvement of the market, surveys were made by market specialists of both Ontario and federal departments of agriculture.

When discussion got around to another market site, the place they recommended, Mr. Outram said, was the very location, opposite George St. wharf, which the city is now planning to provide for the outdoor market.



"That committee even prepared plans for a proper market building, including a refrigeration system," Mr. Outram said. "That building would probably cost the citizens of Peterborough around $50,000."

"Years before when Peterborough was incorporated, the citizens asked the government for a grant of land for a market site," the City Clerk continued. "That was granted, but it was 20 years before anything was done.

Then in 1850 when the town was incorporated, one of the first acts of the council of that time was to ask the government to make good what it had promised.

"The city has a straight deed," Mr. Huycke told the committee. "I have gone through the papers and there are no restrictions on the city's rights. To be on the safe side it was put in a private bill."

"Let's tell the Minister the circumstances and thank him for his letter," said Ald. P. J. Anglesey. Ald Braund seconded that motion.

Police Drag Lake For Guide Missing Since Sunday Night

Peterborough provincial police are directing dragging operations for a 60-year-old legless guide, Dennis Sheehan of Crystal Lake, 12 miles southeast of Kinmount, whose abandoned boat was found Monday. The boat was drifting in the northeast end of the lake about two miles from where he started out late Sunday to return home after a visit with friends.

A legless man, Sheehan may have lost his balance when trying to restart a defective outboard motor and fallen overboard. The starting cord was not in the boat which contained his two crutches.

Dragging operations were commenced by Provincial Constable Lloyd Lyle of Fenelon Falls and Tuesday afternoon Peterborough provincials took over. The search is continuing today under the direction of Provincial Constables Ray Pope and T. H. Armstrong.

Sheehan's pet dog returned to his bachelor home at the west end of the lake late Monday.

Holes In Road Cause Accidents

Sunken holes in roads were blamed for two accidents in which cars were damaged in different parts of the city Tuesday morning.

Alex Jackson, Bailieboro, reported the steering rod of his car was bent when he ran into a hole 15 feet long, two feet wide and about a foot and a half deep across Weller St, near Hillcrest Ave.

A second man did more damage to his car when he ran into a hole about six feet by three feet filled with water on MacFarlane Ave. at Center St. The left front tire burst and damage amounting to about $75 was done to the undercarriage of the car.

In both cases barricades were put up after the accidents so that no one else would drive in.

Police said the holes had apparently developed after excavations had been dug by the city engineer's department to put in new sewes. With recent rains the earth used to fill them up had sunk leaving traps for motorists.

Constable Stewart Fife and Traffic Officer Gordon Trennum investigated the accidents.

HARRY BOARD

Harry Board, 59, of Flint, Michigan, died in a hospital in that city on Tuesday following a short illness. He was born in Peterborough, son of the late Fred Board and Annie James. He resided in this city for approximately 30 years later moving to Port Arthur and then to Flint.

Mr. Board was employed as a switchman with the C.N.R. He was a Mason and a member of the Shrine.

He leaves his wife, one daughter, Mrs. Harold Tone (Nano) of Peterborough; one brother, Fred of Peterborough and one sister, Mrs. J. C. Murray of Georgetown, Ontario.

Social Issues Big Problem UN At Geneva

Miss Jessie Lorne arrived in Peterborough last week from Geneva, where she is working as a stenographer on the staff of the United Nations. She has come to visit her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lorne, 228 London St., whom she has not seen since they were in England 24 years ago.

A Londoner, who was with the Civil Service there until two years ago, Miss Lorne has travelled in Sweden, Denmark, France, Italy and Spain since the war. Geneva is a good jumping off ground for holidays in all parts of the continent and she has been taking advantage of this.

Perhaps the most outstanding aspect of the work done by U.N. in Geneva is that the countries invariably come to agreement on the social matters which are thrashed out in the conference hall.

"At Lake Success they do not always agree and we hear a great deal of about the differences which arise there. But we rarely hear of the good terms on which the representatives at Geneva help the people in the war-devastated areas of Europe", Miss Lorne says. The agenda at Geneva usually contains social matters. It's less spectacular than the Lake Success work, but some very good work is done for the good of children and victims of the war, Miss Lorne says.

Miss Lorne is spending her annual six weeks vacation here and will be leaving for Europe at the end of the month. She plans to spend some time in New York before sailing.

Gunshot Injures Youth's Foot

Peter Follett, 13, of Islington had his left foot badly smashed late Tuesday afternoon when he tripped over a root at Cedar Lake, triggering off a shotgun he was carrying.

Cedar Lake is 25 miles northeast of Peterborough.

His father, John F. Follett, who owns a cottage on the lake and was accompanying him on a duck hunting trip, carried the injured lad on his back for about a mile.

Mr. Follett then drove Peter to Civic Hospital where he was operated on Tuesday night. Hospital authorities said today Peter's condition was fairly good and he spent a comfortable night.

Father and son were out duck hunting for the afternoon and Peter was permitted to carry the gun. He was about to put on the safety catch when his foot tripped over a root and the gun went off.

Provincial Constable Roy Feeley investigated.

Appeal Refused For Relief At Busy Corner

To the appeal of Percy Harrison for some relief from the effect of parking restrictions on his business at the corner of Water St. and Parkhill Road, the special traffic committee of the council was unable to suggest any remedial change in its report which was read at the meeting of the finance committee Tuesday night.

Mr. Harrison had complained to the council that he was suffering serious loss of business.

The report also reviewed the circumstances by which George St. was widened at Canada Packers Limited, and carried the information that a representative of the company had given assurance that the projection of trucks and trailers from the loading platform toward the centre of the street would be corrected.

"There is nothing for us to adopt," was the comment of Ald. T. D. Miller in moving that the report be received. The motion was seconded by Ald. P. J. Anglesey.

Widen Street

Some suggestion was proposed that the Water St. boulevard might be moved back to provide additional width at the Harrison corner, but both work and expense were involved which the committee was apparently not prepared to undertake.

Ald. E. C. Braund said he appreciated what the committee had brought in, "but I think it is going a shade further than what is necessary. We now have no parking to the corner on both streets. That may be necessary, but it might be all right to let them have parking up to Water St."

Appeal Refused

Mayor Swanston said: "It's one of the toughest situations we have had to do anything with. If you let parking on Park Hill Rd., where are the buses to stop, and how are you going to make right hand turns?"

Ald. Braund: "Maybe they could do some parking on Water St. up to Parkhill Road?"

City Clerk Outram, a member of the committee with Chief Constable Thompson, City Engineer Chalmer and Laurie Mitchell of the bus lines, said the committee felt that both streets at the Harrison corner were narrow, traffic had greatly increased, in all four directions including Water St. to Lakefield Highway and on Parkhill Road to the new housing subdivision across the river and also on the Warsaw Road.

Ald. J. E. Gillespie said Mr. Harrison was fortunate in having had for so long the advantage of curb parking.

Ald. Braund: "I think Dick Ouimet received quite a lot of sympathy, but I don't think Mr. Harrison is getting much."

Finance committee concluded the discussion by simply receiving the special report.

Ald. H. F. Waddell, chairman, commented: "It means we support the report."

The text of the report was as follows:

Mr. Percy Harrison presented his case for alteration in the present parking restrictions at all four corners of Parkhill Road and Water St. He alleged that these restrictions were crippling his business. His recommendation was that the streets be widened for a distance back on each intersection, and that parking be permitted.

"It was pointed out by members of your committee to Mr. Harrison that Parkhill Road and Water St. intersection is one of the busiest and most dangerous in the city. The hazardous conditions had been increased materially by the haphazard parking of motor cars. In setting up zones near the corners where parking was prohibited the length of these zones had actually been kept to a minimum and did not exceed 60 feet, although the bylaw called for 80 feet. Such parking restrictions are necessary at these corners.

"It was further pointed out that the committee could not recommend that the taxpayers be put to the expense of widening the streets back from the corners simply to permit the increased portion of the street so obtained to be cluttered up by parked cars. The case of Mr. Harrison may be accepted as another example of the trend of the times, indicating that in neighborhood shopping centres firms dependent on customers arriving at their places of business by motor car must henceforth plan to provide off-street parking and not expect that as the streets become busier cars of their patrons may continue to be parked at their convenience on the highway. It is regretted that nothing can be suggested to alleviate the condition, from which Mr. Harrison's business is apparently suffering, although he is a local man who has worked very hard for many years in order to develop his business successfully."

At Canada Packers

"Another matter which received the attention of your committee was the hazard created for traffic on George St. in front of the Canada Packers plant by truck trailers being left standing on the travelled part of the roadway for many hours at a time, and also cars belonging to employees of the company being parked on the west side of this roadway all day every day.

"For the information of the aldermen, George St. at this point was widened more than ten years ago, when Canada Packers asked for the co-operation of the city in providing a loading zone.

"The company had acquired the property on the west side of George St. across from the plant, and asked that the city accept a part of this lot to widen George St., the company paying for the street widening and the city granting the company the right to use a part of the east side of George St. for loading purposes.

"At that time the company gave assurances that the trucks would be permitted in the loading zone only during the time that they were being loaded or unloaded, and that the remainder of the company's property on the west side of the street would be developed as a parking lot for the cars of the company's employees.

"As stated above, conditions have been permitted to develop which are very far removed from the assurances given by the company to the city when this loading area was made. The city clerk discussed this matter by telephone with Mr. Innes of the company, who promised that the employees' cars would be parked in the company's parking lot, and that arrangements would be made with Payne's Transport Company that truck trailers would be in the loading zone on George St. only during the time of being actually loaded or unloaded. If definite improvement in both these matters is not apparent within the next two weeks, a further conference with Mr. Innes and Mr. Payne will be sought by your committee."

Used Car Lots Operate Without Permit

Application of Nick Peconi to operate a used car sales lot at Downer's Corners appeared to the finance committee of the council Monday night to be about a month overdue.

It was said that Mr. Peconi was already in business, maybe a month.

"Only one of several operating without a license", was the comment of Ald. J. E. Gillespie.

"Can we really stop them?" Ald. H. Dodds asked.

"No use considering this one unless we take some action with the one on Hunter St.," said Ald. Gillespie. "That's been operating about a year without a permit."

Ald. J. A. Dewart: "What does our legal adviser say?"

City Solicitor Huycke: "My advice is to prosecute. The Hunter St. place is in the same position as this man, only it has been operating longer."

Ald. Doug. Miller inquired whether the police should take action in such matters, and seconded a Gillespie motion asking for an early report on used car sales lots that may be in business without permits, as a step toward prosecution.

Plans To Do Film Series About People

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 11—(AP) —After next Christmas, James A. FitzPatrick will say farewell to his home in Beverley Hills, gateway to Hollywood.

This is a paraphrase of FitzPatrick's famed closing line in his movie travelogues. Usually it is something like this: "And it is with this thought that we say farewell to Lima, gateway to Peru."

But soon FitzPatrick will be saying farewell to people, not places. For when he takes his next journey (to Australasia) he will be starting a new film series, "People On Parade."

I asked if he had run out of places to say farewell to.

"Goodness, no," he said. "The world changes so much that I can return to places I had visited not long ago and find many new things to film. Why, already I'm anxious to return to Palestine, Greece and Italy, which I saw last summer.

Make Change

"No, changing from the straight travelogue to studying the people was not my idea. My distributor thought it would be good to make a change. I am willing to accept their judgment."

And so, for the umpteenth time, FitzPatrick will be leaving the home where he has spent an average of three months a year during the two decades of his film travels.

FitzPatrick doesn't mind kidding about his closing line, "we say farewell to . . ." he once wanted to drop it, but theatre men convinced him it was a good trade mark.

Intensive War Propaganda Terrorizes East Germans

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

BERLIN, Oct. 11 —(AP)—The intensive Communist propaganda charging the Western powers with plotting a ne wwar has succeeded in frightening some Germans nearly out of their wits—but in boomerang fashion.

The most scared Germans are not the residents of Allied occupied West Berlin, who are the chief targets of the propaganda campaign. They are the Germans who live in the Russian occupation zone, which belongs to what the Communists like to call their "mighty peace front."

West Berliners who recently have visited friends and relatives living in the Russian zone report they are amazed at the war jitters apparent in the Soviet occupation area.

Bad Case Of Jitters

A man who spent a week-end with his parents-in-law in nearby Koenigswusterhausen related:

"Why, the poor old folks and their neighbors actually sat on the edges of their chairs, as if ready to flee to the woods at the first sound of a bomb explosion.

"When is it going to start?" they asked repeatedly.

"You must know," they insisted. 'You live in Berlin and they (the Communists) keep telling us here that the Americans and British are planning to blow up West Berlin when they start marching against the Russians.'

No News Sources

"I simply couldn't convince these people," the West Berliner said, "that West Berlin was calm and that its people spent their Sunday afternoons at football games, boxing matches and concerts instead of placing dynamite charges under bridges and factories and drilling with guns.

"Even though they live on th rim of Berlin, these poor folks ar shut of from everything but Communist propaganda. They have n other source of news unless the still have radios and the courag to tune in on Western broadcas s But that is very dangerous because of the swarms of Communist informers who terrorize the Russian zone.

See Stalemate Dominating Politics In Great Britain

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Oct. 11. (CP)—Unless something spectacular emerges from the forthcoming Conservative conference, few observers will be able to resist the impression that a sense of stalemate still dominates British politics.

Technically, the split is real enough. A recent poll showed that public opinion is at least as evenly divided between the two big parties as it was before last February's general election. Any new appeal, which current guesses say may come next February, seems sure to be a toss-up.

Whether or not the ruling Labor party surrenders its present narrow majority, the victor's margin almost certainly will be too small to permit aggressive, controversial policies by the party in office.

Proceedings Stale

The same sense of drift seems to overhang the major parties. Reports of last week's Labor party conference in Margate were virtually unanimous in agreeing that the proceedings were somewhat stale and negative. Labor, it would be fair to assume from these accounts, seems to be running out of steam.

In this 50th-anniversary year of its beginning as a political party, Socialism for the first time is shorn of plans and slogans. Its stand on public ownership is reduced to the formula that certain industries are "within the field of elgibility" for nationalization if a re-elected Labor government should so decide.

"Whether the (policy) document leads to agreed Socialist action, Health Minister Aneurin Bevan told the conference, "depends not upon the language of the document itself but upon the vitality of the Socialist movement in Britain."

Dodges Issue.

In other words, the Liberal Manchester Guardian commented, Labor "now feels it unsafe to define its objectives with precision." And the Sunday Times, strongly opposed to Socialism, said "the Labor movement holds together for fear of falling apart."

If Labor really has reached a standstill, as most critics seem to think, the Conservatives aren't much better off. Try as they might, they cannot seem to find an issue which will arouse public opinion sufficiently to break the deadlock betwen the parties. In a recent by-election, the Conservative candidate complained that nationalization of iron and steel —perhaps the most pressing domestic issue now — does not stir the mass mind.

Police Methods Rapped In Oshawa

OSHAWA, Oct. 11—(CP)—The Oshawa and District Labor Council (CCL) voted Tuesday night to ask the city police commission to make sure that a doctor examines all men arrested for drunkenness to avoid the possibility of fatalities.

Secretary treasurer Michael Fenwick told the council policing methods in the city are "primitive." He said "two men have died here because there was no immediate medical attention when they were arrested."

He referred to the death of John Mackin who died in hospital Sept. 27 after he had been locked up the night before on an intoxication charge. Council president Ed Cline said that on another occasion an elderly man was "sick and staggering" along the street and "police threw him into a cruiser and when they took him out at the station he was dead."

Vote On Sunday Sport

HAMILTON, Oct. 11—((CP)— City council decided Tuesday night to ask civic electors if they want Sunday sport in Hamilton. At the municipal election Dec. 6, voters will be asked if they are in favor of public games and sports in the city as authorized by legislation passed earlier this year by the Ontario government.

Cruiser Aground

KINGSTON, Oct. 11—(CP)— Four Kingston residents were rescued Tuesday from a rock strewn shoal off Wolfe Island in the Thousand Islands after their cabin cruiser went aground Monday night. They were picked up by a hunting party who found them huddled on rocks near the partly-submerged craft.

Then they will be so impressed with the delicious flavor that all of them will want a copy of the recipe.

These fritters serve as a semi-sweet dessert and will make a hit with all your guests. The fritters rolled in powdered sugar and served with tea or coffee make exceptional afternoon refreshments. Four Heronite Preachers Sent To Jail

VAL D'OR, Que., Oct. 11 (CP) —Four Heronite preachers Tuesday were fined with jail alternatives as the latest violators of Val d'Or's by-law forbidding religious street meetings without permit.

In recent weeks, 31 Regular Baptist evangelists have been jailed for similar action. The Heronites are a Fundamentalist sect of the Protestant religion.

Gordon Beck 21, and Lorne Mathewson 30, both of Toronto, Robert I. Hussey, London Ont., and Daniel Lasar 21, of Bourlamaque, Que., each was fined $40, and costs, with an alternative of two months in the Abitibi district jail at Amos, Que.

Police Magistrate J. G. Baillargeon said that if the convicted four choose the jail sentences and if costs of the action are not paid at the expiration of the two-months terms, the convicted must serve another two months each.

Plead Innocent.

The four pleaded innocent and appeared in court without counsel. They were convicted after a short trial.

Several Baptist evangelists recently were convicted of violating the Val d'Or traffic by-law and chose jail terms rather than pay their fines. In their case, Mr. Baillargeon also said that failure to pay fines or costs at the end of the jail terms would mean they would serve further terms. At the time, he said the convicted Baptists were in contempt of court.

However, he indicated that they were in contempt of court for refusal to pay their fines and electing jail terms instead.

In bringing down his judgment Tuesday, Mr. Baillargeon said he had received many letters "invoking death upon me and my family as a 'judgment of God.'" He said he also had been called a dictator and "otherwise abused."

He added that he also had received a number of letters from Ontario residents who were neither Roman Catholics nor French-speaking Canadians, congratulating him on the fairness of the trials he had given members of religious sects.

"These make up for the others," he said.

Seeking to Halt Children Smoking

CAPETOWN, —(CP)—A memorandum drawn up by the National Council for child welfare calls attention to increased smoking among South African children during the last 10 years.

"There appears to be a definite causative relationship between excessive smoking and truancy, uncontrollability, inertia, maladjustment and even juvenile delinquency," the memorandum says.

The council urges legislation to prohibit the sale of cigarets and tobacco to children.

READS IN BED: "Our two children aged 12 and 15 are incessant readers in bed. We put out the lights but before we're well downstairs they're on again and the books come out. How on earth can you discourage this habit which I'm sure is ruining their eyes as well as exciting them so that they can't sleep?"

We were a great family for reading in bed and my father had a very old-fashioned remedy. He came upstairs, hair brush in hand, applied it where it did the most good, turned out the lights and left us. Nowadays modern parents don't go for that sort of discipline but it's still effective. Another remedy might be to permit reading in bed for a stated period as a bonus for good behaviour. However, I'm a little dubious. Once a bed reader always a bed reader, I've found.

APTITUDE TEST: "Where in Toronto can I take my son to have an aptitude test? He is 15, very brilliant in an artistic way but can't add single figures. We would like to know whether to send him to art school or make him learn his figures."

Aptitude tests will probably be given in the high school which your son attends. Another source of help would be Central Y.M.C.A., College Street. The Youth Employment Centre, Albert Street, will also provide aptitude tests

Wm. B. Paterson Marries

The marriage of Mr. William Barnes Paterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Paterson of 624 Rubidge St., Peterborough, to Barbara Carolyn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. Ersyli Boake of Weston, took place Saturday afternoon in the Downsview United Church, Downsview. The Rev. Garnet W. Lynd officiated.

Oak leaves and chrysanthemums in fall shades decorated the church. Miss Bertie Carruthers was at the organ and Miss Barbara King sang "Where'er you walk" during signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in mist white tulle and French lace over satin. The lily-pointed basque of the lace was finished with brief sleeves and a cameo neckline accented with a yoke of nylon tulle. The gathered period skirt featured a peplum effect of the lace appliqued to the tulle and extending in a deep point over the back sweep. Her veil was of tulle illusion caught to a matching lace Juliet cap and she carried a bouquet of gardenias and bouvardia.

Maid of honor was Miss Nancy Boake and bridesmaids were Mrs. Hugh Reid and Miss Barbara Maxwell. They wore gowns of faille taffeta in shades of gold, tan and rust, and matching half hats trimmed with feathered pom-pom and carried crescent bouquets of 'mums in shades to match their gowns.

Mr. Hugh Graham attended the groom and ushers were Donald Boake, Douglas Head, Hugh Reid, and Garnet Nix.

The reception was at the bride's home where Mrs. Boake received in a gown of intermission brown with bronze trim and matching hat and wore a corsage of Pinnocchio roses. Mrs. Paterson, mother of the groom, was gowned in mist blue crepe with yoke of lave over chiffon and wore a black velveteen hat and corsage of Talisman roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Paterson are spending their honeymoon in Muskoka and afterward will live in Smiths Falls.

SPEAKING OF FOOD —

How often have you attended a social gathering and noticed that sooner or later the conversation turns to food? This is the signal for folks to start giving favourite recipes, cuts of meat, talking vitamins and so on through the whole gamut of food.

And speaking of favourable recipes . . . this being the season for pumpkins . . . here's a new one you'll want to include in your list.

Pumpkin Pie
(Fool-proof recipe)
1 cup milk or light cream
2 eggs
½ cup light brown sugar, firmly packed
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon ginger
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon cloves
1½ cups freshly cooked or canned pumpkin, drained and mashed Unbaked 9" pie shell

Start your oven at 425° F. or hot. Heat milk. Beat eggs slightly. Sift all dry ingredients together once. This gets the lumps out of the brown sugar if there are any. Mix into pumpkin thoroughly. Add eggs and beat until smooth. Stir in warm milk (heating the milk and beating the eggs makes a smooth filling).

Pour filling into unbaked pie shell and bake 10 minutes. Then reduce heat to 350° F. or moderate and bake 30 minutes longer.

Of course for your pumpkin, fresh or canned and other things such as sugar, eggs, shortening and other baking supplies, you'll find choice qualities at your Dominion Master Market, corner of George and Sherbrooke streets.

They say a successful day begins with a good breakfast. On visiting Dominion the other day, we noted the large number of breakfast cereals lining the shelves. Going over the list we find no less than nineteen different kinds, some to be served cold, some hot. These came from an equally impressive number of manufacturers so that whatever your family's tastes, you can be sure Dominion has the kind they like most. Then what breakfast is complete without hot toast with jam . . . m-m-m, it makes you hungry to think of it! On the shelves we found jams, jellies, marmalades, honey and maple syrup from more than a dozen manufacturers. Then there was fresh, deliciously aromatic coffees, bacon, eggs, butter and rows of canned juices not to mention fresh oranges, grapefruit, bananas. No need for anyone to have an unsuccessful day when Dominion has all the ingredients for a perfectly wonderful morning meal.

P. S. Your Dominion Master Market is conveniently located at George and Sherbrooke Streets in Peterborough.

Betty Drummond Wed Here To Toronto Man

On Thanksgiving Day a beautiful double ring wedding scene took place at high noon in the Church of the Sacred Heart when Betty Jean Drummond, daughter of Mrs. Thelma Drummond, became the bride of Douglas Robert Denniss, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Denniss of Toronto. The ceremony and the nuptial mass were performed by the Rev. G. F. Sullivan.

The church was decorated with gladioli and ferns and the wedding music was played by organist Mr. J. Armstrong. Vocalist was Mr. Orville Wainman who sang "On This Day" and "Ave Marie".

Given in marriage by her grandfather Mr. Arnold Hatton, the bride was lovely in a gown of white satin, cut on princess lines with hoop skirt, and she wore a beaded tiara and finger tip veil. She carried a California, cascade of croten, salal, nephihitis, caladirim, and German ivy.

The wedding of Mary Elizabeth (Betty) Rutherford, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Rutherford of Bailieboro, to Mr. William James Robinson, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Robinson of Campbellcroft, was a lovely event of Saturday afternoon in the Centreville Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. John Riddell of Port Perry, a former minister at the church, performed the ceremony in a setting of fall flowers and ferns. Mrs. Harland Seens played the wedding music and Mr. Seens was the soloist for the occasion. Before the service he sang "Because" and during the signing of the register "O Perfect Love".

The bride's gown was of white satin, fashioned on princess lines with a high neckline and yoke of sheer marquisette, outlined with insertion of shirred satin giving an off-the-shoulder effect. The long sleeves came to ponts over her hands and the skirt extended in a slight train. She wore a circular fingertip veil of silk illusion caught to a beaded coronet and she carried a cascade of red roses.

Barbara Weir Lovely Bride Of Geo. Whitaker, Edmonton

In Trinity United Church Saturday afternoon was one of the loveliest autumn wedding scenes as Barbara Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Edwin Weir, 379 Downie St., became the bride of Mr. George van Someren Whitaker of Edmonton, Alta., the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Whitaker of Toronto.

Their nuptial vows were pledged before the Rev. Dr. D. Bruce Gordon with the background a bank of ferns and tall standards of white 'mums. Organist Donald Kennedy played the music and soloist Dr. J. A. Deyell of Ottawa sang "The Lord's Prayer" before the ceremony and "For You Alone" during signing of the register.

The bride's maid of honor was Miss Nancy Sootheran and her bridesmaids were her cousins, Miss Janet Down of London, Ontario, and Miss Nancy Chantler of Lambeth and the groom's sister Mrs. Ross Rogers of Barrie.

Groomsman was Mr. W. M. Gregory of Lindsay and ushers were Mr. J. R. R. Weir of Dunnville, cousin of the bride, Mr. J. R Rogers of Barrie, Mr. A. W. Bethune of Toronto and Mr. J. O. Harold of Paris.

Mr. Weir gave his daughter in marriage. She was wearing an exquisite gown of bridal white satin which was cut on simple princess lines, the tapering fullness of each gore caught in soft inverted pleats below the waistline, held wide by a hoop, and at the back flowing into a very long and beautifully full circular train. Very wide bands of pointe de Leon lace on the bodice came to deep points at the line of pleats in front and back where it was brought to the edges fastened with satin-covered buttons and tiny points of the lace edged the long sheath-like sleeves. Matching lace, caught in a Juliet cap, held her veil. She carried an ivory prayer book, gift of the groom's grandfather Col. A. P. van Someren, and had gardenias with cascading streamers tied with tiny gardenias and stephanotis.

The maid of honor wore a long-sleeved dress of emerald green velvet and matching Juliet cap and carried a cascade of rust and yellow 'mums. The bridesmaids wore similar gowns and hats of rust velvet and carried cascades of yellow 'mums.

Mrs. Weir, mother of the bride, was wearing a cinnamon brown crepe dress with matching hat trimmed with veiling touched with bronze metallic drops, and she had a corsage of Talisman roses and chrysanthemum petals. The dress worn by the groom's mother was of cocoa brown crepe and lace and she had a matching hat and corsage of pink roses with chrysanthemum petals.

About 170 guests, coming from many out-of-town places, as far distant as California, were at the reception held at the home of the bride's parents.

Later the couple left for Toronto and on Sunday flew from Malton airport to Edmonton where they will take up residence at 10428-132nd Street.

When going-away the bride was wearing a suit of imported dark brown gabardine with blouse and hat in mustard shade and handbag and shoes of brown alligator. Her corsage was of green gardenias.

Morbid Dwelling On Loss No Help to Bereaved Mother

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been married more than eight years to a wonderful man, the kindest person I have ever known. His salary is small, so we have no easy time making ends meet. But that is not my trouble. It is losing my baby. I have always been crazy for a child, and when I knew that one was coming I was the happiest person in the world. But she only lived four hours. A misplaced heart and a lung that failed to grow. Losing her made me so wild with grief that I have nearly lost my mind. I think of nothing but my baby and how sweet she would be. How I shall make out, God only knows.

Dorothy Dix

A HEART-BROKEN MOTHER

◇ ◇ ◇

ANSWER: You have my sympathy and you will have that of every woman who reads your pathetic letter. It is a terrible thing for a woman to go down into the valley of the shadow of death for a child and then come back with empty arms, but you are making a bad matter worse by your morbid dwelling on your loss and your self-pity.

None Can Escape

Not one of us can escape the bitter tragedy of parting from someone we love, and the earth would be so filled with grief and with the lamentations of the bereaved that it would be an intolerable place if we all met our misfortune with the lack of fortitude that you show. For your loss in not unique. It is not even the greatest one that a woman has ever been called upon to suffer.

When I say this to you, don't think I am lacking in sympathy. I am not. But what you need now is not pity, but a brace. You need someone to tell you, as I am doing, that you are being a coward in giving up to your disappointment in losing your baby and that for the sake of the good husband you have that you must make an effort to get yourself together and dry your tears.

The best remedy for sorrow is work. Get busy. If you have not enough to do at home to keep you occupied, find a job. Something that you will have to think about. Something that will take your thoughts off the child and that will make you so tired that you will sleep at night, instead of lying awake thinking of your loss. And have another baby as soon as you can. If you could afford the one you have lost, you can certainly afford another, and baby I have always wanted the intelligent husband but I have always fallen for a baby face, consequently I immediately get bored with them. My ambition is to be a writer, an actress or both. Nothing else seems worth while. Now that my two sons are about grown, hands will heal the wound in your heart.

DEAR MISS DIX:

I am highly emotional, temperamental, ambitious and have a tendency to dramatize my life. I have been married four times, each time thinking I was madly in love. But when the honeymoon ended, so did my love and enthusiasm. My husbands all still love me and want me back. However, I have lost interest in them. I am thinking of going to Hollywood and writing scenarios. What do you think of my plan?

B. H.

◇ ◇ ◇

ANSWER: Your talent for short-order marriages and swapping husbands seems to indicate that Hollywood is your predestined home. But as to Hollywood offering you a good opening for gratifying your ambition to be a scenario writer or a movie queen, that's a different story. I hate to be discouraging, but it takes lots more work than a simple ambition to be a writer or an actress to make you one. It takes talent; it takes work; it takes years and years of experience and a good bit of luck to top it all off with.

◇ ◇ ◇

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a girl of 17 in great trouble about my parents. They are on the verge of a break-up and I feel that I cannot stand for them to be divorced. They are always picking on each other, saying dreadful things to each other, calling each other bad names and so on. There is never a moment of peace in our home. I have tried to make them forgive and forget, but it is no use. What can I do?

S. M.

◇ ◇ ◇

ANSWER: I wish I knew, my child. It is a terrible thing for parents to be willing to wreck the lives of their children in order to gratify their spleen against each other, but they do it and nothing stops them. Perhaps you will be happier if they do separate and one or the other gives you a quiet home.

Directions

The first dinner, for mother's afternoon out, may be prepared mostly in the morning of the day it is to be served. Partially cook your Swiss steak and finish it when you are boiling the potatoes for mashing. Make the Beet Ring and Lemon Pudding and leave them setting and chilling in refrigerator.

◇ ◇ ◇

Beet Ring

To 1 cup cooked beets add 1 cup chopped cucumber and arrange in moistened ring mould. Soak 1½ tablespoons gelatine in ¼ cup cold water, add ¾ cup hot beet juice, 1 tablespoon sugar, juice of 1 large lemon, salt and pepper to taste. Stir over hot water until gelatine dissolves, then pour over beets in mould. Chill to set. When turned out fill centre with cabbage slaw.

◇ ◇ ◇

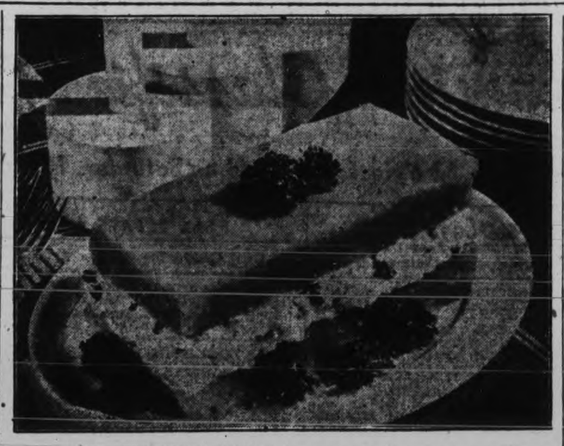
Lemon Meringue Pudding

Beat 3 egg yolks with ½ cup sugar long enough to make them into a light froth. Fold in grated rind and juice of 1 lemon. Cook in top of double boiler, stirring, until mixture thickens. Make a stiff meringue of the remaining whites with 6 tablespoons sugar. Fold this stiff meringue into the cooked yolk mixture while it is still warm; add shake of salt. Pour into sherbet glasses to chill. This may be frozen if desired.

To bake Pepper Squashes cut them in halves lengthwise, place cut side down, after removing seed section on buttered pan and bake at 375 deg. Fahr. 1 hour.

◇ ◇ ◇

Italian Spaghetti with Meat Balls



Delicious and highly recommended for dinner parties given by young mothers, whose time is at a premium all day.

Cook spaghetti or noodles in very large pot of boiling salted water until tender.

Sauce: Cook 2 medium sliced onions and 1 diced green pepper in 2 tablespoons cooking oil until tender. Add 1 large can tomatoes, 1 tablespoon salt, 2 tablespoons sugar, and cook slowly until it is a fairly thick sauce.

Drain spaghetti, arrange in centre of large platter, pour over hot sauce and surround with Meat Balls: One pound ground beef or veal is mixed with ¼ cup finely chopped suet, 1 beaten egg, 2 tablespoons horseradish, ½ teaspoon dry mustard, 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce and if desired, 1 clove garlic chopped finely. Form into one-inch balls. Saute in hot fat in frying-pan turning frequently, for about 10 minutes. If desired these meat balls may be added to sauce after sauteing.

MOLD TOMATO ASPIC in two shallow tins and use them as layers to be filled with a tasty potato salad for a tangy contrast.

Tomato Aspic, Potato Salad Make Colorful Buffet Treat

Every hostess put an effort into the meat course or the dessert when serving for company but in the effort to prepare these dishes she sometimes loses sight of an equally important part of the meal—the potatoes. To add zest, imagination, and genuine taste to your potato servings, you must see "250 Ways of Serving Potatoes," the thirteenth cookbook in the series of twenty-four being released a book-a-week to readers of this newspaper.

All of these cookbooks are crammed full of exciting ideas for cooking enjoyment, but the Potato Book is especially good because it covers a phase of cooking that is so often slurred over. So many hostesses will just shake out a bag of potato chips into a bowl without realizing that it takes very little added effort to put a real taste-treat on your buffet table. Here is one of many ideas from the Potato Book that are well worth trying:

Potato Aspic Salad

2 packages aspic gelatin
4 cups tomato juice
2 cups potato salad

Dissolve aspic gelatin in 2 cups boiling tomato juice, add remaining juice. Pour half of gelatin mixture into an oiled mold. When partially set, add a layer of potato salad and pour remaining aspic on top. Chill until firm. Unmold. Serves 8.

Mold aspic in 2 layers. When firm place potato salad between.

Potato Salad

2 cups diced cooked potatoes
1 large onion, chopped fine
2 hard-cooked eggs, diced
2 tablespoons water
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons vinegar
½ cup minced parsley

Mix potatoes, onion and eggs together lightly. Heat water, salt, pepper and butter until butter is melted; add vinegar. Pour over potato mixture; mix thoroughly, then chill. Sprinkle parsley over the top. Serves 4.

Like so many of the recipes in the Potato Book, this combination does not really involve much work but the delight of your guests will more than compensate for the slight added effort. And for many other good ideas you will want to get your copy of the Potato Book soon. All you need do is clip a coupon from page 2 of any issue of this newspaper and present it with 25c at the Examiner office or from your Examiner carrier or at Braund's Home Food Markets. Or to secure your copy by mail sent 30c (5c additional for postage and handling) and the coupon to Cookbook Department, Examiner, Peterborough.

Movie Actress Turned Artist Invades Paris

By PHILIP CLARKE

PARIS —(AP)— Ruth (Dusty) Anderson, one-time cover girl and Hollywood movie player, has invaded Paris with an exhibition of her own paintings.

She's out to prove a pretty girl can paint, but she's frankly scared. She never studied art in her life, and Paris critics are tough.

Dusty, now the wife of movie director Jean Negulesco, likes painting better than movie acting.

"It is more satisfying," she told a reporter while preparing 15 of her latest paintings for her big show at the leading Drouant-David gallery.

Negulesco, a painter himself, interested his slim, blue-eyed wife in painting about three years ago while they were on location for a film in Northern California.

"At first I just dabbled around," said Dusty. "Then I got serious about it. Now I put in about nine hours a day at the canvas."

Dusty's pictures have a light feminine touch. She shuns the impressionistic style of most moderns. "I frankly don't understand it," she admitted, "I try to paint happy things with lots of sunshine, just as I see them."

Picture of Thames

Her pictures include scenes of London's river Thames, conventional flowers and fruit, an intriguing study of her two Siamese cats—"Jackson" and "Pavlovaza" and an unusual portrait of herself framed by a window of her Beverley Hills, Calif., home. The window has glass shelves holding a collection of South American and African statuettes and objects of ancient art.

She hopes to present her impressions of France and England in a New York City show some time next year, painting from sketches in her travel notebook.

Dusty quit the movies shortly after she married Negulesco.

"We had no time to live," she smiled. "It's not good for a man and wife to be in the same business."

Dusty starred in such pictures as "Cover Girl," "A Thousand and One Nights" and a score or more mystery thrillers from 1941 to 1946. She was a leading New York cover girl for three years before that, usually appearing on magazine covers and advertising posters as a wholesome outdoor type.

6—In Memoriams

DEW—In loving memory of my father, Martin Dew, who passed away October 10, 1949.
October comes with sad regret,
Of one that we will not forget,
Thy will be done seems hard to say,
When one we loved was called away.
Things have changed in many ways,
But one thing changes never,
The memory of those happy days,
When we were all together.
—Ever remembered by son and daughter-in-law, Jack and Audrey.

HILLIER—In loving memory of dad, and grandpa, who passed away Oct. 11, 1946.
—Ever remembered by Delbert, Beatrice, Joan and Fred.

McCOLL—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Mrs. Ross McColl, woh passed away October 11, 1945.
Five years have passed and gone
Since one we loved so well
Was taken from our home on earth
With Jesus Christ to dwell.
The flowers we place upon her grave,
May wither and decay,
But the love of her who sleeps beneath
Shall never fade away.
—Ever remembered by husband and daughter

SMITH—In loving memory of our dear son, John A. Smith, who passed away Oct. 12th, 1949.
What would I give to clasp his hand
His happy face to see,
To hear his voice and see his smile
That meant so much to me.
—Ever remembered by mother and step-father, Stephen Alford.

Y Member Drive In Full Swing

The annual membership campaign of the YMCA is now in full swing. Stanley Payne and his membership committee have an objective this year of 500 new members covering all sections of the senior department.

Charles Forsyth, general secretary, said today that emphasis is being placed on a full gym and health program. This will include volleyball, basketball, gymnastics, health exercises, boxing, wrestling, weight-lifting, fencing, jiu jitsu and other activities. As interest indicates a need or desire other healthy sports will be added.

For a fresh start the pool has been painted and further equipped while the gym has been decorated in light colors of cream and grey with a red border. The equipment has been overhauled and everything possible done to give a greater service to the members.

Under the new physical director, Fraser Wade, classes are now in full operation for the men and boys. William McFarlane, the boys' secretary, is directing the boys' department program.

Says RMC Trains Leaders Too

LENNOXVILLE, Que., Oct. 11 (CP). — Brig. R. D. Agnew, Commandant of Royal Military College at Kingston, spoke to students of Bishop's College School Monday and explained that RMC does more than turn out professional soldiers. It also turns out men who become leaders in civilial life.

"These very leaders and their quality of leadership in civilian life prove more than helpful in time of war or emergency because, having been trained at the RMC, they, as civilians, are able to understand the problems of the military and of war," said the Brigadier.

He spoke at the annual BCS Thanksgiving Day prize award ceremony at which the outstanding student, based on last year's work, was J. T. I. Porteous of Montreal, who won six prizes, including the Governor-General's Medal.

The Brigadier told students that RMC was always glad to get students from such small schools as Bishops because in these small schools there was stress on and development of such characteristics as integrity, loyalty, discipline, good manners and good humor.

Missing Peer Being Sought

LONDON, Oct. 11 — (CP) — Experts in genealogy looked to Canada today for the missing heir to a peerage created 400 years ago by King Henry VIII.

Editors of Debrett's Peerage—sometimes irreverently called the Bible of the Blue Bloods—appealed for help in tracing a man named Harry Edward Plunkett, who left to seek his fortune in Canada before the turn of the century.

If Plunkett is still alive, he would be 102 years old—and No. 1 heir to one of Ireland's oldest families.

"If we can't locate Plunkett or any close relatives he might have had," Debrett's said today, "It would hold up any succession to the title of the future."

Debrett's experts became worried about Plunkett after the death last February of the 15th Lord Louth. His 21-year-old son Otway Michael James Oliver Plunkett, succeeded. That left Harry Edward Plunkett next in line.

CANADIAN GUNS SET RED PORT AFIRE

Canada Gets 10 Million Arms Order

Factory In Quebec Will Supply Guns For U.S. Navy

OTTAWA, Oct. 12—(CP)—Canada will supply the United States with a large quantity of naval anti-aircraft guns, it was announced Wednesday.

The $10,000,000 order has been placed by the Canadian Commercial Corporation on behalf of the U.S. with the Sorel Industries Limited, of Sorel, Que.

Trade Minister Howe, announcing the contract, said the U.S. order is "concrete evidence" that recent negotiations for reciprocal arms production agreements is paying off. The Canadian government has argued in these negotiations that this country must sell more arms to the U.S. if the Dominion is to buy normal supplies of armaments in that country.

The Sorel firm which will fill the new order already had a Canadian naval order worth $2,100,000 for similar guns—three-inch, 50 calibre weapons developed during the Second World War.

A Canadian Commercial Corporation spokesman said the term, "three-inch 50-calibre gun" means a gun with a bore three inches in diameter and of a length 50 times this distance, or 150 inches. The guns presumably will be used on escort work against enemy aircraft.

The U.S. order was indicated as far back as Aug. 8, when the Canada-U.S. Joint Mobilization committee met in Ottawa. At that time, Hubert Howard, former chief of the U.S. Munitions Board, said that further orders would be placed in Canada by the U.S. as armament planning developed.

The Aug. 8 meeting initiated new arrangements for the two countries to pursue a joint defence effort. It is expected an agreement covering the new arrangements will be signed by both countries in the near future.

Allied Ships Lay Down Big Barrage

No Indication Given Whether Landing Made At Chongjin

TOKYO, Oct. 12—(AP)—Big guns of Allied warships and naval planes set fire today to Chongjin, a far northern port on the east of North Korea.

The industrial port city of 190,000 is 34 miles southeast of Red China's Manchuria border, 49 miles from Russian Siberia and 220 miles upcoast from the nearest Allied South Korean ground troops at Wonsan.

Chongjin is about 140 miles southwest of Siberian Vladivostok, through which much Russian material is believed to have poured down to the Korean Reds by rail.

A similar Allied fleet bombardment and rolling air strike pounded the Korean west coast ahead of the Allied amphibious landings at Inchon in mid-September that turned the tide of the war.

The west coast landings led to the general Allied counter-offensive now striking with three prongs inside Red Korea toward the Communist capital, Pyongyang, on the west side of the peninsula.

Silent On Landing

First dispatches from the U.S. battleship Missouri, flagship of the United Nations task group off Chongjin, gave no indication that a landing was being made.

Canadian, British and Australian warships joined in the Chongjin bombardment.

AP photographer-correspondent Gene Herrick, aboard the Missouri, reported the bombardment started Thursday with indications that it was continuing.

It was the northernmost point in Red Korea to come under the Allied big naval guns.

Carrier planes softened up the shore targets Wednesday.

Pushing Ahead

Allied ground troops far south of the bombarded city pushed steadily ahead on three fronts toward Pyongyang—from the south, southeast and east.

Those approaches to the nest of defiant Premier Kim Il Sung's regime are fiercely defended by the Reds in some spots. In other sectors they were reported withdrawing.

The Reds were tasting the bitter medicine they forced on the U.N. forces early in the war. Outnumbered and out-gunned, the back-pedalling Communist troops strove in vain to stem the three-pronged offensive stabbing at the capital.

Far ahead of the 135-mile front, stretching slant-wise across the peninsula north of parallel 38, Allied planes extended their strikes in Communist Korea close to the Manchurian and Siberian borders.

A spokesmon at MacArthur's headquarters said a general withdrawal of from 6,000 to 10,000 Reds from the central sector may have begun. But die-hards were fighting stubbornly on the western end, at Kumchon, and in the northeast, near captured Wonsan port on the Sea of Japan.

Needs To Brush Up

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 12—(AP)—President Truman came back to his hotel after a meeting here Wednesday night and decided to telephone Mrs. Truman in Washington. "Operator, this is the President," he said. "I'd like to call the White House." There was a pause, while the operator got her breath. "Charlie," he said, turning to his press secretary, Charles G. Ross, "What's that number?" Ross filled him in—National 1414, a number known to practically everybody else in Washington.

U.S. Orders Visas Halted Canadians Hit

Temporary Suspension Affects Aliens Under New Law

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 — (CP)—United States officials today were ordered to suspend temporarily passport visas issued to aliens — including Canadians—planning to come to the United States.

The suspension order went out to U.S. officials all over the world in a move to permit a recheck of individual records because of the tight new internal-security law.

It does not apply to official representatives of foreign governments.

It does not affect Canadians coming to the United States on visits, since they do not have to have visas. But it does apply to Canadians coming as immigrants since they must have passports and visas.

Officials said today the state department telegraphed the orders Wednesday to embassies and consuls to permit a recheck of individual records because of the tight new internal security law.

The law, enacted over President Truman's veto, bars the entry of aliens who have been at any time members of the Communist "or other totalitarian" parties.

Its enforcement has resulted in the detention of several hundred aliens who already had been granted entry permits when the law went into effect,

More than 200 were being held at Ellis Island, N.Y. Germany and Italy have protested against the detention of their Nationals.

Under the visa suspension order, aliens now holding visas can get them revalidated only by satisfying American consuls abroad that they are not banned from the United States by the Security Act.

Displaced Persons who are being brought to the U.S. for resettlement under provisions of other legislation were exempted from the suspension order.

The law bars not only members of "totalitarian" parties, but members of their subsidiary branches. State department officials estimated this would make ineligible possibly 90 per cent of all Germans because the great mass of Germans were members of some sort of Nazi organizations during the Hitler regime, often involuntarily.

West Berliners Pay Tribute To Anti-Reds

BERLIN, Oct. 12—(AP)—More than 2,000,000 West Berliners paid silent tribute today to Germans resisting "Communist terror" in the city's Russian sector.

At noon sirens signalled a two-minute silence throughout West Berlin.

The tribute followed Mayor Ernst Reuter's announcement that 375,712 adult residents of Russian-occupied East Berlin had voted against Communism and for democratic unification of the city by mailing old ration cards as an indication of their sentiments to th western city hall.

The jangle of street traffic died away. Workers paused in the factories. Western radio stations went silent.

Reuter said the silence 'expressed our protest against terror in the east, our unity with brethren there and the will of all citizens for free elections in all Berlin."

Assembly Jubilant

A jubilant west assembly heard the mayor disclose the final votes voluntarily mailed to the city hall by east Berliners, despite stern Russian warnings.

The ballots were old September ration cards from which east Berliners removed their names to avoid possible identification by Communist spies.

More than half the estimated 700,000 enfranchised citizens of the Soviet sector participated in the secret poll conducted for seven days by anti-Communist western political parties.

Even after Communist authorities announced they would give an unexpected clothing ration to holders of September cards, more than 100,000 poured into city hall.

Young PC Chief Outlines Purposes of Organization

National president of the Young Progressive Conservatives organization, Leon Balcer, MP from Three Rivers, outlined three main purposes of Young Progressive Conservative Organizations in Canada, in an address to the Peterborough branch holding its annual general meeting Wednesday evening.

Young Conservatives, said Mr. Balcer, must give enthusiastic support to PC candidates at elections, keep the party up-to-date with new ideas and "to act as propaganda agents for the party."

Young people, he said, should be the most enthusiastic and the most active of all workers during election time.

New ideas are appearing every day and "we must not be afraid to give our opinions to our seniors even if at times they might seem a little too daring."

Need National Character

If the Progressive Conservative party is to gain power, it must become truly national in character with a program broad enough to appeal to all race and religious groups in the dominion. He said French-speaking Canadians were proud of their traditions, but they were even more proud of being Canadian.

He said he was sorry the PC party did not have a Jewish sitting member in the house of parliament. Mr Balcer said the Progressive Conservative party had a tradition of national thinking. It was the Conservative Party that was responsible for Confederation, he said.

"We must have a policy to shape the next 50 years," he said.

Young Conservatives, the national president said, must be a propaganda group for the party.

"We have a great leader doing great work and we must see that the man in the street knows about it," he said.

Liberals Control Press

In Quebec the press was controlled by the "great Liberal machine" he said. But he said it was up to the young Conservatives to make sure the general public knew of the great work that George Drew and the Progressive Conservative party were doing.

France Proposes To Double Defence Budget

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12—(AP)—France proposes to double its defence spending next year provided its gets approximately $750,000,000 in outside aid.

Defence Minister Jules Moch of France it reported ready to explain this new program to Defence Secretary George C. Marshall at a meeting today.

Reliable officials said plans for boosting France's defence budget were presented to the State and Defence Departments just prior to Moch's arrival here Wednesday.

The French proposal, they said, contemplates increasing defence expenditures from about $1,200,000,000 this year to about $2,450,000,000 during 1951.

See Quick Approval

Moch is seeking quick American approval of the plan during a round of conferences with top American defence leaders so his government can present the expanded military budget to the French parliament shortly after it convenes next Tuesday.

France's ability to bear the big defence burden appears to hinge on whether the United States is ready to extend immediate large-scale financial help from the $5,225,000,000 foreign arms aid fund appropriated by Congress.

Informed officials, who cannot be named, told a reporter the French plan calls for assistance not only from the United States but from Britain, Belgium, Italy, and other North Atlantic Treaty allies.

More than $500,000,000 of French defence funds, it was reported, would be allocated to French troops now battling advancing Communist forces in Indo-China.

Judge Warns Strikers Wives At Belleville

TORONTO, Oct. 12 — (CP) — Wives and children of strikers who are picketing the Belleville Lock Company at Belleville "are coming very close to contempt of court," Mr. Justice R. W. Treleaven warned at Osgoode Hall today.

He was speaking during a hearing of a suit brought by the company against the United Electrical Workers for damages suffered in what the company calls an illegal strike. The company has obtained a court order forbidding 54 of its 103 employees and one UEW official to picket the plant.

Peter Slaght, acting for the company, said that though none of those forbidden to picket were picketing, their wives, mothers, children and sisters were doing so. He sought a guarantee from J. R. Kimber, union counsel, that this picketing would stop.

Mr. Kimber said he could not undertake this. Mr. Justice Treleaven agreed that it would be legally impossible to give such a guarantee. But he said union counsel would be doing the UEW a favor if he told them the action of the workers' families "is near contempt of court and is very foolish, apart from the legal aspect."

Court Raising Pay For 2 Million Aussies

SYDNEY, Australia, Oct. 12 — (AP)—A total of 2,620,000 Australians—just about every wage earner in the Dominion—is going to get a pay boost by a court decision.

Men will get £1 (about $2.30) more a week and women from 15 to 45 shillings (about $1.75 to $5.15) extra.

The rises will come—possibly early next year—by a decision of the Commonwealth Arbitration Court handed down today in Melbourne.

Australia is a pioneer in the system of determining wages by court decision after hearing the case of both employers and employees.

The basic wage determined by the court is the least that may be paid to adult unskilled workers. Margins over the basic wage are given for varying degrees of skill. The margins also have been determined by arbitration courts here for years.

Today's decision rejects an application for equal pay for women.

Canadians Win US Chief's Praise

TOKYO, Oct. 12 (CP) — Vice-Admiral Harold T. W. Grant, Royal Canadian navy chief of staff, today said Gen. Douglas MacArthur has been "most flattering" in his comments about Canadian Naval operations in the Korean war.

Admiral Grant, back in Tokyo after an inspection tour, said he will leave for Ottawa Saturday.

The Admiral accompanied the Canadian destroyers Athabaskan, Cayuga and Sioux in operations along the west coast of Korea. He said morale and efficiency were "very high—as I expected."

The Admiral conferred with MacArthur today. He did not disclose the subject of the talk.

MacArthur's headquarters Wednesday said the Sioux bombarded Communist gun emplacements on the Korean west coast near the 38th parallel on Fankonchi Point.

Burning Ship Careens Over

HALIFAX, Oct. 12 —(CP)—The flame-eaten Spanish freighter Monte Inchorta careened over on her side at her pier today and waves broke across the bow of the doomed 3,500-ton vessel.

As she heeled over, the ship came to rest on solid bottom and her superstructure bashed itself against the pier. Meanwhile, firemen still pumped tons of water into her holds in the hope of saving her cargo.

Two fire boats, along with the city fire department, battled the stubborn blaze which broke out anew early today after smouldering for two days as the ship raced for port. She arrived Wednesday, escorted by the tug Foundation Lillian.

Her crew abandoned ship. At first, red hot decks prevented firemen from boarding her. An indication of the pressure below decks was shown today when tarpaulins over the after holds were held distended like balloons.

Civil Defence Force

COVENTRY, England, Oct. 12 —(AP).— Home Secretary James Chuter Ede said in an address tonight that Britain aims to enlist a civil defence force of about 800,000 in a few months.

French Abandon Key Rebel Base

SAIGON, Indo-China, Oct. 12—(AP) — The French today announced their withdrawal from the former key Vietminh base of Thai Nguyen, in North Indo-China, which they seized less than two weeks ago.

A French military spokesman said the withdrawal had been made voluntarily, without any Vietminh pressure, to a new defence line about 15 miles south of Thai Nguyen.

The spokesman explained that Thai Nguyen, 40 miles north of Hanoi and the centre of a large area of fertile rice lands, had been occupied to destroy important Vietminh installations in the area. That had been accomplished, he declared.

However, AP correspondent Kenneth Likes reported in a delayed dispatch from Hanoi Wednesday after accompanying the French forces operating in the area that the French had planned to make Thai Nguyen the anchor fortification for a series of 30 brick fortresses guarding the area.

Already two key posts on the Indo-China frontier have been abandoned by the French, leaving the Vietminh with an open road for wide stretches to Communist supplies and training in South China.

Teacher's Hair Parted By Hunter's Bullet

GRAVENHURST, Oct. 12 (CP) —Mrs. Dorothy Carter, teacher at rural Muskoka Beach Road School, wonders to-day whether she should change her hair-do now the partridge season is here.

She had her hair parted Wednesday by a bullet as she sat at her desk.

Provincial Police suggested a careless hunter may have mistaken her for a partridge.

"I wear my hair cut quite short and combed high on my head," she said. "It might make me look like a partridge, but I don't think so."

Trapped 30 Hours In Bush Fire

TORONTO, Oct. 12 (CP). — John G. Lazarovic, trapped for more than 30 hours in a bush fire 45 miles north-east of Montreal, said today his weekend hunting trip had been "a horrible experience."

Lazarovic, his sons Jean-Paul 16, and Fernand 20, and his brothers-in-law Ovid Leger 47, and Gerrard Fillion 35, both of Montreal, were hunting deer between the St. Calixe and St. Julien Mountains. At noon Sunday they saw smoke rising about half a mile away. While Fernand went to warn forest rangers the others fought the blaze. By the time help arrived Lazarovic and his party were surrounded.

"It was a horrible experience," he said. "We lost our trailer and tent, a new rifle, and all our camping equipment. Most of our clothes were burned, too."

Firefighters rescued them late Monday night. None was injured.

First UK Pilots Arrive Jan. 15 For Training

MONTREAL, Oct. 12—(CP)—Sir John Slessor, Marshall of the Royal Air Force, and Air Marshall W. A. Curtis, head of the Royal Canadian Air Force, stopped on their inspection trip here long enough to announce that on Jan. 15 the first British pilots to be trained in Canada under a peacetime version of the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan will arrive in the Dominion.

There will be 25 trainees in this first group. They will remain for six weeks, taking flight training.

At the same time, the two airmen said, there are plans afoot to make this pilot exchange a two-way one. Early next spring a Canadian fighter squadron, as yet unnamed, will be sent to Britain to join the fighter command of the R.A.F. for training.

Helps Tourist Find Fish Guide Repaid By Rare Drug

TORONTO, Oct. 12—(CP)—Three grams of acth—a new drug used for treatment of arthritis—was an Indian's reward for showing a Chicago packed where to find big fish.

Cecil Wesley, 52, a full-blooded Ojibway is expected to be released from hospital here this week after a month's treatment with Acth. For the first time in 15 years he can stretch his hands above his head and touch his toes.

Last summer Wesley took A. L. Hare, General Sales Manager of Armour and Company, on a fishing trip, on Sparrow Lake, 75 miles north of here. He said that because of his arthritis he wasn't doing much guiding but he helped Hare land a good catch. Wesley refused payment for his services because he wasn't able to supply Hare with a motor and boat.

Mr. Hare promised his guide three grams of Acth, manufactured by the Armour Company, as soon as it could be brought into Canada.

Eugene E. Sparrow, Chairman of the Ontario Workmen's Compensation Board, who has known Wesley all his life, offered to pay the other medical expenses.

More than $400 worth of Acth was delivered last month and Wesley came into the hospital Sept. 9. Now he is ready to come out. Doctors can't say whether he will have to continue taking Acth treatment indefinitely but for the time being at least he will be able to enjoy the rugged outdoor life he loves.

Want To Breed Bees With Longer Tongues

ROTHAMSTEAD, Herts, Eng., Oct. 12—(CP)—British beekeepers want to breed bees with longer tongues.

Some experts think the bees' tongues are too short to pollinate red clover, which has a deep bloom. So they've asked the agriculture ministry to study the possibility of breeding bees with bigger and beter tongues.

The ministry is trying a different approach. It hopes to train the bees to like red clover.

"Then they'll do the pollinating without a longer reach," a spokesman said.

Stalin Sends North Korea Best Wishes For Success

MOSCOW, Oct. 12—(AP)—Premier Joseph Stalin has wished the North Koreans success in their struggle for "the creation of a united, independent, democratic Korea."

The text of the telegram was featured on Moscow front pages beneath large headlines this morning, after it was previously broadcast by the Moscow radio.

The message was Stalin's reply in an exchange of greetings between the Russian and North Korean governments on the second anniversary of establishment of diplomatic relations between them.

North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung wired the Russian leader expressing his country's "warmest gratitude" for the "friendly support given by the Soviet Union to our people in their struggle for the independence of our country."

Stalin replied:

"I wish (your) people, who are heroically defending the independence of their country, a successful completion of their struggle of many years for the creation of a united, independent, Democratic Korea."

Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, commented editorially that Stalin's message was "a historical document" which "clearly expressed the consistent peace-loving policy of the Soviet Union which is inalterably struggling for peace, democracy, and freedom and the independence of large and small nations."

Held On Arson Charge Teacher Tries Suicide

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 12—(AP)—Twice restrained in attempts to take his own life, a brilliant young University of Michigan teaching fellow faced arraignment today on a charge of deliberately setting a fire that destroyed the University's Haven Hall last June.

Robert H. Stacy, 30, of Gowanda, N.Y., admitted in municipal court Wednesday that he touched off a fire that burned down the university building June 6 at a loss of $618,000.

His arraignment, first fixed for next Tuesday, was moved up to this morning after Stacy tried to commit suicide Wednesday.

Venezuela, Canada Sign 1-Year Pact

Drive To Strengthen Trade Relations Beginning To Pay Off

OTTAWA, Oct. 12—(CP)—Canada's drive to strengthen her trade relations with South America is paying off. Already a new, one-year special commercial agreement has been signed with Venezuela and there are indications that trade arrangements may be completed soon with such other Latin-American countries as Colombia, Ecuador, Costa Rica and the Honduras.

The agreement was signed at Caracas Wednesday by a group of Canadian trade experts touring South American centres. It goes into effect immediately and will mean that both countries reduce tariffs from high general rates to the lower most-favored-nation rate.

This will place Venezuela in the same category of nations to whom Canada grants most-favored-nation treatment under the 32-nation General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

The Trade Department's delegation, headed by Leslie Brown, has been invited to participate in several Latin American conferences. In Ecuador it will seek renewal of an agreement which also lapsed in 1949.

Colombia has a most-favored-nation agreement with Canada but this was completed under a long-standing arrangement with the United Kingdom. Canada will seek a direct pact, replacing the U.K.-Colombia treaty. The same steps will be taken in Costa Rica.

The agreement with Venezuela will mean lower rates for such Canadian exports as canned salmon, canned fruits and vegetables, cigarets, lanterns, hosiery and Douglas Fir lumber and timber.

WILLIAM HARVEY
Discovery of the Circulation of Blood

The human heart is a pumping station. According to scientists, it moves 1,500 gallons of blood each day. It seems strange that before the time of William Harvey, nobody understood the marvellous competence of this pump. Nobody even suspected that human blood made a complete circuit through the body. In 1628, Harvey published his famous book on the circulation of the blood.

Harvey demonstrated that the heart, as a pump, forces the blood out into the body through the arteries and that the same blood again returns to the heart through the veins.

Harvey ranks with the supreme masters of medical science — with Hippocrates, Galen, Pasteur. Thanks to these men, medical progress moves apace. Each year, the scientists, workers with eye and hand, search ever further to uncover nature's deepest secrets. Here as in every other field the need is for men of vision. Vision speeds progress. And progress promotes vision.

Have you noticed that successful men are nearly always good observers? They get a better picture of the march of events than their fellow mortals. Hence their knowledge is surer, their judgment sounder.

So it is that defective vision can be the greatest of life's handicaps. It can cause "nerves," headaches, loss of "pep," and it can rob you of the success you deserve by hampering your ability.

Can't Survive Winters Mantis Not Answer

OTTAWA, Oct 12 — (CP) — Government agricultural scientists are finding that the six-legged Praying Mantis, although good at his work, is not the real answer to their prayers.

The greenish carnivorous insect was put to work eating grasshoppers that have been devouring Canadian agricultural growth. However, the Mantis, who looks like a grasshopper himself, has difficulty surviving the Canadian climate.

A. B. Baird, director of the Agriculture Department's Biological section, said Wednesday that tests are being made at Belleville, to see whether the Mantis, who simply cannot survive the Prairie winter, can live in Southern Ontario and the Maritime.

Meanwhile, tests are going on with other parasites with which to launch a knock-out blow against the greedy grasshopper.

Industrial Stocks Rising In Toronto

TORONTO, Oct. 12 — (CP).—Industrial stocks rolled strongly higher for a second successive session on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Steady buying pulled a wide list of issues into new high price ground and the average price level of the group rose to a new peak.

Gains more than doubled the losses and ranged from fractions to more than two points. Papers again paced the advance with Price Bros, featuring on a gain of $4 at a new top $109 following news of a special meeting being held early in November to vote on the proposed four-for-one stock split. Liquors also jumped ahead and Hiram Walker's ballooned to a new high at 57¾, up 3½ on news of an extra $1 dividend.

Utilities, steels, agricultures, refining oils and constructions showed majorities of gains in the groupings.

Base metals brightened quietly. Steep Rock iron mines advanced to a new high at $4.30 and International Nickel and Quemont added fractions.

Western oils bounced up from yesterday's losses. Gains ranged to 30 cents in key issues. Leduc West rose 12 cents to $1.17 on news of financing developments.

Junior gold producers sagged quietly.

Young Gunman Gives Up Meekly

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Oct. 12—(AP)—After hiding out in the north woods for four days and nights, Donald Cole, 18, surrendered meekly to police late Wednesday and calmly admitted shooting two girl friends.

"I just wanted to do something bad," the youth said.

He made the brief statement to Prosecutor James A. Henderson after he was brought to jail here.

"I'm glad it's over," the youth added. He was hungry and had eaten only some buns and candy bars while hiding out from a large force of police and sheriff's deputies.

Cole shot and wounded the two girls last Saturday from ambush near a hunting cabin on Lake Superior, 30 miles west of here. Most critically wounded was Pauline Parady, 14, paralyzed by a bullet that lodged in her spine. The other girl, Myrna Benson, 12, was shot in the abdomen.

Allied Ships

Allied gains were reported in field dispatches from the central sector but no wholesale withdrawals were indicated. South Korean 6th-Division troops overwhelmed Red resistance at the rail-highway hubs of Kumhwa, Chorwon and Pyonggang.

Those captured cities form a triangle, with Pyongyang at the apex 28 miles north of Parallel 38. Roads from them lead northwestward toward Pyongyang. An Eighth Army spokesman said there was stubborn and fierce fighting in each town before they were taken.

West of the triangle, U.S. 1st Cavalry troopers were joined by British and Australian troops in their smash on Kumchon, a supposed defence bastion for Pyongyang, which lies 62 miles to the northwest.

AP Correspondent William J. Waugh, with the 1st Cavalry troopers, said two tank-led columns were driving on Kumchon from the south and east, with a third making a wide end run to high ground northwest of the city.

May Trap

From that high ground, the cavalry's artillery dominated the road leading northwest from Kumchon toward Pyongyang. Waugh said it was estimated some 20,000 Communists might be trapped in the south of Kumchon.

Maj.-Gen. Hobart R. Gay, 1st Cavalry Division commander, estimated Wednesday that total force of 25,000 might be defending the southwestern approaches to Pyongyang.

Gay said Thursday the Reds lacked the men for a solid defence line, and added: "There are soft spots and we will find them."

His field officers said the advance was slowed more by precautions taken to wipe out all Red pockets than by formidable defences. The Kumchon-Pyongyang road was heavily mined.

"This won't be as fast, but it will cost less lives," Gay commented.

Held For Capital

The cavalry division had advanced 12 miles above Parallel 38 up to noon-time Thursday.

On the northwest sector, elements of the South Korean 3rd and Capital divisions battled Reds on high ground about a mile west of Wonsan, the big east coast oil refining city and seaport.

The South Koreans' advance was aimed at Pyongyang directly across the peninsula—95 air miles almost due west.

At Eighth Army headquarters, AP Correspondent Hal Boyle said the Communists' resistance did not—in any of the three sectors—compare with the organization or strength of their defence of Seoul, the liberated Republic capital.

A captured Communist senior lieutenant told intelligence officers he did not believe the North Koreans could assemble any sizable force because the only men still available for service are more than 37 years old.

Doubt Report

The prisoner said women between ages 17 and 27 are being conscripted. MacArthur's intelligence officers doubted that.

In South Korea roving Allied combat patrols continued hunting down the beaten and widely-scattered Red remnants. MacArthur's spokesman said it is a large-scale and locally dangerous mopping-up operation.

One American patrol, he said, was wiped out by ambushing Reds Wednesday. He didn't say how large the patrol was or where it happened. However, the ambushing force—some 75 Reds—was found and wiped out by another American patrol.

To isolate the Communist North from supplies, heavy bombers pounded rail lines, highways and warehouses near the Korea-Manchurian border. Thirty-eight bridges were blasted.

An air force spokesman said no strategic targets remain.

Would Set Up Defence Aid

BLACKPOOL, England, Oct. 12 (Reuters)—Anthony Eden, former British Foreign Secretary, today told British Conservatives the country 's contribution to West European Defence must be stepped up. The party is holding its three-day annual conference here.

Eden recalled he had told Prime Minister Attlee in parliament last month that one extra division to be stationed on the continent would not be enough.

"We are deeply anxious about that situation today," he said.

The conference unanimously adopted a resolution which supported United Nations' action in Korea and called for a united effort to strengthen defence.

Steel nationalization and battle plans for an early general election also dominated the conference which opened today.

Tweed Man Gets 6 Months Hard Labor

SUDBURY, Oct. 12 — (CP).—George Barry 25, of Tweed, was sentenced to six months' hard labor at Burwash Industrial Farm today for what Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe termed "one of the meanest types of theft."

Barry was arrested for stealing a wallet containing $23 from the sleeping form of his benefactor, A. Goodmurphy, of Thessalon, in a Sudbury hotel room on October 3.

Goodmurphy told the court he had picked up Barry on the highway while driving from Renfrew to Sudbury.

"After we arrived in Sudbury, I bought him a meal, treated him to a movie, and then paid for his hotel room," he testified.

Mr. Balcer attacked the Liberal government for its handling of the rail strike. He termed the methods used by the government a "direct attack on recognized rights of Canadian labor."

He stated it must have sounded strange to working men to hear of the cheers with which rank and file Liberal members responded when the government voted down George Drew's "fair and just" amendment.

Mr. Balcer was thanked by Peter LaBranche and introduced by Gordon K. Fraser.

Young People's Party

Mr. Fraser said the Progressive Conservative Party was the party of young people. He said the conservatives have young men in the federal house and in Ontario's legislature who "know the young people and know what they want."

He charged that since the Canadian government began recruiting volunteers for the Special Service Force, not one wife in the riding had received army allowances due her from the government.

"The wives are left on charity," he said.

Minister of Lands and Forests for Ontario, the Hon. Harold Scott, said his department was organized for the defence of the province's most vulnerable target — Ontario's forests.

He said one aircraft loaded with incendiaries could wreck havoc if no defence were organized.

The department, he said, had 300 watch towers in the province's forest lands to watch for the first signs of smoke. This watching was supplemented by 40 airplanes also able to keep constant guard. The whole system was linked by a department radio network to Toronto.

Russian Plan "Old Stuff" West Declares

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 12—(AP)—Britain's Minister of State, Kenneth D. Younger, charged today that Russia's latest peace plan merely referred to old machinery for collective security which the Soviet Union itself has been paralyzing for the last five years.

Speaking before the U.S. Assembly's political committee, Younger asked Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky of Russia for some assurance that Russia genuinely intends to try to reconcile her differences with the other major powers.

Younger gave the West's formal answer to Vishinsky's proposal for consultations among the Big Five and for the creation of an international army under the Security Council, where the veto prevails.

The Soviet proposals already are included in the U.N. charter. As such they are not objected to in principle by the United States and Britain. However, the British and American delegations have underscored their position that the Soviet plan can in no way be regarded as a substitute for the seven-power resolution for an anti-veto system of opposing aggression.

The West's position, as outlined by an American spokesman Wednesday and concurred in by Britain, is that the proposals, while admirable in themselves, are not new—they were contained in the United Nations charter signed at San Francisco five years ago and only Soviet obstruction has prevented them from being put into operation before this.

Need Concrete Action

Therefore, delegation sources said, those two Soviet proposals alone will not ease current international tension unless they are accompanied by concrete Russian actions for peace.

The West will, consequently, press a seven-power resolution to give the veto-free General Assembly military power to repeal aggression whenever the Security Council is paralyzed by a Russian veto.

These sources said, however, that the U.S. and Britain had no objection to incorporating a section in that resolution along the lines of the Russian proposals. They emphasized, however, that this would not be allowed to interfere with the primary aim of giving the U.N. power to deal with aggression even when Russia opposed such action.

Russia is expected to reject this solution and to insist that its resolutions be considered separately as counter proposals to the American plan.

The seven powers sponsoring the latter—Canada, Britain, the U.S., France, the Philippines, Turkey and Uruguay—will meet this afternoon for what they hope will be the final session of re-writing the resolution to get it into final form.

UK Minister Gaitskell Visits Ottawa

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12—(CP)—Hugh Gaitskell, Britain's Minister of Economic Affairs, leaves today for Canada after a round of conferences with top American officials he is understood to regard as quite satisfactory.

In Ottawa, Gaitskell will meet high Canadian officials for economic talks.

He was the guest of Treasury Secretary John W. Snyder Wednesday where he talked with James E. Webb, Undersecretary of State, William C. Foster, Economic Administration Chief, and other U.S. government leaders in the international field.

It is understood that he emphasized to them Britain's continuing need for American assistance even though the British economic position has shown such improvement this year that the United Kingdom is now again building up its gold and dollar reserves.

Discuss Aid

The foremost of Britain's problems is the kind and amount of American aid which she will receive under the program of expanding its armaments production. Britain has asked the American government for "free dollars" in addition to direct dollar help for their armament industries. It is understood the British position in favor of free dollars remains unchanged despite word from American officials that the Truman administration at this time has no authority from Congress to provide such help available.

Free dollars would be funds which the British could spend in any way they saw fit to ease the impact of expanded defence production on their civilian economy. One way in which this end may be achieved would be for the United States to buy in Britain some of the armaments which it intends to turn over to western European armies.

American and British officials have agreed, however, that this is a long-range problem and that at the moment their negotiations must concentrate on temporary assistance arrangements pending the development of a rearmament program covering all 12 Atlantic Pact countries.

Hughes Price Said $28,600 For Property

The price of Thomas Hughes property on Monaghan Road which the city is about to expropriate, recently dropped from $52,000 to $28,000, part of which is for a new collegiate.

This was the somewhat obscure report of City Solicitor W. F. Huycke, KC, relaying information from W. J. Arthur Fair, solicitor for Mr. Hughes. For the 19 acres down in the new south-west section of the city, Mr. Hughes has pitched his selling price at $52,000.

Instructed to expropriate, Mr. Huycke arranged for payment into Judge Smoke's court of $28,000. It seems, however, that Mr. Hughes has his moods, and this week he was willing to take the $28,600 for the house and acres, also by way of a quick deal.

Garth Braund had estimated for the council the value of the property at $21,800. That was $5,800 for the house, which Mr. Fair is quoted as valuing at $10,000; and $16,000 for the land. For the purpose of a required preliminary to expropriation, Judge Smoke decided the city should place in the credit of his court the sum of $28,600; accepting the house value at $5,800 and the land at $1,200 an acre.

Before grabbing at the Hughes offer, the finance committee decided discretion advised reference of the matter to its realty experts.

A motion by Alderman Dewart and Miller turned the proposal over to the property committee for a report.

250-Pound Bear Killed With One Shot

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 12 — (ENS)—Two Campbellford men, Morley Dunk and Ray Thomson, are going to try bear steaks for supper some night this week. The two men were hunting ducks about fifteen miles north of Marmora on Monday afternoon, when they spotted the bear eating the carcass of a two-year-old steer.

Ray had his .22 rifle along on the trip, and was about 75 yards away from the bear and about 25 feet above it on a rise. He steadied the rifle on the shoulder of Morley Dunk while he took careful aim and fired one shot.

The bear jumped, moved away about six feet, and fell over dead. The two men did not approach immediately, but watched for any sign of life, but after watching for some time and seeing no movement they approached the animal to find it quite dead, with a bullet hole in the shoulder.

Nearby was the carcass of another animal the bear or some of his mates had eaten, and the tracks in the vicinity indicated that more bears were probably in the area, or had been recently.

The two men dragged the animal about two miles to their car and called off duck hunting for the day.

"After hauling that bear for two miles, he felt like he weighed about 600 pounds," said Morley after they got their prize home.

Mr. Thompson said this was the first bear he had ever shot, and was in fact the first one he had ever seen. This one weighed 250 pounds.

Man And Child Cobourg Victims Auto Accidents

The youngster had been given a ride home from school by William Omerod and on alighting, darted in front of Whitefield's car. Whitefield took to the ditch in a vain effort to avoid the child. She was taken later to the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto.

Ab Payne of Cobourg was taken to hospital with cuts on the face after his truck came in collision with one driven by William Tait of Elgin. Payne was turning left at the corner of King and D'Arcy streets, while westbound on King and a collision occurred with an eastbound truck driven by Tait. Payne's truck was considerably damaged.

Old Cars On The Highways

The other day a very old car, a 'jalopy' said to be worth about $90, crashed into another car on the Queen Elizabeth highway and caused it $500 worth of damage. Fortunately no one was injured. The car was being driven by an 18-year-old boy who owned the contraption. It had no brakes, no windshield wiper, and the steering gear was faulty. But the car did have a licence plate.

* * *

Why are such cars licensed? Why should they be allowed on the road? They should not be licensed to endanger life and property on highways but they are, because the system of licensing in Ontario is faulty. The vehicle permit is renewed automatically on the payment of the fee. There is no periodic inspection of the mechanical condition of the car.

* * *

It is not always old cars which are too faulty for safe driving, but old cars are most likely to be unserviceable. Their headlamps are either too weak or too bright, one is glaring and the other feeble, or one is out and the other not. The tail light may be so dim that it cannot be seen a hundred yards away, particularly if the car is being overtaken when another's lights are approaching. The old cars frequently have not enough power to drive at a proper highway speed; they potter along at 20 or 25 miles an hour and are thus more dangerous on the highway than a car travelling at sixty. Their brakes are often uncertain, their tires old and worn, their windshield wipers ineffective. Not all these old cars on the highways are "jalopies" owned by some youngster. There are some old family cars driven by the most respectable and cautious of people which are equally dangerous.

* * *

The law requires that all cars be at all times in safe mechanical condition, but beyond haphazard inspections made by police at road barriers, there is no official check on the condition of the cars until after an accident has happened. Then the law descends, though not always with compelling force. The youth in the $90 car who caused $500 worth of damage to the other car was fined $15 on a charge of careless driving.

* * *

Compulsory inspection is necessary, probably twice a year and certainly before the vehicle permit is renewed. Until such regulations are made, surely licensing authorities and police patrols should be especially vigilant about old cars on the roads. Some proof should be required that a twenty-year-old car is in fact fit for the road, before the licence is issued.

* * *

The highways would be safer if the traffic police were as active in flagging down 'jalopies', cars with glaring lights or dead ones, with weak tail lights, and the 20-mile-an-hour crawlers, as they are in nabbing speeders.

The Unrelenting Struggle

The C.C.F. party, in its July issue of News Comment mentions a number of limitations of freedom which exist in Canada; these include limitations on certain racial and religious groups, the fact that Indians are without the vote, the segregation of Negroes, the discrimination shown in some places against Jews, Catholics, Protestants, French-speaking Canadians, Japanese Canadians, and so forth. The suggestion is made that freedom is not as widespread in Canada as we like to think.

If this is a surprise to the C.C.F., it is no surprise to anyone else who has thought for five minutes about the matter. Perfect freedom does not exist anywhere in the world. It is an ideal, and we strongly suspect, an unattainable and unworkable ideal, When all men are perfect there will be a perfect freedom, and not before.

There is injustice to Canada, certainly. But injustice is not overcome by a sentimental crusade which demands that unjust treatment be made illegal. Laws which compel the employment of Jews, or which forbid discrimination in any other way, do great harm to the causes which they seek to advance.

As countries go, however, Canada has a great deal of freedom and uses it wisely. But it may be said that we may have less freedom before we have more. This is an age of growing limitation of freedom, and much of that limitation has been imposed by political systems which strongly resemble the C.C.F.—illiberal systems which are so eager that everybody should be employed, healthy, housed, insured and watched-over from cradle to grave that they cannot permit citizens to be free.

The struggle for freedom is an unrelenting struggle, for it is a struggle which goes against a powerful instinct in human nature to limit and coerce others. Few of us want to be completely free, in our hearts, and there are thousands of people with slave mentalities and slave souls. Considering the difficulties against which any trend toward freedom works, freedom in Canada has done remarkably well.

Macabre Chess Game

The end of the war in Korea is not going to end anything very much; except that it will finish-off a lot of Koreans. The Korean corner of the terrible chess board seems about to be played out, but already the chief players are placing their pieces differently and planning other moves. There has been the Red capture of the five French battallions in northern Indo-China. There have been incitements in Vienna and Germany. There is the MacArthur insistence on going into Formosa. President Truman will have the MacArthur Asian schemes poured into his ear during their Pacific meeting, and from the way the wind is now blowing in Washington and Tokyo, stormy belligerent times are ahead and there will be no calm in the East for a long while.

It is a deadly game which must be played out, in all corners of the world until Russia is in checkmate. Or is the United States now so dedicated to the cause, that it will not stop until the board is wiped clean? Will it no longer be satisfied with checkmating? It is a very bloody thing. Last week an American magazine showed a picture of massacred South Koreans, their bodies in Belsen pits; a Red Korean atrocity. This week the same magazine showed a row of Red Korean bodies, in a trench, their corpses naked and gutted by fire. This long row of Red Koreans had come under the tongue of an American army flame-thrower. Probably the Russian and Chinese press would label it a picture of American atrocity.

Attendance At Fall Fairs

People who find themselves in a big crowd always like to know how big the crowd really was. Somehow, the bigger the crowd, the greater opinion people have of themselves as being sufficiently bright to have been part of the crowd. So newspapers tell how many people were at a race track, at a prize-fight, at the Canadian National Exhibition and at a ball game. Noses are always counted at an exhibition, though it is a most difficult matter to be completely accurate in the count. Some noses are always getting in under the wire or over the board fence. At Fall Fairs the job is harder. There are usually no fences. So, as any good newspaper will do we take an informed guess, based on what the reportorial eyes see and the ears hear from the lips of various Fair officials, who always attempt to give a fair estimate. So 3,000 attended Warkworth fair, and between 7,000 and 17,000 Norwood fair.

Farms are now mechanized, cattle are milk machines or valuable beef, and hens are mere laying machines to be cajoled with electric lights and music. But Fall Fairs are even more popular now than they were in the good old days. The great throngs at Peterborough district fairs this year are pretty conclusive proof that, although times may change, and the nature of the exhibits and contests with them, the Fall Fairs go on forever. The chief reason is that people have a good neighbourly time at them.

We Will Not Print Unsigned Letters

Once again we repeat our rule; we will not print letters to the editor which come to this office unsigned. We have at hand a letter from a rural reader protesting against the transference of the market; we cannot publish it because we do not know who wrote it. And as The Examiner is compelled by law to take full responsibility for what it prints, we will not print anything by anonymous correspondents.

We go farther than many newspapers, in that we print letters signed with pennames, if we are informed also who the writers are. We recognize that a penname is sometimes desirable. But entirely anonymous letters have but one destination in this office, and that is the wastepaper basket.

NOTE AND COMMENT

In an Oklahoma prison there is a man who is serving two life sentences consecutively. With parole, time off for good conduct, special requests from the chaplain, and compassion on the part of the governor of the state, that should just get him home in time for Christmas.

Israel And the Jews

By PHILIP TOYNBEE

KIBBUTZ GALUYOTH—the ingathering of the exiles—has for a long time now been a ready yet a moving phrase on the lips of Israelis. But it is only in the last few weeks that it has been given a specific meaning, turning out, against the expectation of many, to mean exactly what it says.

Zionist extremists have always claimed that every Jew in the world belongs to Israel, and should come here. They believe that the Jews will nowhere and never be safe from the threat of anti-Semitism, and that the minority-mentality of Jewish communities in Gentile States can be cured only when those communities cease to exist. Even the more moderate Israelis sometimes become querulous at the thought of their relations abroad who have, so they feel, avoided the responsibilities of Statehood.

✧ ✧ ✧

FOR some time this feeling has been a source of irritation to many non-Israeli Jews, whether Zionists or not, and the irritation came to a head at a recent conference between Prime Minister Ben-Guiron and Mr. Jacob Blaustein, chairman of the American Jewish Committee.

✧ ✧ ✧

"AMERICAN Jews," said Mr. Blaustein, "vigorously repudiate any suggestion or implication that they are in exile. American Jews have truly become Americans. To American Jews, America is home." Ben Gurion's reply was: "We have no desire and no intention to interfere in any way with the internal affairs of Jewish communities abroad. The Government and the people of Israel fully respect the right and integrity of the Jewish communities in other countries to develop their own mode of life and their indigenous social, economic and cultural institutions, in accordance with their own needs and aspirations."

So at last the situation is clear; the Ingathering of the Exiles means the ingathering only of those who feel themselves to be in exile. There may be disapproval of those who do not so feel themselves, but no claim can be made on them.

✧ ✧ ✧

YET although the present situation may have been clarified, it is doubtful whether many people realize the full future implications of Ben-Gurion's statement. Today, and for a generation to come, the great majority of Israelis are, and will be, also Jews, with all the complex associations of that word. But things are different with the young people, the Palestinian-born, those whose native and natural language is Hebrew.

Every visitor has remarked on the remarkable difference in their appearance, mentality and outlook. What has happened is simply that they have ceased to be Jews. The whole psychological burden which their parents had to bear has been removed from their shoulders. Two thousand years of unnatural history has been excised, and the new generation is also a new race.

✧ ✧ ✧

WHAT affinity can there be between a young Sabra of eighteen who has lived all his life on a kibbutz (a communal farming settlement) and his Jewish American benefactor, a business man from New York with a largely American mentality tinged with the complexities of his Jewishness? The Sabra would feel more in common with Gentile pioneers in Australia or the British colonies. And of this the American business man is becoming aware. He is proud of this new race which has sprung from the loins of his old one, but he is also bewildered and even uneasy.

When he comes to Israel he will move mainly in the company of Jews, of people with a similar background and a similar mentality to his own. Even in these Tel Aviv and Jerusalem circles there will be psychological frictions: the Jews of Israel may resent his occasional, almost inevitable complaints about the living conditions here. They may dislike the faint air of proprietorship which emanates from him as he views the achievements of his money but of their lives and labour. And he, aware that he has not, in their eyes, made the noblest choice, may become prickly and defiant. He may even criticize the social structure of the State, since he is a capitalist and Israel is a semi-Socialist country.

In a sense these sources of mutual irritation are incidental, dependent only on a difference of present circumstance and not on any deep psychological gulf. The fifty American delegates to the recent economic conference were clearly pleased with what they saw and heard here. They have readily accepted the task of trying to meet Ben-Gurion's gigantic request for a billion dollars in the next three years. But on their hurried, one-day expedition into the countryside, their brief inspection of two kibbutzim, did they have the time or opportunity to see the new and alien Israel which is growing up under the Jewish surface?

✧ ✧ ✧

AT the extreme opposite pole to the ultra-Zionists are the Assimilationists, for whom Mr. Blaustein speaks. Their position, though bitterly resented in Israel, is both logical in theory and probable in expectation. Annually for two thousand years the Jews of the Diaspora have repeated their two pledges to return: "Next year in Jerusalem"; and "If I forget thee, O Jerusalem, may my right hand forget her cunning." More than anything else it was this pledge (it is both religious and political) which ensured that the Jews retained their identity. But it has now become a pledge without any meaning. A Jew of the Diaspora can be in Jerusalem next year if he wishes it, and what is the object of remembering Jerusalem if not to go there?

✧ ✧ ✧

ZION, again, has been a mystical word, implying something unattainable, something to be striven for, in spite of, perhaps because of, the impossibility of achieving it. The sudden availability of Zion has been a profound shock to Jews all over the world, as well as a cause for rejoicing. What are they now? What can or should hold them together, now that their prayer has been answered? Their religion is antique; their "racial" distinction has always been a dubious thing. They have been preserved as an entity by persecution, as well as by their sense of kinship and their determination to preserve their own mysterious but precious quality. Indeed I have heard one passionate Zionist declare—and it was only half a joke—that his obvious duty now was to stir up anti-Semitism wherever he could—so that the non-Israeli Jews should be forced once again to recognize that they are distinct, a people in exile, whose only hope lies in the one country which will welcome them.

✧ ✧ ✧

UNDERSTANDABLY, this is not a sense of duty which would appeal to Mr. Blaustein, or to any of those who feel as he does. The logical conclusion of his precise statement is that Jews must now choose between becoming Israelis and becoming full, assimilated members of the communities in which they find themselves. There is no longer any reason for the existence of "Jews" in the old sense, except, of course, the need felt by many Gentiles to have a scapegoat always available. This in itself will not be enough to prevent assimilation. A positive motive was needed, and with the conversion of Zion into Israel, the positive motive has been removed.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT seems safe to prophesy that in a hundred years' time there will be no "Jews" anywhere. There will be, with good fortune, the State of Israel, with its own distinctive but non-Jewish contribution to make; and there will be citizens of other countries with Jewish blood in their veins but without Jewish thoughts and feelings in their heads. One may regret the disappearance of a unique and valuable mentality, but one must also feel as infinite relief that this long agony is over for the Jews, this long shame for the Gentiles.

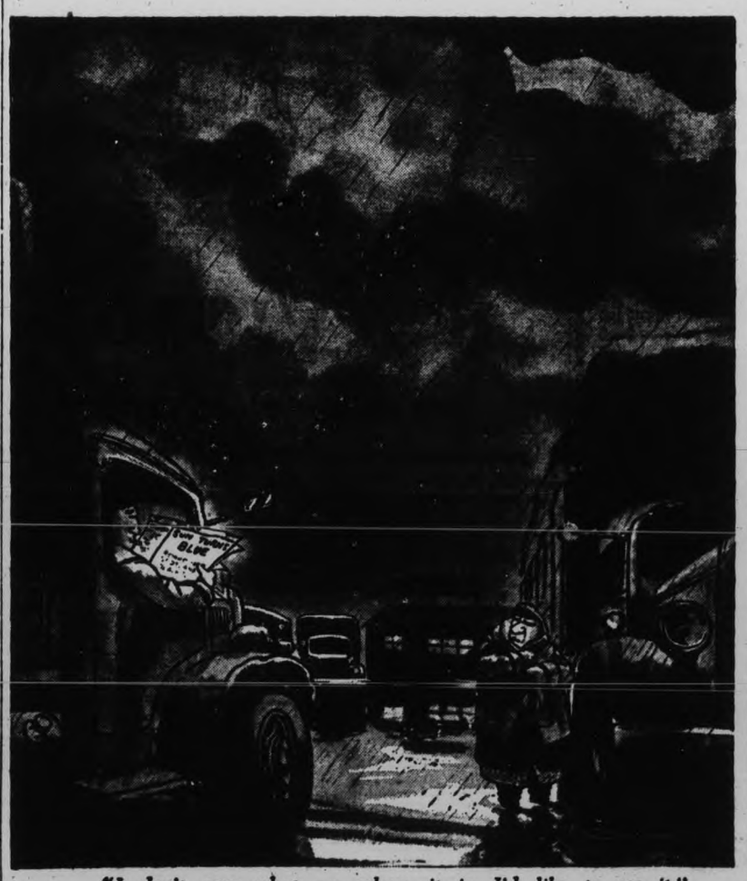
MAO TSE-TUNG

CHOU EN-LAI

WHETHER KOREA AND FORMOSA will draw China into major war depends on the decisions taken by these two leaders, Mae Tse-tung, founder and leader of the Chinese Communist party, and Premier Chou En-lai. It also depends on the paths taken by the U.S.A., which President Truman and General MacArthur are meeting to discuss. Following General MacArthur's demand that the North Koreans surrender, Premier Chou declared in Peiping that "Chinese Reds will not stand aside should the imperialists wantonly invade the territory of their neighbour."

For a Free Korea



(NEW YORK TIMES)

DESPITE the wide gulf that separates them in respect to purpose and method, the two programs for the settlement of the Korean war submitted to the United Nations by eight free countries and by the Soviet bloc, respectively, agree upon two points. Both propose the creation of a unified, sovereign and independent all-Korean state and Government based on the results of free and nation-wide elections held under United Nations supervision. They also propose the economic rehabilitation of Korea under the direction of United Nations agencies.

THIS concurrence on two vital points has prompted the Indian delegation to urge a compromise between the two programs in the hope of arriving at a consolidated program which all nations can support. That would indeed be an ideal solution. But before a compromise is considered it would be well if its proponents would study with care the agreements of Teheran, Yalta, Potsdam and Moscow, where similar compromises were reached in words as fair as those used now, with consequences that led to the enslavement of millions, and in the case of Korea to outright war. For the Soviets have demonstrated throughout Eastern Europe and in Korea itself that wherever they command the instruments of power such words as "sovereignty" and "democracy" and "free elections" and "will of the people" are a sham to mask their brutal conquests.

The forces of the United Nations, and of the United States in particular, did not fight and die in Korea in order to enable the Soviets to stage Balkan elections in the country as a means of its enslavement. Yet the rest of the Soviet program, which would compel the withdrawal of the forces of freedom and leave the Soviet-directed Communist armies in control, and Russian and Chinese Communists in commanding positions on the United Nations commission supervising the elections, clearly shows that this is the real Soviet purpose. Even the Indian delegation balks at such a prospect. If a free, unified and rehabilitated Korea is to emerge from the present travail it can come into being only under the ministrations of United Nations agencies that are above suspicion of either totalitarian leanings or self-interest, and the United Nations would do well to begin organizing such agencies.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently: being born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the word of God, which liveth and abideth for ever. (I Pet. 1: 22, 23.)

✧ ✧ ✧

For the love of Christ constraineth us; because we thus judge, that if one died for all, then were all dead: and that he died for all, that they which live should not henceforth live unto themselves, but unto him which died for them, and rose again.

Wherefore henceforth know we no man after the flesh: yea, though we have known Christ after the flesh, yet now henceforth know we him no more. Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new. (II Cor. 5: 14-17.)

✧ ✧ ✧

The Lord hath made bare his holy arm in the eyes of all the nations; and all the ends of the earth shall see the salvation of our God. (Isa. 52: 10.)

Who hath believed our report? and to whom is the arm of the Lord revealed? (Isa. 53: 1.)

Unconsidered Trifles

Into a first-class carriage stepped a crabbed old man, setting himself down in one seat and placing his bag upon another. When a cheerful-looking young fellow attempted to enter the compartment, his predecessor sourly remarked: "This compartment is full. That bag is owned by a friend of mine."

"Very well," the young man replied: "but if you don't mind, I'll just sit down here until he arrives, and hold his bag in my lap."

When the train started, the younger man glanced up with startled eye, then quickly lifted the bag he was holding and heaved it out through the window.

"Your friend evidently missed the train," he explained, "but we mustn't let him suffer the further misfortune of losing his luggage."

"Huh," snorted Elizabeth. "He doesn't seem very funny around here."

Exports Becoming Too Expensive Says President John A. Marsh

TORONTO, Oct. 12 (CP)—John A. Marsh, president of the Canadian Exporters' Association, said Wednesday night there is danger of Canada's goods becoming too expensive for other countries to buy.

Addressing the Purchasing Agents' Association, he said in part:

"Our cost of living has gone steadily upward to an all-time index high of 168.5. I do not think it is true that higher and higher wages and costs help everybody as one sometimes hears it said. Steadily advancing costs become a hardship to thousands of people who are on fixed incomes and are a positive danger to hundreds of industries.

"Aside from the domestic impact of steadily increasing wages and costs, the gravest danger of all shows itself: the danger of pricing Canada's products out of world markets. This applies not only to manufactured products but also to wheat, fish, pulpwood and, in fact, all raw products.

"Some of our export products are so badly needed by countries with vanished resources that price is not too large a factor, but this applies only to a few products. If Canada's wages and costs continue to increase we shall certainly lose our ability to compete in world markets."

"When we consider that 35 cents out of every dollar in our pocket is dependent upon world trade (25 cents of it upon export trade) one can realize how critical is the danger."

"Don't Let Fire Lick You" Fire Chief's Slogan For Peterborough Fire Prevention Week

"Don't let fire lick you," is the slogan for Fire Prevention Week in Peterborough. This slogan and an accompanying letter, which will be sent to the majority of the firms in the city, has been approved by the Chamber of Commerce.

In an effort to reduce loss of life and property as a result of fire, this week has been set aside as fire prevention week throughout North America.

Fire loss in this city in 1949 totalled $42,250. The total loss by fire in Canada during the past year was $65,159,044. Approximately 1,000 lives were lost and 10,000 were seriously injured in 1949 fires in the country.

Fire Chief George Smith is calling for constant vigilance and asking all citizens to join the crusade to stamp out causes of fire.

Churchill Requests Super-Gov't Formed

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Oct. 12 (Reuters)—Winston Churchill called Wednesday night for the rapid creation of a whole super-government with Russia as one of its pillars.

Speaking at the climax of his three-day visit to the Danish capital, he said:

"Unless some effective world super-government can be set up and brought quickly into action, the prospects for peace and human progress are dark and doubtful."

Churchill said the "four main pillars of the world temple of peace" are the United States, the Soviet Union, the British Commonwealth and a united Europe with which Great Britain is profoundly blended."

"Let us make sure that they will all bear the weight which will be imposed and reposed upon them," he said.

Pat Conroy Discusses Forced Arbitration

TORONTO, Oct. 12 (CP)—Pat Conroy, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Congress of Labor, said Wednesday night that if compulsory arbitration is adopted in Canada, unions will demand that the whole field of management be subject to arbitration as well as unions.

Mr. Conroy was the main speaker for the opposition in a University of Toronto Hart House debate on the question of whether labor disputes in essential industries should be subject to compulsory arbitration.

He was opposed by Prof. J. Lorne McDougall, economist of Queen's University, Kingston. The students voted 60 to 47 against compulsory arbitration.

Prof. McDougall termed compulsory arbitration "bad" but in a serious situation, "like the recent railway strike it is not a question of it being bad but of being better than the next alternative."

Petes Life Members

SHOWN, left to right, R. M. Glover, Fred Scates and Frank Buckland, who last night were named life members of the Peterborough Hockey Club. They have given long service in various capacities to this organization. Mr. Glover is also a life member and past president of the OHA, Mr. Scates served for years as club treasurer, and Mr. Buckland is presently on the OHA executive, and coached Petes' teams for years.

Life Members Named To Petes' Club

At an executive meeting last night of the Peterborough Hockey Club, R. M. Glover, Frank Buckland and Fred Scates were named life members of the club in honor of their work for the Petes over many years. They have served the club in various capacities, Mr. Glover being an OHA life member, and Mr. Buckland an executive member of the OHA. He coached the junior, intermediate and senior Petes for a lengthy period. Fred Scates was a long-time club treasurer.

Baz Phelan, Eddie Foley and Fred Scates will attend a group meeting in Belleville on Sunday when a schedule will probably be drawn up. It is expected that Kingston Nylons, Queen's, Belleville Diesels, and the two Peterborough teams will comprise the senior "B" grouping, with the intermediate "A" Gananoque team also a possibility. A junior group of Queen's, Kingston Vics, Belleville and Peterborough may be formed at this meeting, too.

Bill Gets Release

The meeting last night decided to let the appointment of a coach go until next Monday. Bill McMaster was granted his release to play with Lake Placid. Johnny Baker and Bill Dalton of the grid Orfun have signed with the Petes, and Church Paul is considering it. Players out at last night's practise included: Drake Jopling, Jake Wade, Arn Dugan, John Davidson, Roy James, Honey Tompkins, Earl Leonard, Gus Leonard, Ron Turner, Fred Garvey, Junior West, Ted Collins, Don Floyd, Alf Griffin, Bill Edgar, "Case" Casey, Jack Mortimer, Buck Legrow, and a number of others.

School Soccer Seniors Dish Up Tight Contests

King George senior soccer eleven continued to annex valuable league points in public school competition when they defeated the fast-moving Queen Mary team 2-0 Wednesday afternoon at King Edward Park.

Queen Mary set a terrific pace in the opening exchanges but lacked finish around the goal, while King George's defense was solid in every attack to finally break away through McIlmoyle who passed over to Simpson to score in the first half. On resuming, Queen Mary again took the play into the King George area to find Wilson, King George goalie, unbeatable, as their opponents rattled all kinds of shots on goal. Just before the final whistle McIlmoyle carried play into the Queen Mary goal to score through Ellis on an individual effort; while the west enders failed to convert from a penalty kick.

Queen Mary—H. Stinson, goal; R. Graham and K. Beck, full-backs; G. Putnam, R. Brady and R. Brown, half-backs; F. Boyce, D. Frier, D. Horton, B. Dubay and O. Schweir, forwards. Subs, J. Dafoe, C. Ellis, A. Anderson, J. Brier.

King George—A. Wilson, B. Campbell and [illegible], full-backs; P. McIlmoyle, D. Roote and K. Barker, half-backs; C. Butcher, B. Simpson, G. Ellis, J. Rodgers and R. McKenzie, forwards. Subs, F. Roberts, P. Johnson, B. McNaughton.

Referee, Mr. Cunningham.

King Edward Lost

Prince of Wales' team defeated their old rivals, King Edward, 1-0, on King Edward school grounds, but still hold bottom position in the league.

Close checking prevailed throughout the first period with the half-back departments frustrating any attempt to play combination, although Prince of Wales were more aggressive. In the second half, King Edward altered their style to long swinging passes and Prince of Wales replied with combination to get the winning tally on a smart effort by Boon to win two league points. Best for the Princes were: Boon, Downer and Bonner; for King Edward, the Sutherlands and Tarkington.

Prince of Wales—J. Allen, goal; W. Brown and J. Bonner, full-backs; B. Godfrey, D. Coit and C. Whitney, half-backs; F. Chambo, J. Heron, N. Clarke, G. Hunt and G. Downer, forwards. Subs, A. Carl, T. Northrop, P. Detlior, B. Boon.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Boston Bruins are on display this eve at 8.30 in Civic Arena, two squads of the NHL-ers teeing off in a practice exhibition game. Proceeds going to the Peterborough Minor Hockey Association. Milt Schmidt and his husky teammates, veterans and younger prospects, will give it all they have as the long pro schedule is about set to start. As in the Leafian fray here a week ago, these puckists turn it on all the way to impress the club brass with their value in the moneyed hockey ranks. They pull few punches at this stage of the season, and some exciting hockey by top performers should result. We expect a full house for the Bruin showing.

* * * * * *

Three local OHA teams are clearing the decks for early action. The McGillis Eagles—formerly the Legionnaires—and the Swartz Petes are back in senior "B" competition, and there will be a schedule meeting Sunday in Belleville to prepare for an early start. Petes haven't named a coach yet, while Mick Magee will boss the Eagles. Bun Kingdon pilots the junior "B" IOOF-ers again, this club being backed by Boston Bruins. Then, too, there'll be lots of PMHA action ere long on artificial ice. We wonder if they plan to stage another puck-skating race like last year, when Bill McMaster won. It might become an annual PMHA open event.

* * * * * *

All Is Ready At Arena

Civic Arena is in fine shape for another long hockey and skating season. Manager Walt Smillie and the rink committee have it repainted inside and everything in order. A large and competent staff on hand, too. It's a busy place in the winter months and showed a surplus revenue last year of $14,337. The city council received $10,000, an amount not to be sneezed at. The booth accounted for more than $15,000, while senior hockey brought in $14,438. Junior and other games amounted to about five grand, and skating was good for more than $9,000. Wages and salaries totalled $9,434. The arena should do even better this 1950-51 season.

* * * * * *

It costs plenty of moolah to operate clubs in OHA competition. Equipment and travelling expenses really ruin the budget, and there's time off, practice rentals, injuries, etc. But a Kitchener item indicates that Big Four football is terrific for cost. Cheapest one run this year is the Hamilton Tiger-Cat merger, the "nut" being $110,000. Rough Riders have an outlay of $125,000, while the Montreal package comes to $140,000. The Argos—dun't esk! Senior "A" ball and hockey clubs down Kitchener way figure on at least $40,000 a season. Local clubs rarely release their costs, but you may be sure they're plenty high, also. Good sport is certainly expensive.

Lining Up Puck Group

Petes had a puck practice and an executive meeting last night. At the latter, Rollie Glover, Frank Buckland and Fred Scates—three official stalwarts for many years—were named life members. The latter, with Ed Foley and Baz Phelan, will attend the group meeting in Belleville on Sunday. Likely the two local teams, Belle[illegible] (including Queen's) and maybe Gananoque [illegible]een's, Kingston Vics, Belleville and our Triple Links in junior "B" play. Bill McMaster was released to play for Lake Placid. A coach will be named at a Monday meeting. A list of prospects out last night is in elsewhere and shows the Petes are after several of Orfuns' grid imports, who also play hockey.

Let's look at the grid setup for local clubs this weekend. Scarboro plays PCVS seniors an exhibition at 8.30 under the Morrow Park arcs tomorrow night, and it ought to be a fine fray. St. Peter's seniors play at De LaSalle on Sunday, leaving at 8.30 a.m. The SPS junior Bees yesterday took over first place in their group race by trimming Cobourg 21-5 here as they showed a lot of stuff. Senior "B" Orfuns are off to Orillia for a Saturday afternoon game, and they have Oshawa Raiders here next Wednesday night—advance sale of tickets now on for that one, including a draw—as the Bamforth bunch fight it out down the stretch toward a playoff spot.

By DON GRANT

Another of the most common football signals for infractions of the rules is the folded arms signal which indicates that "no yards" have been allowed on a kick or that a kicked ball has been touched by an offside player. Although coaches warn their players not to violate this rule, players often in their anxiety to catch the ball carrier or to get the ball commit the infraction.

If a player is offside when a member of his team kicks the ball, he should not touch the ball and must allow the opponent attempting to catch the ball five yards. This applies to kicks which have crossed the line of scrimmage and also to kicks which have been returned.

The intention of this rule is to give the receiving player protection through the prohibited area which is a circle with a radius of five yards, the receiver, the centre. When an offside player has the opportunity to gauge this distance but approaches within the prohibited area, he is responsible for infringing the rule and his team will be penalized.

When an offside player has no opportunity to gauge the distance but finds himself in a position where he is violating the rule through no fault of his own, the player shall not be penalized provided that (i) the officials believe he did not deliberately enter the area and that he could do nothing to prevent being in the area and (ii) the offside player does not interfere with his opponent.

If this rule is violated, the opposing side shall have a scrimmage 15 yards in advance of the spot where the offence occurred. But if the offence occurs behind the goal-line, the opposing team shall be awarded the ball as a first down on its own 10-yard line or have the option of any ground gained or score made. If the offence occurs in the field and the distance penalty would bring the scrimmage to within 15 yards of the penalized team's goal, the penalty will be limited to half the distance to the goal line.

St. Peter's Get Top Spot With Grid Win

St. Peter's High reeled into first place in the local junior "B" football league Wednesday afternoon, trimming Cobourg High 21-5. SPHS now has two wins against one defeat while the Lakeshore high has a win and a loss in two starts. The third club, the PCVS thirds, have only played one game, the one in which SPS won 24-0 Saturday.

Three quick touchdowns, two late in the first and the other beginning the second, were enough to put the game away on the winning shelf. St. Peter's added another in the third while Cobourg after pressing hard in the late third scored a major in the fourth and threatened once more.

Drivers for the St. Peter's crew were Murray Byrne and Dick Foley. These lads ground yards throughout the first, second and third quarters. In the fourth the Cobourg line, which was heavier than the locals, began to break through. Neil Gain, Cobourg quarter, and half Garth Douglas were two game battlers for the losers. Both half-points gave all they had especially in the fourth to come closer to the SPS team.

Intercept Pass

Immediately after a Frank McGillen punt to the Cobourg 15, John Hickey intercepted a McIntosh pass at the 35-yard line and raced the route for a major which went unconverted. Douglas fumbled on the kick at the Cobourg 20 and SPS were set for the second score. Foley first went for eight yards and then Byrne off tackled for the unconverted score.

Three plays after the kickoff, a bad snap allowed SPS to take possession of the Cobourg 40. They moved the ball to the 25-yard line on a pass from McCormick to Fitzgerald. The first period then ended in the first three plays of the second, all plunges by Foley, Bob O'Rourke and Byrne. Foley dashed across for the touch. Again the touchdown went unconverted.

SPS' final touchdown in the third also came on a fumble, this time at the Cobourg 14-yard line. Foley and Byrne carried to the two-yard line where John Hickey sneaked over. Foley booted the convert point.

Cobourg backed the SPS boys in the fourth into defensive territory. Finally Neil Cain uncorked a 23-yard pass to Jim Allen who straight-armed his way for 11 yards for the only Cobourg touchdown. Cain intercepted a pass in SPS territory late in the quarter but time ran out before they reached the danger area.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club, to be held next Monday evening at the Aragon Club, promises to be a big affair. This is going to be something entirely different from the regular annual meetings.

The committee has gone all out to make it so—it will be one grand night, entertainment and business. The banquet is set for 6.30 p.m. sharp. Please note the time. And then the floor show. Professional talent is coming from Toronto. We have not the complete program before us, but we do know that Miss Margaret Lyne Munn, "Miss Canada and Miss North America 1949," a lovely girl with a fascinating voice, is taking part.

Wings Edge Rangers 3-2 In Opening Season's Game

By The Canadian Press

The teams who finished off the National Hockey League last season started this season off Wednesday night—and the same team won.

Detroit Red Wings, who beat out New York Rangers in the Stanley Cup finals last spring, edged Rangers 3-2 before 11,321 first-night fans in the Detroit Olympia.

Appropriately enough, the winner of individual scoring honors last year—Ted Lindsay—got the first goal of the season, jumping the gun on between-period ceremonies honoring his scoring leadership.

Lindsay beat New York's Chuck Rayner at 1.21 of the first period. Wings' great line of Lindsay, Sid Abel and Gord Howe also accounted for the winner—Abel got it early in the final period with assists by Lindsay and Howe. Howe also helped Lindsay on his goal.

Within seven minutes of Lindsay's goal, Gaye Stewart put Detroit ahead 2-0 on a pass from Gerry Couture. But Rangers, playing for the first time under coach Neil Colville, tied it up before the period ended. Gus Kyle scored on a 30-footer from Nick Mickoski and Buddy O'Connor scored from Frankie Eddolls and Alex Kaleta.

Terry Sawchuk, Wings' 21-year-old rookie goaltender, made 27 saves. Rayner stopped 29.

Getting Ready

While Red Wings and Rangers opened the season, the league's other four clubs finished last-minute preparations for the season. All six will have been in action by Saturday night.

In Kitchener, coach Lynn Patrick said his Boston Bruins are 25 per cent stronger than last year and "almost sure to make the playoffs."

Montreal Canadiens prepared to open ther season against Chicago Black Hawks tonight with five new men—Gerry McNeill, Tom Johnson, Bert Hirschfield, Frank King and Paul Masnick. Hawks will have seven new men—Harry Lumley, Jack Stewart, Hugh Coflin, Pete Babando, Gordon Fashoway, Don Morrison and Pat Lundy.

In other games this week, Boston is at Montreal and Chicago at Toronto Saturday.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

National Hockey League directors at Montreal 26 years ago today admitted Boston Bruins, first United States entry, and Montreal Maroons to the league. At that time Toronto, Ottawa, Hamilton and Montreal Canadiens made up the circuit. Now only two of the six clubs are Canadian—Toronto Maple Leafs and Montreal Canadiens.

Barons Edge Hornets

By The Canadian Press

The American Hockey League Wednesday night staged a four-game card but relatively small crowds turned out. Cleveland Barons downed Pittsburgh Hornets 3-1, Buffalo Bisons bounced New Haven Eagles 9-5, Providence Reds and Cincinnati Mohawks played to a 2-2 overtime tie and Springfield Indians whipped Hershey Bears 6-2.

Crescents Whip Adanacs 13-6 In Second Win

TORONTO, Oct. 12 — (CP) — "We're hungry," said coach Doug Gillespie, of Owen Sound Crescents.

Perhaps that's why his eastern lacrosse champions hold a 2-0 lead in games over New Westminster Adanacs in the Canadian senior finals.

Before a crowd of 2,671, thinly spread among Maple Leafs Gardens' 14,550 seats, Crescents Wednesday night trounced the British Columbians 13-6 for their second straight victory in the four-of-seven-game series for the Mann Cup.

The third game will be played Friday and the fourth Sunday.

Owen Sound, 8-7 winners in Sunday's first game, survived a second-quarter Adanac rally for a half-time 4-4 tie and then romped to a 10-5 margin by the end of the third.

Play It Tight

Crescents played it tight to the chest in the final 15 minutes but still outscored Adanacs 3-1.

After the game, playing coach Gillespie said:

"The fans were howling because we held the ball too much in the last quarter. The other team doesn't score if we have the ball. That's the only way to protect a lead. We're hungry for the title. After the series is over, we'll play an exhibition game and show them some fancy passing."

He was speaking for the first Owen Sound team to reach the final. New Westminster teams have won the title 14 times, four of them since the box lacrosse game was introduced in the early 1930s.

Kawarthas Most Favored, Resort Owners Informed

Second annual meeting of the resort section of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce was attended on Wednesday by more than 50 members. Under the chairmanship of manager James Fraser six subjects were discussed and resolutions made.

Although there was a minimum of after dinner speaking, Gordon K. Fraser, MP, speaking briefly warned operators that they must organize under one body to effectively present their problems to governments and municipalities. He also reminded them that the original Trent Valley Tourist Association, which was active in 1920, was the nucleus of the present-day Ontario Travel and Publicity Bureau.

The following subjects were discussed:

Hydro Rates—Some members felt that they were being unfairly dealth with by the Hydro Commission and wished their rates reassessed were told by commission service superintendent E. S. Frost and F. C. Adsett, service engineer, Belleville district, that rates could not be reduced and that they would very likely be increased. Power line expansions, materials and labour were the cause, Mr. Adsett said. He advised that the original classification of rates to some during war years was more lenient than to others and that this would be corrected and standardized. Chairman Fraser suggested, with this in the offing, that resort operators make allowances for higher power costs when setting their rates for the 1951 season.

Tourist Booth Participation — The members were introduced to the new president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Gerald Grady and told of the operation of the Peterborough tourist booth for the past season by Douglas Vaisey, regional secretary. He thanked the participating resort people for their financial support and, quoting from records, said that 2,418 parties, or 4,336 persons, had been given accommodation, that 3,109 inquiries had been directed and 2,864 pieces of literature were passed out. Mr. Vaisey told the members that plans were underway for enlarging the booth in 1951, that both a day and night paid attendants would be engaged and that next season's folders, accommodation files and picture albums would be needed for their use earlier than usual.

The Drift Fishing Clause—Department of Lands and Forests chief of the wildlife section, Dr. W. H. K. Harkness led the discussion which drew the best debate of the day's meeting. He said that people of the Kawarthas and Trent were the most favoured in the province as far as fish resources went and that the manmade Trent Canal was a deciding factor in controlling ideal fishing grounds from 150 feeder lakes. Dr. Harkness said that great strides were being made in the artificial propagation of the muskie population at the Deer Lake hatchery and that the present well-stocked waters were a direct result of this.

There will be no request for a change in the shore-and-anchored-boat pickerel fishing law of the four counties. Nor was anything definite arrived at about establishing different dates for the existing pickerel season.

It was resolved, however, that the minimum lengths of bass, lunge and pickerel be increased by two inches, to become effective in 1952. It was also resolved that the one-day's tourist take-home fishing catch on family licenses should not be changed for the present. Too lenient fines and the lack of conservation officers in the district was also discussed.

Publicity—Col. C. D. Crowe, director of the development branch and Tom Johnston, assistant to the deputy minister, both of the Department of Travel and Publicity, spoke briefly. They informed the members that regardless of poor summer weather and the Korean war scare, travel vehicle permits set new records in July and August of this year, 23,000 more were issued than over the same period last year. They thought, too, this season would likely be the fifth consecutive record tourist year for Ontario.

Ronald Warde, district representative for the National Film Board, reviewed the program of showing films to tourist resorts during the past season. In eight weeks, 45 lodges saw 380 screenings and entertained 58,000 visitors.

Before the regular meeting took place in the morning, the resort members agreed unanimously to participate in the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce tourist booth at the Cleveland Sportsmen's Show, March 9 to 18, 1951.

From samples of a Kawartha souvenir postcard kit, several operators ordered several thousand pieces for district publicity which they will retail at their lodges.

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Dr. G. E. Hall, president of the University of Western Ontario, charged in London Wednesday that "subsidication, either direct or indirect, of university athletics does exist."

He didn't elaborate on the charge except to condemn the practice and urge immediate action by the Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Union to combat it.

Dr. Hall was commenting on a scheme suggested by some University of Toronto Alumni by which football players would be persuaded by subsidy to enrol at the university.

The plan was emphatically opposed by U. of T. president Dr. Sidney Smith and by the heads of Queen's and McGill, other members of the Intercollegiate Football League. Dr. Hall commended Dr. Smith for his stand.

Philadelphia Athletics, who often work in mysterious ways, are involved in another "who-dun it." They'll neither confirm nor deny bidding good-bye to Jimmy Dykes, the assistant manager, who hasn't been fired and says he hasn't quit.

It all started with a published story to the effect that Dykes was quitting the A's, but not baseball. He was going to become either a manager or coach of another major league team, the story said.

Vice-President Roy Mack declined to say whether Dykes was included in the A's plans for next year.

Brother Earle Mack said "if he (Dykes) has any other offers he would like to accept, he will not stand in his way."

Here's what Jimmy had to say. "I know nothing about all this. I definitely have not quit and don't intend to quit. I'm happy coaching at third base for the A's."

Joe Aquirre, place-kicking specialist for Winnipeg Blue Bombers, has climbed to the top of the Western Football Union individual scoring heap.

The former Los Angeles Dons end has 51 points after tallying 19 points last weekend. All but 10 have been scored by his accurate toe.

Aguirre's weekend splurge enabled him to pass last week's leader, Mike King, Edmonton Eskimos' fullback. King now is second with 45 points.

One point behind King is quarterback Jack Hartman of the Saskatchewan Roughriders. Winnipeg's Tom Casey holds down fourth place with 41 points.

Dispersal sale of Parkwood stable's 47 horses, owned by Col. R. S. McLaughlin of Oshawa, who recently retired from racing, will be held at Toronto's Woodbine race track Oct. 24.

The sale will be handled by "Doc" Bond, horse auctioneer from Versailles, Ky.

Middleground's Racing Ended

NEW YORK,, Oct. 12 (AP). — Misfortune that cut short the careers of other Kentucky Derby winners has caught up with Middleground, class of 1950.

The lean-shanked son of Bold Venture is through with racing—his active days ended by an accident in a Belmont Park workout Wednesday.

The chestnut three-year-old buckled under his rider, Bill Boland, and pulled up lame. X-rays disclosed two broken bones in his right forefoot and trainer Max Hirsch announced sadly:

"We'll probably be able to save him, but that's about all. I'd say chances are a million to one against his ever running again."

Middleground will be shipped to Robert J. Kleberg's sprawling King Ranch, Texas, to munch oats and produce new little racing champions the rest of his life.

Middleground's own pappy, Bold Venture winner of the Derby in 1936, broke down at the ankles while training for the Belmont. Another Bold Venture offspring, Assault, had similar trouble after sweeping to the triple crown 10 years later. He was retired in 1949.

Charlotte St. Crash Damages Two Autos

Two cars travelling in the opposite direction on Charlotte St. collided Wednesday evening as one driven by William Phillips, 161 Park St. N., turned left to go north on Stewart St.

The right side of his car was in collision with a car driven by George Bennett, 569 Homewood Ave. The front right fender, headlight grill and bumper brace of the Bennett car were damaged.

Damage to the Phillips car was to the rear left fender, left door and panel and the running board. Traffic officer Harold Mesley investigated.

Riopelle Decides To Retire From Hockey

MONTREAL, Oct. 12—(CP)—Howard (Rip) Riopelle, fast-skating left winger, of Montreal Canadiens, is retiring from hockey.

The National Hockey League player broke into professional hockey with Canadiens three years ago. Previously he had started with Montreal Royals of the Quebec Senior Hockey League

Riopelle announced his retirement to General Manager Frank Selke. He is the only member of the team who had not signed a current contract.

IN ARMY SHUFFLE are these two officers—Maj.-Gen. Chris Vokes, Left, and Maj.-Gen. Howard D. Graham. Maj.-Gen. Graham, once a Trenton lawyer, is leaving his post as vice-chief of the General Staff to head the Central Command, which embraces Ontario. Maj.-Gen. Vokes, chief of Ontario Command, is leaving headquarters at Oakville to take charge of Western Command.

Major Leagues Clean House Change Players

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (AP). — The major leagues' annual postseason reconstruction project is moving along in high gear. Six teams did some vigorous housecleaning Wednesday with the New York Giants wielding the biggest broom.

The Giants, who finished a strong third in the National League, pulled off a $125,000 deal involving seven minor league players. In a drive to bolster reserve strength, they pried three players from the champion Oakland Oaks of the Pacific Coast League.

Coming to the Giants are Cuban negro catcher Ray Noble; Artie Wilson, a negro shortstop; and veteran righthander Allen Gettel.

In exchange the Giants shipped cash, outfielder-first baseman Joe Lafata and Bert Hass and righthanded pitchers Wes Bailey and Bill Ayers from their pennant-winning Minneapolis American Association farm to Oakland.

A quirk of the transaction is that the Giants sold Noble to the Oaks last year for probably less than $10,000. Noble, valued at approximately $75,000 by Oakland, was regarded as the best catcher in the Coast League. He hit .316 and drove in 79 runs. Noble will understudy Wes Westrum.

Good Batter

Wilson, a speedster, won the coast batting championship in 1949, but dropped to .306 this year.

Gettel, who won 23 games, was the Oaks' only 20-game winner. He has been up before with the New York Yankees, Cleveland, and Chicago White Sox, and probably will be used as a relief pitcher.

Philadelphia Phlies also snapped the rubber band on President Bob Carpenter's bankroll by shelling out $40,000 to land a highly regarded prospect, Tom Casagrande of Fordham University.

Casagrande, a 20-year-old lefthander, was sought by 10 other major league clubs. He also is a terrific hitter and the Phils hope he will outdo such other famous Fordham graduates as Frank Frisch and Hank Borowy.

The majority of the remaining deals involved major league clubs and their farm units. The prime motive was to protect prospects from the minor league draft.

Take Baxes

Brooklyn sent rookie pitcher Mal Mallette and cash to their Hollywood Coast League affiliate for Jim Baxes, one of the best fielding third basemen in the minors.

The Dodgers also sold first baseman Dee Fondy of their Fort Worth, Texas, team to Chicago Cubs. The Cubs also sold outfielder Hank Edwards to the Montreal Royals, the Dodgers' International League team.

Cincinnati sold pitcher Johnny Hetki, used entirely in relief roles, to Toronto of the International League. The Reds also released catcher Dave Poole, outfielder Harold Stamey, and infielder Whitey Reis to their Columbia farm of the South Atlantic League. In return the Reds recalled outfielder Bob Hazle and pitcher Gerry Blackburn from Columbia.

Washington sold veteran righthander Elmer Singleton to Toronto.

Boston Red Sox sold the contract of their former star righthander Dave (Boo) Ferriss to their Louisville farm in the American Association. Ferriss pitched for Birmingham of the Southern Association this year. The Sox puchased shortstop Al Richter and pitcher Ben Flowers from Louisville.

Truman Orders Survey Of Resources

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (CP)—President Truman Wednesday ordered what Congress had refused to authorize—a survey of natural resources of New York and the New England States.

The survey will consider power and water resources of mutual interest to the United States and Canada, including the long-proposed tidal power development on Passamaquoddy Bay in New Brunswick, the development of the Niagara Falls power potential, and the construction of the St. Lawrence seaway and power project.

He directed government agencies to start a prompt, comprehensive survey and recommend plans for development of the resources of the area. The study would include power, navigation, flood-control, forest management, fish and wildlife conservation, mineral development, water supply; pollution control and soil conservation.

Of the Niagara Falls and St. Lawrence projects, Truman said:

"The importance of these projects to the national defence makes it more necessary than ever that their construction be undertaken immediately."

Further, he said: "There are, of course, certain projects in the (international) area . . . which are plainly good investments . . ."

The St. Lawrence project, long a subject of talks between Ontario and New York State had been stalled when Congress failed to pass the amendment-ridden legislation sought by Truman.

New York and Ontario had pressed for permission to begin the power portion of the two-pronged undertaking, but a federal go-ahead was lacking.

Lively Morning Wash Line Up

Charges Other Man's Wife Stays Too Long In Bathroom

A rooming house squabble at 168 Morrow St., over the use of a bathroom was settled in police court Wednesday when Magistrate W. R. Philp KC dismissed a charge of assault against Thomas Montgomery.

Kenneth W. Pipe charged Montgomery hit him "lightly" on the teeth after an argument over his wife, Mrs. Pipe, staying 15 minutes in a common bathroom.

Pipe said while his wife was in the bathroom preparing to keep an appointment about a job downtown, Montgomery rattled the door of the bathroom and then went downstairs to get the landlady, Mrs. J. Herman, to try to force her out.

When Mrs. Pipe did come out of the bathroom, scantily clad, Mrs. Herman stood at the door of the Pipes' one-room apartment with her arm across the doorway barring Mrs. Pipe's way. His wife had to push her way in, said Pipe.

Husband in Bed

Pipe said he was still in bed and told Mrs. [illegible] could get up and get dressed. She refused and he finally got up and closed the door.

He was still standing beside the closed door when Montgomery burst into the room knocking him over a table to the bed. He said Montgomery then swung his fist and hit him on the teeth.

"I had to seize him and remove him by force," Pipe said. "The one real complaint I have is that my 15-month-old baby could have been standing behind that door."

In his defence, Montgomery said Mrs. Pipe was in the bathroom 25 minutes. When she did come out, Mrs. Herman, the landlady told her it wasn't very ladylike to monopolize the bathroom holding up other people wanting to go to work.

Has Second Thoughts

"She lifted her hand to strike the landlady and then thought she'd better not," said Montgomery. However he said Mrs. Herman had her arm caught in the Pipe door as Mrs. Pipe was closing it.

He said Pipe came to the doorway in his room and struck him on the chin "I pushed him back."

"You can just reverse what he said," Montgomery told the court about Pipe's evidence.

Mrs. Herman told the magistrate one of her young men roomers had ordered Mrs. Pipe out of his room and she was trying to get back at him out of spite by keeping him out of the bathroom.

Gave Her a Push

She said that Mrs. Pipe gave her a push as she made her way from the bathroom to her own room and her arm was hurt by the Pipe's door closing.

"The way she has been carrying on it isn't decent to talk about," Mrs. Herman said.

She said Pipe got out of the bed and struck Montgomery first and Montgomery pushed Pipe back into the room.

"I know I would if he socked me on the jaw," she commented.

With the end of the evidence presented by the defence, Pipe said, "with the little bit of evidence I have, I'd better withdraw the charge."

"You're too late. Case dismissed," Magistrate Philp said.

Pipe said he was moving out of the house Friday.

3 Top Officers Change Posts

OTTAWA, Oct. 12 — (CP)—The army announced Wednesday it is shuffling the men in three of its senior posts in a move that puts colorful Maj.-Gen. Chris Vokes in charge of the vast western command, including the vital areas of the Arctic and the Pacific Coast.

Maj.-Gen. Howard D. Graham, 52, a former Trenton lawyer, turned permanent force soldier after a distinguished war career, is leaving the job of vice chief of the General Staff to succeed Gen. Vokes as head of Central Command, embracing Ontario.

His job at Ottawa headquarters will be taken by Toronto-born Maj.-Gen. Herbert A. (Sparky) Sparling, 43. Gen. Sparling is the only man involved to get a promotion, moving up from brigadier.

The moves, effective early in the New Year, arise from the retirement of Maj.-Gen. Matthew H. S. Penhale, 55, of Edmonton after 36 years of military service, including two world wars.

Shortage Of Power Cuts Plant Work

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (AP)—A shortage of electric power has forced the American Cyanamid Company to cut back operations of its basic calcium cyanamid plant at Niagara Falls, Ont., the firm said Wednesday.

The cut-back will reduce the company's output of melamine plastics—used in a great variety of plastic products — and of hydrocyanic acid insecticides and other chemical items, a spokesman said.

He attributed the power shortage to the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission's continuing program of encouraging expanded rural electrification and the resulting increased use of power in homes and by small industries.

The commission recently cut off from American Cyanamid most of its "at-will" power, leaving only the supply required by contract, the spokesman said.

Decide U.K. Welfare State Can Stand Some Changing

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Oct. 12—(CP)—Without so much as a by-your-leave to the party bosses, nine Conservative members of parliament took a cool, critical look at Britain's welfare state and decided there is plenty of room for improvement. These nine young men—six of them are under 40 and only one over 45—published their findings in a 95-page booklet, "One Nation." Their general thesis is that the welfare state should enable the strong to help the weak rather than that the weak should weaken the strong.

"Socialists believe that the state should provide an average standard," says the booklet. "We believe that it should provide a minimum standard, above which people should be free to rise as far as their industry, their thrift, their ability or their genius may take them."

Health Charge

Among the main points made in the booklet are that some charges should be made under the National Health Service, whose facilities now are free to all although financed largely by indirect taxation; that priorities should be established among various social services; and that housing and education should take first place.

The nine Conservatives also suggested a progressive reduction in food subsidies, which now cost Britain about £400,000,000 (about $1,240,000,000) a year, coupled with increases in family allowances and insurance.

Where there are three or more children under the school-leaving age of 15, it is proposed that family allowances should be paid for the first child, instead of starting with the second as at present.

The booklet was produced under the chairmanship of 36-year-old Iain MacLeon, member for Enfield West who has a reputation outside parliament as one of Britain's best bridge players. Other members are Angus Maude (Ealing South), C. J. M. Alport (Colchester), L. R Carr (Mitcham), R Fort (Clitheroe), E. Heath (Bexley), G. J. M. Longden (Hertfordshire), J. E. Powell (Wolverhampton) and J. Rodgers (Sevenoaks).

The autors emphasize that the document does not represent official Conservative policy and has not even been seen by many of Winston Churchill's top advisers. This is made clear in a forward by Richard Butler, who ranks fifth in the party heirarchy and who is usually associated with the Conservative left-wing.

OTTAWA, Oct. 12 — (CP)— The Canadian worker's pay envelope was at its fattest point in history at Aug. 1, the Bureau of Statistics reported Wednesday.

Average weekly wages in the non-farm industries hit $45.15 up slightly from the $45.04 of July 1 and well over the $42.95 of a year previously.

Total payroll of $100,900,000 for the week also was an all-time high, the Bureau said. The figures do not include Newfoundland.

By provinces, highest average weekly pay was British Columbia's $48.53, which was up from $46.08 a year before.

Commission Approves Commercial Television

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)— The United States Communications Commission Wednesday approved commercial operation of Columbia Broadcasting System's color television.

In a series of orders, the FCC affirmed its tentative selection of CBS, announced Sept. 1, as the national color plan.

The action was taken despite notices from most set makers that they can not make quick changes in receiver designs so that their black-and-white sets can pick up Columbia's color programs in black and white.

The commission said nevertheless that Columbia may begin regular color televising on a commercial basis effective November 20.

First Contract Signed With Nepheline

Local 306, United Cement, Lime and Gypsum Workers (AFL) have signed a one-year contract with the American Nepheline Co. of Lakefield granting a wage increase averaging seven and a half cents.

It is the first contract negotiated between the company and the union.

Ninety-four production workers and laborers are affected. Increases range from five to 12 cents an hour, depending on previous rates.

Lowest labor rate at the firm (both mine and mill included) is now 86 cents.

Other provisions in the contract signed Wednesday but retroactive to October 1, include: Pay for Christmas and Labor Day; a week's vacation after a year's service, two weeks' vacation after eight years; plant-wide posting based on seniority, and a checkoff on union dues.

The work week remains at 48 hours, but time-and-a-half after that.

"Our membership is pleased that they have reached a satisfactory agreement with the company," said Maurice Lachapelle, Canadian representative. "The contract was ratified unanimously."

Now that the contract has been signed Local 306 automatically becomes the certified bargaining unit for the production workers and laborers. The American Nepheline Co. did not oppose the application to the Labor Relations Board for certification.

Besides Mr. Lachapelle the negotiating committee included Ross Richards, Havelock, chairman; George Harrington, Peterborough; George Hadley, Havelock, and Al Dunsford, Lakefield.

Negotiations occupied about a month.

GIVE UP DRAGGING

Peterborough provincial police have temporarily given up dragging for the body of Dennis Sheehan, 60-year-old legless guide who is believed to have drowned in Crystal lake, late Sunday night. His abandoned boat, containing his crutches, was found adrift Monday in the north end of the lake. He is believed to have fallen into the water when attempting to restart a defective outboard motor.

Pte. D. C. Grant With American Forces In Korea

Pte. David C. Grant, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. David (Scott)y Grant, 634 Hawley St., is believed to be the only Peterborough boy fighting in Korea. He is one of the men serving with Task Force Lynch, an element of the 7th US Cavalry, who broke through Red Korean defences near Tabudong and sped 35 miles to Sangju.

Leaving PCVS at the age of 16, Pte. Grant spent a year in the city and joined the US Army three months before his 18th birthday.

Born in North Carolina, he lived in Peterborough during his early childhood and spent the Second World War years in Kilwinning, Ayrshire, Scotland. His mother was on a visit to Scotland when the war started. Her husband joined the Canadian Army and spent his leaves in Scotland with his wife and son.

The last letter from Pte. Grant was received by his parents Oct. 7. He had written it while resting on a hill during the United Nations first major advance through the North Korean positions along the Naktong River.

"You would not recognize your son after two weeks without shaving, washing or sleeping properly" he wrote. He said he had been "living in foxholes and eating out of cans."

Pte. Grant sailed from San Francisco for Korea on Aug. 11. The unit with which he is serving which rushed 20 miles through enemy territory on the first day of its dash and then climaxed its daring operation by going another 15 miles and reaching its final objective on the second day, overran and captured enemy tanks, vehicles, artillery pieces and anti-tank weapons. Task Force Lynch also captured more than 50 prisoners and killed more than 500 Red Korean soldiers.

Named after its commander, Lt. Col. James H. Lynch, Task Force Lynch was the first American unit to acomplish such a large scale break-through on the Naktong River front since the United Nations major offensive began in middle September.

Wives of Korean Force Fail To Get Allowances Families Are In Distress

Wives of members of Canada's Special Army Force are not getting any assigned pay or allowances, Gordon K. Fraser, MP for Peterborough West said today. He reported that he had been phoning Ottawa trying to find out the reason why women, most of whose husbands enlisted in August, still have not received any money. One reason put forward was that some married men told enlistment officers that they were single. But Mr. Fraser said, that would not explain very many cases.

Hydro Cut Off

One wife had the hydro cut off in her home last week and now faces eviction unless something can be done for her immediately.

Mr. Fraser said he does not know how many women there are in the riding having to get along without the help the assigned pay and army allowance would give them.

In one case he was able to see that a woman started getting her cheques after considerable delay. One woman told him that she visited her husband in camp last Saturday and found that many of the men had not yet received their pay books. Her soldier husband knew of about 40 of his army mates whose wives had not received a cent through the government.

Some time ago, Mr. Fraser said, there was considerable fuss in the House of Commons when it was brought up that many wives were struggling along without help from their army husbands and the government. At that time the government guaranteed cheques would start coming through almost immediately.

New Executive Elected By Young PC's

A new executive was elected Wednesday to head the Peterborough branch of the Young Progressive-Conservative organization for the second year of its operation in the city.

Elected when the slate of officers drawn up by a nominating committee were president, Mrs. David Rogers; first vice-president, James Lillico; second vice president, John Foote; secretary, Miss June Fraser; treasurer, Walter Halliday. Past president was John Corkery. Honorary presidents were Senator Iva Fallis, Gordon K. Fraser, MP, and Hon. Harold Scott, Minister of the Department of Lands and Forests.

Mrs. Rogers said the new executive would work on a four-point program set out for the organization. The first object was to increase membership. With a provincial election probably due before a federal election, the Peterborough PC's would work as a unit to help Mr. Scott win re-election.

The organization was also aiming at keeping fully informed on national issues. As its fourth objective, the organization would keep a "vigilant watch" on municipal affairs.

"I myself think that only by keeping a vigilant watch on municipal affairs can we encourage younger people to participate in municipal activities," Mrs. Rogers said.

National president of the Young Progressive Conservatives organization, Leon Balcer, MP, was guest speaker.

UE Claims DeLaval Workers Given Second Increase

DeLaval workers are receiving a straight seven-cents-an-hour wage increase, plus one-to-four-cent adjustments on job classifications. That was the announcement made today by Local 527, United Electrical Workers, now engaged in trying to organize the plant.

It is the second wage boost in the past few months at DeLaval.

"For the second time since the UE started their drive to organize DeLaval workers, the company has come through with a wage increase to stop the move of workers into our union," said John Rowley, UE representative.

"No comment," said Cecil Upper, vice-president and general manager.

Several months ago, shortly after the UE began a powerful organizing drive, the company reduced the work week from 45 to 43 hours for the same take-home pay. In addition there was a wage increase.

At that time also the UE charged that it was a tactical move to spike the guns of the union.

Even with the straight seven-cent boost, plus a four-cent adjustment, rates for a number of the lower paid workers would be less than $1 an hour, the UE claims. And there would be a gap of 20 cents between the top and bottom rates on a number of jobs in the plant.

Florist Robbed Locked In Trunk

TORONTO, Oct. 12 (CP)—Lloyd Elford, 33, told police Wednesday night that he was robbed of $17 by two men who confronted him outside his florist shop in suburban Etobicoke township, forced him into his car trunk and drove him almost to Hamilton, 40 miles west of here. He said he forced the trunk open after the thieves abandoned the car southwest of Hamilton.

Elford told police he left his store through a rear door about 8 a.m. and was about to get in his car when he was accosted by the two men, one carrying a gun and the other a long bladed knife.

They first ordered the florist to get in the car and then drove to highway No. 27 near Etobicoke and robbed him of the money he was carrying. They then forced him to get into the rear trunk.

The hold-up men drove for almost three hours and then abandoned the car.

Elford with the aid of a tire iron worked on the trunk lock until he finally was able to spring the trunk door and escape.

SIX CLAWS ON FRONT

Nature endowed one Peterborough kitten with a generous supply of fighting equipment. This kitten has six claws on both its front paws and five on its back paws. The remaining three kittens of the litter that were born at the Sorenson Florist Shop, 39 Argyle St., are only equipped with the normal four claws on each paw.

The answer — it may be a hereditary characteristic. Mama cat's both front paws have five claws.—C.F.

"Stupid" Not To Stop Man Fined $3, Costs

"I'd hate to think I was that stupid that I would drive out into George St. without stopping," protested Howard Beavis, RR 4, Peterborough, in police court today.

He was charged with failing to come to a full stop while travelling west on Parkhill Rd. before entering George St.

Traffic officer Harold Mesley said he saw the Beavis truck come to the corner and make a left turn into George St. without stopping.

Beavis was found guilty and fined $3 and $2 costs.

Remand Silvester On Kresge Fire Charge

Harvey David Silvester, 32, charged with setting fire to the S. S. Kresge store August 17, 1948, was remanded to Friday while the court waited for a report on his mental condition.

Committee Authorizes Purchase Of Truck

Purchase of a truck for the sanitation department at $2,886 from J. K. Hughes was authorized by the finance committee Tuesday on the motion of Aldermen Gillespite and Dodds.

Of eight bids, five were received after the advertised time. Ald Gillespie reported. The Hughes price was $15 higher than the quotation of Irwin-Godson Ltd.

"Since spring they have already sold us two trucks and a passenger car," said Ald. Gillespie, suggesting that the council should follow the practice of distributing the city business.

"All we have bought from J. K. Hughes was a half-ton pick-up truck last year."

Armed Forces Have 60,000 In Uniform

OTTAWA, Oct. 12 (CP)—The armed forces now have more than 60,000 men in uniform.

Defence headquarters announced today that the three regular forces have taken in 4,008 men since they launched a Korea-inspired recruiting drive.

That would raise their total strength to more than 51,000.

In addition, the army's special force has enlisted 9,367 men.

The figures for the three regular forces run up to Oct. 7 and don't include "thousands of others" who were found suitable and are in the process of joining up, headquarters said.

A breakdown shows that the army got 2,016 of the newcomers, the navy 873 and the air force 1,119 including 471 potential air crew and 648 ground crew.

Three Men Inducted In Travellers' Group

Ralph Hutchinson, Gordon Pammett and Tom Casey were inducted into the Canadian Travellers Association at their local meeting at the Empress on the holiday.

Inspector A. Witts, Toronto, of public relations section of the Ontario Provincial Police traffic division, introduced by Ken Gadd, spoke on the subject of the Three E's of Traffic, engineering, education and enforcement. Of these the most difficult is enforcement, the responsibility of the traffic division.

Dinner guests included Inspector C. W. Farrow, Sgt. Price Morris and Cpl. Lloyd McClure and Traffic Officer Clare McGillen of Peterborough. Plans for a rummage sale Nov. 18 were announced.

Two Men Fined

SPECIAL SERVICE VOLUNTEERS

Families and friends of Peterborough men who have enlisted for service with the 25th Brigade (Canada's Special Force to serve the United Nations), which is now being organized and trained, are requested to furnish their names in writing to the City Clerk.

It is the desire that an accurate record should be kept at the City Hall of all Peterborough personnel in this Brigade and a record of their service, in order to add to the chapter of Peterborough's military history.

The co-operation of the citizens in this matter will be appreciated.

When It Comes To Art Council Is In Full Retreat

Does City Want Collection of Katherine Wallis' Work?

By HARRY THEOBALD

City Council is frankly trying to shift to the Public Library Board the decision of what should be done about the collection of sculpture offered to the people of Peterborough by perhaps its most famous artist, Miss Katherine Wallis, now of Santa Cruz, Cal.

It was also decided Tuesday night to write the Women's Art Association for opinion or guidance in this matter which appears to be beyond the collective grasp or depth of the city fathers.

Prime difficulty of the Council is to secure a place for the work of Miss Wallis, some twenty pieces of her own conception and production.

Council knows that Miss Wallis has an international reputation as a sculptress, but they encounter a brand new problem, and presently an elusive one, when they approach as a group the field of art.

More in the spirit of full retreat rather than of Philistinism, Ald. J. E. Gillespie moved the other night "that we drop this matter entirely". Ald. Doug Miller seconded it, probably also in the spirit of getting along to such matters as converting the horse barn at the city yard into a garage, or rebuilding part of the fire hall. Those are problems a councillor can take hold of, but 'objets d'art' and their appropriate housing and display,—well, the Waddell committee manifestly thought they should shuffle this matter on to the Library Board or the Women's Art Association.

This question has been before the Council for about three years, and it should be understood that the members do appreciate the reputation and talent of Miss Wallis, a former Peterborough girl, but they are balked by the important detail of "what to do" with the sculptures if they accepted them.

At present, it is intimated, the city of Santa Cruz wants the Wallis work.

Any way, Ald. John Dewart suggested the other night that maybe the Library Board might be a helpful aide in this difficulty. and Ald. Arthur Burrows supported him and mentioned the Women's Art Association. Their amendment to the escapist motion was adopted.

It was Ald. Burrows who injected the Santa Cruz alternative. One phase of the aldermanic difficulty was whether the display of the works of Miss Wallis would require a special room, and if so they hadn't alloted repository of that kind in the new city hall. So, now it is up to the Library Board and William Graff, and the Women's Art Association to come through with some practical solution of a delicate problem.

Across Canada

Raps Commercials, Find Child Loves Them

By JACK SCOTT

From time to time in the past I've had some blunt things to say about Canada's commercial or "independent" radio stations. This comment was rather confined since it was based largely on monitoring western stations.

Now I've had a chance to listen to these voices across the land and to discover how wrong I was in accusing them of catering to customers with the minds of a 14-year-old.

I find that, taken on a national scale, I was approximately four years too generous and that commercial or Love-That-Soap, radio in Canada is perfectly in tune with a mentality of 10 years.

Without Fear

I say this without fear of contradiction, as the saying goes, because for the past four months I have been in almost constant contact with a well-developed, fully-matured 10-year-old mind; indeed, my very favorite of all.

This 10-year-old mind revolts at the thought of the CBC. It commands a groan and a plea to switch the dial whenever there's a commentary, a symphony, a talk, a play, a program of genuine jazz, a newscast, an actuality or a Canadian artist other than Yodellin' Wilf Carter. It tolerates the CBC for the Happy Gang and its soap operas and very little else.

But this 10-year-old mind (and a splendid one it it, too) loves commercial radio. It yearns to find out if the housewife is going to win two dollars and a box of Fuzz for answering a question perfectly suited for 10-year-olds. It has an insatiable appetite for western music or, as second choice, Vaughn Munroe or Spike Jones. It can hear "Goodnight Irene" 40 times a day and want more. It loves the labored jokes and whimsy of local announcers.

Cater Exclusively.

Now, my complaint is not with my daughter's tastes but with the stations themselves which seem determined to cater exclusively to her age group or, rather, her mental age group. And I never felt more strongly that something ought to be done about it.

Since these stations continue to operate and are loaded with commercials (in many cases more than the Broadcasting Act allows) we must accept the fact that people listen to them in quantity.

That, in turn, brings us to a consideration of the Canadian housewife.

We should assume, first, that a lot of people listen to radio just because it makes a noise or for the same reason that a baby shakes a rattle. Christine Leslie, in a discussion on radio from St. John the other day referred with some wisdom to this type.

Let It Blast

"They are the kind who turn on the radio in the morning and let it blast all day long as a steady background." this critic suggested, adding the obvious fact that "if we soak ourselves in radio we get the minimum nourishment out of it."

So much for that type of listener, allowing for some overlapping, the other bulk listener is presumably the housewife. During the daytime, at any rate, everything is addressed to this lady, known to radio as Mrs. Home-Maker. ("Ah, there, Mrs. Home-Maker . . ."). And it makes us wonder about the kind of gals we married.

Certainly I must confess to being dumbfounded at the performance of a large number of housewives in the city of Halifax. One of the commercial stations there not only telephones housewives, but has an arrangement so that you actually hear the "home-maker" in all her embarrassment and agony of brain power.

Reporting Fact

I am only reporting fact when I record that these women could not say what had happened at the Island of Bikini, couldn't define the words "tabloid" or "mural" and fell giggling before similar posers, which also stumped the 10-year-old at my side.

My first reaction was to wonder, sadly, if this was really a cross-section of Canadian women. Then the announcer cleared things up for me. These were housewives who had written in to have this chance at a prize (two dollars). These were commercial station listeners.

I have had a lot of fun writing about commercial radio, the kind you have with any sitting target, and I expect to have more. But it ought to be a serious subject in this country. By rights it ought to be the study of a Royal Commission to see i fthis form of radio has lived up to its promises.

Could Forgive

One could forgive the independents' shortcomings if they were vigorous reflections of their cities or communities. Thy ar not. The station in Chilliwack, B.C., makes almost exactly the same noise as the station in Campbellton, N.B. Both noises are 90 percent canned in U.S.A.

The development of local talent seems to be virtually non-existent. The exception I can think of at the moment was a children's program in Moncton, but here the kids were put on the air without rehearsal or without regard for talent and merely as an added attraction to a give-away show. Children collecting the largest number of bottle tops of a certain soft drink got their bonus from the sponsor. A lot of gassy 10-year-olds being taken in there, too

News broadcasts, on the whole, are well written and valuable for the local news, but in nine out of ten cases read by youths who clearly have no understanding of the words or the meaning of the news they are reading and often sound merely comic.

ASSUMES NEW POST — Dr. Hugh Kennleyside, left, former Canadian deputy minister of mines and resources and newly-appointed director general of the United Nations Technical Assistance Administration, is congratulated by Trygve Lie, secretary general of the UN, as he takes his new post. David A. K. Owen, centre, in this United Nations photo, assistant secretary general in charge of economic affairs, previously administered the technical assistance program. Mr. Owen will continue as chairman of the Technical Assistance Board.

Saves Expense

POWELL RIVER, BC. — (CP) —After it was found a new fire truck would cost $10,000, machinist Dunc Gibson said that with community help he could build one for $3,000. Residents voted a monthly assessment of 50 cents and this coastal town now has its new truck, built within the estimated cost.

Actor Finds Europeans Dress Sensibly

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 12 (AP)—Vincent Price is back from the old world with this discovery: European men dress more sensibly than Americans.

Price is my favorite authority on men's fashions, so I pumped him for his observations when he returned from making "The Bargain" for Errol Flynn in France.

"Ah, the European men know how to dress," he commented. "They dress for comfort and yet they look very stylish.

"It is high time that American men started dressing more comfortably instead of being stifled with tight collars and such. We could take a lesson from the French. For instance, in warm weather they wear light coats, sport shirts and shorts, and they look great."

The lanky actor admitted that he resembled a "frustrated stork" in short pants, but said the comfort compensated for that. He added that the French go in for conservative sport shirts, not the loud US kind. Price appeared in a Hawaiian print once and was nearly hooted off the street.

Surprise

Hollywood was jolted a month ago when the Venice International Film Festival named Sam Jaffe the year's best actor.

The international judges passed up the recognized stars of the film world to honor a little-known broadway actor who has made less than a dozen films in 17 years. Jaffe was named for his featured role as criminal mastermind in "The Asphalt Jungle."

"I was surprised myself," admitted Jaffe.

Despite a string of memorable performances, Jaffe has never been nominated for an Academy Award. He was the fabled Gunga Din in the film of that name, and the ancient high lama in "Lost Horizon."

Potato Weighs 52 Ozs.

HASTINGS, Oct. 12 —(ENS)—Mammoth size potatoes have been brought into the Examiner office from rural districts surrounding the city and from some city backyards.

Hastings gardeners have been finding some big ones the past few days and the largest in that area is believed to be Vincent Keogan's three and a quarter pound sample.

Largest brought into the Examiner office is R. B. Lobb's three and three quarter pound spud, grown at Mr. Lobb's property at Fraserville.

31 Still Births Reported In 1950 By MOH

There has been a considerable increase in the still-birth and infant death rate in Peterborough in the first nine months of this year as compared to this period last year. This information was reported by Dr. R. A. Kelly, Medical Officer of Health, at the Board of Health meeting Wednesday.

The number of still-births to the end of August of this year total 31 as compared to 22 in 1949. For the same period the infant death rate was 41 in 1950 and 38 i 1940.

Dr. Kelly explained this year's rate was not too high, as last year's rate was so exceptionally low that it made an unfair comparison.

A total of 31 communicable diseases were reported in the city in August. Whooping cough was the most prevalent with 19 cases reported, an increase of four over last month.

"This increase is unfortunate, as whooping cough can be prevented by present day methods of immunization," stated Dr. Kelly. "However, there are still parents who, for unknown reasons, remain indifferent and do not take advantage of available services. Further there is evidence that reporting in some instances has not been overly conscientious," he stated.

The remainder of the communicable diseases reported during August were: Chickenpox 6, German measles 1, measles 3, mumps 1, scarlet fever 1.

Is Given $12,926 In Court Award

GODERICH, Oct. 12—(CP)—Thomas Stevenson of Kitchener was awarded $12,926.72 and costs in a damage action before Chief Justice McRuers at Supreme Court sitting here Wednesday night.

Harold Doak, Goderich, defendant, whose 18-year-old son, Barry drove the automobile that injured Stevenson, was charged with 80 per cent negligence in the accident.

Total assessed damages was set at $16,158.40 by the jury.

Barry Doak told the court he had not seen Stevenson standing at the rear of a parked car when the vehicle he drove crashed into it.

Life Will Look Rosy on even the gloomiest October morning—when breakfast is good. And here's a breakfast feast to tempt even the laziest of appetites—QUAKER PUFFED WHEAT or PUFFED RICE. They're both "pretty special" according to my family—so I serve them often. Everybody loves those crisp toasty puffed grains. They're so light . . . so easily digested and m-m-m what tempting flavour. For extra enjoyment try serving Quaker Puffed Wheat or Puffed Rice with sliced bananas. They're really delicious served that way. So stock up now! And save the box tops from Quaker Puffed Wheat and Quaker Puffed Rice to get a set of Tudor Plate for less than half price. Full particulars on the package.

A Friend Of Mine Was Looking Tired. "I ache all over from Fall housecleaning. Can't sleep at night," she said. "That's when to reach for SLOAN'S LINIMENT!", I told her. For, truly, Sloan's is the most relief-bringing treatment I know for rheumatism, sore muscles, stiff neck, or neuralgia. Its soothing, penetrating heat gets right to the heart of the pain. Just pat it on and it works wonderfully quickly to bring welcome relief! No wonder Sloan's is a medicine cabinet "must" in so many homes! And it's not expensive . . . just 40c a bottle at any drugstore.

This Is The Kind Of Food News I like to be able to give you! . . . For just a few pennies, you can have a main dish for four that takes just seven minutes to cook! And those are just three of the reasons why KRAFT DINNER is so popular! It's a delicious macaroni-and-cheese combination that will make your family sit up and smile! In every package you'll find two magic ingredients . . . a special, fast-cooking macaroni and grated cheese for mellow, cheddar cheese flavour. I've made sure I have a good supply of "Kraft Dinner" for my family's favourite Fall meals. And so economical . . . for just a few pennies there are ample servings for four in each package!

Let The Fall Wind Blow . . . it's a cosy sound when you're settled in a comfortable chair with a companionable cup of tea. My choice—always—is BLUE RIBBON TEA . . . it's superb! And it should be, for its Blenders have given you the very best in quality. They've made their Blue Ribbon blend from some of the finest India and Ceylon Teas. And to be sure of its extra-goodness — follow these fool-proof rules:

Bring fresh water to a vigorous boil; warm tea-pot; one teaspoonful of tea per person and "one for the pot"; then let tea steep for at least five minutes.

Remember, too, the economical two cup Blue Ribbon tea bags. They're so convenient.

Hoo-ray! . . . I'm delighted! — I've discovered how to avoid those Budget Blues in spite of the high cost of meat—yet give the family the good meat flavour they crave! It's not magic that does it . . . it's beefy-good BOVRIL. Bovril is still the same reasonable price . . . and it's chuck-full of the mouth-watering flavour of good roast beef. Add its savoury beefiness to soups and stews—make rich, brown Bovril gravies—drink Bovril (piping hot) on cold days . . . in fact, any time you miss the flavour of good meat—enjoy the beefy goodness of budget-wise Bovril! Next time you're shopping—ask your grocer or butcher for Bovril Cordial, Concentrate or Cubes—whichever you prefer.

At Last!—Kitchen Showers are easy—with the beautiful, practical, gift-packed SUPREME ALUMINUM TREASURE CHEST. It's a gift to make any bride feel lucky! . . . a complete 20-piece kitchen-maker set of Canada's finest cooking utensils. Now there's no need to pick and choose shower gifts—no danger of duplication—just let one person buy the Treasure Chest . . . then split the price. The price itself is a wonder! . . . just $19.95 for twenty easy-to-clean, wonderful-to-own Supreme Aluminum cooking utensils. Hardware and department stores carry Supreme and Lifetime Treasure Chests . . . both of the same high quality—the same exceptional value.

When The Frost Is On The Pumpkin, and all the family snuggles around the fire, I like to serve a piping hot chocolate drink. And I don't know of anything more wonderful than BAKER'S UNSWEETENED CHOCOLATE for a drink full of nourishment and luxurious chocolate flavour. Baker's is, of course, all pure chocolate with nothing added, nothing taken away, making all chocolate flavoured dishes more rich and satisfying. Here's the recipe for Hot Chocolate that would make a French chef green with envy!

2 squares Baker's Unsweetened Chocolate
1 cup water
3 tablespoons sugar
Dash of salt
3 cups milk

Add chocolate to water in top of double boiler. Stir over low heat till melted and blended. Add sugar and salt; boil 3 minutes, stirring constantly. Place over boiling water. Add milk gradually, stirring constantly, then heat. Just before serving, beat with egg beater till frothy. Serves 6.

He Means Every Word Of It when he says you look lovely. It's that delightfully tantalizing glow that Woodbury's new powder shade "COQUETTE" gives to your complexion! All day long, whether you're walking or working . . . and all evening, too—dining or dancing . . . "Coquette" gives you the kind of sheer flattery that brings sincere compliments. And you'll love more than the warm, golden shade of this new Woodbury Powder . . . you'll love its fine texture, too. For there's a unique ingredient in Woodbury Powder that gives your skin a satin smooth sheen with no "powdery" look . . . and helps this fragrant powder to cling and cling. Match your powder with the creamy new "Coquette" pink lipstick for the most provocative effect imaginable! Choose the powder in 19c, 37c or 65c size . . . and the lipstick is just 49c.

I've Learned My Lesson! For years I fussed and fumed with dirty kitchen rags — a rag to wash the dishes — one to clean the sink — another for the stove — a rag to clean the floor. Now I've discovered I can sponge away dirt with the C-I-L SPONGE . . . and wash it under the tap in a jiffy — or sterilize it in boiling water. No more dirty rags . . . just this wonderful C-I-L cellulose Sponge that's velvet-soft when wet and can be used as a chamois when rung out. (I even use one to wax my kitchen floor!) Just try it! Its soft texture is kind to your hands and the finest finish. Its square shape gets into corners to chase out the last speck of dirt. And it's wonderfully durable. Ask for C-I-L Sponges (in five convenient sizes) at your favourite drug, department, variety, hardware or grocery store . . . and be sure to look for the C-I-L label—it's your assurance of quality.

How Does She keep her suede pumps so new-looking? . . . is a question that can be answered nine times out of ten with three words . . . "MELTONIAN Suede Cleaner"! Yes, this internationally famous shoe cleaner is a favourite "buyword" of shoe-lovers everywhere! There's no need to let shabby shoes spoil the look of your costume . . . Meltonian Suede Cleaner is a pleasure to use. And such thoroughly beautiful results! So for suede shoes that you'll be proud to have people look at . . . keep Meltonian Cleaner always handy-to-use. You'll find it in the colours you want at your favourite department or shoe store.

Prepare Two Meal Desserts For Four-Member Families

By MARY MOORE

When fresh peaches are in season I relax on dessert preparation because peaches so often form the basis of our desserts in August and September.

But alas and alack, they are petering out now and becoming a bit woody. We even have harvested the two lone peaches from our own three-year-old tree that grew from a peach stone Pete threw out of his window.

No wonder I welcome this delicious sherbet, given to me by Anne M., and which she made for dinner when I was at their house last Sunday. If you make the full recipe it will fill two freezing trays three-quarters full and will serve dessert for two meals. If you reduce it by one-third it will fill one freezing tray.

✧ ✧ ✧

Anne's Fruit Sherbet

One and one-half bananas mashed, 1½ cups granulated sugar, juice of one and one-half lemons and three oranges, 1½ cups milk, generous shake of salt. Mix in order given and freeze with cold control very high. Chopped cherries, candied or maraschino, and nuts may be added to make this a party dessert that has the added advantage of being better when prepared a day ahead.

✧ ✧ ✧

October Peach Pudding

(This is delicious the first time served, also good cold or steamed to warm over.)

Nine large peaches, ½ cup sugar, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, 1-3 cup orange juice, 2¼ cups sifted pastry flour, 4½ teaspoons baking powder, ¾ teaspoon salt, 6 tablespoons cold shortening, 6 tablespoons brown sugar, 1-3 cup pecans or walnuts, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind, 1 or 2 eggs, 1-3 cup milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Slice peaches into large shallow buttered baking dish. Mix the first quantity of sugar and spices together and sprinkle over the peaches, and sprinkle the orange juice over this.

Make the batter by creaming the shortening with the sugar, then beating in the egg or eggs, and sifting over them the sifted dry ingredients and stirring them in with the milk and vanilla.

Drop batter over peaches in small spoonfuls and bake at 400 deg. Fahr. for about 20 minutes.

✧ ✧ ✧

Steamed Marmalade Pudding

This turns out light and fluffy but does a strange thing in the process—you put it on to steam looking pale and light looking. It comes out dark brown. It must be the action of the soda on the marmalade. Please note that if you do not have a steamer this may be steamed in the buttered top of your double boiler over the bottom of the double boiler, but lid must be left on for the full hour.

Cream together 3 tablespoons butter and 6 tablespoons sugar, then beat in 2 eggs for 5 minutes. Sift over it 2 teaspoons soda, ¾ cup flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, and stir this in, then add 3 tablespoons hot water and ¼ to 1-3 cup marmalade. Delicious with cream or spice sauce, hot or cold. You may use a rather moist jam instead of marmalade if you wish.

Home and School Association News

KING GEORGE SCHOOL

Regular meeting of King George Home and School Association was held Tuesday evening in the kindergarten room, Mrs. C. Ferguson, president, in the chair.

Muscial numbers by two pupils were well received. Michael Tunnycliffe sang two songs, accompanied by Barry Wills at the piano.

Mr. Murray Irwin and Dr. Russell Morgan, members of the Board of Education, were speakers for the evening, their subjects being "The Construction of a New Collegiate."

A clear report as to why a new collegiate was urgently needed was given by Mr. Irwin. There followed an interesting discussion in which Dr. Morgan answered many questions. Keen interest of the audience was shown by the fact that the question period lasted for some time.

The speakers were thanked by Mrs. Blake Bell. It was announced the November meeting would be "Open School."

The interesting and well attended meeting was brought to a close with the serving of refreshments.

Gets First Role On British Stage

By KAY REX

LONDON — (CP) — Canadians who remember Olga Landiak of London and Fort William, Ont., will be glad to know she has her feet on the first rung of the British theatrical ladder.

But the dark-haired girl who won top honors at the 1948 Dominion Drama Festival would like to return to Canada one day—"to be in at the beginning of Canadian professional theatre."

That was the first thing Olga said in a breathless telephone interview five minutes before she was due to go on stage at the Hippodrome Theatre in Ipswich, Suffolk.

Ipswich is the first stop in a tour of Britain which Olga is making with the Greenwich Players, lasting until Christmas time. It's her first job since she finished her course a month ago at London's Royal Academy of Dramatic Art.

She considers herself lucky to have clicked so soon.

Gets Important Role

"It's not the easiest thing to get a job right away," said the girl who two years ago charmed Canadian theatre-goers with her portrayal of Saint Joan in the play by George Bernard Shaw. "Some of the students have to wait six months or more".

Olga plays Lucie, the only female part in Jean-Paul Sartre's "Men Without Shadows," a heavy drama about French resistance. It's the favorite type of role for this young Canadian actress who won the best actress award for her portrayal of Saint Joan in the 1948 Festival. That performance also won her a two-year scholarship, given by London Little Theatre, to study at the Academy.

Olga says it isn't easy for Canadians to break into theatre over here. On the other hand, they have an advantage over Americans because they can work without a permit.

She'd like to leave Britain for Canada the moment professional theatre really gets under way in the Dominion. That moment will come, she thinks, just as soon as the people are ready to support it

DOROTHY DIX

How Can Girl Pop Question To Backward Boyfriend?

DEAR MISS DIX: For a long time I have been in love with a man whom I have every reason to believe loves me, but for some reason he has never asked me to marry him. Maybe he is timid. Maybe he thinks I won't be satisfied to live on what he could give me. Maybe he is one of those men who just let things rock along if they are going fairly well and who is content to let a pleasant relationship exist as it is. But, anyway, I want to know where I stand. I don't want to waste my life in waiting on a man whose attentions are without intentions, so I have made up my mind to pop the question to him. But how shall I do it? What does a girl say when she proposes? She can't just walk up and ask for a wedding ring like she would a job. Help me out.

Dorothy Dix

JEANIE

ANSWER: I doubt that anyone can give any advice about how to pop the question that will help any because the idea of a girl asking a man to marry her is so new that women have not had time to develop a technicque in handling the situation.

Letter Least Embarrassing

Of course, the least embarrassing way for a girl to propose is by letter. It is lots easier to slop over on paper than it is when you are close together. That saves the girl's face in case the man says "no," but it also gives him a better chance to decline.

Also, it does away with the personal touch, which is about nine-tenths of the game in marriage. With the girl a thousand miles away it is easy enough to weigh her good qualities and decide whether they are worth giving up one's bachelor freedom for them. But with a pretty girl within easy arm's reach telling you how she loves you and how handsome and wonderful you are and how she will devote her whole life to making you happy, it is another proposition altogether.

Of course, you can go as far as you like with sentimental stuff, but you've got also to make him believe that you are the only one who really understands him, that you can make better bread than his mother and that two can live cheaper than one.

But, above all, be careful in choosing the psychological moment in which to pop the question. Wait until sometime when he is sitting across a table in your own apartment, replete with home-cooked food and filled with thoughts of domesticity. Or wait until sometime when he is down on his luck and wants some woman's shoulder to cry on and some woman to baby him, and he will be yours for the taking.

But however you propose, daughter, you'll do it better than a man would. So go to it.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: How should girls working in public and private offices conduct themselves? How should they dress? What should be their attitude toward their employer and the other men in the office?

JAUNITA

ANSWER: A girl working in an office should be a happy combination of a lady and a businessman, if you get what I mean. I mean that she should be dignified, yet gracious; prudent, but not prude; easy to get along with, yet not fresh and bold in her manner; easy on the eyes, yet not dolled up like she was going to a party.

Nobody wants a girl employee around who expects to have as many gallant attentions paid her by the men with whom she works as if she were in a drawing room, or who gets insulted if her work is criticized, or her employer smokes in her presence. But neither do they want a girl around who is hail-fellow-well-met with every fresh salesman.

As to clothes, she should dress the part of the business girl and not get herself up as if she was going to an afternoon tea. This doesn't mean that she needs be a frump. It only means that she should leave off the jingling jewelry and the doodads. And particularly it means that she should make up her face before she comes to work instead of spending time restoring her complexion in office hours.

Her attitude toward her employer should be a strictly business one. She should not try to make sex take the place of good work, and it is no part of her job to sympathize with him because he is married to a wife who does not understand him.

She should make the other men in the office keep their place. An office flirtation may get her a date, but it is sure to lose her a job.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a boy on the verge of getting married and I want to know if I should invite my father to my wedding. He has been guilty of every crime short of murder. Five years ago he deserted my mother and us children and left us to starve. By the hardest of work we children have got on our feet and are able to support our mother, but no thanks to him and no help from him. Is it my duty to have him at my wedding when he shirked his duty to us?

ANSWER: Certainly not. When a father ignores his responsibility to his children he forfeits any claim he has upon them. It is not your duty to support him when he comes to you, as he surely will, old and broken with dissipation and disease, and call upon you to take care of him because he is your father.

Potatoes On Half Shell For Lunch

Every cook wants new ideas now and then or wants some good suggestions for old ideas. But of all things, potatoes, which most households serve at least once a day, demand the most originality in order to keep them welcome.

"250 Ways of Serving Potatoes," the thirteenth in the series of 24 cookbooks being made available to readers of this newspaper, is a storehouse of new and unusual as well as tried and true methods of preparing potatoes.

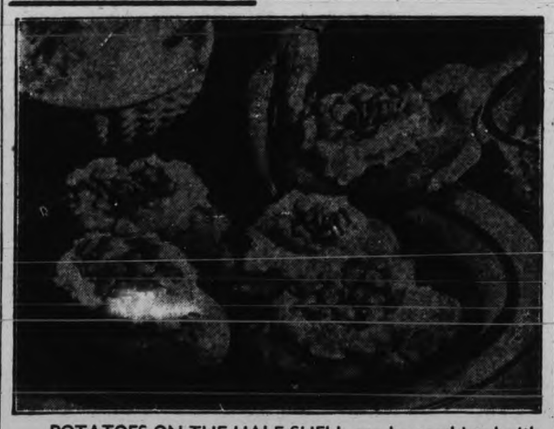
The Potato Book has so many unusual recipes and exciting photographic illustrations to give new serving ideas that it is hard to pick any one recipe as the best. You will want to try page after page of luscious concoctions. But here is a particularly simple way of fixing potatoes. It can also be adapted to using up leftovers, as extra baked potatoes, if scooped out and mashed while still warm, are especially good fixed this way, and leftover vegetables can be spread thin to cover the tops and add color and nutriment:

Potatoes On The Half Shell

6 medium potatoes
2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup hot milk

Bake potatoes as for Baked Potatoes. Cut lengthwise into halves Scoop out the inside, being careful not to break the shell. Mash thoroughly, add butter, salt, pepper and hot milk; beat until fluffy. Pile mixture lightly into shell; do not smooth down the top. Return to hot oven (450 degrees F) and brown lightly on top. Serves 6 or 12.

Small bits of pimiento, stuffed olives or grated cheese may be sprinkled over top or added to potato mixture.



Stuffed Potatoes

Add ½ cup peanut butter and two stiffly beaten egg whites to the potato mixture; proceed as above.

Fold 1 cup cooked fresh Lima beans and ½ cup grated cheese into mashed potatoes before refilling shells. Or fill shells with potatoes and cheese, then arrange Lima beans on top.

To get your copy of the Potato Book clip a coupon from page 2 of any issue of this newspaper, and present it with 25c at the Examiner Office or to your Examiner carrier or at Braund's Home Food Markets. Or send the coupon and 30c (5c additional for postage and handling) to Cookbook Department, Examiner, Peterborough, and your copy will be mailed to you.

COOKBOOK OF THE WEEK

POTATOES ON THE HALF SHELL can be combined with cooked vegetables or ride on their own merit with just a sprinkling of cheese on top for color and flavor.

Mission Circles' Leaders Hold Annual Fall Rally

Annual rally of Mission Circles in the Peterborough Presbytery was held Wednesday evening at George St. United Church, commencing with dinner served by girls of the Sunday school.

Chairman was Mrs. George Hill, secretary of Mission Circles. Welcome to the church was given by the Rev. A. A. Mathews; greetings from the Dominion board extended by Mrs. F. W. K. Harris, and from the Presbytery by President Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe, Hastings.

Miss Mignon Mayneord entertained with two whistling solos, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Mildred Hubble. A sing song was led by Miss Gladys Langton.

It was decided to send a delegate to the school for leaders at Whitby. Mrs. B. E. Ingham of Millbrook, who attended last year, gave an extremely interesting report. She stressed the friendliness and companionship which exists there and expressed regret that Mission Circle study groups are not largely attended. She included human interest items about the people from other countries whom she worked with there.

The "efficiency contest" was won for the fourth successive year by Millbrook circle, but the Mission Circle banner and the right it gives to the group holding it to send next year's delegate to the school was declined by the president, Mrs. Hobbs. The banner was then given to St. James' Jean Wagar Circle, which placed second, and accepted by the president, Miss Langton. The presentation was made by Mrs. W. H. Morton.

Books available for circle reading on Japan, the country to be studied in the present year, were introduced by Mrs. Arnold Noftall, literature secretary.

Worship service was by Mark St. Circle, led by Miss Shirley Aker. The Junior Circle of St James' presented a two-act pageant entitled "The Letter," telling the story of a young Canadian missionary in India during the last war. The play was directed by Miss Jessie Martin, and, ow[illegible] commencement meeting.

A vote of thanks to all taking part in the rally was extended by Miss Constance Wagar.

Macphail-Leonard

A pretty wedding was solemnized in the Church of the Immaculate Conception Saturday when Shirley Leonard, only daughter of Mr. George R. Leonard of Boston, Mass., became the bride of Douglas Macphail, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Macphail, Peterboroguh.

The altar was decorated with gold and bronze chrysanthemums and the nuptial table centred with Talisman roses. The Rev. James Greenan officiated. The Wedding March was played by Mrs. Cyril O'Donnell.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown was of white slipper satin with sweeping circular skirt and train. The yoke and Queen Ann collar were of chantilly lace with fastening of satin covered buttons. The hipline was girded with a wide applique of the same lace. She wore a white satin pleated crown with finger-tip veil designed in French embroidery, and carried a cascade of American Beauty roses, orange blossoms and Scotch heather.

The Misses Joan Clancy and Marie Hynes were her bridesmaids. They were in gold satin dresses made with sweetheart neckline, fitted bodice, cap sleeves and tiered skirts. Their hats, mittens and muffs were of rust velvet, and the muffs were decorated with gold and bronze chrysanthemums.

The groom was attended by Mr. William Thomas. The ushers were Leon Leonard and George Macphail, brothers of the bride and groom.

Mr. Anthony DeNoble and Mr. Maurice Leonard were soloists during the mass and the signing of the register.

Numerous Plans Made By Silver Cross

Silver Cross Chapter members turned out in gratifying number Wednesday evening at the YWCA, in spite of unfavorable weather, for the first fall meeting. Various plans for the coming year were discussed and many ideas put forth.

A weekly gift of flowers for the hospital chapel is to be given by individuals or from the flower fund, and Mrs. Burnham, 5 Cricket Place, is to be called regarding arrangements. A table at the market hall will be secured for Saturday, October 28, by Mrs. T. Henry, ways and means convener, and all members are requested to send her supplies of home cooking and candy for the sale.

It was moved that each member be responsible for a table of cards at their homes and a roll call at the next meeting will be answered with $1 from each member. It is thus hoped to have money to cover regular expenses and to help in dispensing cheer to disabled veterans at Christmas time.

A plan to give children of disabled veterans and children of the fallen a week at outdoor camp next summer was unanimously agreed upon.

Mrs. Elizabeth Pruner is to place the wreath on the war memorial for Remembrance Day, Nov. 11.

President Mrs. B. W. Harvey conducted the meeting and announced that a speaker will be invited to the next meeting on Nov. 8.

Oil Smuggled From Burma

RANGOON, Burma, Oct. 12 — (AP)—The Burmese government today confirmed that large quantities of oil are being smuggled from Burma into Communist China via the wartime Burma Road.

A Burmese official told reporters his government is taking a "very serious view" of the smuggling and has called on all foreign importers to account for recent sales, reported to have increased by 300 per cent.

Using New Rat Poison Less Toxic To Humans

A new rat poison is being used experimentally by the Board of Health in insect and vermin control. Commenting on this experiment at the board meeting Wednesday, R. M. MacPherson, sanitary inspector, explained that it is much less toxic to humans than many other poisons and shows promise of being very effective.

"It was used in six cases of rat infestations this month and the results were quite satisfactory," stated Mr. MacPherson.

A newcomer to this district, the large black oriental roach, was reported by Mr. MacPherson in the only instance of cockroach infestation in August to come to his attention.

The cockroach that usually invades this district is the familiar German brown roach. "We have been relatively free of this pest since the intrduction several years ago of a certain chlorinated hydrocarbon as an insecticide," reported Mr. MacPherson.

Forget Squabble Magistrate Advises Family

"I suggest you go home and forget about this," Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, advised members of the Howard family of Hiawatha appearing in court in the trial of Mrs. Viola Howard charged with assaulting her eight-year-old nephew John Howard. He dismissed the charge.

Mother of the boy, Olive Howard, said she heard her son crying out the morning of Sept. 30 in the yard outside her mother's house.

She looked out a window and saw Mrs. Viola Howard slapping the boy who was lying on the ground. Then, she testified, Mrs. Viola Howard kicked the boy in the face. She ran downstairs to see the woman chasing her boy up the road.

She said she had asked her sister-in-law, Mrs. Viola Howard to keep an eye on her one son Raymond while she was in hospital. She had returned from the hospital just a few days before the affair and was still in bed.

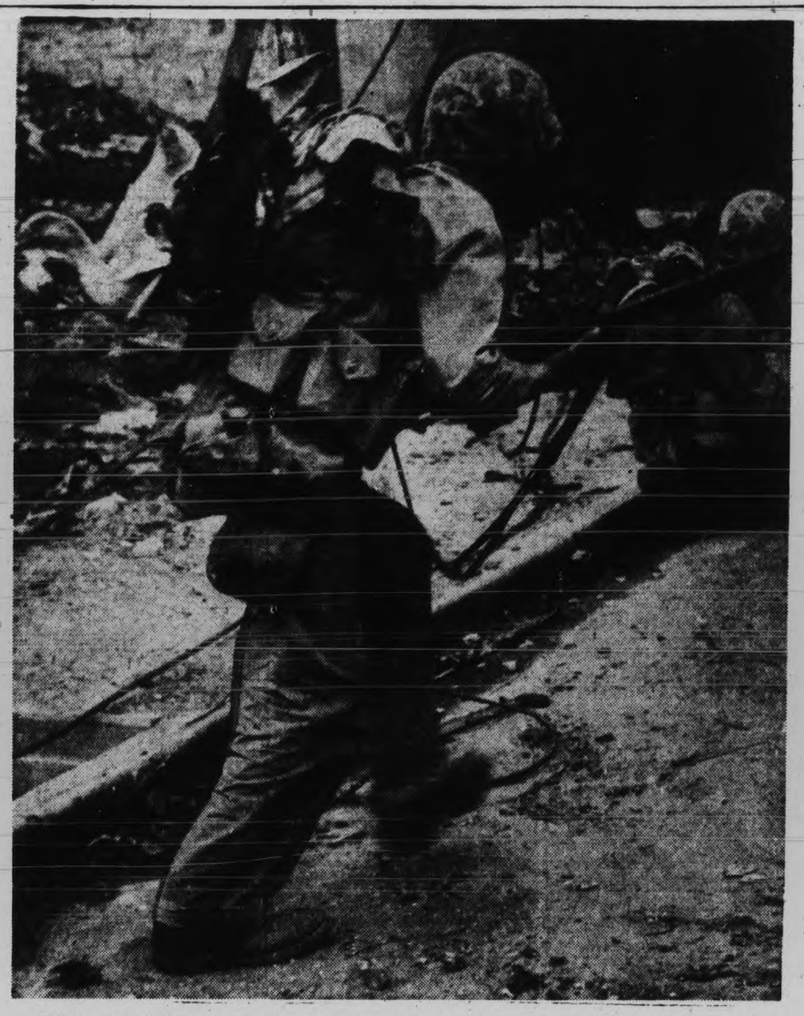
Raymond previously had nearly pushed his four-year-old cousin, George, into the water from a wharf and the youngster couldn't swim. But she said she had given Mrs. Viola Howard no authority over her son John.

Mrs. Eliza Howard corroborated her daughter's evidence.

Mrs. Viola Howard told the court her sister-in-law had told her to watch over all her children while she was in hospital. The morning of the affair, she saw John with his arms around her son George's waist dragging him to the end of the dock.

She chased him up to her mother-in-law's house and there shook him by the shoulders warning him not to throw the youngster in the water. She denied slapping John or kicking him. She also denied chasing John up the road. She said she was merely walking to a neighbor's to get a boat for her husband.

Attends Launching



ST. NAZAIRE, France, Oct. 12 (Reuters)—The widow of Gen. Jacques Philippe Leclerc Wednesday attended the launching of a liner named after her husband. The ship, General Leclerc, which will be used on the France-Africa run, was named in honor of the general who early in the second world war led his force on a 1,600-mile trek from Lake Chad into Libya.

Interest Of Labor Noted In Civic Affairs

"When the city council is appointing sub-committees to make recommendations in matters of concern to the people of Peterborough, such committees should consist of elected members of the council only, and permanent city employees should act in a consultative capacity only."

That was the substance of a resolution by Peterborough and District Labor Council which was sent to the city council by their secretary, Lorne Bebee.

Another section requested that a licence be issued to Dick Ouimet, an expression of support in the controversy recently settled by the council's adoption of the bylaw it originally planned.

Finance committee of the council discussed the main point of the letter Tuesday, and decided that all they could do was to acknowledge it and note the interest of the Labor Council in the city's affairs.

Where the exchange has not been covered by forward purchase, the importer can get an additional import licence and extra exchange authority to cover the increased cost.

Renew Efforts To Secure Health Clinic

Renewed efforts to establish a mental health clinic in Peterborough will be made by the Board of Health, E. A. Outram, city clerk, was authorized by the board members at their meeting Wednesday to write to the Ontario Minister of Health requesting that a mental health clinic be established in this city.

Dr. R. A. Kelly, medical officer of health, told the board that the Provincial Department of Health had been approached during past years, but there was no personnel available at those times.

"With the exception of travelling clinics from Whitby and Cobourg, doctors and social workers in the city have had no local psychiatric assistance," he stated.

Commenting on the benefits of a mental clinic, Dr. Kelly explained that it would greatly assist school teachers, doctors, and social workers. "Mental clinics have been established in Ottawa and St. Catharines," he said. "The province pays the salaries of the personnel and the municipalities provide accommodations for these clinics."

Relieved Nervous, Upset Stomach, Gastritis, Acid Indigestion and Backache. Sleeps Better and Has More Energy Now.

Convincing proof of the grand results to be had by taking Syntona is found in the many splendid reports received daily from grateful men and women who have used this pure herbal compound. These people tell of long years of suffering with stomach disorders, sluggish kidneys or liver, constipation, dizzy spells, backache, headaches and rheumatic pains. Today, we quote the experience of Mrs. V. Folsom, 76 Burlington Street West, Hamilton, as reported only a few days ago:

"For years I suffered with distressing stomach disorders. Food I ate would not digest properly, but would ferment and cause gas, acidity, heartburn and cramps. I was subject to backache, my nerves were easily upset and I slept poorly.

"After trying various remedies without any success, I began taking Syntona a few weeks ago, and now I am happy to say I feel better than I did in years previously. Right from the first I could tell it was helping my stomach, and as I kept on taking it, my appetite improved and I got relief from all that gas and indigestion. I am not troubled with backache now, my nerves are relaxed, I sleep better and I have more energy."

Recall Whitehall Originally Glittering Royal Palace

By MURIEL PENN

LONDON, Oct. 12 (Reuters)—To millions of people the world over, Whitehall is known as the "home" of the British government. To thousands of tourists it may be known best as the home of the Horse Guards' mounted sentries with plumed helmets.

But few of those who daily gaze on the Horse Guards, or wait outside the Prime Minister's home in Downing Street during a crisis, realize they are within the precincts of what was once a royal palace.

Today a wide modern street is bordered by imposing stone-faced buildings which house the main government offices. In another century, Queen Elizabeth on the same spot listened to the flattery of her courtiers.

Here King Charles I was beheaded and soon afterwards Oliver Cromwell stayed the destructive hands of his Puritan followers and saved some of the royal treasures.

Makes Impression

In Whitehall Palace were staged the ceremonies and celebrations inaugurating the wild days of the restoration and the reign of licentious Charles II. In the great palace which today affords desk space for innumerable government clerks, Charles II established a court "which for splendor and dignity impressed even those accustomed to the magnificence of the court of Louis XIV of France."

It is the same palace which was destroyed by a disastrous fire started by a careless Dutch laundress who herself perished in the flames.

There was a recent reminder of Henry VIII when, so that valuable building space should not be wasted, the Tudor wine cellar was moved bodily. Not a brick was disturbed during the whole operation, which saw the cellar moved sideways on rollers, then lowered on screwjacks to a point almost directly beneath the original site.

Navy Batters 4 Ports In N. Korea

Shells Hit Targets At 7 Tons Minute, Cripple Supply Lines

TOKYO, Oct. 13—(CP)—Destroyers of the Royal Canadian Navy, part of a force of 37 United Nations warships, today hammered at North Korean targets in a seaborne strike against Communist supply lines.

The Naval War Release issued at Tokyo did not identify the destroyers but it indicated that two of the three Canadian warships in Korean waters took part in the bombardment.

The release said ships in the bombardment group incuded the British cruiser Ceylon "and British, Australian and Canadian light forces in addition to the (U.S.) battleship Missouri and the U.S.S. Worcester."

Canadian ships in Korean waters are the destroyers Cayuga, Sioux and Athabaskan. The Sioux commanded by Cmdr. Paul Taylor of Victoria, BC, was in action off Korea's west coast Wednesday night. This would indicate that the Cayuga, under Capt. J. V. Brock of Winnipeg and the Athabaskan, under Cmdr. R. P. Welland of McCreary, Man., took part in today's action.

Very Few Details

The war release was also bare of details of the actual part taken by Canadian ships in the bombardment but destroyers, because of the comparatively short range of their 4.7-inch guns, often are employed for close-in work, such as hitting enemy shore batteries and smaller targets ashore.

They are also used for screening the bigger ships such as battleships and aircraft carriers.

Speculation still persisted that the combined naval big-gun carrier-plane strike — the second in two days far up the Korean east coast — might lead to an Allied landing.

There was no report, however, that such an amphibious attack was in progress or in prospect. Military news sources in the Korean fighting were abnormally quiet.

Death brushed by an 18-months-old boy and his mother at Cavan CPR station, Wednesday noon.

The boy, Tommy Wilcox, was pushed from the path of an unscheduled diesel-pulled freight by his mother, Mrs. Thomas Wilcox, wife of the telegraph operator.

Both fell just outside the tracks, the mother on top of the son.

"The train looked as if it was only about six inches away," Mrs. Wilcox said. "But I don't remember anything much about it. I blacked out when I fell on top of Tommy."

Tommy and his brother Wayne, 2½, had been locked in the house Wednesday morning with strict orders to stay there. Somehow, they unlocked the door and their mother didn't know they were out "until I heard the diesel's horn and looked up the track. I saw the train coming, and looked to the west of the station and Tommy was standing there.

Standing On Track

"I guess he was fascinated by the train. It's bright yellow and has a horn like a car. He just stood there, holding onto the handle of his little red wagon.

"I didn't have time to think. I had to unlock two doors to get out to the platform and then I ran to where Tommy was. I pushed him off the track and tripped over the handle of the wagon, and fell on top of him.

"That's about all I knew until I heard the brakes go on. I guess if if I'd stopped to think I might have frozen there. and just looked at him. And if I hadn't tripped over the wagon, I would have been right in the path of the train."

Mrs. Wilcox, a slight, dark woman, seemed calm today in telling her story. But on Wednesday afternoon, she said, it was a different matter. "I didn't feel any shock until the engineer and the trainmen started asking me what had happened. Then I began to shake, and I spent all that afternoon in bed."

That night, she said, Wayne was still frightened, and woke up screaming whenever a train went through. Tommy, on the other hand, wasn't bothered by trains, but refused to go near his wagon.

The wagon was completely smashed by the train, and today, the two youngsters have a new pup to play with instead of the wagon. Mrs. Wilcox says they seem to have forgotten all about how close death was to them.

Will Go Away

"You know," she said, "My husband, Tom, and I were just thinking on Monday that we should send Tommy down to my sister's place in Madoc. We thought it would be a safer place for him there. He'll go now for sure."

The Wilcoxes have been living at Cavan since July. Before that, her husband worked with the CPR in Peterborough.

Engineer on the diesel was Arthur Widdersback, of Lambton.

Police Charge UK Sailor Takes Dispatch Box, Recovered In Garbage Can

Scotland Yard Denies Secret Papers Gone
Report Box Vanishes From Room of Diplomatic Corps Marshal

LONDON, Oct. 13—(AP)—A British seaman was accused tonight of breaking into Buckingham Palace and stealing a dispatch box. He was identified in an official statement from Scotland Yard as Douglas Monro, 26, of London. The announcement came a few hours after the police confirmed press reports that a diplomatic box which vanished from the Palace turned up early today in a nearby garbage can. Denying London newspaper reports that the box was broken open and important secret papers stolen, Scotland Yard said it was recovered intact. The police also asserted the box contained no State secrets.

The announcement that Monro had been detained said:

"Douglas Monro, aged 26, seaman, of Swinton Street, Kings Cross, late of Grafton Townhead, Glasgow, will be charged tonight with burglariously breaking and entering Buckingham Palace this morning and stealing a dispatch box."

It was not disclosed immediately whether Monro was the man found in the palace grounds earlier in the day by detectives investigating the disappearance of the box.

Formally Charged

A few minutes after the Scotland Yard announcement Monro was taken into the Cannon Row police station and formally charged. He will appear at the Bow Street Court Saturday morning.

Sensational accounts of the incident in the London press had led Scotland Yard to issue in mid-afternoon a statement saying:

"No state papers have been stolen from the diplomatic box which has been missed from Buckingham Palace. It has been recovered intact.

"It contained only correspondence and no state paper or secret documents."

The official statement left the question open as to how the box happened to turn up in garbage can outside the palace early today.

Farmer Wounds His Wife, Then Suicides

CHAFFEY'S LOCKS, Ont., Oct. 13 (CP)—Police said today that Wilfred Regan, 51-year-old farmer, killed himself with a .22-calibre rifle after wounding his wife, Hilda, 48, with the same weapon.

The shooting occurred Thursday at this summer resort village 35 miles east of Kingston.

Police said Regan was released from a mental hospital two weeks ago after a three-month stay there. Coroner N. W. Kerr of nearby Elgin declared his death due to suicide and said there will be no inquest.

At hospital in Kingston, Mrs. Regan today was reported in satisfactory condition. She had a bullet wound in her right temple and minor cuts about the head and arms.

Run Tourist Business

Besides operating a large farm, the Regans ran a summer tourist business.

Police said Regan arose about 6 a.m. Thursday. About an hour later, he took the rifle into their bedroom and confronted her. In the struggle that followed, Mrs. Regan was shot in the head but managed to escape from the house.

Clad only in a nightgown, she ran a mile to seek help at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Thomas Davis. She and Mrs. Davis returned to the Regan home and found Regan lying in a pool of blood on the bedroom floor, the rifle a few feet away.

French Abandon Third Fort Retreat Before Communists

SAIGON, Indo-China, Oct. 13—(AP)—The French today announced abandonment of the key bastion of Thatkhe, opening another gap in their weakening defence line along the China-Indo-China frontier. It was the third frontier fort abandoned or lost by the French within a month. The withdrawal left some 300 miles of the frontier open to the Vietminh guerrillas of Communist leader Ho Chi Minh.

A military spokesman said the Thatkhe Garrison withdrew from the post Tuesday night toward Langson, French frontier headquarter fortress 50 miles to the southeast.

The frontier withdrawals by the French began after the Vietminh in September overran the post of Dongkhe, 60 miles northwest of Langson. Oct. 3 the French abandoned Caobang, another major outpost 100 miles northwest of Langson.

Caught In Mountains

The garrison withdrawing from Caobang and a screening column from Thatkhe were caught in mountainous country by Vietminh forces and most of the 3,500 French and colonial troops were lost. Since then observers had feared an attack on the Thatkhe might result in a similarly disastrous withdrawal.

Abandonment of Thatkhe left only three main garrisons on the mountainous frontier between China and North Vietnam.

The spokesman said he had no information that the withdrawing Thatkhe garrison was being harassed by Vietminh guerrillas but said he believed the weather was good and that the French air force, in strength, was covering the "delicate and urgent" withdrawal operation.

A security silence blanketed the details of the Thatkhe withdrawal. The French did not reveal the strength of the garrison or what forces might be covering the retreat.

Canada Likely Get More Orders

OTTAWA, Oct. 13 (CP) — A government source said Thursday that additional United States gun orders are in prospect for Canada if the current $10,000,000 order placed at Sorel, Que., works out satisfactorily.

The order, announced Wednesday, brings to $14,000,000 the amount of armaments the United States has indicated it will purchase in Canada under the 1950 reciprocal arms deal.

It is expected that within the next few weeks American orders for chemicals and other items will increase the total to about $17,000,000.

Canada, on the other hand, this year will buy about $75,000,000 worth of aircraft and parts and vehicles from the U.S.

"The reciprocal deal, agreed to earlier this year, does not mean that the U.S. will match Canadian purchases dollar for dollar," the informant said. Canadian orders will be a great deal larger than those of the U.S. However, the U.S. is picking up steam We expect increases as plans develop.

London Frees Dollar

LONDON, Oct. 13—(Reuters)—The Canadian dollar will be on a free market in London, as it now is in Canada and the U.S., starting Monday, Oct. 16, it was announced today. The Bank of England will cease to fix a daily rate for it. Instead the rate will fluctuate in accordance with supply and demand.

Frantic Travellers Swamp U.S. Embassy

LONDON, Oct. 13 — (CP) — More than 300 frantic travellers swamped the United States Embassy today with queries about a temporary suspension of visas.

The suspension was ordered from Washington to give embassies abroad a chance to screen emigrants for Communist, Nazi or Fascist leanings in conformity with a law passed by the last session of Congress.

The embassy notified all air transport and shipping lines that alien passengers must return their visas for "revalidation."

In Paris the visa section of the U.S. Embassy was also swamped this morning with persons seeking revalidation of their visas.

Truman On Way To Conference

EN ROUTE TO HAWAII WITH PRESIDENT TRUMAN, Oct. 13—(AP) — An unusually-taciturn President Truman winged his way over Pacific waters today to Honolulu, last stop on a 6,500-mile flight to map Far Eastern strategy with Gen. MacArthur.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross said the site of the widely-heralded meeting with MacArthur will be made known to reporters today, probably for publication.

Presidential party members have been saying the meeting will be held at Wake Island It will cover the final phases of United Nations actions in Korea, including reconstruction and rehabilitation of that war-torn country, and strategy to counter increasing Communist threats in the Far East, including the menace to Indo-China.

Woman Worried About 50 Cats

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 13—(AP)—Mrs. Hazel Anderson, 55, sought a new home today for 50 cats, three dogs and a flock of chickens after being evicted from a three-room retreat for stray animals.

"We must find a place for the cats," Mrs. Anderson said at dawn after an all-night vigil over her flock and furniture in front of the building. "The poor little cats are hungry. They didn't get their supper last night."

A Deputy Constable moved Mrs. Anderson and her furnishings from the three-room frame house late Thursday. The property had been involved in court actions since it was sold in 1947.

Mrs. Anderson had lived in the house five years as caretaker for the Cat's Friends Club, Inc., an organization devoted to providing for vagrant felines.

Mrs. Anderson also kept four hens for eggs and last spring added 25 baby chicks to the coop. Unable to say no to a homeless animal, she also had let in three dogs.

Wounds Professor Gets 6-Year Term

TORONTO, Oct. 13 (CP)—John Bigelow, 20, today was sentenced to sixty ears on a charge of wounding a university of Western Ontario professor and causing grievous bodily harm.

Bigelow was convicted last Wednesday of stabbing John McRae, 38. In the home McRae had rented here for the summer. Bigelow said he was defending himself with a butcher knife from a homosexual attack McRae denied the charge.

An Assize Court Jury earlier acquitted Bigelow of an attempted murder charge.

Conservatives Force Heads Promise 50% More Housing

BLACKPOOL, England, Oct. 13 (AP)—With a shouting, foot-stamping demonstration, rank-and-file Conservatives forced their leaders today to sign an election promise to increase Britain's housing program at least 50 per cent.

For the first time in this annual party conference, the rank-and-file rose in wrath against their cautious leaders and forced commitments to definite program.

The Labor government now permits the building of 200,000 new houses a year. The Tories promised in their resolution to construct a minimum of 300,000 a year if they win at the next election.

The demonstration today was far more riotous than the protest over continued housing shortages which swept through the Labor party conference last week.

But the deep feeling expressed at both major party conventions clearly showed housing is the foremost political issue in Britain.

In another action today, the Conservatives clung to their long-held belief of high protective tariffs for products that compete with British goods. They approved a resolution demanding continuation of high tariffs against agricultural products from France, Holland, Italy and other continental countries.

They had approved Thursday continuation of Empire preference tariffs under which goods from Commonwealth and Empire countries are charged much lower duties than goods from other countries.

New Trial Ordered For Adelard Latour

OTTAWA, Oct. 13 (CP)—The Supreme Court of Canada today ordered a new trial for Adelard Latour, sentenced to be hanged Nov. 15 for the knife-slaying of Mrs. Cecile Rainville of Sudbury, Ont.

The court ordered the new trial on the grounds that the jury at the original trial was misdirected by the judge—Mr. Justice D. P. J. Kelly of the Ontario Supreme Court.

That's Hard To Believe!

Find It Difficult To Get Rid of Billion

OTTAWA, Oct. 13 —(CP)—A government agency says it's not the easiest thing in the world to get rid of $1,500,000,000.

It has taken five years of prolonged and many-sided negotiation and occasional litigation to rid the government of nearly all that amount in the shape of foreign-owned assets seized after the outbreak of war in 1939.

But, says the office of the custodian of enemy property, there's still some $55,000,000 worth of assets to jettison and it's going to be a hard, long job.

The assets consisted of real estate, bank balances, securities, even one circus, which automatically were taken over by the crown in 1939 or later by law.

They belonged to two classes of people, what officials call belligerent enemies and technical enemies. The former were Germans, Italians, Japanese, and their belongings were far less valuable than those of the other class, that is people whose countries were over-run and ruled by the Germans and their allies.

Handed Back

It was possible even for goods belonging to a Canadian caught, say, in Belgium to be seized and held and finally returned by the custodian, nominally State Secretary Bradley but in effect members of a special branch of his staff.

At its peak, the value of the assets ran to $1,500,000,000, but the great bulk of them have been restored to their owners. Last year the value of those handed back was $53,000,000. Of the $55,000,000 still to be disposed of at the end of 1949, only $15,000,000 belonged to Germans and Japanese and $40,000,000 to technical enemies, including some behind the Iron Curtain.

Until peace treaties are signed, the German and Japanese assets are frozen, with the odd exception of a compassionate case which is allowed through. Since Canada herself has large war-damage claims against those countries, the final settlement may be a complex one.

Officials say the whole thing is a complex job. Case after case requires careful examination and long negotiations to establish identity and rights. Canada's policy is to return the assets to the owner and this brings on more complications in countries whose governments feel they should be turned back to the governments, not the individuals.

Baby Born With Tail British Doctor Reports

LONDON, Oct. 13 (AP)—The case of a baby born with a tail which he could twitch like an angry cat was reported today in the British Medical Journal.

The baby's anxious mother took him to a London hospital at the age of 11 months. The tail was then just more than three inches long when pulled out to its full length.

"When released it would contract, curl on itself, resembling the tail of a pig, and then relax and flick from side to side," wrote P. J. Blaxland, surgical registrar at the great Ormond Street Children's Hospital.

A surgeon removed the tail and the baby now is normal.

Free Trips To UK At Stake In Plowing Tilt

ALLISTON, Oct. 13 — (CP) — Coveted free trips to the United Kingdom are at stake today, last days of the 37th international plowing match.

Only Ontario county champions in horse and tractor classes are eligible for the competition. Top man in each division receives the expense-paid trip to visit and compete in plowing matches, to study agricultural methods, and do a little sight-seeing on the side.

Spectators here picked favorites in each division. It appeared to be a five-way contest in the tractor event among Frank Ford of Haldimand County, Robert Erle Tuckey, Lambton, Hugh Leslie, Halton, Lorne Passmore, of Huron, and H. J. Copperwaite of Uxbridge.

Behind the horse, choices were Howard Fiss of Haldimand, Stan May, Halton, Marvin Johnson, Grey, Harley Timbers, York.

Another big competition today was the open tractor division of intercounty competition. Open to two-man teams of plowboys under 20, winners and runners-up get a trip to the 1950 Chicago Livestock Exposition.

Similar Contest

A similar contest was held on Thursday in the horses division, for conservation and agriculture trips to the United States.

Winners of all three contests will be announced tonight at the prize presentation banquet at Beeton, 10 miles south of here. Guest speaker will be Premier Frost.

Commenting on the increased use of tractors for plowing, President Roy Shaver of the Ontario Plowmen's Association, sponsors of the match, said Thursday there is "still more art and finish to a field tilled by a team of horses."

Former horse-plowing champion of Stormont county, Mr. Shaver said: "A teamster has to do everything with his hands. Even with all his gadgets, a tractor man can't open and finish his land exactly right."

Hunt Wild Dog Pack Killing Two Cows

BELLEVILLE, Oct. 13 (CP)—Farmers today organized to hunt down a pack of wild dogs blamed for chasing two cows owned by Franklin Larkin of Tyendinaga township, 15 miles east of here, until the cows dropped dead from exhaustion. Another cow from the 13-animal herd reported chased by the dogs is not expected to live.

While the cows were at pasture, the dogs emerged from a swamp and chased them a half mile to a barn. Phil Shannon, a neighbor, drove off the dogs too late to save the two cattle.

Potato Growers See Gardiner In Ottawa

OTTAWA, Oct. 13 — (CP)— Canadian potato growers Thursday placed their case for price support squarely before Agricultural Minister Gardiner, but there were no indications that their request would be granted.

A delegation of potato-grower representatives met with Mr. Gardiner in a wind-up meeting of a two-day conference called to deal with a deteriorating market for the agricultural product, especially in the Maritimes area.

Pearson Lauds Three-Way Deal

NEW YORK, Oct. 13—(CP)—L. B. Pearson said Thursday night that one of the brighest signs for eventual world peace is the partnership which has grown up between Britain, the United States and Canada.

Canada's external affairs minister said that while the three countries have other partnerships, the informal partnership makes for special opportunities and responsibilities.

In an address prepared for delivery to a meeting of the Pilgrims Society of the United States at the Plaza Hotel, Pearson said the world is going through a "period of great conflict" when there are moments of perplexity in the search for security and peace.

One of the brighest of reassuring signs that the task is not hopeless, Pearson said, "is the new and strong partnership which, in our time, has grown up between the United Kingdom, the United States and Canada."

Canada appreciated her good fortune in escaping the "pushing and squeezing" to which countries in less fortunate parts of the world were subjected by their "powerful neighbors," he said.

"We hope that in Washington they also appreciate their good fortune in having neighbors who are happy to tell them, frankly and in the American idiom, when they are going off the rails in their international policies."

Seven Tons a Minute

Shells from "The Mighty Mo's" 16-inch guns crashed onto coastal targets at more than seven tons a minute. Canadian, British, Australian and other American warships were in the naval force commanded by Vice-Admiral Arthur D. Strubble aboard the Missouri.

The targets were port and rail lines and anything else that remains to support the Communist Korean war effort on routes into North Korea from China and Russia.

Heavier Resistance

On the ground fronts, Allied spearheads met increasingly-heavy resistance in their push toward Pyongyang, the Red capital near the west coast. Two Communist divisions were reported racing from the Ongjin peninsula to help the defenders of Kumchon, 75 miles southeast of Pyongyang.

The naval pounding extended from Songjin northward beyond the flaming iron-and-steel port of Chongjin.

The mighty Mo spread death and destruction with 800,000 pounds of shells fired in less than an hour in the opening bombardment at Chongjin Thursday. Friday she swung 100 miles south and lobbed her "bricks" into the rail-highway town of Tangchon, while destroyers and cruisers shelled Chongjin, Songjin and the nearby town of Sangpo.

The operation shattered Communist supply lines far ahead of U.N. ground forces rolling into North Korea along a 130-mile fighting front.

Confusing Battle

At the west end of that front, in an area that lies 65 to 75 miles southeast of Pyongyang, a fierce battle raged.

American spearheads within 65 miles of Pyongyang were at grips with Red troops. An estimated 20,000 Communists fought south of them and two Red divisions were reported moving in from the west.

A field dispatch Friday from AP correspondent William J. Waugh sketched these developments:

British, Australian and U. S. 1st Cavalry soldiers moved against Kumchon, about 75 miles southeast of Pyongyang.

One column of the 1st Cavalry fought slowly up the main highway toward Kumchon, and was four miles south of that base Friday morning after an artillery duel that knocked out two Russian-made tanks.

Two other cavalry columns operating west and east of the road strove to clamp a pincers on Kumchon.

Another pincers being formed by Americans and South Koreans aimed to close at Hanpo, eight miles up the road from Kumchon. U.S. 1st Cavalry troops forming the western jaw already were in the outskirts of Hanpo. A heavy fight raged there.

The names were taken from a list of 32,081 who had applied for reconsideration of their purge sentences. They included political figures, financial and industrial leaders, writers, publishers, government officials and scholars.

Being on the list barred them from the normal activities of public life.

Vanished From Room

The London Evening News which broke the story, says it vanished from the room of Maj.-Gen. A. C. Salisbury-Jones, Marshal of the Diplomatic Corps.

A member of the Royal household, the Marshal acts as liaison officer between the court and the diplomatic corps.

A man found on the palace grounds was detained for questioning, but the news says he was not believed to have any connection with the diplomatic burglary.

No member of the Royal family was in the palace. The King is at his country estate, Sandringham. The Queen and Princess Margaret are at the family's Balmoral Castle in Scotland with Princess Elizabeth and her two children.

Found By Sergeant

The News says the diplomatic box was found by a sergeant in the Irish Guards. The News adds that the box, which had been locked, had been smashed open and the contents removed.

The room where the theft occurred has two big windows, 10 feet from the ground. It is immediately to the right of the ambassadors' entrance to the palace. If the thief went in that way, he passed within 150 feet of the sentries on duty outside the main gate.

The News says the box was last seen, locked and intact, in Salisbury Jones' room at 5 p.m. Thursday.

In addition to the armed military sentries, the palace is guarded by special police.

Provisions for the security of the Royal family were tightened sharply after a Royal gardener broke into aged Queen Mary's residence—Marlborough House—last June 24 and severely injured two of her housekeepers.

A Buckingham Palace press officer said "something happened Thursday night and Scotland Yard is investigating exactly what it was." He declined to elaborate.

Audubon Tour To Start Next Friday

A week today the Peterborough Nature Club will present the first in this year's series of addresses and movies in the Audubon screen tour. Five speakers and movies have been arranged for the tour's program this year and will be shown across Canada and United States. In Peterborough the series will be presented at the Queen Mary School auditorium.

First speaker will be Howard L. Orians, who has been president and director of the Wisconsin Society of Ornithology. His subject will be "Lakeshore", a study of the wildlife around Lake Michigan. An all-season and all-weather motion picture of Lake Michigan's waterfowl, shore birds, mowers, plants and underwater life will be shown.

On Tuesday, November 21, Allen Cruickshank, former president of the Linnaean Society in New York and a member of the American Ornithologists Union, will speak on "Trails for the Millions". The movie is an unusual record of the variety of wildlife within a short distance of Times Square, New York.

In January the author of "A Field Guide to the Birds", Roger Tory Peterson, will address local lovers of wildlife and show a movie called "The Riddle of Migration".

Dr. O. S. Pettingill, associate professor of zoology at Carleton College, Northfield, Minnesota, will be the fourth in the series of speakers. He will be remembered for his address here on the screen tour last year, "Wilderness Mischief". This year he will speak and show movies called "In the Hills of Gold', pictures of the Black Hills of Minnesota.

With the subject "From Coast to Coast", Alexander Sprunt Jr., for many years supervisor of wardens of Audubon sanctuaries, will close the series in April. The motion picture will include scenes from the Mexican Gulf area, the Rockies, Texas, the Navajo Indian country and Yellowstone.

Convict Ernest Keays On Minor Charge

OTTAWA, Oct. 13 — (CP) — Ernest J. Keays, dismissed from the Ontario Provincial Police in 1949, was convicted in police court today of improperly wearing a police uniform. Sentence was suspended.

A charge of carrying a concealed weapon was withdrawn.

The charges were laid after Keays appeared in county magistrate's court here last month wearing a Provincial Police uniform and carrying an automatic pistol in his pocket.

Magistrate Glenn Strike said today that in his opinion Keays had been dismissed in accordance with laid-down procedure. He said a higher authority than the commissioner had dealt with the matter.

Frontiersmen To Reorganize

After a lapse of 11 years, the Legion of Frontiersmen (Canadian division) are planning to organize a squadron in the Peterborough-Lindsay district.

The Frontiersmen are organized on a semi-military basis and are a corps of "irregulars," ready to volunteer their services should a national emergency arise. In World War II they helped provincial and municipal police forces in law enforcement.

Anthony Buhlman, 95 Bennett St. (RR 1, Peterborough), is the active spirit behind the re-organization. Mr. Buhlman is a former Hamiltonian, who has lived in Peterborough for six weeks. A Frontiersman in his home city, he is interested in contacting other men in the Peterborough-Lindsay district to form a squadron.

Those interested should write to him.

Frontiersmen must be British subjects, espousing no political creed, "banded together to be of service to our country, and the British Commonwealth of Nations, at any time." The corps was founded in 1904 by Captain Roger Pocock, formerly of the NWMP, and it has now become world-wide.

Local recruits would take the St. John's Ambulance course, jiu jitsu, revolver and rfile practice, and probably form a mounted troop. Uniforms are similar to those of the RCMP.

At one time there were nearly 700 Frontiersmen in the Peterborough district, and Mr. Buhlman is hoping to revive this enthusiasm. Only men can join.

If the nucleus of a squadron can be formed Frontiersmen officers from Hamilton and Toronto will come in to push the organization.

Western Powers Trying To Keep Lie As Secretary

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Oct. 13 —(AP)—The Western Powers rallied today behind Trygve Lie in an effort to keep him as United States secretary-general despite Russian opposition.

Jacob A. Malik, Soviety deputy foreign minister, Thursday used Russia's 46th veto in the Security Council to block a second five-year term for the Norwegian diplomat as head of the world organization.

Lie's term expires Feb. 2, 1951.

U.S. representative Warren R. Austin, as October president of the Council, sent a letter to Nasrollah Entezam of Iran, president of the veto-free General Assembly, saying that the Council had failed to agree on re-election.

Most delegations here agreed that this left the problem up to the Assembly, although it was expected that the Russians would attempt to maintain that nothing would be done without their express consent.

Austin, talking to reporters after the closed session of the Council, said:

"There was never a moment of doubt in our (the American) position. We have been for Lie from the beginning. We consider him exceptionally gifted with extraordinary characteristics fitting him for this job for which there is no precedent.

Car Goes in Creek Couple Drenched

WARKWORTH, Oct. 13 (ENS) —James Lowry, 72, of Trenton (formerly of Warkworth), and Nellie Cavell, 62, also of Trenton, received a cold dip at the week-end in the waters of a creek about two miles north of Warkworth on the Hastings road.

Mr. Lowry's car left the highway, travelled some distance along the ditch, entered the creek, struck a log in the water and then rolled over on its side.

Neither of the two occupants were much injured, although Miss Cavell received some minor cuts.

The car came to rest in four feet of water in the middle of the creek and the two occupants had to wade ashore. Provincial Constable Donald Erskine investigated.

Monks Branded

VATICAN CITY, Oct. 13 — (Reuters) — Vatican sources Thursday night said 300 Roman Catholic monks had been branded by Czech police and deported from Southern Slovakia. The police were said to have stopped a train carrying the monks and burned a number on the leg of each deportee. The train then moved on. Nothing had since been heard from the monks, the Vatican source said.

Makes A Difference

NORWICH, Eng., Oct. 13 (AP) —The trial of Norman Goldthorpe, accused of the strangulation murder of a 46-year-old woman, was dragging to a close. The jury retired to consider its verdict. Forty minutes later, the 12 solemn men filed back into the expectant courtroom—and asked for a cup of tea. The judge sent them back to work. Three minutes later they delivered their verdict—guilty.

Transcribed Sermon Wins Preacher Post

VANCOUVER — (CP)—The rich voice of a young Scottish minister, transcribed in Scotland and heard by a church congregation in Vancouver, has won for the Rev. W. M. Stevenson the pastorate of Ryerson United church here.

The 37-year-old minister, whose last parish was Dunoon, Scotland, first gained notice in Canada through an article he wrote in the United Church Observer. When informed of an opening here, he hit upon a recording as the best means of selling himself to his prospective congregation. The 12-inch recording he made was a short sermon on prayer.

His knee became wedged between the pole and a school building to which it was bolted. While he hung to the coping of the building, firemen unbolted the pole and released him.

Council Decides Street Meetings

VAL D'OR, Que., Oct. 13 (CP) —Police Chief C. Hamel said Thursday that permits granted religious groups to hold street meetings in this Northwestern Quebec mining town are a matter for city council to decide.

In recent months, some 35 Regular Baptists have been arrested here for holding evangelical street meetings without permits.

Mr. Hamel said in an interview that there is no regulation forbidding any particular denomination from holding street meetings. He said permits are required for all street meetings and that each application is considered "on its merits" by civic authorities.

The Rev. J. R. Armstrong, secretary-treasurer of the Union of Regular Baptists of Ontario and Quebec, said in Montreal Thursday that all Protestants are forbidden to hold street meetings in Val d'Or. He said his group was told in a letter from the Val d'Or city council a year ago that the council had "decided no longer to tolerate the preaching of any sect in the streets of Val d'Or

The Bangs Make The Boom

War and threats of war are notorious stimulants to a nation's industry and prosperity. The war in Korea has completely removed the U.S.A. from the depression sloughs into which it had been slipping. (It was only a year ago that there was very considerable unemployment in the States.) The Korean war and the general re-armament of the West have been a shot in the arm to Canada—a painful, unwanted shot, but nevertheless effectively booming the economy.

* * *

The United States had ordered ten million dollars worth of made-in-Canada guns. It is placing orders with our aircraft factories. There is a well-founded rumour that the U.S. government will order, through its National Security Resources Board, seventy-five million dollars worth of Canadian aluminum from the Arvida (Quebec) plant. The Canadian Department of Nation Defence is also placing huge orders for all sorts of things from uniforms to military vehicles. It has to spend the $425,000,000 voted by Parliament last June, and an additional $250,000,000 which the Korean alarm has apparently made necessary.

* * *

The bang in Korea has caused a boom. The danger is that a bust could follow, with so much expenditure leading to severe inflation, unless there are sufficient checks on the inflation now so evident by the increased cost of living. By September 1st the index has risen 1.3 points in one month, to the highest figure yet: 169.8.

The Dubious Honour Of Being Quoted

Newspaper columnists and editors like to be quoted especially by other papers. It is massage to their egos. But sometimes the unguent can be pretty sharp. It depends on who is quoting. The editor of Montreal's Le Devoir and its Korean correspondent were lavishly quoted recently by a newspaper with one of the biggest circulations in the world: by Moscow's Pravda, the official organ of the Kremlin.

Le Devoir is the right-wing voice of Quebec nationalists. It is rabidly isolationist, and against Canadians taking part in any foreign wars. It has been preaching a doctrine of appeasing Russia in the Orient, and accusing the U.S.A. of making "criminal blunders". The Korean correspondent's stories could have been written at the behest of Chinese or Russian Reds. That was why Pravda quoted them, and the opinions of the editor.

Now Le Devoir is red in the face, as it ought to be. The Russian Communists have claimed it for a bed-fellow, and greeted it with warm approval. It is nonsensical to accuse Le Devoir of being Communist; but it is so far at the opposite end of the pole that it is cheek by jowl with Communism. It is so far to the Right (before the war it approved Hitler and Mussolini policies) that it has come up beside the Reds. While the editor may plead in an apologetic article "Lord, Deliver Me From My Friends", he will find that the quickest method of gaining that deliverance is to alter his policies and move towards the centre, away from the extreme Right which is so perilously close to the extreme Communist Left.

G.B.S. Leaves The Hospital

Bernard Shaw has been taken home from the hospital, where he has been under treatment for a fractured thigh. It is interesting to notice that the news dispatch says that his physical condition was good, but it was his low spirits which persuaded his physicians to allow him to go home. Thousands of people who have spent time in hospitals will know exactly how Mr. Shaw felt. He wanted to go home, and nothing else would cheer him.

Hospitals are, in the main, well conducted institutions, but they tend to be cheerless and inhuman. Doubtless there are excellent reasons for everything that is done, but these reasons are rarely explained to the patients. Indeed, in most hospitals the patients are treated as though they were children, and not very intelligent children, at that. Patients who are accustomed, when well, to directing their own lives do not respond happily to such treatment.

Consider what happens to a middle-aged patient in a hospital. He is subjected to a routine which is not explained to him, and which is carried out by girls young enough to be his daughters. If he is in pain he is bidden to cheer up by a young woman who has probably never suffered a pain more severe than heartburn. He is expected to wear a shameful, insufficient, scratchy little shirt instead of his own comfortable pyjamas. He has to go to sleep with the birds, and wake up with the same. He is unable to call his soul his own.

Some patients come through this courageously. Others, like G.B.S., pine under the rigours of modern hospital treatment. People are very much like animals, and a sick animal wants its own bed and its accustomed surroundings. We wonder if the hospital business has not been overdone. Some illnesses, involving surgery or other complex treatment, mean a stay in hospital. But because it is convenient for them, some doctors have acquired the habit of sending anybody who is seriously ill to a hospital. There are people who cannot regain their health in surroundings which they profoundly dislike, and like G.B.S., they must be treated at home if they are to be well again.

Pardon Our Rude Laughter

It is some time since we have laughed so loudly as we did when we read the report of the speech which Britain's deputy Prime Minister, the Hon. Herbert Morrison, made at a Labour Party conference at Margate. It appears that Mr. Morrison asked the workers not to take such a nasty attitude toward their government bosses. Under capitalism, he said, it was natural for the workers to feel "instinctively" that there should be "a row with the boss from time to time even if it is only for the sake of his soul". But this should not be the case when the boss is a Labour Government; the soul of a Labour Government, it appears, needs no purgation of that kind.

This is very amusing. Labour movements have done many fine things for the workers of all countries. But labour movements have always tended to work on the principle that the boss was an oppressor, a fuddy-duddy, and that he could not direct his business as well as his employees could do it. Labour movements, sometimes openly and sometimes on the quiet, have consistently worked against any really friendly relationship between a man and his employees. Now the Labour Government is tasting the bitterness of the lessons which it taught in the days before it came to power. It is a case of the biter bit, and the complainer complained against, and as such we find it very funny.

Mr. Morrison is quoted as follows: "We need a sense of social responsibility, a joy and glory in serving our fellows and even sacrificing for our fellows. That is the internal and spiritual change which must take place before this becomes a truly Socialist country." Now that is Socialism as Ruskin and William Morris used to preach it, and very good stuff it is, too. But it comes oddly from the lips of Herbert Morrison. The intellectual and spiritual approach to the labour movement has never been popular in Britain, and is utterly unknown in Canada, and if it ever comes into popularity —which would very quickly make a Socialist of us—it will be such a revolution as the world has never seen. But we are not hopeful.

Socialism is a great ideal, and it has a noble body of literature, some of which is echoed in Mr. Morrison's speech. But socialism in practice is just another political party. It is amusing and a little pathetic, as well, when it appeals to the workers to be spiritual and self-sacrificing, when for fifty years it has never suggested that they be anything but materialistic and self-seeking. Mr. Morrison's excellent sermon, based on the scriptures of Morris and Ruskin, will fall upon deaf ears—ears deafened by the mistrust-the-boss doctrines which the Labour Party has shouted for fifty years.

NOTE AND COMMENT

You can combat depression caused by the high cost of living with the reflection that at least you're living high.

"Animals Tie Up Phones", says a headline in the New York Times. So those are the creatures who make those noises when we tell them they have dialed a wrong number!

The Simcoe museum possesses a fearful instrument dating from 1800, which was used by its first owner as a witch trap. Shined up, it might be possible to sell it in the U.S.A. for catching communists.

Not only do the observers of moss, the nut-crop, beaver lodges and the obesity of bears threaten us with a cold winter, but the following dreary old adage has been dug up:

If Christmas Day on Monday be
A great winter that year you shall see.

Just to be cantankerous, we predict that it will be a mild winter. Now let's see who is right!

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

DEAR ALPHA: Is "Silver Threads Among the Gold" a folk song or did somebody with a name write it?

ANSWER: It was written by an American called H. P. Danks, who died about 1905, a battered and destitute old man, in a mean lodging-house in Philadelphia, forgotten by the world, and even by his wife (or he forgot her) for whom he had written:

But, my darling, you will be
Always young and fair to me!

The widow of this genius died in 1925, also alone and in poverty, in a desolate room. She had not seen her husband for ten years before he died.

On a copy of "Silver Threads" which the police found in the author's hands at his death was scribbled a line: "It's hard to grow old alone."

Other popular American songs of the period were "Grandfather's Clock", which was in its heyday in the U.S.A. during that Republic's centennial year in 1876 and "After the Ball", a musical monument to the World's Fair in Chicago in 1893.

ALPHA: How many aldermen are there on the City Council?

ANSWER: 10.

"Alderman" is a very old English word, coming from 'ealdormann' meaning prince, chief, governor. It means literally 'old man', or senior man. In England aldermen are distinguished from an ordinary councillor by being elected for long periods or for life; and they are senior members of the city or county council.

'Alderman' does not, as some people think, come from the same root word as Earl. Earl is the Old English 'eorl', which was, as now, a rank or degree. Thus our aldermen are more entitled to call themselves Princes than Earls.

NOTE: The new taxi by-law as passed by the Board of Commissioners of Police has some interesting sections apart from the contentious ones requiring finger-printing of drivers, setting working hours and the like. For instance, the driver of every cab "shall be decently dressed, civil and well-behaved, and shall when receiving or delivering passengers give such reasonable assistance in opening the door of any cab....as the circumstances may require and shall deposit all luggage as directed, such direction being reasonable." The law states that one hand-bag shall be carried free; and ten cents shall be charged for each additional hand-bag. There is no mention of trunks, bags of potatoes, live turkeys being brought from the parental farm, and other such bits of baggage.

Every cab driver "shall notify the person calling such cab....of his readiness to receive them by going to the door of the house ....and informing some grown-up person of his presence. The blowing of horns to signify the presence of any cab....is to be used only if the driver cannot locate any grown-up person at the address to which he has been called."

The new law states that a funeral hearse shall not be used "except for the conveyance of dead bodies". "No living person shall be carried inside such a hearse on a stretcher or otherwise."

No taxi-cab owner or driver shall smoke while driving a passenger or passengers; nor shall he "make any loud noise or disturbance or use obscene, impertinent or abusive language".

No owner or driver shall "drive any thief, picketpocket or prostitute or knowingly permit the same to be driven in his taxi-cab".

It is interesting that the Commissioners authorize a higher fee for weddings than for funerals. The flat rate for funerals is four dollars for a five-passenger car and five dollars for a seven-passenger car. For weddings the fixed fee for the smaller car is five dollars, for the larger seven.

ALPHA: How long have stages had electric lights?

ANSWER: D'Oyly Carte, the Third Man in the great Gilbert and Sullivan partnership was the first to use electric stage lights. It was in 1881, in 'Patience' at the Savoy Theatre, London. "If it works," Carte said in his announcement, "it will enable us to secure effects hitherto impossible". It did work.

In 1885, during Sir Henry Irving's fabulous production of 'Faust' at the Lyceum, he employed elaborate electrical effects. Electrically charged iron plates were so placed on the stage that, when an actor stood on two of them, the circuit was completed, and, for instance, Irving as Mephisto had his scarlet robe and tall figure dramatically lighted.

* * *

SIR: Who first said of the British Empire that the sun never set on it?

ANSWER: Kipling, I think. The idea is not original. Sir Walter Scott in his Life of Napoleon says "The sun never set on the immense empire of Charles V." Gage in "New Survey of the West Indies", 1648, writes: "It may be said of them (the Hollanders) as of the Spaniards, that the sun never sets on their dominions." Somerset Maughan long ago brightly qualified the phrase about the vast British Empire on which the sun never sets "from morning till night"....Now, since the war, there are gaps in the global British atmosphere, and the sun does get through to set on it.

QUESTION: Have Peterborough County wardens always worn a silk gown? Why?

ANSWER: The gown is supposed to lend dignity to the office, to clothe it in fitting raiment. The first silk warden's gown was provided for and bought in 1847, at a time when the honorarium given the Warden was raised from $120 to $200 a year.

FOR THE RECORD: Here is one of my periodic weather reports. The summer was cold and damp. September cold and damp. Only with the last of September and the first week of October did we get really fine days in notable series. Autumn colours hereabouts were at their best the week-end of October 1st; though still quite good last week-end, Thanksgiving. Seeds (on cedars and the like) and nuts and berries are unusually plentiful. Sign of a long and hard winter?....I saw a sample of the new type of bottle today. It is plastic, milky in colour (like a frosted electric light bulb); it is quite pliable when squeezed, like rubber; it bounces a little when dropped. The screw top is hard (bakelite, probably) and the neck of the bottle with the screw rings is the same plastic, slightly less pliable because of the smaller radius. It is advertised not to break, crack or leak....The cost-of-living index has reached a new peak. During August it rose 1.3 points to 169.8 on September first.

"STEALING MY THUNDER"

Oil and Dollars

(OTTAWA CITIZEN)

THE economic development of Canada is proceeding in several regions, as Mr. Howe pointed out in his address at the opening of the Alberta oil pipe line in Edmonton the other day. With iron in Labrador, titanium in Quebec, forest products elsewhere, and oil in Western Canada, the economic life of Canada is undergoing a transformation that will leave the past behind and usher in a bright future. But of all these developments, Alberta oil naturaly captures the most attention. Oil is flowing through the pipe line, though it will not reach Regina until November 1. It will be some months before it is arriving steadily at Superior, Wisconsin, the terminal of the pipe and the point of loading for Great Lakes tankers to carry it to refineries in the east.

Up to date, the production of Alberta oil has reached a level of about $60,000,000 annually in value and, with transportation costs included, this means a saving in Canadian expenditures in U.S. dollars of $90,000,000 a year. When in operation, the pipe line will extend the use in Canada of Canadian oil and perhaps acquire a market in the oil-deficient Middle West of the U.S.A. Mr. Howe's estimate that a dollar saving of $150,000,000 a year will be realized, seems conservative. In the past ten years, motor vehicle registrations have doubled in Canada and the demand for fuel heating has increased three and a half times. In any case, the pipe line means a substantial reduction in the $400,000,000 net deficit in U.S. funds in the Canadian trade balance last year. That will strengthen Canada's trading position, and probably lead to an even greater trade between this country and the United States. Despite its spectacular achievements since the Leduc discovery in 1947, Alberta's oil industry may be even yet only in its infancy.

Letters To The Editor

APPROVES US ON GRAMMAR

Sir: Your short editorial on the uses of grammar, reprinted in the Ottawa Journal, gave great pleasure to readers who wish to preserve the purity of our language.

It is not our grammar alone which is endangered but our pronunciation also. One wonders what crime the letter T has committed to be consigned to oblivion whenever possible.

A short time ago a public speaker informed his audience that they had just "lissened to an inneressing ennertainmun", and quite recently a young girl informed me that she was leaving soon for Wahrloo. The name was unfamiliar to my ears so I asked her to repeat it; she did and quite distinctly said: "Wahrloo".

Later it transpired that the town was Waterloo!

Respectfully yours,
J.B.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Set your affection on things above, not on things on the earth.

For ye are dead, and your life is hid with Christ in God. (Col. 3:2, 3.)

* * *

For if we have been planted together in the likeness of his death, we shall be also in the likeness of his resurrection . . . Now if we be dead with Christ, we believe that we shall also live with him: knowing that Christ being raised from the dead dieth no more; death hath no more dominion over him. For in that he died, he died unto sin once: but in that he liveth, he liveth unto God.

Likewise reckon ye also yourselves to be dead indeed unto sin, but alive unto God through Jesus Christ our Lord . . . For sin shall not have dominion over you: for ye are not under the law, but under grace. (Rom. 6: 5, 8-11,14.)

* * *

For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, teaching us that denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ; who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works. (Titus 2:11-14.)

Lakefield Board Accepts School Bus Bids

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 13 (ENS)—The following tenders for school bus routes were accepted by the Lakefield District High School Board at their meeting last week; Leslie McColl for SS No. 8 Chandos bus route at $5.00 a day, Martin Reddick's for coach line bus route at $75.00 per month and Jack Smith for Nogie's Creek to Bobcaygeon bus route at $6.00 per day.

R. E. Sutton, principal reported attendance in September was 186 with an average attendance of 97.8 per cent. The enrolment by municipalities was Burleigh and Anstruther, 29; Chandos, 13; Smith, 34; Harvey, 25; Lakefield, 56; Douro, 17; Dummer, 11 and Cavendish, 1.

The principal also told the board that cadet drill and organized sports were in full swing. Eight cadets are taken to the quarry for target practice every day. A new stove has been installed in the new classroom.

The agreement with Blackwell and Craig, Peterborough architects, for the two new schoolrooms to be built at Apsley was signed and forwarded.

Mr. Herb McIlmoyle of Young's Point addressed the board with regard to his children having to walk almost three miles to catch the bus at the Point, while Douro pupils, not in the high school area, were picked up.

Roy Brown was called in to clarify the situation. He stated that he had been informed the Douro school section had been taken into the area. This was later confirmed by the county clerk, Mrs. J. A. Spurway.

High Red Army Officers Said Hiding In West Zone

By LEON DENNEN

PARIS—(NEA) — Two high-ranking Soviet army officers have taken refuge in the West since the outbreak of war in Korea and are giving authorities a highly-interesting size-up of Russian plans for the future.

They assert that the Russians will attempt to save face and recoup prestige lost in Korea by launching several "limited wars."

Aim of these wars would be to sap the strength of the west and train the Cominform's military fifth column under actual war conditions.

They said Iran and Yugoslavia had top places on Moscow's schedule of limited aggression. For several months Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky, the Stalin-appointed dictator of Poland, has been engaged in formation of four Polish motorized divisions slated to be shipped to the Soviet-Iranian border.

Stalin does not trust the Poles. These divisions are unlikely, therefore, to be employed in Western Europe.

The officers said the current Russian peace offensive first forecast by this reporter in early September and now in full flower at the United Nations General Assembly, was a screen for these prospective aggressions.

Heads are again rolling in Moscow, they said, adding that the purge of "unreliable elements" has reached top officers in the Red army command and may even extend into the Politburo itself.

The presumption is that the two officers fled to escape such a purge. I must withold any identification for security reasons.

The officers told Western officials that in the event of a general war the Russian army would strike across Europe in a lightning invasion.

This invasion would signal the uprising of the Cominform's secret military commando detachments or shock troops which are being trained in most of the countries of western Europe, especially in southern France and northern Italy.

The Russians were firm in their belief that Moscow is not yet ready for world conflict.

This would seem to tie in with reports that Moscow is having increasing difficulty with satellite countries, including Mao tse-Tung's China.

Although the Russo-Chinese treaty was signed last February, Moscow has not yet delivered the promised grain and other food supplies to relieve the famine in central China. The Russians have thus far turned a deaf ear to Mao's urgent pleas for help. They blame inadequate transport facilities for failure to keep their part of the agreement.

There has also been considerable Russian-Chinese friction over the return of the dismantled industrial plant of Manchuria. Following the war, much of Manchuria's industrial equipment was carried away by the Russians as "war booty."

Nine months after Mao tse-Tung's triumphal visit to Moscow the Russians are still bargaining with the Chinese over every piece of machinery they are requested to restore.

Manchuria is China's industrial base. Without it no serious effort can be made to develop Chinese resources.

Russia's greatest military bottleneck, the Red officers reported, is transportation. Even though the heavy industries of Czechoslovakia, Hungary and other satellite countries have been mobilized in the effort to improve Soviet transport facilities they remain as yet inadequate for major war operations.

Maroons Beat Regulars 3-1 In Bruins' Puck Exhibition

The Maroons beat the Regulars 3-1 at Civic Arena last night before a good-sized crowd of puck fans, both teams being made up of Boston Bruin NHL players. Ross Nicholls of the local senior "B" Eagles filled in as goalie for the winners, while Joe Rochetta of the Eagles played wing for the other side as but 18 of the Bruins were available.

It was a speedy but quite clean tussle, strictly a practise exhibition. They didn't use their bodies and there was not much excitement, though some good hockey was dished up. It wasn't as lively a fray as the Leafian exhibition a week ago when players lost their tempers at times. This one was just a fast practice go, with Maroons having an edge the first two periods, leading 2-1 in the first and scoring another in the second. The Regulars pressed some in the third.

Schmidt Good

Coach Lynn Patrick handled the Regulars, while Scout Baldy Cotton managed the Maroons, this team including Schmidt—the best player on the ice. Manager Art Ross and Dit Clapper sat behind the Maroons' bench. Draws were made between periods by President Les Mountney of the PMHA—which benefitted from this game—and he expressed thanks to the Bruins for showing here.

Lorne Ferguson scored the first goal with Ed Sandford and Eddie Harrison assisting on nice combination in close. Phil Maloney added one from Fern Flamon on a partly screened shot from defence. Paul Ronty got one back for the losers later from Ed Kryzanowski on a hot angle shot, going in speedily. The only other marker came halfway through the second heat when Maloney slapped home a nice one inside from Dave Creighton after Schmidt, who was tripped, set up the play. Both goalies turned in a neat effort.

Regulars: Gelineau, Quackenbush, Henderson, Ronty, Peirson, Smith, Rochetta, Horeck, Dumart and Kryzanowski.

Maroons: Nicholls, Kroftcheck, Reigle, Sandford, Flamon, Schmidt, Harrison, Creighton, Maloney and Ferguson.

Officials—W. Knott, E. Memphan, J. Primeau.

Summary:

First Period

Maroons—Ferguson (Sandford, Harrison) 7.23
Maroons—Maloney (Flamon) 15.20
Regulars—Ronty (Kryzanowski) 16:22
No penalties.

Second Period

Maroons—Maloney (Creighton, Schmidt) 13:01
No penalties.

Third Period

No goals.
No penalties.

Dodgers Call Up Teed

BROOKLYN, Oct. 13—(AP)—Brooklyn Dodgers announced today that they have called up catcher Dick Teed from Montreal in exchange for the contract of outfielder Jim Russell and an undisclosed cash consideration. Teed, 24, is a 180-pound, right-hand hitter. He played 56 games with the Royals and batted .275.

Alouettes Hope To Duplicate Feat Of 1949

By The Canadian Press

Can Montreal Alouettes do it again?

That's the question Messrs. Wally Masters, Frank Clair and Carl Voyles are asking themselves, with another round of Big Four football action coming up Saturday.

They remember the 1949 season, when the slow-starting Als came to life late in the year to win nine straight games and the Grey Cup.

The stage is set for another driving finish by Montreal. Slow-starting again and hampered by injuries most of the year, Als have won two of their last three and are nearly back to full strength.

The big test comes Saturday when they meet Clair's league-leading Toronto Argonauts in Montreal. The Larks will still be without limber-limbed half Bobby Cunningham, but otherwise will present a full line-up.

The other half of the Big Four —Voyles' Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Masters' Ottawa Rough Riders —tangle in Hamilton. If Als spring the upset, the Ottawa-Hamilton winner will move into a tie for first with Argos.

Saturday Decision

First place in the Ontario Rugby Football Union hinges on a Saturday meeting between Toronto Balmy Beach and Sarnia Imperials in Sarnia. A win for Toronto would give them a first-place tie with Imps, while a loss would give Sarnia a handy four-point edge.

The pattern for this year's senior intercollegiate race is expected to be laid in Saturday's games, with McGill Redmen facing Toronto Varsity Blues in Toronto, and Queen's University, Kingston, travelling to London to meet Johnny Metras' University of Western Ontario Mustangs.

McGill walloped Western last week, and Varsity edged Queen's in a dull, fumbly game. The inexperienced Blues aren't expected to be much of a match for the Redmen, who sport four former Calgary Stampeders on their roster—Freddie Wilmot, Harry Irving, Dave Tomlinson and Jim away below form last week.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Bev Goulding's good senior PCVS gridders are in action at Morrow Park tonight. They play Scarboro Collegiate seniors of Toronto at 8.30 under the lights, an exhibition tussle. It should be an interesting scrap between two topnotch high school senior squads as both prep for important games coming up. Autumn is rolling right along and next month is football playoff time. St. Peter's senior "B" pack goes to De LaSalle on Sunday for a Catholic Conference contest, Fred Allore's team beating that crew last time here. The ORFU senior "B" Orfuns are off tomorrow for Orillia, and have Oshawa Raiders here next Wednesday night.

And it's time to slip in a basketball item in ye olde Show Window. Annual re-organization meeting of the men's City Cage Loop will be Tuesday eve at eight in the YMCA, open to everyone interested. Election of officers, reports, entries taken and plans for the season made. This is a lively circuit featuring the best basketeers in the city, and no doubt some new ones have drifted in since last spring. Physical director Fraser Ward of the "Y"—a star athlete himself out west ere coming here—is anxious to get the basketballers going soon. Likely, the YW girls will be re-organizing shortly, too. And the high schoolers.

Playing For The Reds

An interesting item comes from the Ottawa Journal. Seems some good Czech puckists wanted to come over and play in Canada —so what happens? So, six have been sentenced to long prison terms by the Communists. Sentences ranging from four to 15 years allegedly for slandering the state, resisting security police and planning to leave the country illegally. Once you're under Red domination, you've had it. No freedom of thought, speech, action, anything. You can't even visit another country. Imagine a Canuck hockeyists saying: "I like the States better and I'm going to play hockey over there this winter." That's all there would be to it. He wouldn't be jailed for 15 years.

* * * * * * *

Coach Mick Magee of the Eagles—the ex-Legion puckists — has had two ice drills so far and plans another one this week-end. He and Manager Bob Parnell will take in the Belleville senior "B" schedule meeting on Sunday. At present it looks like the OHA finalists of last season will be intact with Ross Nicholls in goal again—he expects to work here shortly—and Johnny Godfrey, Al Burns, Doug Mortimer and Keith Montgomery on defence. Forwards are: Joe Rochetta, Dootch Vitarelli, Bill Crowley, Bob Parnell, Toodie Greenlaw, Freddy Mortimer, Bert Hill, Reg Stewart and Sixty Coombs. Richlark and Fennell of the juniors last year have been working out too, and the club may get two newcomers soon. They'll be plenty strong again.

Ross Likes His Bruins

While the Bruins' puck exhibition here last e'en was just so-so (strictly a practice exhibition with not a penalty issued), Manager Art Ross told us that he figures the club 25 per cent stronger than ... ago. Feels they'll really upset the NHL dope this season. With ... big, fast youngsters, you never know what to expect. They could catch fire and roll ere playoff time, like the young Leafs did a couple of years ago. Milt Schmidt is still tops, though, and he's not exactly a youngster. Ross Nicholls and Joe Rochetta of the local Eagles filled in and did okay in this tilt, a lot of fans seeing it and the PMHA getting a good financial start from the game.

While Ed Woodcock's local bantam ballsters await word on their OBA final series, Bill Post's peewees go to Ottawa tomorrow. Third game of their best-of-three OBA semi-finals. They leave King Edward Park at seven a.m. If they win it, they'll meet Leaside at three Wednesday aft here to open finals. Bantams tackle either St. Kitts or Mimico, Al Watkins advises. The OBA tossed out Sarnia midgets on an Ottawa protest that Sarnia—which won the opener 5-1—hadn't filed player forms in time. The case may be re-opened, though. Perth scribe remarked on the local peewees' tilt there: "The Peterborough nine won the game which, for its age group, displayed an exceptionally fine brand of ball, and it is unfortunate that more fans did not have a chance to see it."

Announce Series Totals

Playing baseball for the New York Yankees can be right profitable.

The club accountants announced Thursday that during a 30-year stretch, a total of $3,080,372 has been sliced up among Yankee players out of the world series melon.

Frank Crosetti, a shortstop in his playing days and now a coach, has pulled down the largest chunk—more than $65,000. Joe DiMaggio has collected almost $55,000.

Bruins Strong Says Ross For NHL Start

Boston Bruins will be at least 25 per cent stronger in this year's NHL race than a year ago, and possibly the surprise package of the league, Manager Art Ross stated in an interview here yesterday. He, Coach Lynn Patrick and head scout Harold Cotton came up with the team to play an exhibition game for the PMHA at Civic Arena. Mr. Ross pointed out that they had cleaned house a year ago and, apart from Milt Schmidt and Porky Dumart, had a young, hustling team, improving month by month.

He explained that the recent widening out of the "farm" system by Bruins—including yesterday a hookup with the senior "A" Kitchener club—was necessary. "You can't buy good hockey players now, except at ridiculously high prices," he said, "so clubs have to bring them along step by step from kids up. That's why we're even contributing financially to junior "B" amateur teams like your Oddfellows and the Kingston Vics. We may not help much with player material this year here, because of a late arrangement, but we may yet be able to direct a few good boys this way who are on our list for junior "A" and later pro trials."
